The ardent supporters of democratic congressional candidate Julian Camacho showed signs of malcontent with Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan's plan labeled racist

"Reagan is showing racism by not supporting the Economic Opportunities Program," said Julian Camacho, democratic congressional candidate from this district Thursday.

Camacho was one of the speakers at the MECHA-sponsored rally held last Thursday in the CU Plaza.

"Talcott does not represent the people, but profit," he said.

Burt Talcott, the incumbent U.S. congressional representative from the 13th district, is Camacho's opposition from the Republican Party.

The Democratic candidate described himself as a firm supporter of EOP. He said as soon as Gov. Ronald Reagan and Talcott are out of office more money can be channeled into the program.

"To get out and get the people to vote," was the way Camacho said, "to get what the people want."

During his speech, Camacho outlined some of his goals if he is elected. He said he would support the "environmental issue," work toward the end of farm subsidies and use that money for the "real needs of the community."

SHUTTLE LAUNCH

Vandenberg one site

Cape Kennedy (UPI)—The space agency Friday selected Cape Kennedy as the initial launch and landing base for the $5.5-billion space shuttle rocket plane project.

Deputy Administrator George M. Low also announced that Vandenberg Air Force Base would later be used for the north-south polar launchings of the shuttle. This type launch cannot be made from the Florida base.

The space shuttle is a reusable, winged spaceship that will take off vertically like a rocket and return to an airport landing like a jetliner. It will be boosted into space by solid rocket propellants that will be recovered in the ocean and used over again.

Low said construction of the shuttle facilities would begin in 1973 or 1974 at Cape Kennedy and "toward the end of the decade" for the California base. The first orbital test flight of the shuttle is scheduled for 1978.

He said the shuttle facilities would cost $150 million at Cape Kennedy and $500 million at Vandenberg. The Defense Department will pay for the California base construction while the space agency will construct the Florida base. Vandenberg is currently used by both the Air Force and the Space Agency for launching unmanned satellites into polar orbits. Manned and unmanned spacecraft, both military and civilian, are launched into equatorial orbits from Cape Kennedy.

The two-base decision, announced by Low, ended two years of competition and controversy—particularly between California and Florida.

Copperhead steals show

by MALCOLM STONE

One of the largest concert crowds of the year was treated to some fine entertainment by a local talent and three generations of San Francisco rock bands Saturday night.

Mark Terry, a soft spoken sophomore Farm Management major from Oakland, warmed up the 2700 paid customers (a few hundred more got in anyway.)

Terry played some easygoing listening music while the big crowd settled into the proper mood. He accompanied himself on the guitar, playing what he called wooden music since it was not electronically amplified.

One of his best songs was about a girl he had broken up with. He said later, "I don't know what I call it, I never thought about it."

Copperhead was the first of the San Francisco bands to perform. The group is described as a third generation San Francisco sound.

Fifty enter student race

by TONY SANTOS
News Editor

Students will have a wide selection to pick and choose from when they vote during General Spring Elections April 24 and 25.

Fifty students met the 5 p.m. deadline Friday to file for the 1972-73 ASI and Students Affairs Council positions. Ten students returned petitions for the four ASI offices, while 40 filed for 19 SAC positions.

Active campaigning for the elections began today at 12:01 a.m. A campaign assembly—to allow the general student body to meet the candidates—is scheduled at 7:30 tonight in Chumash Auditorium.

Three students—Robin Baggett, Pete Evans, and Paul Tokanaga—are vying for the ASI President's office. Denny Johnson, James Patterson and Heanne Wiles are the ASI vice-presidential candidates. The ASI vice-president also serves as the chairman for SAC.

Campaigning for the ASI secretary's position are Max

Art kicks off women's week

Women's Heritage Week gets under way today with an art show in CU 204. The show will last all week and will feature work by women.

All women are invited to attend two panel discussions on Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in CU 204.

Topics for discussion will be "Lifestyles for Women" on Monday, and "Exploitation and Oppression of Women" on Tuesday. There is no charge to attend the events and there will be a general discussion following the panel presentation.

The program is sponsored by ASI Speakers Forum, ASI Officers, Assemblies, and Crafts Center Committee.

Boveri, Laura Lampson, and Susan Markley. Two students who have submitted petitions for

All ASI and Student Affairs Council candidates for office who did not have their pictures taken at the general candidates meeting Friday are asked to come to Mustang Daily offices, GA 236, between 1-3 p.m. today.

Chief Justice, John Lange, and Frisco White.

Nine students filed for the four SAC seats open to agriculture and natural resource students. They are: Ron Buckner, John DeRuitter, Marianne Doshi, William Gaedtke, Dan Graham.

T.V. networks charged with monopoly practices

Washington (UPI)—The Justice Department charged in an antitrust suit Friday that the three major television networks had used their control of the air waves to gain a financial interest in most entertainment programs produced for prime-time television.

The suits asked that the networks be prohibited from producing or having any financial interest in entertainment programs or films shown during prime time, defined in the suits as 6 p.m. EST to 11 p.m. EST.

News, sports, public affairs and documentary films would not be affected. Networks also would be allowed to buy first-run rights to movies.

The suits were filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles against ABC, NBC, CBS and former CBS subsidiary Viacom, according to Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kkeindienst.

Lee Pitts, Bruce Riel, Greg Williams, and Gary Wright.

Jon Harrison, Brad Isaacson, and Michael Meiring are the three candidates for the two architecture and environmental design SAC positions.

Eight students—James Benson, Steve Castle, Steve Depper, Navnit Doshi, Michael Garcia, Jeanne Spencer, Steven Wright, and Daniel Wukmir—are campaigning for the two SAC representative positions available to business and social science majors.

Vying for the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities' two SAC seats are Georgiana Hays, Paul Israel, Paul Simon, and Thomas Speers.

The three networks vowed to fight the suits.

NBC called the action "a suit against the public interest" and said that NBC produces less than 10 per cent of its prime-time programming. ABC and CBS issued similar statements.

The suits charged the networks had used control of access to the air waves to:

—Prevent broadcast of programs in which they had no financial interest.

—Force outside program suppliers to grant the networks financial interests in the programs they broadcast.

—Prevent advertisers from putting their own shows on the air, forcing them to buy time on programs offered by the networks.

—Control the prices they pay for motion picture films.

—Gain competitive advantage over independent producers.

'Sensible' students rally

The second campus election convention with a week is being readied for a Tuesday evening presentation, organizers of the Cal Poly Common Sense Rally said Thursday.

Gene McClure, Steve Prevel and Joe Pauley, the rally organizers, said it is to be held on behalf of ASI presidential candidate Robin Baggett, and ASI vice presidential candidate Denny Johnson, although all candidates will be given the opportunity to speak.

"All interested students who are concerned in seeing some common sense put into student government are welcome to attend," McClure said.

The rally will take place in the campus Beef Pavillion. Doors will be open at 6:45 for the 7 p.m. event. The Country Pride Band will provide musical entertainment, according to the three students.

The common sense rally will take place one week after the Student Rights Alliance conducted a convention in Chumash Hall. SRA candidates for ASI office were nominated at that time.

Think about both sides 'People who left were cutting their own throat'

Editor:

To comment on Mr. Joe Pauley's letter of April 13, I find that his reaction was not thought out very well. Regardless of whether or not an audience agrees with a speaker, there should be enough maturity in college students to at least be polite—which the "cowboys" were not.

And your evidence of jail sentences and murder charges can be justified by asking whose laws have been broken? What would be your answer to hundreds of years of suppression and discrimination?

It's not a question of being in love with Bobby Seale and other left-wing radicals, it is realizing that everything we learn from authorities, news media, and the government isn't always the whole truth. We need to know both sides.

Mr. Pauley, you had better open your eyes too. There's more to being arrested and jailed than breaking the law, there are reasons and causes for it. Fighting back at people who put you down is not being a racist as you so call Bobby Seale and the Black Panther Party!

Meri Kay Gurnee

Editor:

It seems to me that the people who walked out of the SRA convention because they didn't agree with SRA policies were essentially cutting their own throats. Its ironic that they came to disagree with the policies but they didn't come to make the policies. At 3 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, caucuses were held at which time the platforms were discussed and changed without any time threat. Everyone was invited and everyone who came was heard. I was.

The athletics caucus is what interested me and we met-discussed-and changed all original policies that the majority of us wanted changed. We put the time and thought into it, especially Max Boveri, chairman of the athletic caucus. I thought the policies we drew up really represented the majority of the people. Yet, it was these policies that seemed to give the impetus for people to walk out of the convention. Why didn't they care enough to come to the caucuses?

Three-ring circus seen in current government

Editor:

The current ASI Government has just completed its three ring circus. The first being the Student Affairs Council which is run by our ace parliamentarian Marianne Doshi. Consisting of meetings that last until 1:00 a.m. and complete two items of business. On stage two is Mr. Evans appearing in two cages.

In the left cage he appears as a lion growling through a newspaper at the administration. The right cage shows the true form, a mouse who runs scared not meeting the administration face to face.

The final performance was last Tuesday night at Chumash Auditorium when Evans was nominated by a far-leftest political party who would like to see this school torn apart piece by piece.

How can the students allow people of this type to run Cal Poly? Remember Cal Poly belongs to you, not a few radical politicians. This year let's get it together and elect someone who will be more concerned with the students. Re-election of the people now in office will only turn Cal Poly into a zoo!

Board waives room—policy

Two campus groups requested the waiver of a College Union policy, allowing the programming of only one upstairs lounge per night for organized college activity, at Thursday's meeting of the College Union Board of Governors.

One request was modified and the other denied.

Judy Sherard, representative for Women's Heritage Week, requested the CUBG waive the College Union policy of programming only one upstairs lounge for student activity nightly, in order to use an upstairs lounge for a child care center from 7:30-11 p.m. during Women's Heritage Week, April 17-23.

Because CU 220 has already been programmed for activities concerning Women's Heritage Week during this time period Roy Gersten, director of ASI business affairs, suggested the use of CU 112, currently being used as a ping-pong room. Gersten also suggested moving in furniture from another lounge. The proposal was accepted by Miss Sherard.

In a similar request, Rocky Saunders, representative for the Student International Meditation Society, requested the use of CU 203 for a lecture to be held on April 21. Conflict resulted and Saunders was advised to find another campus facility to use for the lecture.

Affirmative action chief is chosen

Sondra Dease has been named assistant personnel analyst of this college and will serve as coordinator of the affirmative action program.

In her position, Mrs. Dease will be responsible for recruiting minorities and women applicants for positions in the college. In addition she will be responsible for identifying and recommending applicants who are qualified for college positions.

Mrs. Dease said she will go into the community and actively recruit people to show that this college is complying with the equal opportunity employment policies.

The new coordinator, whose husband, Clyde, joined this college's Physics Department faculty in 1970, attended the College of Wooster, in Ohio and Fisk University in Tennessee.

In addition to working as personnel management specialist for the Bureau of Fisheries in Washington, and as personnel staffing specialist and management analyst for the Bureau of Census, Mrs. Dease has participated in career day programs at minority high schools, on college recruitment for federal programs, and developing personnel procedures and publications.

Computer vote is 'OK'

Ray Boche, head of the computer center, is not in the least upset with the unanimous rejection by Student Affairs Council of his plan for computerized.

"I understand how they might fear the computer," Boche said. "That's the way people are about something mechanical that they don't understand."

"It was a fair decision," Boche said of the SAC vote. "They studied the proposal and rejected it."

The plan was released for study Aug. 9, 1971, and has since been under scrutiny of several groups.

A four-step decision process including recommendations by Academic Senate, Academic Council and SAC, eventually ends at Pres. Robert Kennedy's doorstep, according to Hilary Findley, SAC representative to the Academic Council."

Their's is a heavy driving sound carried by a strong drum rhythm. Their forte is no nonsense instrumental music very seldom interrupted by vocals.

The piano playing of Pete Sears and Jim McPherson gives Copperhead music a distinctive bluesy sound. The clear sound of the piano rises about the driving guitars.

The crowd was slow to accept them, but by the time they had finished their last number it was raucously demanding more.

"Keeper of the Flame" got next to them, and then Bear's bass solo during "Bigelow's 88,000" aroused them. Copperhead thought it was finished after "Roller Derby", but a demanding audience brought the group back one more time. The crowd stood all the way through "Wing Dang Do."

Big Brother and the Holding Company is the first generation band trying to survive while it lives down a legend that is still young. The band rose to super star status on the voice of the late Janis Joplin.

Now the group has another lead singer with a powerful voice in Kathy McDonald who has been around and performs like it.

Miss McDonald is a small thin woman with a startling voice and a lot of energy and enthusiasm. She sang on all of the band's numbers. Among the tunes she did were "I'll Be There", "Put a Little Loving In Your Soul", "Super 88" and "Bridge over Troubled Waters."

The audience was warmly enthusiastic, but it never came up to the level it reached for Copperhead. As the road manager for Copperhead said, the band sounds good but it may be difficult for Miss McDonald to gain acceptance in the shadow of a legend.

Stoneground was the headliner, and it was the most closely knit group of the three. The music was intricately laced together and balanced through long association. The group's strength is the smooth blending of talents.

No one really carried the load individually, but the total effect was pleasing although Stoneground seem to lack the force of Copperhead.

Doesn't General Electric realize the days of enormous corporate profits are over?

There was a time, fifty or sixty years ago, when a major corporation in America might expect profits of twenty or even twenty-five cents on the sales dollar.

Those days are over. But not everybody realizes it.

What would you call enormous?

In 1970, Fortune's Top 500 industrial corporations realized an average profit of about 4 cents on the dollar.

General Electric fared slightly better than average. Last year, our profits amounted to about 5 cents on the dollar.

We are occasionally attacked, along with business in general, as being "too profit-oriented."

People argue that if social progress is to be made, business must make it. And that profits stand in the way of social progress.

We would argue quite the opposite.

The business of business is not just business.

The purpose of a business, as we see it, is to produce and distribute necessary goods and services to the profit of society...and the business itself.

A business must reflect society's needs. Economic, political, legal and moral, as well as social. It must change as society changes and, to some extent, influence those changes.

But if society profits and the business does not, the business will fold in the short run. It will have no operating funds.

How much profit is enough to keep a business operating? How much is too much? It's hard to say.

However, the companies making only marginal profit are not the companies providing new employment, creating new products or adding to man's scientific and technical knowledge.

Marginal companies are not the ones making the important social contributions today. For a simple reason. They can't afford to.

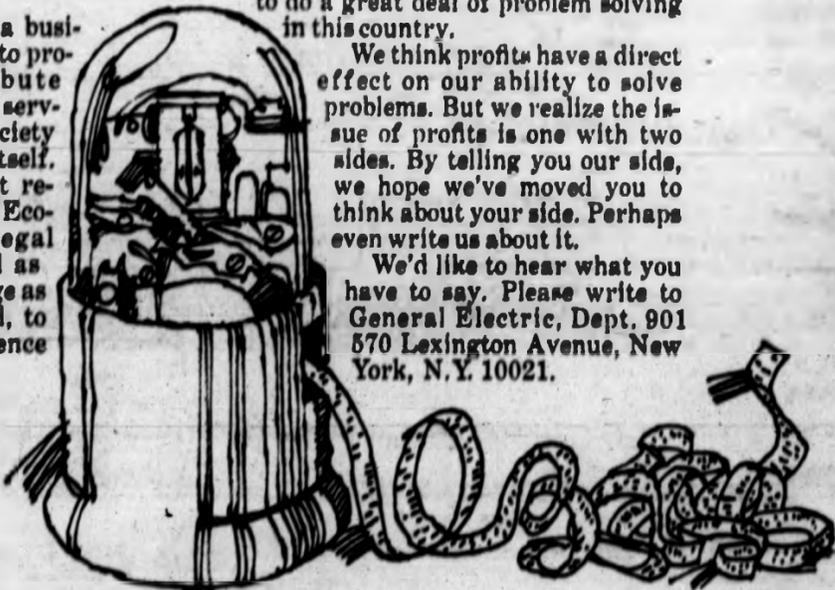

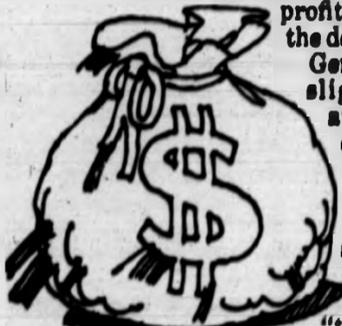

No responsible company wants a return to the days of the robber barons. No responsible company wants "enormous" profits. But no company can survive without the profit system.

Why are we running this ad?

General Electric is a big, technological company, with the capabilities to do a great deal of problem solving in this country.

We think profits have a direct effect on our ability to solve problems. But we realize the issue of profits is one with two sides. By telling you our side, we hope we've moved you to think about your side. Perhaps even write us about it.

We'd like to hear what you have to say. Please write to General Electric, Dept. 901 570 Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10021.

Mustangs(107½) wipe Fresno(55½) in track

by MALCOLM STONE

The Mustang track team demolished Fresno State here Saturday 107½-55½ and set a new dual meet scoring record in the process.

All the track events were over metric measurements, because as coach Steve Simmons said, "It's an Olympic year. During Olympic years most of the bigger meets are timed over meters, and I want to give our guys the experience," he added.

The meet resulted in three track records and five lifetime bests. It also produced the largest victory margin ever over a Bulldog team by the Mustangs.

"They weren't at what I'd call full strength for them," Simmons said. But he did not take away anything from his team. "Our people just did a good job against them," he said.

The Mustangs won 14 events and set two new track records.

Distance runner Dale Horton was a double winner in the 1,500 meter run and the 5,000 meter run. His time of 3:58.8 in the 1,500 meters set a new track record.

Freshman quartermiler Kerry Gold ran the 400 meters in 48.4 for a new track record and his season's best time.

Simmons thinks he has the best one-two pole vault combination in the entire college division in Don Hamer and Dave Pierce. The two athletes have been competing against each other since they started vaulting at Santa Barbara High School.

Hamer is becoming a consistent 16-foot vaulter while Pierce now has a best of 15-6.

Hamer was a double winner Saturday taking the pole vault and the high hurdles. His time of 14.6 was a season best, and Kevin McNamara got his personal best taking third at 15.6.

Simmons was very pleased that some of his walking wounded were able to come back to action and perform well.

RESULTS:
Hammer Throw: 1. Keith Tice PSC, 191.2
2. Timothy Zumwalt PCB, 128.8; 3. Jack McCrory CP, 124.8; 4. Keith Leland CP, 121.8

Netters host Pepperdine in match today

The Mustang tennis team will host Pepperdine College today after overpowering Cal State Bakersfield for the second time this season, 7-2 last Thursday. The singles competition in the matches held at Bakersfield were swept by the locals.

The entire team of Dan Lambert, Tom Martin, Kent Coble, Harold Ertelt, Jack Loduca, and Kevin Kennelly picked up the individual victories.

Doubles action saw the duo of Coble and Ertelt come up with the only Mustang win.

Cal State Bakersfield enters the California Collegiate Athletic Association next year under the supervision of pro tennis star Dennis Ralston. Mustang coach Ed Jorgensen said, "The addition of Bakersfield will make this one heck of a league."

The match with Pepperdine today gets underway at 2:30 p.m. on the tennis courts located behind the Men's Gym.

Batmen win two of three

by CHICO DIAZ

The Mustang baseball team increased its league record to 9-6 over the weekend by taking two out of three games from Cal State Fullerton at Poly Field. The locals won Friday's game 11-4, dropped the first game on Saturday 3-2, but stormed back to take the Titans 10-2 in the second Mustang pitcher Les Ohrn as Fullerton squeaked by the locals.

Southpaw Dennis Root, who had a no-hitter going for five innings, picked up his fourth win of the year in the Mustangs' 10-2 victory.

The locals started off fast as they scored three runs in the second inning. Larry Silveira

The locals now have a 23-13 record and stand in third place in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. Their next encounter will be Friday in Pomona.

Robert Chappell, Tiny Lester, Ray Righetti, Chris West, and Sherman Wing are the candidates for the four engineering and technology positions on SAC.

From human development and education, Santos Arrona, Margaret Ballantine, Jeri Brandt, Ernie King, and Ron Martinelli have filed for that school's three SAC offices.

Candidates from science and mathematics are Ken Haygood, June Kata, Jeanne Morris, Tom Moule, and Jim Pearce. Science and mathematics has two seats on SAC.

game of the doubleheader.

The Mustangs belted out two home runs, two triples, and a total of 15 hits in their first win. Pitcher Mike Krukow, who got plenty of offensive attack, scattered seven hits as he picked up his eighth win of the season.

Leading the hit barrage on Friday were right-fielder Ted Bally with three hits, Steve McFarland with two hits, and Pete Phillips with a triple and a single. Gary Knuckles and Joe Zagarino both added home runs to the Mustang attack.

In Saturday's opener Titan pitcher Mike Gonzales outdueled started the rally with a walk, Knuckles singled, both combined on a double steal, and both came home on a single by Zagarino. Root then delivered his first of three hits to score Zagarino.

The Mustangs put the game out of reach in the following inning as they scored five runs in the frame. The big hits in the frame were Zagarino's single to drive in two runs and Root's single to drive in two more runs.
