INNOVATIVE IDEAS INVITED FOR EPIC COMMITTEE

President Robert E. Kennedy has issued a special invitation to faculty, staff, and students to find ways to improve education and to attain more efficient utilization of the college's resources.

In a letter addressed to school deans, chairmen of the Academic Senate and the Staff Senate, and the president of the Associated Students, Inc., the president said the EPIC Committee, appointed last April, should serve as a catalyst for ideas, nurturing and developing as many as feasible, and subsequently transmitting ideas and proposals for appropriate consultation, review and action through established college channels and procedures.

The Educational Productivity Improvement Committee is a working committee of the academic affairs staff of the college.

President Kennedy reported that the committee has already forwarded recommendations dealing with increased use of comprehensive examinations, accelerated Summer Quarter enrollment, consultation with local and regional institutions, and possible college involvement in a statewide external degree program.

Ten categories illustrating the breadth of EPIC interests, but not to be considered as limiting, are: students admitted, courses offered, programs offered, methods of instruction, evaluation of students, evaluation of instruction, faculty workload and staffing, facility utilization, Summer Quarter utilization, and programs.

"The ideas need not be constrained by present administrative or operational policies and procedures; we are seeking innovations," Dr. Kennedy stated. He said communication channels for the submission of ideas are wide open. An idea at any stage of development may be submitted, in writing, directly to Tom Dunigan (Director of Institutional Research), who is chairman of the EPIC Committee, without the need for clearance or transmittal by any administrative superior.

Following submission of ideas to the committee, however, they will be processed through normal consultative procedures prior to implementation, the president noted, whether the idea involves a pilot project or changes in college policies or procedures. The Academic Senate, Staff Senate, and ASI are normally included in such consultation.

The purpose of the invitation is to generate ideas which could contribute to improved teaching-learning or could lead to increased efficiency without jeopardizing teaching-learning quality, he added.

LIBRARY WILL BE CLOSED ON OCT. 24-25.

The College Library will be closed on Sunday and Monday (Oct. 24-25) in observance of Veterans Day. The Library will be open during regular hours (8 a.m. - 5 p.m.) on Saturday (Oct. 23).

S L O COUNTY BAR JOINS C S C HEARING OFFICER PROGRAM

Bar associations of Humboldt and San Luis Obispo counties have approved participation in disciplinary procedures of the California State Colleges, Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke announced last week. As a result, 4 Humboldt County Bar members and 11 from the San Luis Obispo County Bar will serve as hearing officers in the event needs occur, respectively, at Humboldt State College and Cal Poly.

The Hearing Officer Program, previously endorsed by 11 bar associations in or near counties where 14 state colleges are located, has attracted national interest for its involvement of community attorneys to aid in resolving campus disciplinary cases.

"This program, entering its second year, is proving highly successful in areas where local bar associations are currently participating," Chancellor Dumke said. "I am pleased at the actions of the Humboldt and San Luis Obispo County bar associations which further join the state college system with the legal profession in administering justice for individuals charged with conduct violations."

Norman L. Epstein, vice chancellor and general counsel who developed the state college's Hearing Officer Program, also expressed appreciation to the two county bar groups. "We hope, of course, that needs do not arise for hearing officers," he said. "The availability of qualified local attorneys for such assignments, however, is in itself a significant asset to both Cal Poly and to Humboldt State College."

Under procedures authorized by the colleges' Board of Trustees last year, hearing officers evaluate evidence in cases involving misconduct allegations and prepare finding and recommendations for consideration by college presidents. Local bar association members, commissioned by Chancellor Dumke, provide a panel from which a state college president may select a hearing officer. Under previous campus procedures hearing officer responsibilities were typically assigned to committees.

San Luis Obispo County attorneys commissioned as hearing officers are:

James Ashe of Paso Robles; E. J. Burke, San Luis Obispo; Darold Cook, San Luis Obispo; Andrew David, Arroyo Grande; David Farmer, San Luis Obispo; William Fredman, San Luis Obispo; Ron Gould, Arroyo Grande; James Merzon, Morro Bay; Richard Wood, San Luis Obispo; Harry Woolpert, San Luis Obispo, and William D. Wright, Atascadero.

Currently participating in the state colleges' Hearing Officer Program, in addition to bar associations of Humboldt and San Luis Obispo counties, are the Butte, Fresno, Los Angeles, Marin, Orange, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco (The Lawyers Club), Santa Clara, and Sonoma county bar associations.

STUDENT AWARDS PROGRAM ANNOUNCED BY ASSOCIATED STUDENTS COMMITTEE

A program of awards for outstanding students is again being operated by the Awards Committee of the Associated Students, Inc., according to an announcement from Nancy Puterbaugh, who is chairman of the committee. Involved are two different awards -- the Mustang Award and the Student-of-the-Month Award. Recipients will be chosen by the committee following nominations by members of the student body, faculty advisors, or deans. Further information and nomination blanks may be obtained by contacting the Activities Planning Center, CU-222, 546-2476.

RICHARD I. LEACH WILL BE HOMECOMING PARADE MARSHALL

Richard I. Leach, who retired June 30 after 41 years as a faculty member at Cal Poly, will be grand marshall of the college's 1971 Homecoming parade on Oct. 30. He will lead the procession down Higuera St. from Toro St. to Nipomo St. in San Luis Obispo beginning at 10 a.m.

Leach is being honored for having established the longest tenure of any faculty member at Cal Poly -- 41 years -- and for having developed an especially loyal alumni group for the Poultry Industry Department of the college which he headed until his recent retirement.

Although the department was one of the smallest on the campus two hundred or more alumni returned for the annual turkey banquet each spring and at Poly Royal time; open house at the campus Poultry Unit is a major event for the poultry grads. This fall the department has been combined with the Dairy Science Department to create a new Dairy and Poultry Science Department.

Leach came to Cal Poly from Montana State College as part of a team recruited by the late Julian A. McPhee to rebuild the agricultural program at the then struggling California Polytechnic School. He has earned an international reputation in the field of poultry education and recently was honored as a fellow of the Poultry Science Association.

In addition to the parade on Oct. 30, Cal Poly Homecoming activities for 1971 will also include a noon luncheon for the Homecoming queen and her court, a football game between the Cal Poly Mustangs and the California State College at Long Beach Forty-Niners at 1:30 p.m., two concerts by the Temptations in the Men's Gym (7:30 and 10 p.m.), a dance, and a barbecue at the Tar Springs Ranch near Arroyo Grande for graduates during the years 1948-52.

Distinguished alumni of the college's seven instructional schools will be honored at an invitation banquet at the Madonna Inn in San Luis Obispo at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 29. The first step toward selection of a Homecoming queen was the queen's pageant which took place last Wednesday, (Oct. 13) in the Cal Poly Theater. Students will vote to select the queen from among the five finalists on Oct. 27.

EFFECT OF FOREIGN POLICY WILL BE TOPIC FOR SEMINAR SERIES

The effect of U.S. foreign policy on world affairs will be the topic when Doyle V. Martin addresses students and faculty during a series of seminars on campus this Friday (Oct. 22). The talks by Martin, a European affairs specialist with the U.S. Department of State, are being arranged jointly by the School of Business and Social Sciences and School of Communicative Arts and Humanities.

A member of the Department of State staff since 1946, Martin presently is working with a commission which is studying U.S. government financed radio broadcasting overseas. Martin was officer-in-charge of Romanian and Hungarian affairs from 1960 to 1964 and officer-in-charge of Hungarian affairs from 1968 until he assumed his present assignment. He has also served in various Department of State capacities in Bulgaria, India, Australia, Sweden, and Romania.

Classes in economics, history, social sciences, and business administration are scheduled to participate in Martin's seminars at Cal Poly.

STATEMENTS ON AMERICAN EDUCATION COMPILED BY ARMENTROUT

The many, and sometimes contradictory, ideas of what American education should be are being brought together in a single book by a member of the Cal Poly faculty. William W. Armentrout, coordinator of secondary education for the Cal Poly Education Department, is the author of the recently-published anthology What Should the Purpose(s) of American Education Be?

The volume, published by Kendall/Hunt Publishing Company of Dubuque, Iowa, is a paperback retailing for $6. Copies are available in the El Corral college store, and at Gabby bookstore in San Luis Obispo.

The book is a compilation of important statements on American public secondary education. Seven sections deal with nationwide documents, and three with California education. In addition to presenting in one volume significant documents which students of education must frequently review, the book includes workbook sections with questions designed to support self-guided study of the material, or its use as classroom text.

A member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1953, Dr. Armentrout received the BJ degree from University of Missouri, 1939; AB, Colorado State College of Education, 1940; MA, Columbia University, 1940; and EdD, Stanford University, 1953.

VARSITY FOOTBALLERS WILL OPEN C C A A SEASON AGAINST VALLEY STATE

San Fernando Valley State College's Matadors will be the opponents when Head Coach Joe Harper's varsity football team opens defense of its California Collegiate Athletic Association championship this Saturday (Oct. 23). Starting time for the game, which will be played on the campus field at SFVSC in Northridge, will be 8 p.m.

The Mustangs may be hard pressed to repeat as CCAA champions in 1971 after having won that honor each of the past three seasons. After recording a 1-3 won-lost mark in the early going this season, many observers believe they will have to improve their performance in order to be in the running.

The Cal Poly eleven dropped a hard-fought and exciting 13-10 game to cross-state rival Fresno State College before some 8,500 spectators in Mustang Stadium in their last outing last Saturday (Oct. 16) evening. San Fernando Valley State College lost to CCAA opponent California State College at Fullerton over the weekend and will carry a 2-3 mark into this weekend's contest.

Home events on the campus sports calendar this week will find the freshman football team, which is now 1-1 on the season after losing to Santa Barbara City College last week, hosting San Jose State College's frosh in a game billed for 3 p.m. on Friday (Oct. 22) in Mustang Stadium, and the varsity water polo team playing host to San Francisco State College in the pool adjacent to the Men's Gymnasium at 1 p.m., that same day.

The only other events involving Cal Poly teams this week will find the varsity cross country team meeting California State Polytechnic College at Pomona and the varsity soccer team meeting Pomona College. Both events are scheduled for Saturday morning and will be played in Pomona.

Included in this year's Ski Club activities are a feature length Warren Miller film open to the entire community on Nov. 6, a ski equipment swap, and frequent ski trips including weekend trips to Bear Valley, Mammoth Mountain, China Peak, and quarter break trips to the Lake Tahoe-Reno area during the Winter and Spring academic holidays. In accordance with past policy, a CTO (compensating time off) day will be used in exchange for that day (Nov. 26). Since Oct. 11 (Columbus Day) was a work day at Cal Poly, it will be used. Voss said that employees who do not have eight hours of CTO credit may work on Nov. 26, with supervisor approval, or may use available vacation credits in order to avoid a dock in their pay.
