

WITH COURT'S HELP PARKING TICKET FOLLOWUP SLATED

□ A program designed to reduce the number of campus parking citations being issued and to cut down on tow-away cases is planned to get underway later this month, according to James R. Landreth (Director, Business Affairs). Landreth said the university is cooperating with the San Luis Obispo Municipal Court in having a computerized follow-up program to improve handling of traffic citations. He said that by making vehicle owners on campus aware of the follow-up procedures, the university and the court hope for a more successful and timely campus traffic enforcement situation.

The heart of the program will be a weekly computerized cumulative report of outstanding parking citations; the report will be prepared by County computer facilities. Individuals who receive a parking citation will have a 10-day period to exercise three options which will keep them from becoming a part of the follow-up program: 1.) The individual may deposit the required bail through the mail in the envelope provided; 2.) The individual may deposit the required bail at the Municipal Court, Room 317, 900 Osos Street, San Luis Obispo (during regular office hours which are 8:30 am to 12 noon and 1 to 4 pm Monday through Friday except holidays); or 3.) The individual may contest the citation by appearing at court at 2:30 pm on the Wednesday following receipt of the citation. Failure to deposit the bail or to appear at court within 10 days of the citation will set in action the new process agreed upon by the university and the court.

The first step of the follow-up program, Landreth said, will be the mailing of a Notice of Intent to Issue Warrant from the University Police Department. At the time of notice the regular bail will be increased to $10 per citation. Upon receipt of the notice, the individual will have five days within which to deposit $10 bail with the court or to appear in court. If the individual does not respond within the five days, the court will then issue a Warrant of Arrest to be served by the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction. Individuals residing on campus will be served by the university police. At the time of service of the warrant, the bail per citation will be increased to $15. Landreth pointed out that the individual will be expected to either post bail at the time the warrant is served or be placed under arrest and scheduled for a court appearance.

☐ FUTURE FARMERS WILL HEAR DYMALLY

Lt. Gov. Mervyn M. Dymally will address the banquet of the California Association of Future Farmers of America during the 47th annual convention of the association to be held on the campus of Cal Poly Wednesday through Friday, (May 7-9). Lieutenant Governor Dymally will speak at the banquet in Chumash Auditorium on Wednesday.

More than 1,000 FFA members from chapters throughout California are expected to attend the convention sessions. Another 1,800 members will participate in the state judging finals on campus on Saturday (May 10). John Weizbrod of Chino, state FFA president, says the banquet, moved to the first night of the convention this year, will begin at 7 pm and will feature, in addition to Lieutenant Governor Dymally, the California Association's state public speaking finals competition.

Achievement awards will be presented to state FFA members at a special program in Chumash Auditorium at 7:30 pm on Thursday (May 8). In previous years, the awards program has followed the banquet. In delegate sessions on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the convention will elect recipients of state farmer degrees, honorary state farmer degrees, and chapter awards. New officers of the state association will be elected at the final session on Friday.

☐ ACADEMIC DEADLINE REMINDER

Gerald N. Punches (Registrar) reminds all faculty of the following academic deadlines:

The 7th week of instruction ends at 5 pm on Wednesday (May 14). This is the deadline for:

1. Submitting a Petition to Withdraw from a course. The university catalog states: "Except for university recognized emergencies, no withdrawals from a course will be permitted after the end of the seventh week of instruction."
2. Submitting a petition to take a course Credit/No Credit.
3. Submitting a Petition to Repeat a Course. If a student is repeating a course spring quarter at Cal Poly in which he has previously received a D or F grade from this university or some other college or university, he must file this petition in the Records Office to ensure the re-calculation of his grade point average.

The program is intended to create greater compliance on campus with provisions of the California Vehicle Code and with university parking regulations. He added that once the campus populace is aware of the follow-up program, he expects to see a decline in parking violations, especially by individuals who have in the past accumulated large numbers of citations because they felt nothing would be done about them. Landreth said he also hoped the procedure would reduce the number of vehicles being towed away from unauthorized parking spots because potential violators will be less likely to risk both towing away and a follow-up which could result in an increased fine and/or arrest.

The follow-up plan will be initiated as soon as possible, but a grace period until Monday (May 19) will be observed so that vehicle operators on campus can be fully informed of the new program. In order to avoid additional charges, vehicle operators with citations currently outstanding should deposit the regular bail with the court before May 19.

☐ BUSINESS EXECUTIVE SEMINAR PLANNED

"Coping with the Changing Business Environment" will be the theme of a two-day executive seminar that will be presented on Friday and Saturday (May 9-10) by the School of Business and Social Sciences. Being planned with the participation of the Graduate School of Management of University of California at Los Angeles, the two-day program will take place at the San Luis Bay Inn in nearby Avila Beach. It will feature an outstanding group of speakers on such subjects as availability of oil and raw materials, managerial strategy, labor issues, and the economic outlook for the next five years.

A trio of members of the UCLA faculty, including Neil H. Jacoby, Robert H. Mason, and Robert M. Williams, will be joined by Sara A. Behman, Paul R. Cone, and Paul Zivkovich (all Business Administration) in addressing the seminar. Dr. Jacoby, a presidential economic advisor during the administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower and former vice president of the University of Chicago, is the best known of the seminar speakers. He is a past president of the American Finance Association and was the founding dean of UCLA's Graduate School of Management.

Milton Drandell (Business Administration), chairman of the seminar, said the program is being presented at a timely moment in view of current economic conditions. "The most pressing and critical problems facing us today will be discussed and there will be ample opportunity to meet with the speakers on an informal basis after the sessions," he added. Costs for the two-day program, including discussion materials, two luncheons, and a buffet dinner the evening before the seminar opens, will be covered by a $150 seminar fee.

☒ "PRESIDENTIAL REVIEW" BROADCASTS SCHEDULED

The Cal Poly student radio station, KCPR, is continuing a series of broadcasts called "Presidential Review." Each week President Robert E. ☐ "LA FIESTA" DINNER WILL BENEFIT BAND

A benefit Mexican dinner will highlight the opening ceremonies of the 1975 "La Fiesta" celebration. The dinner, which will take place on Thursday (May 15) from 4 pm to 7 pm, is being sponsored by the local office of Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, which has already donated $250 to the band's Vienna trip fund. The dinner, which will be served by Betty Grau (of the Silent Woman and Laguna Village Inn), will cost $2 per person. Fidelity Savings and Loan Association is donating the food and Betty Grau and her staff are donating their time, so the entire gross receipts from the dinner will go to the Cal Poly Band.

Entertainment for the dinner, which will be held in the Mission Savings parking lot at 742 Marsh Street, will be provided by the Cal Poly Band as well as the University Jazz Band - Collegians. Immediately following the dinner, the "La Fiesta" beard judging contest and street dance will take place in the Mission Plaza.

☐ MAJOR PHOTO EXHIBIT IN UNION

The effect of "man's hand" on his environment is the theme of a series of thought-provoking photographs by nationally known photographer David Plowden, which will be exhibited May 4 through 16 at Cal Poly. Titled "The Hand of Man on America," the public exhibit will be shown in the University Union as part of the University's Arts and Humanities Festival commemorating the bicentennial of the American Revolution. The exhibit is touring the United States under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution, according to Jon M. Ericson (Dean, School of Communicative Arts and Humanities).

David Haberstich, assistant curator of photography at the Smithsonian, says Plowden's theme shows "the works of man and their impact upon a continent suggesting a basic dichotomy between humanism and materialism. The photographs are imbued alternately with a charming nostalgia for the decaying glories of the romantic, robust past; an unabashed pictorial power stimulated by the photographer's awe of the forces of man and nature; or a profound loneliness. In the tradition of much of the best documentary photography, many of Plowden's pictures seem to indicate problems which need solutions, to portray the past and present in search of a prognosis for the future," Haberstich added.

Reflecting on his role as a photographer, Plowden said, "I have tried to express my deep distress over our appalling indifference and our misplaced priorities. I have tried to show on the one hand what we are capable of and on the other what we are doing." Plowden is a graduate of Yale University who began his career as a photographer in 1959. A former student of both Minor White and Nathan Lyons, he received a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1968 and has written books on such subjects as Farewell to Steam and Lincoln and His America 1809-1865.

☐ ASI OFFICERS' ELECTION

The 14,000 students at Cal Poly will vote next Wednesday and Thursday (May 7 and 8) to select officers of the Associated Students, Inc., for 1975-76. They will choose from among five candidates for the post of president. Three seek the vice president's post and one each the secretary and chief justice offices. In the event a run-off is necessary to select the winner in the president's and vice president's races, students will ballot again on Wednesday and Thursday (May 14 and 15).

Those seeking the president's position include Robert K. Chappell, Greg Fowler, Miguel (Mike) Hurtado, Doug Jorgensen, and Kevin O'Connor. Chappell is a senior with a double major in industrial engineering and business administration; Fowler, who served as chief justice this past year, is a junior history major; Hurtado, currently vice president, is a senior journalism major; Jorgensen, currently chairman of the board of governors for the Julian A. McPhee University Union, is a junior industrial technology major; and O'Connor, currently representative of the ASI on the city human relations committee, is a junior architecture major.

Seeking the post of vice president are Phil Bishop, Timothy J. Hayes, and Roland P. Hill. Bishop is a senior business administration major; Hayes, a senior mechanical engineering major; and Hill, a senior business administration major. The lone candidate for secretary is Kathy Carlson, a junior liberal studies major. Pamela W. Fischer, a senior liberal studies major, seeks the chief justice post.

☐ Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon on Friday (May 9) in the Public Affairs Office, Adm. 210. Copy intended for Cal Poly Dateline is due in the Public Affairs Office by 12 noon on Tuesday (May 6).

☐ CARTOON CREATOR WILL SPEAK

Bob Clampett, creator of Bugs Bunny, Beany and Cecil, and a host of other cartoon and television characters that have made the world laugh, will speak at Cal Poly on Tuesday (May 6). His appearance in Chumash Auditorium is sponsored by the Speakers Forum of Cal Poly's Associated Students, Inc. The public is invited to attend. Tickets, now on sale at the ticket office of the University Union, are $1 for Cal Poly students and $1.50 for all others. Tickets also will be available the evening of the performance.

Clampett acquired his desire to tell stories in cartoons as a result of his Hollywood environment. When he was a youngster in Hollywood, the studios shot their comedies in the streets. Clampett began creating cartoon characters and inventing stories for them, much to the delight of his parents. He created Porky Pig when Leon Schlesinger, Clampett's boss at the Warner Brothers studio, asked for cartoon characters which could compete with the popular live Our Gang series. Cecil, of Beany and Cecil, made his debut on television in 1935 at the San Diego International Exposition, when Clampett, visiting the exposition, came on to a television exhibit, persuaded the exhibitor to let him experiment with viewing some cartoons, then introduced his puppet Cecil. While Clampett was experimenting, a large crowd gathered.

As with Porky Pig, Bugs Bunny was developed to satisfy a studio official--a duckhunt cartoon led to the development of Daffy Duck, but Warner Brothers rejected a Porky's Duck Hunt suggestion, which would have combined Porky Pig and Daffy Duck in one picture. Clampett's answer was a rabbit hunt--and Bugs Bunny was born in 1938. Tweety rose to stardom from a bit role but the audiences fell in love with the canary.

Clampett moved from the movies to television with his "Beany and Cecil" show, where he developed such characters as Leakin' Lena, Captain Huff 'n Puff, and Dishonest John. For the Looney Tunes of Warner Brothers he developed Yosemite Sam, the Bashful Buzzard, Sylvester the Cat, and Sniffles the Mouse. He also brought to the screen Dr. Seuss' "Horton Hatches an Egg," and he whittled Charlie McCarthy for Edgar Bergen.

☐ ANOTHER CARE GRANT APPROVED

The Research Committee has recommended, and Hazel J. Jones (Vice President for Academic Affairs) has approved, a CARE grant of $150 for Edward L. Mayo (History). This will aid Dr. Mayo in his study of the historical development of a technological society in America.

☐ POLISH VISITOR ON CAMPUS

Zofia C. Jancewicz of the Institute of Applied Linguistics of Warsaw University in Poland was a visitor on campus April 29-30. Dr. Jancewicz was awarded a research grant to explore the use of sound film for educational purposes in classes and on TV, as well as the production of educational film. She is currently working with the English and Linguistics Departments of UCLA, and will visit six other universities for research before returning to Poland.

At Cal Poly she observed audiovisual and materials production with John A. Heinz (Director, A-V Services and Production) and Steven LaMarine (IMP Production Supervisor); a graduate class in English as a second language with Gloria Jameson (English); basic processes in language and literacy development and speech clinic work with Charles H. Lindamood (English). She was Dr. Jameson's guest at the annual California Conference of Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages during her visit on campus.

☐ MINI-GRANT PROPOSALS ASKED

Details for the 1975-76 Mini-Grant program have been completed and, contingent upon the state funding of the CSUC budget, approved campus proposals can be implemented during the next academic year. The following brief outline suggests the general guidelines and procedures of the program.

Criteria: Each proposal is limited to $2500. The essential criteria are the relevance of the proposal to the mission and goals of the university and the number of students who will be assisted either immediately or over a longer period of time. Specific areas include but are not limited to: 1. The development of basic skills in such areas as mathematics, reading, and writing; 2. New approaches to understanding historical and cultural values, their origins, evolution, and impacts on societal and personal decision-making; explorations of current issues relating to belief systems; 3. Alternative ways of imparting and integrating fields of knowledge, appreciations, and/or skills (e.g., capstone courses, upper and lower division general education programs); and 4. Proposals to test truly unique approaches to teaching or learning not previously supported by the fund. Abstracts of proposals previously funded are available in Adm. 317.

Deadline: Proposals should be submitted not later than Monday (June 2) in Adm. 317. A brief extension of time may be granted where circumstances warrant, but must be obtained prior to the deadline.

Application forms: Available not later than Friday (May 9) in the offices of the School Deans and in Adm. 317.

Budget period: Academic year (Sep. 1975 through June 1976), although a proposal may include Aug. 1975 if appropriate to the development plans.

Notification and processing: All proposals will be reviewed and critiqued by the Instructional Innovation Coordinating Committee, and its recommendations will be transmitted to the Vice President for Academic Affairs, and to the President for final approval. Pending approval of state funding, it is anticipated that notification can be completed during July.

Eligibility: The applicant must be a full-time faculty, a department, or a school.

Any questions about the mini-grants should be directed to David M. Grant (Associate Dean, Academic Planning), Campus Coordinator of Innovative Projects, in Adm. 317 at ext. 2982.

Looking Ahead. A common complaint about research programs is that the reader doesn't really get the information until it's too late to get the application forms and return them by the deadline. And it's often all too true. Here are some programs that have deadlines far enough in the future to provide for inquiry and careful proposal preparation. If the Research Development Office can help you get more information, let us know.

N.S.F. (Please Turn the Page). On page 2 of Encouraging Notes this week we reprinted a Schedule of National Science Foundation Programs in Education in the Sciences for FY 1976. In many cases the programs have not been announced and so the specific information about the program will be available at a later date. However, the schedule is a useful reminder of when to begin planning your proposal data in the months ahead. As information about individual programs becomes available, there will be notices in EN.
