ANSEL ADAMS WILL SPEAK ON MONDAY

"Creative Photography" will be the topic when photographer-conservationist Ansel Adams lectures at Cal Poly on Monday (March 26). Appearing under the auspices of the Cal Poly University Convocation Series, Adams will speak at 8 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee University Union. The public is invited to attend the free lecture.

Having won acclaim as the premier nature photographer of the 20th Century, Adams has had major exhibits in such institutions as the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., the Museum of Modern Art in New York City, the Art Institute of Chicago, Yale University, and elsewhere.

Among several books by Adams are Sierra in Northern California, My Camera in Yosemite Valley, and The Island of Hawaii. He also leads a workshop in Yosemite National Park each summer and teaches photography at the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Now the official photographer of the Sierra Club, Adams is a staff member of the Polaroid Corporation. For his lecture, he will use a slide demonstration and answer questions on photography from the audience.

The famed photographer's appearance at Cal Poly is cosponsored by the university, and by the Student Council of its School of Communicative Arts and Humanities.

CHESTER G. YOUNG PASSES UNEXPECTEDLY

Chester G. Young (Executive Assistant to the President) died early Friday (March 16) in San Diego, while visiting relatives accompanied by his wife Susan. Born in Bremerton, Wash., on Feb. 17, 1915, Young attended schools in San Diego, receiving the AB degree from San Diego State College in 1936 and MS degree from Stanford University in 1954.

A member of the American Mathematical Society, Young was teacher and vice principal of Lemoore Unified Elementary School and assistant professor and acting head of the mathematics department of the University of Santa Clara. He served as an officer in the U.S. Navy from 1942 to 1946. Young joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1954 and was named assistant to President Julian A. McPhee in September, 1961. He subsequently served in various administrative assignments becoming assistant to President Robert E. Kennedy in May, 1967.

Survivors include his wife, Susan of 545 Ellen Way, San Luis Obispo; a son, Sheldon, of Alameda; and a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Susan) Gleason, of San Jose, and two grandchildren, Susan and Elizabeth Gleason. Young was called to San Diego by the illness of his brother, Kenneth, who is hospitalized there. Death was due to an apparent heart attack, according to members of the family. Memorial services for Young, who was buried at sea, were held on Sunday in San Luis Obispo.

CAL POLY EXTENSION WILL OFFER 27 COURSES

The Cal Poly Extension program will kick off Spring Quarter next week (March 26-30) with an offering of 27 extension courses in subjects ranging from agricultural labor relations to Barrio Spanish. The extension program, which is Cal Poly's continuing education service, will conduct classes this spring in five major cities of Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, and southern Monterey Counties.

Cal Poly Extension courses may be taken by any adult meeting class requirements. Registration will occur at the first meeting of each class, however, late registration may be admitted by consent of the instructor at the second class meeting. All extension fees must be paid at this time. Registration fees may be paid by cash, personal check, money order or BankAmericard. Other credit cards cannot be accepted at this time.

Further information and a free copy of the Extension Bulletin may be obtained from the Continuing Education Office, Adm-317 or the Admissions Office, Adm-206.

16 CONCERTS LISTED FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB, COLLEGIANS TOUR

Sixteen performances in 13 locations in Los Angeles and Orange Counties have been announced for the 1973 tour of the Cal Poly Men's Glee Club. The five day tour opened on Monday (March 19) at Burroughs High School in Burbank and will conclude four days later at Santa Ana College. Also included on the itinerary for the Cal Poly student musicians are concerts in Chatsworth, Granada Hills, Saugus, Sepulveda, Reseda, Fullerton, and Buena Park.

Joining the 40-voice university choir for the performance tour will be the Collegians, a 16-piece stage and dance band; the "world famous" Majors and Minors, a 12-member men's vocal ensemble specializing in barber shop melodies; and the Collegiate Quartet, which is best known for its vocal renditions of popular and folk music.

The three singing groups are directed by Harold P. Davidson, the head of the Cal Poly Music Department, who started the musical tours in 1941, crisscrossing the state for 32 years now. The Collegians are directed by Graydon Williams, a member of the Cal Poly music faculty since 1970. He taught at the College of the Ozarks before coming to Cal Poly.

The 1973 tour of the Cal Poly student groups will include one public performance at Santa Ana College on Friday (March 23) at 7:30 p.m. All other performances on the tour are high school assembly-type concerts for limited groups.

DRIVER TRAINING SESSIONS SCHEDULED APRIL 3, 5

Defensive driver training sessions for the Spring Quarter are scheduled for Tuesday, April 3, from 4:30 to 6 p.m., and Thursday, April 5, from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Both sessions will be held in AgEngr-123. Faculty, staff and students will have to successfully complete the defensive driver training program before being permitted to drive state equipment and this will be the only offering of this program in the Spring Quarter. Interested persons may attend either of the two sessions.

Sunday through Wednesday, March 18-21, will be the Academic Holiday between the Winter and Spring Quarters for members of the Cal Poly faculty and student body.

DA VINCI FESTIVAL, SPECIAL COURSE WILL OPEN ON FRIDAY

A special course on the European culture of the 15th Century will be offered at Cal Poly as part of a month-long festival featuring the work of Leonardo da Vinci. Titled "Leonardo and His World," the three-unit course will be open to the non-students through Cal Poly's new concurrent enrollment program. Regularly-enrolled students will be able to sign up through normal registration procedures.

Beside an initial class meeting, which will take place at 7:15 p.m. on Friday (March 23) in Room 203 of the Julian A. McPhee University Union, those taking part in the course will be expected to attend a series of special lectures and activities planned as part of the da Vinci festival at the university. Also planned are two or three final class meetings which will take place following the close of the festival in mid-April, according to Dr. Stanislaus Dundon (Philosophy), who will teach the special course.

Dr. Dundon, who is also chairman of the committee which is staging the da Vinci festival, describes the interdisciplinary course as one which will focus on the creative accomplishments of the 15th Century artist-scientist in the arts, sciences, and technology. The course is expected to draw from a special series of lectures, a major television motion picture on da Vinci, and an exhibit of models of his inventions which will be on loan from the International Business Machines Corporation, for its resource material.

Dr. Dundon pointed out, however, that participation in the special course is not required of those who attend the various activities planned during the festival, which will officially open on Friday, March 23, and continue through April 15. He emphasized that all events will be presented without an admission charge and that the public is invited to attend.

Those interested in enrolling in the three-unit, university credit course can do so by attending the initial meeting on March 23, or at any time prior to that by contacting the Continuing Education Office in the university's administration building. The course fee is $48. Additional information about the course, registration, or the fee may be obtained by contacting the Continuing Education Office, or by telephoning 546-2053.

Information about the da Vinci festival, including a complete listing of special activities, may be obtained from the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities, which is sponsoring the festival, or by telephoning 546-2706.

LOW BID ENTERED BY SANTA BARBARA FIRM

Don Greene Contractor, Inc., of Santa Barbara entered the apparent low bid when proposals for construction of an 11,000-square foot addition to the Student Health Center on campus were opened on Thursday (March 15). The Greene bid, at $989,800, was the lowest of the two submitted for the project. The architect's estimated cost for the addition was $1,080,000.

E. Douglas Gerard (Executive Dean) said the new structure was designed by Robert E. Alexander and Associates of Los Angeles. It is expected to provide facilities for additional doctor's offices, examination rooms, X-ray, and other treatment areas. When combined with the current Student Health Center, it is expected to provide medical services for the university's master planned target enrollment.

CAMPUS BLOOD DRIVE PLANNED FOR MARCH 29

The Block-P Society at Cal Poly will conduct its second annual campus blood drive on Thursday, March 29. Cal Poly students, faculty, and staff are invited to sign up for the blood drive during registration for Spring Quarter classes, Thursday and Friday, March 22 and 23.

The collection will be made by a unit of the Tri Counties Blood Bank of Santa Barbara. All blood collected will be credited to the account of Cal Poly and will be available to students, faculty, and staff and their families. The blood drawing will take place at Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee University Union.

The first annual blood drive a year ago was held on behalf of Pete Lemon, a graduate student who was critically ill. Vic Buccola, a member of the Physical Education Department faculty at Cal Poly and adviser to the Block-P Society, reports Lemon has recovered and is back at work now in the Monterey area.

A number of the tasks connected with actual staging of the blood drawing on March 29 will be handled by members of the Cal Poly Women's Club. Those who can donate three hours of time for that purpose are invited to contact Mrs. Janis Stansfield, (543-7901), to arrange for times.

TICKETS FOR LUAU ON SALE NOW

Tickets are on sale now for the 19th annual luau of Hui O' Hawaii, the Hawaiian students club at Cal Poly. Tickets are priced at $4 each and are available at the information desk in the Julian A. McPhee University Union on campus and at Brown's Music Store in San Luis Obispo.

Eddie Malia and his Islanders, a professional group from the San Francisco Bay Area will entertain at the luau to be held in the Chumash Auditorium of the University Union from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 14. Kalua pig, chicken lua, and Lomi Lomi salmon will be included on the menu along with fresh coconut and pineapple.

The Cal Poly dean said work on the project is expected to begin about May 1 and be completed in time for the university's 1974 Fall Quarter beginning in September of that year. The addition, which will adjoin the present center on the north, is being financed with monies derived from the student health service fee paid by students of the university.

A portion of Campus Way and the parking lot located between the present Health Center and the Mechanical Engineering Laboratory building will be closed to make room for the building site and for storage areas needed to support the construction project.

Dean Gerard said closure of Campus Way, which handles traffic on to the campus via Foothill Blvd., California Blvd., and Crandall Way, will mean that persons who normally use that route will have to enter the Cal Poly campus via California Blvd or Gran Ave.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, March 23, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY ON THAILAND INSPECTION TRIP

President and Mrs. Robert E. Kennedy and International Education Director Robert McCorkle are in Bangkok, Thailand, this week. They are interviewing various officials of the Royal Thai government as well as officials of the Agency for International Development, U.S. Department of State, to determine how well Cal Poly has carried out the objectives of the six-year contract which will be concluded this summer.

The contract calls for a final on-site inspection and a report to the Agency for International Development as well as to the Thai government. This is the second inspection trip during the duration of the Thailand project in which Dr. Kennedy has participated. He, along with Howard West, made the second annual evaluation and report on the project in January, 1969.

Warren T. Smith, formerly dean of Cal Poly's School of Agriculture and Natural Resources, has been the in-country chief of party of the project for the entire six years. He, along with his wife Katie, have lived on the campus of the Bangpra Technical College of Agriculture south of Bangkok. This school has been the main focal point of the Cal Poly project and the headquarters for the Cal Poly team.

One of the major purposes of the program, financed by a World Bank loan for the improvement of vocational education with assistance from AID, was to help develop a more effective program for the training of vocational agriculture teachers for Thailand's secondary schools.

During the six years of the project, the Cal Poly Thailand staff has never exceeded five in number. However, needs for different specializations within the staff required periodic changes of personnel assigned to the program.

James Merson, J. Barron Wiley, John Merriam, H. H. Burlingham and Larry Rathbun have all served in short-term assignments, and Richard Mosbarger, Carl Murry, Leo Scheuber, Gordon Woods, Donald McCann, Ray Rhoads, Hal Carlton, Don Rodrigues, and George McNeely have all served full-time for periods of one or more years.

CHILDREN WILL BE C A H P E R GUESTS ON SUNDAY

Youngsters of San Luis Obispo will be the honored guests at the CAHPER Day at the University of Santa Clara-California Polytechnic State University baseball game at 1 p.m. on Sunday (March 25) in San Luis Obispo Stadium at Sinsheimer Park in San Luis Obispo.

The Cal Poly student chapter of the California Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will host boys and girls, 13 years of age and younger, to some pre-game antics and refreshments. The youngsters, along with CAHPER members, will be admitted free to the game. Adult admission will be $1.

Cal Poly and Santa Clara players will engage in some extra-curricula competition. They will run bases against a clock, see who can hit the most balls into a barrel, and hit fungos for distance to center field. The first 200 youngsters, 13 years of age and under, to arrive at the game will receive free popsicles.

Dave Oliver, senior second baseman on the Cal Poly team will be honored before the game as the university's outstanding physical education student.

INDUSTRY LEADERS, OUTSTANDING STUDENTS HONORED BY LOS LECHEROS

Two men who have contributed an aggregate of 70 years service to dairymen and two outstanding students were honored by Los Lecheros, the club of Cal Poly dairy students, during the annual banquet of that organization recently.

Harold J. Schmidt, president of Genetics, Inc., of Hughson, and Eugene L. Scaramella, executive vice president of Challenge Foods Company in the City of Commerce, were named honorary members of the club, and Larry Godinho and Richard Dinier, both seniors majoring in dairy science, were named the outstanding dairy students for 1973.

Each year since 1948, Los Lecheros has honored one outstanding man from each of the fields of dairy production and dairy industry.

SPRING QUARTER PARKING PERMITS AVAILABLE NOW

Parking stickers for the Spring Quarter are now on sale in the Cashier's Office, Adm-131E. Faculty and staff will be required to show their identification cards at the time parking permits are purchased. Permits may not be picked up by a purchaser's representative without written authorization from the purchaser.

REVISED GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES AVAILABLE ON CAMPUS

Copies of Executive Order 173 covering revisions in the Grievance Procedures for Academic Personnel of the California State University and Colleges have arrived on campus and are presently available for those who wish to study them. The order, issued by Chancellor of the California State University and Colleges Glenn S. Dumke, is dated March 5, 1973.

The revision accords to each grievant the right to be represented, subject to required notice, by a single representative, who is not an attorney admitted to practice law before any state or federal court, at grievance hearings and at other stages of the grievance process. If a grievant is so represented, then those campus officers having responsibility for the action of which the grievant complains also have a right to a single non-attorney representative. The revision appears in Sections 4.2, 10.13, and 10.15.1 of the grievance procedures.

Dale W. Andrews (Academic Vice President) said this week that an administrative bulletin, including EO 173 in its entirety, will be included in the Campus Administrative Manual reprint, which is now being prepared for distribution in the immediate future. Copies of EO 173 also are available in the Personnel Office, Adm-110, for any employee who desires one.

STORE OPERATION WINS PRAISE OF PUBLISHING EXECUTIVE

The executive vice president of a publishing firm located in the middle west has joined the ranks of those who believe the El Corral Campus Store is doing an outstanding job of serving the campus community. Anthony 'D. Branch of Collegiate Publishing, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio, expressed those sentiments in a recent letter to Mrs. Mary Lee Green, who manages the store.

"I must tell you that the Cal Poly Bookstore is one of the nicest I have encountered in my travels around the country. The layout and merchandising plan is excellent; it was obviously done by someone with a 'feel' for both books and students. It is a credit to you and the university you represent. In fact, so impressed was I that I spent several hours looking at your fine selection of books," Dr. Branch wrote.

Dr. Branch, who visits the campuses of most of the larger colleges and universities in the U.S., was a campus visitor in January while spending time in San Luis Obispo with his family and a brother.

CONCERT BY BEACH BOYS SLATED SATURDAY

The first concert of the 1972-73 Spring Quarter at Cal Poly will feature the Beach Boys on Saturday (March 24). Sponsored by the Concert Committee of the Associated Students, Inc., the concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gymnasium on campus.

General admission tickets are $3 for students and $4 for all others when purchased in advance. They will cost $3.50 and $4.50 at the door. The public is invited to attend. Anyone under 18 years of age must be accompanied by an adult. Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the Julian A. McPhee University Union Information Desk on campus, and at King and Queen Stereo in downtown San Luis Obispo.

DOURROUGH NAMED OUTSTANDING STAFF EMPLOYEE

Everette Dourrough, coordinator of special services for the Food Services operation of the Cal Poly Foundation, was named outstanding staff employee for 1973 during the third annual recognition luncheon of the Staff Senate last Friday (March 16). An employee of the Cal Poly Foundation for some 19 years, he was honored for his outstanding service to and for his fellow staff employees.

Also recognized during the luncheon, which took place in the dining room of the new Vista Grande building, were state and foundation staff employees with 10, 15, and 20 years of service, who had not been previously honored. The awards were presented by Harold O. Wilson (Administrative Vice President). Owen L. Servatius was master of ceremonies.

18TH CENTURY MUSIC PLANNED FOR MISSION CONCERT

The music of the 18th Century will again be heard in Mission San Luis de Tolosa on Sunday (March 25) when the University Singers of Cal Poly present their annual concert there. Expected to feature songs of the mission era, as well as those of a more contemporary nature, the program will begin at 8 p.m. Admission will be free and the public is invited.

Programmed for the concert, according to John G. Russell (Music), conductor of the 40-voice mixed choir, are Mozart's Sancta Maria, Ives' Psalm Sixty Seven, and Brahms' Motet, Op. 29, No. 1. An instrumental ensemble composed of members of the Cal Poly Chamber Symphony will also perform during the concert. Clifton E. Swanson (also Music) will conduct the ensemble.

Russell said the University Singers will feature songs emphasizing authenticity that matches the colorful history of California's Missions. Many of the numbers in the choir's repertoire are performed in Latin.

15 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITY TEAMS EXPECTED FOR SPEECH TOURNEY

Fifteen teams representing colleges and universities from throughout California are expected to enter the Mustang Invitational Speech Tournament, which will take place at Cal Poly this Friday and Saturday (March 23-24). Beside the host team, entries from California State University, Fresno; California State University, San Francisco; University of Santa Clara, and Long Beach City College have already been received.

Bill Hensley (Speech Communication), faculty advisor to the Cal Poly Debate Squad, said competition in four events (debate, persuasive speaking, expository speaking, and oral interpretation) will be held in the Julian A. McPhee University Union; the Music, Speech, and Drama Building; the Science Building; and the Science North Building. Divisions for both novice and open participants is planned.

The Mustang Invitational is being sponsored by the Speech Communication Department and the Debate Squad.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, March 23, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.

CLARIFICATION FOR INNOVATIVE PROPOSAL INSTRUCTIONS

Instructions for applying for Pilot Projects for Innovation, as provided by the Office of the Chancellor of the California State University and Colleges, contain some technical jargon that is not easy to understand, according to information received from the Instructional Innovation Coordinating Committee.

Faculty who intend to apply for grants under the program will be better prepared if they know that "criterion referenced techniques," referring to an evaluation of the project, simply means that the method used for evaluation should be tailor made for the project, the committee explained.

Continuing its explanation, the committee said "holistic evaluation design strategy" means that the evaluation should be as complete as possible, integrated, and organized. For example, a report of student reaction to the innovative program is not a total evaluation.

Other advice offered by the campus committee for those who may be planning to submit proposals under the program include a clear statement in the proposal of the following: 1) What is the problem? 2) What do you propose to do? 3) How will you do it? and 4) How will you know if there is any improvement?

Faculty experiencing difficulty in interpreting the guidelines are invited to contact Howard Boroughs (Associate Dean, Graduate Studies and Research), who is campus coordinator for the Pilot Projects for Innovation, 546-2982, Adm-309.

180 COURSES AVAILABLE BY CONCURRENT ENROLLMENT

Residents of Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, and Southern Monterey Counties again will be able to enroll in regularly offered courses at Cal Poly through the process of "concurrent enrollment" this spring. The process, which was added to the Cal Poly Extension program last quarter, allows any adult meeting course requirements to attend, and receive credit for more than 180 classes being offered by the university.

Petition forms for spring classes, beginning next week (March 26), may be obtained from the Admissions Office, Adm-206, or from the Continuing Education Office, Adm-317.

Those who enroll in the concurrent enrollment courses as extension students receive regular extension credit and are subject to other regulations as they apply to fees, refunds, grading, etc. The concurrent enrollment courses are in addition to the 28 regular extension courses being offered during the Spring Quarter by Cal Poly Extension.

LUNCHEON FOR WOMEN BEING PLANNED FOR MARCH 28

Wednesday, March 28, is the date selected by the Cal Poly University Club for its annual luncheon for its women members, according to information received from Mrs. Ruth Gran (University Health Center), secretary of the club. The luncheon will take place in the Staff Dining Room starting at 12 noon. Women who are members of the University Club are invited to contact Mrs. Gran, 546-2151, for reservations.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE ? ? ?

James R. Landreth (Director of Business Affairs) represented the Directors of Business affairs at a meeting on Personnel Informational Management System, which took place on March 5, at the Office of the Chancellor of the California State University and Colleges in Los Angeles.

Guy Thomas (Head, Graphic Communication) and John R. Healey (Head, Journalism) were speakers at the regional meeting of the California Newspaper Publishers Association which took place in Bakersfield on March 9. They told those present how the graphic communications and journalism curricula of Cal Poly can be used to help develop employees for the newspaper industry.

Mrs. Helen Kelley (Journalism) was featured in an article appearing in the latest issue of Professional Photographer Magazine. A photograph taken by Mrs. Kelley, her photography philosophy, and a biography were featured in the magazine's "First Ladies of Photography/Skill and Communication" section.

Moon Ja Minn Suhr (Women's Physical Education Department) participated recently as a critic for the stage concert of Choon Hyang Lun, Love Story of Yi Dynasty, a Korean musical dance drama. The concert took place at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre in Los Angeles under the auspices of the Soodo Women Teachers College of Seoul. Mrs. Suhr's critique was published in Hankooki Ilbo, a Korean newspaper published in Los Angeles.

Robert L. Hoover (Social Sciences) delivered a lecture on "Economic Resources of the California Indians" before a meeting of the Santa Cruz Archeological Society held in Santa Cruz on Feb. 15. Dr. Hoover has also completed a workshop on "Scientific and Technical photography" for use in classroom teaching.

Loren Nicholson (Journalism) was among six Californians honored by the State Historical Association at a banquet held on March 3 in Sacramento. Nicholson received the organization's Award of Merit for authorship and leadership in California Historical affairs.

Barbara Sevier (Women's Physical Education) conducted a volleyball workshop for sports directors, coaches, and players involved in the sports program of the Latter Day Saints Church. The workshop, which took place recently in Crandall Gymnasium involved some 50 women from San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles, and Arroyo Grande.

Bob Miller, Hal Burgener, Dick Hall, and Joseph Surra (all Business Affairs Division) were participants in the Accounting and Budget Officers meeting which took place on Feb. 28 and March 1 at Cal Poly, Pomona. Financial managers and representatives from the Office of the Chancellor of the California State University and Colleges, as well as from all 19 of the system's campuses attended the meeting.

John Kerr and Gordon Curzon (English) attended a statewide meeting of the California State Poetry Society in Ventura recently. Both read their own recent and unpublished poetry. Dr. Kerr has received recognition for his Arkansas and gypsy poems, and Dr. Curzon is the editor of the California Poetry Quarterly.

Mrs. Marcia McQuern city editor of the Riverside Press, was a visitor in the Journalism Department on March 5. Mrs. McQuern, one of the few women city editors on daily newspapers in the country, discussed newspapering with women journalism students during a special afternoon program. Her visit is part of the editor-in-residence program sponsored by the California Newspaper Publishers Association.
