New student services department established

More efficient academic services and referrals for students in three campus service programs are expected to result from recent organizational changes in the university's Student Affairs Division.

Services for students in the Educational Opportunity, Student Affirmative Action, and Disabled Students Programs are being administered by the newly established Student Academic Services. Armando Pezo-Silva, director of student academic services and head of the new organization, said its purpose is to insure academic success and graduation for students from backgrounds that by virtue of race, ethnicity, gender, or socio-economic status have traditionally been underrepresented within The California State University system.

Over 800 students are presently involved in the programs administered by the Student Academic Services Department, which will continue to provide the special services needed by the disabled students in Cal Poly's student body.

Four named emeriti

Four men whose combined years of employment at Cal Poly total over 90 years have been named as emeritus members of the faculty. All had retired from university service in December 1981.

The honorary emeritus title is conferred by Cal Poly on employees who have 15 or more years of service at the time of retirement. It carries with it privileges to use certain university services and participate as a member of the campus community.

Former faculty employees honored, with their departments and the years they joined the university, are:

Dr. Warren S. Farrell of Santa Barbara, Agricultural Management, 1967; Dr. Reino Hannula, San Luis Obispo, Computer Science, 1962; Dr. Edgar Hyer, San Luis Obispo, Agricultural Management, 1951; and Dr. William Boyd Judd, San Luis Obispo, Mathematics, 1956.

Alma McPhee dead; wife of late president

Alma Catherine McPhee, wife of the late Julian A. McPhee, president of Cal Poly from 1933 to 1967, died on May 23 in a San Luis Obispo hospital. She was 87 years old.

Mrs. McPhee moved to San Luis Obispo in 1933 when her husband became director of what then was known as the California Polytechnic School.

Throughout her years in the community, she was active in the Cal Poly Women's Club, the Monday Club of San Luis Obispo, the Old Mission Church of San Luis Obispo, the Old Mission Altar Society, and other community and charitable groups.

Mrs. McPhee was born April 15, 1895, in San Francisco. Her father, Francis Doyle, was the builder of San Francisco's famed City of Paris department store. She was a graduate of the Sisters of Mercy Convent in Oakland.

Survivors include five daughters -- Helen LaSalle of Atascadero; Bernadette Brownlee, a former resident of Arroyo Grande now living in Nigeria; Jeanne Beck, Carissa Plains; Carole Norton, San Luis Obispo; and Jule Ann Taber, Sebastopol.

Other survivors include a sister, Carmel Slevin of San Francisco, 32 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren.

A Rosary and Mass of Christian burial for Mrs. McPhee was held on May 25, at Old Mission Church, San Luis Obispo. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

'Jazz Nite' at Cal Poly

Cal Poly's annual "Jazz Nite," featuring University Jazz Band, the Cal Poly Dixieland Band, Pat Jackson's American Jazz Dancers, local vocalist Virginia Bell, and trombonist Bob Payne, will be presented in the Cal Poly Theatre on Friday, May 28, at 8 pm. The show will be preceded by a half hour of Betty Boop cartoons beginning at 7:30 pm.

Led by director Graydon Williams, the University Jazz Band consists of 20 Cal Poly students. The group rehearses five hours each week and they play concerts and dances throughout the Central Coast. Their repertoire includes both standards and contemporary jazz compositions.

The Dixieland Jazz Band, "Sticks, Strings and Hot Air," performs at jazz festivals throughout California and plans to appear this summer in the San Juan Islands off the coast of Washington.

Tickets for "Jazz Nite" are $4 for the general public and $2 for students. They are available at the University Union Ticket Office on campus. Further information can be obtained by calling Ext. 1421.

Tax shelter update

This is a reminder that tax-sheltered annuity/deferred compensation plans are available through payroll deduction to employees of the California State University system.

The tax sheltered annuity/deferred compensation plans enable employees to set aside savings from their salary with no federal or state income taxes being paid on the amount saved or on any interest earned. As these funds accumulate in investments and savings on the employee's behalf, the possibility of financial independence at retirement increases. Federal and state taxes will only be payable when the accumulated funds are actually paid to an employee or his beneficiary. These funds are usually withdrawn after retirement, when the taxpayer is often in a lower income bracket and therefore qualifies for lower tax rates.

The Personnel Office has recently compiled an update highlighting eligibility criteria, enrollment procedures, and conditions of participation for the tax-sheltered annuity/deferred compensation plans. For further information or to obtain a copy of this update, contact Barbara Melvin, Personnel Office, Ext. 2236.

The Office of the Chancellor has announced that a payroll deduction option will soon be available for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs).

The California State University is in the process of signing agreements with several companies that have requested the opportunity to offer an IRA through the payroll system to all CSU employees.

Regular review urged for personal records

It is important that all individuals regularly review their personal records to determine that all is in order in case of serious illness or death. This is especially important as it relates to Cal Poly employment and designation of an individual to receive and negotiate State Controller's warrants payable to an incapacitated or deceased employee, according to Robert M. Negranti, staff personnel officer.

Section 12479 of the Government Code permits state employees to designate an individual who, on the death of the employee, shall be entitled to receive and negotiate State Controller's warrants payable to that employee had the employee survived. This designation is obtained on Standard Form 243, Designation of Person Authorized to Receive Warrants, and is maintained in the employee's personnel folder. This information can become outdated due to marriage, divorce, re-marriage or other changes as it affects the individual designated to receive such payments. This form should be reviewed periodically to determine that all information regarding the designee is accurate and that the designee's address is current. The employee may change the designation at any time.

Designation Forms must be completed and can be reviewed in the Payroll/Personnel Office, Adm. 109/110. Accurate and updated records are essential in order to efficiently and effectively aid a family member or friend when a serious illness or death occurs. Please be sure that all your affairs are in order.
