Nixon picks new aides

Camp David, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon, promising "very exciting times for this nation" in the next four years, named Elliot L. Richardson as defense secretary Tuesday and tapped budget director Caspar W. Weinberger to succeed Richardson as HEW secretary.

To succeed Weinberger as chief of an expanded Office of Management and Budget that will review all government programs, the President selected Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries, a major, California-based government contractor.

First round

The first round of changes in Nixon's promised government shakeup was announced by White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler at the President's Camp David mountain retreat. Further Cabinet appointments were to be announced Wednesday.

Fresh perspective

Ziegler said the high-level changes were part of the President's plan to "bring fresh perspective and new vitality" to his administration and to carry out "constructive change—change that will work to build a better life for all Americans."

He added: "As the President has said, the next four years will be very exciting times for this nation, both domestically and internationally, and it is with full confidence and pleasure that he announces that these three people will be working with him in accomplishing all that remains to be done."

Excellent administrator

Richardson, 53, who earned a reputation as an excellent administrator not only at the chronically troublesome Department of Health, Education and Welfare but previously as undersecretary of state, will take over from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who has made clear his intention of leaving the Pentagon at the end of Nixon's first term.

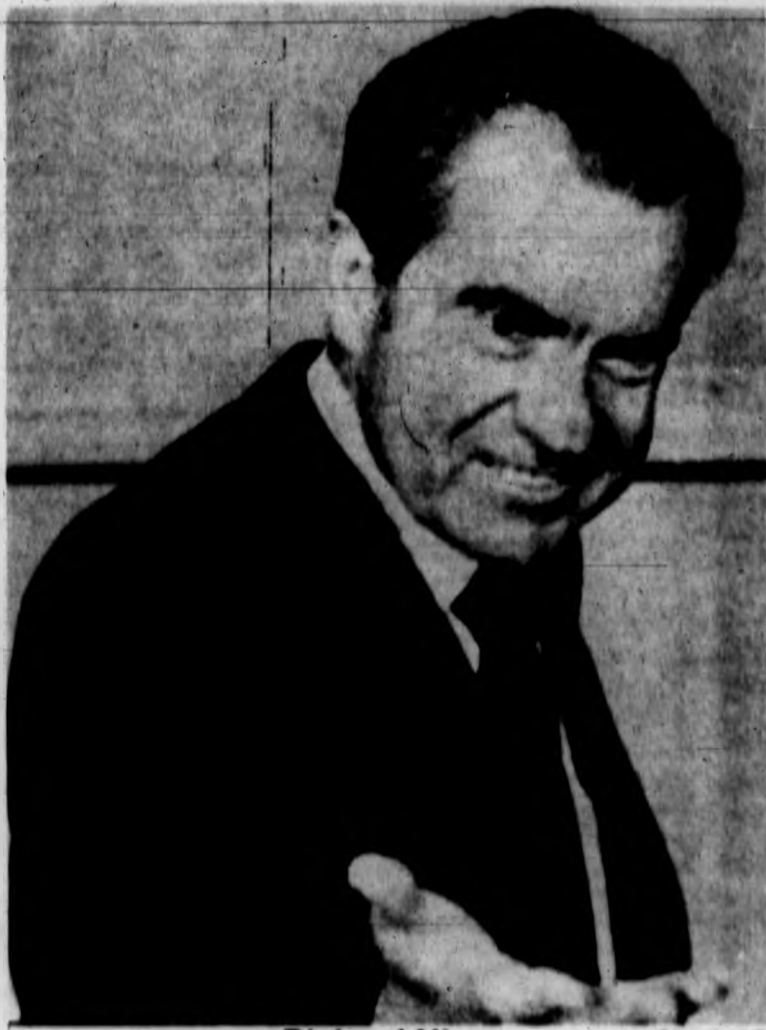

Weinberger, 55, the new proposed HEW secretary, is a former California Republican leader and state finance director for Gov. Ronald Reagan. He made a name for himself in Washington as the Federal Trade Commission chairman who revamped that agency to clear out bureaucratic deadwood and made it more consumer-oriented, before he joined the budget office in mid-1970.

Only new face

Ziegler said Ash, 54, the only new face in the Cabinet so far, won Nixon's attention with his "energetic leadership" of the President's Advisory Council on Government Reorganization, whose recommendations included creation of the Office of Management and Budget he will now head.

The White House agency will be expanded, said Ziegler, to carry out "a comprehensive examination of all government programs now in existence to determine whether they are actually meeting the purpose for which they were designated."

Investigation of deaths continues in south

Baton Rouge, La. (UPI) — A Southern University student leader Tuesday told an all-black commission investigating the deaths of two black students during the Nov. 16 campus clash that students had permission to occupy the administration building shortly before police stormed it with tear gas.

"There wasn't any fear at all," Nathaniel Howard, one of the protest leaders, said. "No doors were blocked. No one ever asked us to leave the building."

"Southern President G. Leon Netterville said he was going to see about the arrests of some students. We requested permission to remain until we got an answer and he approved it," the student said.

Howard's statements came as the "Black People's Committee of Inquiry" began its second day of unofficial hearings into the deaths of Denver A. Smith and Leonard D. Brown, both 20. The dead students were felled by what the coroner believes were buckshot pellets.

Across town behind locked and guarded doors, the state's official 12-member biracial commission, headed by Attorney General William Guste, spent most of the morning taking testimony from Dr. Netterville. Guste said all testimony would remain secret, but released a statement saying the panel had "made great strides and was very satisfied with the progress at the conclusion of Monday's hearing."

Guste said about 95 persons have been interviewed.

Howard, one of several students arrested after the fatal confrontation, allegedly for causing the campus disruptions, said at no time did the students take over the administration building at Southern as claimed by Netterville and other officials.

"No students were armed," he said. "We singly went, one by one, into the building."

Howard said the students had only wanted to "see Dr. Netterville to see why more brothers were arrested and to get them out."

New items on tap for SAC

A full slate of business items is on tap tonight as Student Affairs Council (SAC) resumes session after a two-week holiday recess.

Scheduled business items include the construction of permanent bleachers in Collet Arena, Green and Gold Card Awards, the new ASI Seal, proposals from three local radio stations requesting authorization to broadcast athletic events from this campus and a resolution requesting the installation of bike lanes along Foothill Boulevard.

Discussion items include new sources of income and band travel to the Camellia Bowl. The finance committee has recommended to SAC that if the Poly band is accepted to play during halftime at the Camellia Bowl, Dec. 9, the funds will be provided for housing and transportation.

Weekly reports are scheduled from Finance Committee and Codes and Bylaws Committee.

This tentative agenda was subject to change at yesterday's SAC Workshop.

Robert Ardrey

Man can change himself optimistic Ardrey says

by BRUCE ULLMAN

This is the "age of the alibi," according to Robert Ardrey, noted ethologist and author of African Genesis and Territorial Imperative. The popular theory of environmentalism boils down to the belief that no matter what man does, he's not responsible for his actions. His environment made him do it.

Ardrey doesn't buy that. Though he agrees that old, established tendencies of man are much easier for the young to learn, man can and must learn new concepts. Man has the intelligence, said Ardrey, all he needs is the willpower.

"It takes very little brains to throw a rock through a window,"

Ardrey told his 1400 listeners Monday night in the Men's Gym. "What does take brains is learning to live peaceably."

Man's violent instincts influence what his children are best able to learn, Ardrey said youngsters usually have difficulty in learning the multiplication table, yet they master language readily even though language is a far more complex thing than the multiplication table. Ardrey's explanation is that language was vital for communicating the skills and techniques of the hunt to the young in primitive times. It was a matter of survival.

Preferential list posted

A preliminary list of students eligible for preferential registration is posted in the foyer of the library. The list includes students who had completed 125 units by the end of summer quarter and who are currently or have previously enrolled in senior project 461, Arch 571 design project, or History 460 senior project courses. The list includes graduate students also.

Students should report any omission to the Registrar's Office, room 219 in the Administration Building, before Dec. 12.

This preliminary list will be updated after fall quarter grades are posted.

Any student who fulfills the preceding requirements at the end of fall quarter will be eligible for preferential registration also. This second list will be posted outside the Men's Gym at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Students who want their fall quarter grades mailed home must leave a self-addressed, stamped envelope at the Records Office, room 223 in the Administration Building.

Prescheduling for winter quarter will be held Thursday, Nov. 30 from 11 a.m. to noon. Students should meet with their advisors after consulting listings on department bulletin boards.

Christmas Craft Celebration

Opportunities to buy hand-crafted items at the College Union craft center will be expanded Saturday, Dec. 2 when a Christmas Crafts Celebration will be held from 9 to 5 p.m.

The sale, sponsored by the College Union Crafts Center Committee and crafts sales area (the cage), will be open to the public.

Items made by students, will be available in such categories as leather goods, pottery, jewelry and metalsmithing, metal art candlemaking, photography, graphic arts, stained glass production, textiles, painting, and plastics.

Artists will sell their own items at their own prices. Eighty percent of profits will go to the artists. The rest will go to the Craft Center Committee.

Students wishing to sell their Crafts may pick up an application from the crafts center. Applications must be turned in to the crafts center by 5 p.m. this Thursday. Those turned in early will receive selling space priority.

Maggie Wall, crafts center cage manager, said this is the first year that the crafts center and crafts sale area has sponsored a sale of this type.

However, Dec. 2 is not the only time available to buy hand-crafted items. They are always available in the cage, located in the crafts center, noon to 4:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

ASI PRESIDENT California plays Santa with out-of-state refunds

ROBIN BAGGETT

ATTENTION:

Out-of-State Students

Are you tired of slowly becoming financially insolvent by paying $25 for each unit that you enroll in at Cal Poly? After many hours of deliberation I believe all will arrive and agree upon an unqualified "yes". Now let's move on to the good news.

Since the lowering of the legal age from 21 years of age to 18 there have been many assorted legal ramifications besides just that of voting. A case in point is that of residency.

Many individual students have come to my office questioning their out-of-state status and I'm certain there are more Cal Poly students in the same category. These students are presently paying non-resident tuition fees and may be entitled to reclassification as resident students. The provisions governing non-resident tuition are found in Title 5 of the California Administrative Code. If a presently non-resident student meets the following criteria then the student's status may be converted to a resident student. Read carefully.

1. Permanent residence within California for a period of more than one year immediately preceding the date of a term during which he proposes to enroll;

2. Proof of intent to become a resident, such as obtaining a California Driver's License, registering to vote, seeking gainful employment, opening bank accounts, signing contracts for goods, and severing ties with the prior state of residence; and,

3. Proof that the student, if a minor (e.g., under 18 years of age), is not financially dependent upon a parent who resides outside California.

Those students who meet the above criteria, besides being entitled to reclassification as resident students, are entitled to a total refund of the non-resident tuition fees paid in the quarter during which they obtained residency status.

I believe that statement just made a lot of penniless students overwhelmed with joy especially prior to Christmas.

An application for resident status or for a refund should be in writing and should clearly state the reason for the request for residency or refund. It should be addressed to the University President (Dr. Kennedy) and delivered to the Registrar (Mr. Holley). The student should keep a copy for his record and our office would also like a copy just as a precautionary matter for the student.

Since the quarter is rapidly coming to an end, I would suggest to out-of-state students who feel they qualify for reclassification; to start making these typewriters sing.

Dial toll-free to courthouse

There will be several changes in the extended telephone service from various county areas to the San Luis Obispo County Courthouse commencing November 29, said a report received today.

In June of this year, toll-free service from Morro Bay, Arroyo Grande, Pismo Beach, Shell Beach, and Grover City to the courthouse was announced by the Pacific Telephone Company. In view of this new service, the county is removing the toll-free lines—489-1383 from South County and 772-7392 from Morro Bay areas.

In order to continue toll-free service to other areas, lines to Nipomo, Cayucos, and Cambria are being provided. Nipomo residents can dial 929-3244, Cayucos citizens use 995-3602, and in Cambria, dial 927-4166.

Another line is being added between the courthouse and the Atascadero exchange. Persons living in the Paso Pablos area can reach the courthouse toll-free by dialing 446-1262 or 238-1002.

The report also announced the addition of two new trunk systems in the Courthouse to assist in handling local calls.

Ardrey talk...

The same theory of old habits of survival carried over to the termination of the Cold War which dominated most of the 50's and 60's. Both sides realized that they couldn't survive if they went on with the Cold War.

Ardrey has faith that man will change his basically violent habits when he realizes that his survival depends upon a peaceful existence.

"If the biology is right," said Ardrey, "it's amazing how fast we can learn." He was referring to how man will re-educate himself from an outlook of fatalistic environmentalism to self-determined behaviorism.

"The human being has to learn to act like a man. My opinion is we can do it," he concluded.

'Marijuana is here to stay

Washington (UPI) — Declaring that marijuana is here to stay, Consumers Union has called for complete legalization of marijuana and to end the criminalization and alienation of young people and the damage done to them by arrest, conviction and imprisonment for marijuana offenses.

"It's much too late to debate the issue," the independent, nonprofit organization said in a lengthy report. "Marijuana is here to stay. No conceivable law-enforcement program can curb its availability."

JV FOOTBALL

Colts down San Jose

by JOE BARNES

Sparked by the brilliant running of tailback Sythell Thompson, the junior varsity football team closed out its season by rolling to an impressive 35-20 trouncing of San Jose State, Nov. 17.

Thompson danced and galloped his way to 190 yards and three touchdowns, averaging nearly eight yards a carry. The super-quick freshman from Selma frustrated Spartan tacklers all afternoon, and when the San Jose State defense finally keyed on him, quarterbacks Cliff Johnson and Ken Eckl picked apart the secondary at will, connecting on nine of 14 passes for 123 yards.

Thompson got the Colts running six minutes into the first quarter when he scampered 16 yards around end for the score. The Colts never looked back. They took a 14-6 lead into the locker room at halftime, following Thompson's second touchdown, a two-yard plunge.

Left-handed quarterback Eckl, who completed four of five passes, moved the JV's 61 yards in 10 plays to open the scoring in the second half, with the six-pointer coming on an 18-yard pass from Eckl to Mark Davis.

Thompson and fullback Larry Denniston each found pay dirt in the fourth quarter on runs of seven and two yards to round out the scoring.

Denniston, who doubles as a linebacker on defense, picked off two San Jose State passes. He has four interceptions on the year, tying him with safety Mark Davis for the team high.

The Colts not only won the game on the field, where it counts, but they also won the game on paper, in the battle of statistics.

They pounded out 403 total yards, compared to 286 for San Jose State. The Colts picked up 17 first downs as compared to 18 for the Spartans. The Colt defense grabbed three interceptions and scooped up a fumble, while the offense did not lose the ball on turnovers once.

Randy Zimmer proved a big threat from his slotback position as he pulled down six passes for 64 yards. Free safety Davis returned four punts for 43 yards and star runner Thompson returned one kickoff 84 yards before being brought down.

Wide receiver Bill Carvahlo, who handled the punting duties all year, booted six punts for a good 33.3 average.

The Colts end up with a 2-3 season which includes a victory over Cal Lutheran, in addition to the win over San Jose State. They just missed upsetting heavily favored Cal, and were beaten badly by powerhouses from Stanford and UCLA.

Coach John Crivello's team has given us many names to watch out for in the not too distant future. Sythell Thompson, Cliff Johnson, Ken Eckl, John Henson, Pat Manus, Mark Davis, Randy Zimmer, Rick Beatty, Bill Carvahlo, Mark Futak, Wilford Young, Larry Denniston, Cliff Garrison, Bob Binder and many others will all be back next year. And they will all be one year older and one year smarter.

The world's first calculator that challenges a computer...
and fits neatly
into your pocket!

The HP-35 by Hewlett-Packard

Students call it the "Super Slide Rule!"

Can your slide rule compute transcendental functions with 10-digit accuracy in less than half-a-second? The HP-35 can!

And that's just for starters. The new Hewlett-Packard HP-35 can free you from countless hours of tedious calculations with tables, slide rule, pencil and paper. Yes, this 9-ounce cordless wonder fits right in your pocket. Yet it challenges a computer in handling complex problems, including log, trig and exponential functions—each with a single keystroke. And it does it anywhere, from the classroom to your dorm.

Engineering and math students, as well as faculty, will especially appreciate its many practical benefits. The HP-35 without question...

- SAVES TIME in solving problems
- GUARANTEES ACCURACY which means fewer mistakes—better grades
- REPLACES LOG AND TRIG TABLES—the calculator does it all
- OPERATES SILENTLY in classroom, library or wherever used
- OFFERS COMPUTER-LIKE POWER—no waiting for school machine
- GOES ANYWHERE—it's as portable as your favorite slide rule
