Cal Poly Students Holding Fund-Raisers at the Palm Theatre Feb. 6 and 10 to Finance Romantic Comedy

SAN LUIS OBISPO – The Palm Theatre in San Luis Obispo is hosting benefit screenings of Korean films Feb. 6 and 10 to aid a team of Cal Poly students currently filming a feature-length romantic comedy.

The Cal Poly students are writing, producing, directing and promoting an independent feature-length film called “Leave it to Chance.”

The club will show Korean films Feb. 6 and 10. Tickets are $10. The Feb. 6 benefit screening starts at 10:45 a.m. and will feature “My Sassy Girl,” the highest-grossing Korean romantic comedy to date, said Cal Poly student Eileen Chiao.

The film students will show the film’s newly-released Korean prequel, “Windstruck” or “My Sassy Girl 2” at 6:45 p.m. Feb. 10.

At the event, the audience will be able to meet the “Leave it to Chance” student director, cast and crew as well as see a sneak preview of the trailer.

Tickets can be purchased in advance by e-mailing info@leaveittochance.info or at the box office at the Palm Theatre. For additional information about the film and fundraiser, visit www.leaveittochance.info.

About the student film

The romantic comedy “Leave it to Chance” explores love and life among today’s Asian Americans. Set in a small California town, this film follows two young college students, Kailin and Charlie, after an unexplainable breakup. Charlie is unable to let go of the past or Kailin. Their friends seem to help guide the couple apart by providing plenty of distracting events. The film follows what happens as Kailin and Charlie realize they've left their happiness to chance. Visit the film Web site, www.leaveittochance.info, for more details.
