Ecology post—optimism high

San Luis Obispo may soon have an opening on its staff for a full-time ecologist.

At the meeting of the city council, Councilman Donald Q. Miller discussed the possibilities having a resident ecologist as a member of the city government staff.

The main concern of the council seemed to be focused on the status of such a person whether or not that of an ecologist should be a separate office or incorporated within an existing one, such as the Planning Commission, as suggested by councilman Emmons Blake.

Miller argued that such an office should be autonomous in order to make its function more effective in the community. He cited the need for the policing of the creeks, in particular, stating that both the Fish and Game Department and the City Engineer's Office, which presently polices local creeks, are "spread too thin" by the burden of many responsibilities to be effective in the control of pollution in the miles of waterways in San Luis Obispo.

The discussion into the creation of the ecology office will be continued at the upcoming budget meeting for next year, presumably to determine the financial feasibility of such an office.

In the matters of pollution, the council also heard a suggestion from Joseph C. Boone, a local resident, urging the city council to consider passage of an anti-litter ordinance that would ban the sale of beverages in non-returnable containers. Boone pointed out the action of South San Francisco in passing such an anti-litter ordinance. The council was receptive to the suggestion, but countered by pointing out a law suit that was filed against South San Francisco immediately following adoption of the ordinance, challenging the constitutionality of the action.

The council did pass a resolution, to be sent to the state legislature, calling for this particular problem of curbing the rise of litter to be dealt with on a state-wide level. The council seemed inclined to reconsider the ordinance following the outcome of the suit against South San Francisco.

Collegians perform

The Collegians' Sunday 6 p.m. performance was omitted from the College Union festivities agenda yesterday. The Collegians will be performing in the Mustang Lounge.

Union opening today signifies end to dream

The opening of the Julian A. McPhee College Union today will bring into reality a dream of more than a quarter of a century.

"At last . . ." is the feeling of many students and faculty members and is perhaps the feeling of Mrs. Julian A. McPhee.

Mrs. McPhee will cut a ribbon on Saturday, signifying the completion of one of her husband's plans for the college. McPhee was president of the college from 1933 to 1966.

The dedication ceremony for the building will begin at noon on Saturday on the southwestern side of the building. Dr. Robert E. Kennedy will give the dedication address and Paul Banke, ASI president, will welcome the guests.

Campus Rev. Bruce Tjaden will offer both the invocation and benediction. Music for the occasion will be provided by the 84-piece Symphonic Band.

The ribbon cutting ceremony will be followed by guided tours of the College Union. The main entrance opens onto a spacious lounge, equipped with chairs, tables, and sofas, where students may meet friends and entertain visitors. One section includes the offices of the Associated Student officers, the Student Affairs Council meeting room and the college Activities office. A multi-purpose room, lounges and conference rooms round out the picture.

Rock, western and folk music, a Trivia Bowl question contest for student teams, dancing, film marathons, band concerts, and a chamber orchestra concert will be part of the three-day festival celebrating the completion of the building.

Planned for the Chamber Orchestra performance tonight is a program of "probably the most familiar of any performed by the orchestra since its formation" according to Clifton E. Swanson, conductor.

Jabs repeated by Profs

The sign on the wall read "Open up your mind - involve yourself," and a group of students gathered for the second week in a row, to hear three fired professors speak during college hour at the College Union Plaza.

Also speaking, were two professors who will be returning next year. One of them, David Kann, English instructor, opened the rally speaking on education's inability to change students.

"Education is but a device to maintain the status quo," said Kann. Kann continued his discourse on the education system saying, "education is the interrelating of fields" and what is important is "students and professors coming into contact with each other."

"The student has the need to know, he has the right to know, and he must demand to know," Kann added.

Wayne Williams, Dr. Fred Rizzo, and Ralph Vrana continued the meeting, speaking further on their battle with non-retention policies, each one using other instructors who have been fired as examples.

Vrana spoke on four professors released last year. Without using names he stated the reasons that he believed they were given their non-retention notices, and concluded by saying that he was pleased to see the Engineering

Auditorium filled with students last Thursday. "I am sure that from such meetings can come nothing but good."

The three fired professors spoke without notes as they expressed their views on the non-retention system, and the need for a doctorate to be considered a good teacher. Pointing out that a doctorate is a research degree and not a teaching degree, Williams said, "you learn to teach from your heart." And Rizzo found it to be "a very very very lame excuse," for non-retention.

Charles Boebel was the last professor to speak. Boebel, an instructor in the English Department, began by correcting the quote, "Man is born free, but everywhere he is in chains," saying that "man is not born free."

He was concerned with the way that people are put into channels by society. "We are becoming part of the ever swelling army of bureaucrats," Boebel added.

Salami, onion, cheese: pizza!

Pepperoni, salami, beef and onion, and cheese are all pizzas. The Home Economics Department will be overflowing with these pizzas Friday, March 5.

The Home Economics Club is sponsoring a pizza sale to raise funds for Poly Royal. The prices for the pizza are pepperoni, salami, beef and onion $2 and cheese $1.50.

Pickup on the pizza will begin at 2 p.m. and continue to 4 p.m. at the Home Ec and Math Building Room 121.

Architect artist displays photos

OLA! An organization of Latin American students in the School of Architecture is sponsoring a photo display of Mexican Architect Artist, Juan O'Gorman.

The display is located in the Architecture Gallery, and will be open to the public March 1 through the 13. The gallery will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

According to Gaston Laguna admission will be free and anyone interested is welcome to attend.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Get out of the way' of peace

To the Editor:

Many people are sidetracked from reality in several ways—even on this campus. President Eisenhower once said, "The people want peace so much that governments had better get out of their way and let them have it."

A Joint Treaty of Peace between the people of the United States, South Vietnam and North Vietnam has been drafted by students, U.S. and Vietnamese working together, and released following a recent meeting at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Introduction to the Treaty states: "Be it known that the American and Vietnamese people are not enemies. The war is carried out in the name of the people of the United States, but without our consent. It drains America of her resources, her youth and her honor.

"We hereby agree to end the war on the following terms, so that both peoples can live under the joy of independence and can devote themselves to building a society based on human equality and respect for the earth. In reflecting the war we also reject all forms of racism and discrimination against color, class, sex, national origin and ethnic grouping which form the basis of the war policies, present and past, of the United States."

The Principles of the Joint Treaty of Peace include publicly setting the date by which all U.S. military forces will be removed, agreement of an immediate cease-fire on the part of the Vietnamese on an end to the American imposition of the Thieu-Ky-Khiem regime on the people of South Vietnam, to ensure self-determination and release of all political prisoners.

Also included is a Vietnamese pledge to form a provisional coalition government to organize democratic elections, in which all South Vietnamese can freely participate without the presence of foreign troops. It also discusses procedures to guarantee safety and freedom of persons who cooperated with either side in the war.

Americans and Vietnamese agree to respect the independence, peace and neutrality of Laos and Cambodia. They pledge to end the war on all these points of agreement, resolving all other questions in mutual respect for the self-determination of the people of Vietnam and of the United States.

Terms of this treaty were worked out in discussion among members of student associations in South and North Vietnam and in the United States; other citizen groups plan meetings with Vietnamese citizens to discuss terms for peace.

Copies of the Joint Treaty of Peace will soon be circulated through the United States by interested students and other citizens. If enough endorsement of the treaty is shown, if American people want peace enough, their "government had better get out of their way and let them have it," as President Eisenhower said.

Further information and copies of the Treaty are available from

FOR (Fellowship of Reconciliation), Box 271, Nyack, N.Y. 10960.

Insubordination

Editor:

I have been told by tenured English faculty members that Dr. Rizzo's dismissal was due to "insubordination." Is it insubordination to insist that the terms in Dr. Rizzo's letter of acceptance be honored?

One and a half years ago, this letter of acceptance was validated and honored by the administration. Now, due to Dr. Rizzo's refusal to teach a freshman composition class, one of the points in his letter of acceptance which was validated, the administration has seen fit to deny retention and to invalidate the terms of the letter of acceptance.

Dr. Rizzo, since then, has agreed to teach freshman composition class; but this isn't the real issue—is it Dr. Kennedy? Could it be, Dr. Kennedy, that Dr. Rizzo's political affiliations are a threat to your "model campus"? Could it be that the administration, with all esoteric bureaucracy, is willing to sacrifice one of the best instructors the English students have ever known in the name of political conformity?

Is it freedom of expression when justified opinions can not be formed by students who are denied their right to hear both sides of a pertinent issue?

Mark Nielsen

Safety concern

Editor:

At a recent panel discussion about nuclear power, I was appalled by the answers given by PG&E officials in reference to the Diablo Canyon Nuclear plant. Over the past year local conservationists have been doing a great amount of research into PG&E's activities and have found some gross discrepancies. PG&E claimed it does not create the power need in California yet could not explain why they spent 1/4 million on nuclear research last year and 7 times that much on advertising and promotion.

If they're so concerned with safety why did they try to build a nuclear plant within 1000 yd of the San Andreas fault in Bodega Head? (They finally lost permission to do so) They claim this plant is totally safe yet the only other one they have built in the state is 1-18th the size of Diablo Canyon's and it is now operating at 1/2 power because of radiation leakage. PG&E officials also admit that they still have not designed the radioactive waste disposal system.

Thanks PG&E, its really a comforting feeling to know our future is in your hands.

Council squares plans for Poly Royal limits

Poly Royal planning was the main thing discussed at the latest Business & Social Sciences Council meeting.

Items discussed were: The Poly Royal Board can prohibit any exhibit from being displayed at Poly Royal this year and any exhibits and displays must be completed by 12 p.m. the night before Poly Royal commences. Unless an organization already has claimed an area for display, they are decided on a first-come, first-serve basis.

March 31 is the deadline date to sign up if an organization wishes to display or present an exhibit. The applications can be obtained in the Temporary College Union.

In order to participate in Poly Royal, by a display or concession stand, one must be with an organization or club recognized by this school.

Ort specialists sought

Power in the pen? If that's where it's at for you, then the Old Power House is where you should be tomorrow.

From 9 p.m.-3 p.m. with a 12-1 p.m. break for lunch, English instructors, Fred Rizzo, Martin Luschel, Alfred Landwehr, David Kann and friends will be conducting a feature writing workshop.

The doors are open to anyone who can write, thinks he can write, or would like to erase any doubts in their minds one way or the other. The focus will be on poetry and fiction, but song writers, and fragment and ort specialists will not be turned away. Critiques are the issue—bring your copies.

It's all free and if you still have any doubts, Mike Orth from the English Club can be reached at 546-2636.

Faculty posts topic of council

Faculty positions for the 1971-72 school year were one of the issues discussed at the Business-Social Sciences Council meeting held this week.

Dean Ciucas from the school of Business Administration, Social Sciences, and Economics, was present at the meeting and he related that there would be no full-time faculty not re-hired form this particular school on campus. However, there are four lectureship teachers from this school that will not return.

Another item discussed at the meeting was concerning students eligible for the Dean's List. Last quarter, students had to have a 3.37 G.P.A. to get on the Dean's List. Opposition has come into view because this does not take into consideration the amount of units the student is carrying.

It was questioned that the student with more units should not have to have as high a GPA as the student with a lower amount of units, but the minimum GPA should be 3.25. This suggestion will be considered.

Paul Banke, ASI president, has stated "Governor Ronald Reagan has sent his regrets but he will be unable to attend the College Union dedication."

Mustang riflers shoot at Reno

Grapplers plan for mat attack

Mustang wrestlers took a week off in preparation for defense of their national title. The championships will be held at Fargo, N. D., March 12 and 13.

The Green and Gold have captured four out of the last five NCAA College Division titles in domination of the college division wrestling scene.

Returning place winners from last year's championships are expected to be Glenn Anderson, third at 128, Lee Torres, second at 180 and John Finch second at 188. Finch was winning the championship bout 1-0 before injuring his shoulder.

The wrestlers closed their dual meet season with the best record ever, 20-3-1. Included are wins over third-ranked Washington, fifth-ranked Michigan State, sixth-ranked Oregon State, seventh-ranked Portland State, and tenth-ranked Oklahoma.

The two losses were to second-ranked Oklahoma State and an opening season match to Navy.

at 2:30 at the Poly diamond while tomorrow's twinbill starts at noon.

Losing most of their games early in the season last year, the Green and Gold nine has blazed its way to 10-1-1 record this year. Latest in the path were the Gauchos of Santa Barbara last Tuesday.

Playing only one game of a scheduled twinbill, the Mustangs jumped off to a quick lead and never lost it as they went on to a 7-2 victory.

Lathan Marsh continues to lead the team in hitting with a .387 mark to go with his leading total of 11 rbi's. Catcher Robin Baggett is second in the race with a .360 average and is second in rbi's with eight.

Top pitchers for the Mustang nine are Bill Hall and Kent Agler, both having 2-0 records. The entire staff continues to be stingy with runs as it has compiled an earned run average of .95.

Jackson nails scoring honors

Sophomore forward Billy Jackson of Monrovia emerged as the California Collegiate Athletic Association's top scorer in basketball play this year.

Jackson's CCAA average of 19.4 points a game during the 10-game schedule was first among all players, according to Wayne Welk, CCAA publicity director.

Cal State Fullerton's Tony Rodriguez was held to five points against San Fernando Valley State College in the final Titan game and finished runner-up to Jackson with an 18.6 average. Mike Washington of the University of California at Riverside was third at 18.0

Low Jackson, playmaking guard of the Mustangs, averaged 14.98 points a game, good for 10th place.

The Mustangs, who will participate in the NCAA Pacific Basketball Tournament college division, next week also boasted field goal percentage leader Dennis d'Autremont. The 6-4 forward converted 38 of 66 shots from the floor—55 per cent. Billy Jackson was second at 51 per cent.

UCR's Sam Cash captured the rebounding title with a 17.4 average, and Valley State's Paul McCracken was second. Mustang Bob Jennings was fourth at 12.9 and Billy Jackson was seventh.

In free throw shooting, Low Jackson shot 80 per cent from the line for third place. Mark Ramsey of Fullerton averaged 90 per cent during the campaign and teammate Tim Amberry was a close second.

As a team the Mustangs were second in scoring at 79.6 points a game. Fullerton was tops at 80.0. The Mustangs finished first in field goal shooting with a 46 per cent average, and second in free throw percentage at 65 per cent.

The Mustangs were 6-2 in CCAA play and finished second behind Valley State. Overall Neale Stoner's team finished 16-10, including a 13-4 streak since Jan. 1.
