Acting director named for Computer Center

David J. Yang, who has been on the staff of Cal Poly's Computer Center since 1972, will begin a temporary assignment as acting director of the center on July 1. Thomas Mueller, the current director of the Computer Center, has resigned his duties to accept a similar appointment at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and University.

Yang will continue as acting director until a permanent successor to Mueller is appointed. A graduate of Southern Illinois University where he also was a programmer and systems analyst, Yang also worked at Chicago State University in Illinois and with NASA before moving to Cal Poly.

Tickets still available for 'Godspell'

Tickets are still available for the May 13, 14 and 15 performances of "Godspell" in the Cal Poly Theatre. Curtain time is 8 pm. The ten member cast will sing, dance and pantomime their way through the story of Jesus Christ and his parables. Songs will include "Day by Day," "All for the Best," "By My Side," and others.

The role of Jesus Christ is being played by Don Potter, the only cast member who is not a Cal Poly student. Potter, known as "Grateful Don" to KSLY radio listeners, came to San Luis Obispo seven years ago and holds a degree in theater from Cal State University, Fullerton.

Reserved seat tickets for this production are available at the University Union Ticket Office on campus from 10 am to 4 pm. Tickets are $3.50.

"Godspell" is being directed by Michael R. Malkin of the university's Speech Communication Department. Known to Central Coast audiences for his many theatre productions at Cal Poly, Malkin recently was chosen as a member of the writing staff for "Fraggle Rock," a new show to be produced by the Henson Association—producers of the "Muppet Show."

Sponsors of the production are the Speech Communication Department and the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities.

Potts named head of Poultry Department

Dr. Philip L. Potts Sr. has been named head of the Cal Poly Poultry Department effective July 1, Dr. Warren J. Baker, president of the university, has announced.

Dr. Hazel J. Jones, the university's vice president for academic affairs, Dr. Lark P. Carter, dean of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources, which includes the Poultry Department, and a faculty committee recommended Potts' appointment.

The new department head succeeds Dr. Robert A. Voitle, who resigned after two years to accept an administrative appointment with Auburn University of Alabama.

Dr. Potts is a 1981 graduate of University of Georgia where he received his doctorate degree in poultry science genetics. He received his master's degree, also in the same field and from the same university in 1974. He has a bachelor's degree from the University of Georgia in chemistry.

Prior to accepting the Cal Poly appointment, he was an assistant professor at Berry College (Georgia) in its Agriculture Department. Previous teaching experience includes two years as a vocational agriculture instructor at Lakeview-Ft. Oglethorpe High School in Georgia 1976-77 and as a teaching assistant at the University of Georgia.

Dr. Potts is professionally affiliated with the Poultry Science Association, the American Association of Animal Science, the Georgia Farm Bureau and the Southern Association of Agricultural Scientists.

Summer work hours

In keeping with past practice and in the interest of energy conservation, President Baker has announced working hours for the university for the summer to be from 7:30 am to 4 pm with 1/2 hour for lunch. These modified work hours will be in effect from Monday, June 14, 1982, through Friday, Sept. 10, 1982. In the interest of following a uniform policy, all offices will be open at 7:30 am and will close for business at 4 pm.

Reception for Amato

Tony Amato, a member of the Ornamental Horticulture Department for 27 years, will retire at the end of Spring Quarter. A reception honoring Amato and his wife, Ellen Marie, will be held in Staff Dining Room on June 3 from 3:30 pm to 5 pm. All faculty, staff, and friends are invited to attend.

Mull to appear at Poly

Martin Mull, who scored one of TV's biggest late-night hits as the ersatz talk-show host on "Fernwood 2 Night" and later, "America Tonight," will bring his understated comedic brilliance to Cal Poly on Sunday, May 16.

Since the "talk shows" have left the air, Mull has ventured into the movies, appearing in "Serial," "FM," and more recently, as Chris Makepeace's father in "My Bodyguard."

Two shows are scheduled at 7 pm and 9:30 pm, both in Chumash Auditorium on campus. Tickets are $5.50 advance for students and $7 advance for the general public, available at all Cheap Thrills locations, and Boo Boo Records in San Luis Obispo. Door prices are a dollar more.

Mull's two shows at Cal Poly are presented by Special Events, a Program Board committee of Cal Poly's Associated Students Inc.

Commencement list

A list of candidates for the 1982 June Commencement has been sent to the school deans by university registrar Gerald Panches. Faculty members are encouraged to review the list and if for any reason, academic or otherwise, an instructor feels that any person on this list should not be graduated, the instructor must state reasons in writing to the registrar at least two weeks before commencement. If objections are received, hearings will be held with the instructors.

Election results

Information has been received from the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) that in Unit 2 (Health Care Support), the California State Employees Association will be the exclusive representative subject to certification.

In Unit 4 (Academic Support), the United Professors of California will be the exclusive representative subject to certification.

The ballots in Unit 3 (Faculty) were still being counted as Cal Poly Report went to press. The results will be published in the May 20 issue.

Cal Poly Report

Cal Poly Report is published weekly during the academic year by the Public Affairs Office.

President to be in Washington, N.Y. City

President Warren J. Baker will be in Washington, D.C. next week to meet with Cal Poly alumni as well as top legislative leaders to discuss topics ranging from student financial aid to the funding of engineering education.

On Monday and Tuesday (May 17 and 18) President Baker will be attending a meeting of the board of directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU). Tuesday evening President Baker will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Washington, D.C. Chapter of the Cal Poly Alumni Association.

After meeting with Congressional leaders on Wednesday (May 19) President Baker will travel to New York City to meet with key officials of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the Exxon Educational Foundation, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Cal/OSHA Consultation Service Conference

Cal/OSHA Consultation Service will hold a conference for members of the local community to explain the right to know law, Section 3204 Title 8, California Administrative Code, Access to Employee Exposure and Medical Records. The meeting will be held on May 20 in Science North, Bldg. 53, Room 215, from 6:30 to 8:30 pm. Topics to be discussed at the conference include:

- Substances on the Hazardous Substances List and how they got there;
- What Material Safety Data Sheets are, how to obtain them, and how they must be used;
- When employees must be informed, trained and monitored; how to do it, and what records must be kept;
- Employee's right of access to medical exposure records.

Members of the university community are welcome to attend.

Cal Poly third in Mint 400 Off-Road Race

The Toyota mini-truck prepared by the student Cal Poly Society of Automotive Engineers Off-Road Project for off-road racing made some new believers on Saturday, May 1, when it bounced and shook its way to a third-place finish in the mini-truck class of the Mint 400 near Las Vegas, Nev.

Project leader Rick Sturckow, a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Lakeside, said the mini-truck class of the 400-mile event, had a total of 16 entries. Manny Esquerra of Parker, Ariz., was the winner in his Ford Courier.

Sturckow said the Cal Poly truck, a modified 1980 long-bed donated by Toyota-USA, was one of the most popular at the technical inspection for the Mint 400, which took place on Friday, April 30, in downtown Las Vegas. With a bright new paint job, it drew crowds of spectators and the admiring looks of other crews in the race, he added.

The SAE Off-Road Project is sponsored by the Cal Poly chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers. The Project team consists of about 25 members, mostly engineering and technology students who prepare the vehicles for competition and form the pit crews.

Symphonic Band kicks off La Fiesta

The Cal Poly Symphonic Band will present an outdoor street concert as the opening event of the 1982 La Fiesta celebration on Thursday, May 20, in downtown San Luis Obispo.

The 65-piece band, making its first-ever La Fiesta appearance, will present a varied program of popular and symphonic music beginning at 6 pm in front of the Local Savings and Loan offices on Garden St. between Marsh and Higuera Sts.

Under the direction of William V. Johnson, professor of music and director of bands at Cal Poly for 16 years, the band will perform selections that have highlighted its 1982 concert season.

Scheduled in conjunction with the Symphonic Band's street concert is a wine and hor d'oeuvres reception which will take place in the Local Savings and Loan offices from 5:30 to 7:30 pm.

The public is invited to attend both the concert and the reception. Admission to both will be free.

The concert is being sponsored by the La Fiesta Committee and Cal Poly's School of Communicative Arts and Humanities, Music Department, Associated Students Inc., and Instructionally Related Activities Fund.

Who, What, When, Where

Dan Piel, Art, has two showings of his exhibit "From Lincoln to Lennon" scheduled for May. The first will be at University of California, Irvine, beginning May 10 and the second at San Francisco's Civic Center Memorial Day weekend.

Robert P. Rice, Ornamental Horticulture, has been appointed to the Public Affairs' Committee of the Weed Science Society of America. He recently attended the annual meeting of the society in Boston as a member of the International Affairs Committee.

R. A. Wysock, Industrial Technology, attended the National Association of Industrial Technology Annual Executive Committee Conference April 19-21 at Eastern Michigan State University, Ypsilanti, Michigan. He is the elected representative of Region VI, encompassing the western U.S., Alaska and Hawaii.

Edward Ernatt, Education, was recently honored for his contributions over a 25-year period to the Council for Exceptional Children's local chapter. The chapter celebrated its silver anniversary. He was one of the founding fathers.

Bill Michaud, Agricultural Education, presented a "hands-on" microcomputer workshop to participants at the Western Region NVATA (National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association) Conference in Sacramento on April 23.

Charles Hicks, Counseling & Testing Center, presented a paper and conducted a work session at the Third World Counselor Conference, March 18-20, at the University of California, Berkeley. His paper was titled, "Career Development as a Retention Strategy for Black College Students." The work session was also repeated at the Career & Leadership Development Conference for Students and Educators sponsored by The National Association of Minority Students at the Hyatt Hotel in San Jose on April 5.

Stanislaus J. Dundon, Philosophy, attended and delivered a paper "The Ethics of Nuclear War Planning" at The Pacific American Philosophical Association Convention, March 25-27 in Sacramento.

Donald P. Grant, Architecture, has had a chapter titled "Issue-Based Information System (IBIS)" published in a book titled "Group Planning and Problem-solving Methods in Engineering," edited by Shirley A. Olsen of Ohio State University and published by Wiley. The method described is one for group decision-making on controversial issues.

J. Phil Adams, Jr., Economics, presented a talk titled "The International Monetary System" to the local chapter of the American Association of University Women on April 19 in Arroyo Grande.

Lynn Jamieson, Recreation Administration, received a $100 award from the Indiana University Foundation for Creative Activity and Research at a National Intramural-Recreational Sports Association Conference in Portland, Oregon on April 2-7. She also presented two programs: "Professional Preparation in Recreational Sports" and "Fees or Freeze" and was appointed chair of the Professional Development Committee.

Jack Jones, Education, presented a paper titled, "What Do You Mean Every Teacher is a Teacher of Reading?" on March 21 at the annual conference of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development held at the Anaheim Convention Center in Anaheim.

Dan Bertozzi, Business Administration, presented a paper titled "The Rise of the Chartered Company in Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century England" at the annual meeting of the Northern California/Nevada Business Law Association held at Asilomar on April 2-3.
