New member elected to Foundation board

Harold R. Miller, a member of the Accounting Department faculty at Cal Poly, has been elected a member of the board that directs operations of the Cal Poly Foundation. In addition, Dr. Russell H. Brown, the university's dean of students, was re-elected to the board. They were elected to serve three-year terms.

Miller, who has been at Cal Poly since 1968, served as the university's financial manager before returning to the accounting faculty. Dr. Brown has been the university's dean of students since 1978.

In a related development, the board re-elected Dr. Dale W. Andrews, Cal Poly executive vice president, as its chairman. Also re-elected were Dr. Hazel J. Jones, the university's vice president for academic affairs, vice chairman, and Howard West, associate executive vice president at Cal Poly, secretary-treasurer.

The nine-member board of directors provides policy direction for operations of the Cal Poly Foundation, a non-profit corporation, which operates the university's food services program; the El Corral Bookstore and Communications/Media Productions, and enterprise activities associated with the university's educational programs.

Coordinator selected for Children's Center

Cal Poly's Children's Center has appointed Yvonne Ricketts Coordinator of the Center, effective May 17.

Ms. Ricketts, who received a bachelor's degree in Child Development from California State University, Chico campus, will succeed Missy Danneberg, who served as coordinator for five years.

Ricketts will direct the Children's Center's Preschool and Infant-Toddler programs, and supervise a staff of 20 teachers, aides, and a cook.

The Center provides day-care facilities for Cal Poly's married students, and some faculty and staff.

The Children's Center is a state-subsidized program funded through the Department of Education.

Carnegie named head of Ag Engineering

Edgar J. Carnegie, a member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1963, has been named head of the Agricultural Engineering Department effective July 1, Dr. Warren J. Baker, president of the university, has announced.

Carnegie succeeds Dr. Jack D. Wilson, who will return to fulltime teaching duties in the School of Engineering and Technology.

Carnegie received his master's degree in engineering from University of California, Davis, in 1964 and a bachelor's degree from Cal Poly in 1962. He has done additional graduate study at UC Davis and is a registered professional mechanical engineer in California.

Carnegie has been extensively involved in research projects the past few years, particularly in the field of solar energy. From 1976-1980, he was project manager for a solar demonstration system built at a Fresno dehydration plant. The $1 million project was funded by the federal Department of Energy.

Currently, Carnegie is the principal investigator on a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to investigate and evaluate a solar-heated brooder house at the Cal Poly Poultry Unit. Additionally, he is also investigating the feasibility for the use of solar shallow ponds in the heating of greenhouses under a grant from the California Energy Commission.

Faculty election remains up in air

The identity of the exclusive bargaining agent for the faculty of The California State University remains a mystery after a run-off election proved inconclusive. In results received from the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB), the United Professors of California (UPC) had a narrow 19-vote lead over the Congress of Faculty Associations (CFA), 6473 to 6454.

An informal conference has been set for Thursday, June 3, to try and resolve issues surrounding 508 challenged ballots. Some of those challenged were employed during the Winter Quarter as CSU faculty, but are not teaching in the Spring Quarter. In addition, questions were raised about the appropriateness of some department heads being allowed to vote -- are they management or faculty?

Holiday recess planned in 1982 work schedule

The following work schedule is implemented for the remainder of the 1982 calendar year (Spring, Summer and Fall Quarters, 1982). This schedule specifies academic and support staff holidays for this period and provides for the campus to be closed for the one work week between Christmas and New Year's (December 25 - January 2).

Employee paychecks will be available at the State Cashier's window in the Administration Building on Friday, Dec. 31, according to Payroll Supervisor Carol Clifford.

"Cashiers will be on duty that day and employees who don't have their checks automatically deposited to banks can pick them up after 3 pm on Friday, Dec. 31, or wait until Monday, Jan. 3" (the first working day after the holiday recess), she said. Also, employee statements will be issued in June detailing amounts of holiday, vacation and compensating time off accrued.

"These statements are normally issued in October but we will also issue one in June so that employees can make earlier plans for the holiday recess," she said.

- Monday, May 31, 1982 - Memorial Day. Campus will be closed except for needed emergency services. This is a holiday for all campus employees.

- Thursday, November 11 - Veteran's Day. Campus will remain open and all support staff, administrative, and 12-month academic employees will be scheduled to work. All employees working that day will accrue 8 hours of compensating time to be used during the week of December 27 through December 31, 1982.

Dr. George G. Clucas, who is retiring this year, will be honored for his many years of outstanding service to Cal Poly at Vista Grande Restaurant on May 28 at 7 p.m. The faculty and students of the Political Science Department cordially invite the many friends of George Clucas to join in the evening of festivities. Five-mile run slated

The University Club is sponsoring its first Spring Spree on Saturday, May 22, at 8:30 am. Entry fees for the five-mile race are $3 prior to May 21 and $4 on race day, with free plants to the first 100 entrants. Prizes will go to the first three men finishers, first three women finishers and the first three teams (based on the total time of the top three team finishers). Teams can be campus organizations or off-campus groups.

Risser, who earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in counseling at Humboldt State, has been both president (1979-80) and an executive committee member of the California Association of College and University Housing Managers.

status. To avoid the latter, every effort should be made early in the calendar year to arrange work schedules and accrued in lieu or vacation time so that all employees have an adequate amount of accrued time to remain in a pay status for the entire month of December. Further, supervisors should plan for the campus closure so that all required work is performed prior to Friday, December 24, 1982 to avoid the necessity of employees working on an emergency basis during the time the campus is closed.

Religious or other holidays not specifically mentioned in the 1982 calendar year are not official periods of holiday time off for employees. However, those employees wishing to observe other religious holidays are encouraged to work with their supervisors to arrange for desired time off. The time off for this purpose will be charged to the employee as appropriate. In the event that either December 24 or December 31 is declared by the Governor or the Chancellor as days when the employee may be informally excused from work, changes to the vacation credits will be adjusted accordingly. The week-long closure of campus is done in recognition of the need for maximum conservation of energy and to provide an extended vacation period for all support staff, administrative, and 12-month academic employees. Hopefully, this week-long period will increase the safety of those traveling and give an extra measure of recreation and relaxation in preparation of the New Year's anticipated busy schedule.
