EVENTS OF 63RD HOMECOMING SLATED WEDNESDAY THROUGH SUNDAY

A concert by Harper's Bizarre and Bigfoot at 8 p.m., tomorrow (Wednesday, Oct. 29) in the Men's Gym will launch Cal Poly's 63rd annual Homecoming activities. Homecoming '69 will culminate on Saturday (Nov. 1) when alumni converge on the campus for the day-long celebration.

Cal Poly students will ballot on a Homecoming queen on Wednesday and Thursday. Contending for the Homecoming queen title are Pat Avila, 20, of Visalia; Katie Harper, 20, of Newport Beach; Linda Heckler, 19, of San Diego; Yoko Ohtsuki, 22, of Toyokawa, Japan; and Carole Vedder, 21, of Sacramento.

Homecoming will include The Great Race of tricycles on the Library Lawn during College Hour (11 a.m. to 12 noon) on Thursday (Oct. 30). The winner of the Homecoming queen title will be introduced at a Bonfire Rally near the Grand Ave. Parking Lot at 7:30 p.m. on Friday (Oct. 31). Head Football Coach Joe Harper and members of the Cal Poly football team also will participate.

These events according to Stan Carlson, student Homecoming Committee chairman, merely build up the enthusiasm for the 63rd annual Homecoming day activities on Saturday (Nov. 1). The day starts with a parade of floats created by Cal Poly clubs through downtown San Luis Obispo at 10 a.m.

The Cal Poly Band as well as area high school bands will provide the marching music. Cal Poly President Robert E. Kennedy; Lew Litzie of Fresno, alumni association president; five distinguished alumni; and Ken Schwartz, mayor of San Luis Obispo, and the Homecoming queen and her court, will ride in places of honor in the parade. Schwartz, who has been named "grand marshall" for the parade, is a member of the School of Architecture faculty. The parade route along Higuera Street will be lined with Cal Poly Homecoming flags provided by the Downtown Merchants Association of San Luis Obispo.

The honored guests, the queen and her court, returning alumni and students will pause for the Queen's Luncheon beginning at 11:30 a.m. in the Student Dining Room before moving on to Mustang Stadium and the football game between the Cal Poly Mustangs and the California State College at Long Beach Forty-Niners. Game time will be 1:30 p.m.

Alumni will wind up the day at a banquet slated for 7:30 p.m. in the Madonna Inn. Students will close out the day at the Coronation Ball in the Men's Gymnasium beginning at 9:30 p.m. Concluding event for the college's 1969 Homecoming observance will be the Oldtimers Breakfast for alumni and former students from the 1903-1925 era. It will take place, also in the Staff Dining Room, beginning at 8 a.m., Sunday (Nov. 2).

Tickets for the Queen's Luncheon, the Alumni Banquet, and the Oldtimers Breakfast are all being sold at the Alumni Office, Adm-210A, and will also be available at those individual events. Tickets for the football game are on sale at the Associated Students, Inc., office located in the Temporary College Union, and at the regular off-campus ticket outlets. In addition to being on sale at the door, tickets for the Coronation Ball are presently being sold at the Associated Students, Inc., office.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS LEAVE STATE-WIDE STUDENT GROUP

Cal Poly's student body president has taken steps to remove his college from an organization which represents student governments to the California State Colleges Board of Trustees. Paul Kresge, president of the Associated Students, Inc., notified the California State College Student Presidents' Association of withdrawal action taken by his student government.

Kresge issued official notification of the withdrawal in letters to the other 18 state college student body presidents, the office of CSC Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, and the trustees. The ASI officially moved to withdraw its membership Oct. 14. Kresge's letter followed legislative action taken by Cal Poly's Student Affairs Council, which voted to terminate its membership in the organization.

In his letter and an attached statement which he had presented to SAC earlier this month, Kresge charged that the CSCSPA was inadequate and ineffective in its representation of student government organizations of the state colleges. He stressed the individuality of Cal Poly and the other state colleges defies effective representation by a group such as the CSCSPA! He also charged the CSCSPA with irresponsible conduct. He claims the group has earned a reputation that is contrary to the practices of responsible and stable student government.

The Associated Students' president outlined his plan to represent the Cal Poly student body position with direct communications. Kresge plans to attend trustee meetings and maintain individual contact with the chancellor's office. Through this new and independent basis, he believes the Cal Poly student body position will be improved and more respected.

GRADUATE DEGREE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION WILL BE OFFERED AT CAL POLY

A program of studies leading to the Master of Business Administration Degree will be offered at Cal Poly beginning with the 1970-71 academic year in June. Carl C. Cummins (Dean of the School of Applied Arts) said the curriculum will be administered by the Business Administration Department. It will emphasize a broad integrated approach to decision-making, plus a solid background of quantitative, accounting, financial, and economic tools of management.

Owen L. Servatius (Head of the Business Administration Department) calls the new master's degree program "a logical extension of the Bachelor of Science Degree in business administration curriculum" that has been offered by his department for the past 10 years. He said the program is structured to meet the needs of students from other disciplines -- including agriculture, architecture, engineering, industrial technology, and mathematics -- who seek professional business training.

The department head pointed out that purposes of the new MBA program are (1) to provide terminal graduate study for those preparing to undertake managerial careers in either business or governmental service; (2) to prepare graduates of other disciplines, such as agriculture, architecture, and engineering, to pursue management careers in their fields of specialization; and (3) to prepare students for teaching or research responsibilities or for additional graduate work.

After completing foundation courses and being admitted to regular graduate student standing, students in the new graduate curriculum will proceed through three quarters of study in phase, as a class. Doing so will permit maximum use of faculty and other resources, according to Servatius. Each course will be offered only once during each academic year.

Helping to provide cohesion throughout the nine-month-long program will be a seminar in applied decision-making. It will use the diverse skills and knowledge gained in the other graduate-level courses and in undergraduate study in decision-making situations similar to those faced in business and industry.

Servatius, noting that only 32 students will be admitted to the new Cal Poly MBA program for 1970-71, said criteria for admission to study include satisfactory scores on the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business and an acceptable academic record as an undergraduate student. An Accelerated Summer Quarter Program will make it possible for persons from other fields of study to complete the new curriculum in one calendar year providing certain specific undergraduate courses have been taken.

Some 25 persons are expected to complete requirements for the new degree during each of its first two years of operation. That number is expected to grow gradually until by the mid-1970's about 55 persons annually will be receiving the MBA.

Servatius said a leaflet explaining admission requirements and procedures for the new master's degree program will be available from his department in the near future. In addition, members of the Cal Poly faculty and student body who are interested may consult the booklet, "MBA Proposal, 1970-71," which is on file in the Reserve Room of Dexter Library on campus for other information.

Cal Poly Report is produced by the Office of Information Services, Administration 210. Material should be submitted in writing prior to noon Friday.

GERARD NAMED EXECUTIVE DEAN ON ACTING BASIS

President Robert E. Kennedy has announced the appointment of E. Douglas Gerard, formerly associate dean, facility planning, to the position of executive dean (acting.) Gerard's appointment, effective Oct. 1, fills a position last held by Harold O. Wilson, prior to Wilson's appointment as administrative vice president.

In making the acting appointment Dr. Kennedy noted that the position will be filled on a permanent basis after consultative procedures outlined in Administrative Bulletin 69-5 have been completed. The procedures specified in AB 69-5 derive from those procedures approved for appointment to the position of administrative vice president (CAM 315.3), and have recently been endorsed by the executive committee of the campus Academic Senate and the executive committee of the campus Staff Senate.

In accordance with AB 69-5 President Kennedy has requested the convening of the coordinating committee of the Academic and Staff Senates, to initiate the procedures for election of the consultative committee. The consultation committee is the advisory body responsible for completion of procedures for selection of a permanent executive dean. Copies of AB 69-5 are being distributed this week to all offices which have issues of the College Administrative Manual.

SENATE COMMITTEE VIEWS CAMPUS AGRICULTURE FACILITIES

Members of the California State Senate Committee on Agriculture visited Cal Poly last Thursday (Oct. 23) to inspect proposed minor construction projects for School of Agriculture facilities. Those present last week were Fred W. Marler, Jr., (R), chairman, who represents Butte, Colusa, Glenn, Shasta, Solano, Sutter, Tehama, Yolo, and Yuba Counties; and Robert J. Lagomarsino, (R), who represents Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties.

During their visit to the campus the state senators viewed a proposed interior wall resurfacing project in the Food Processing Building, a steam and hot water modification project for the meat animals laboratory, a roof for the sick pens at the college dairy, a valve and float project for the irrigation system which carries water from the Cheda Reservoir to a cropland field, and free stall housing for dairy animals at the college dairy.

The total cost of all five of the minor construction projects is $33,000. Funds for the construction already are appropriated, but the state senators' formal inspection is required before the funds may be released for expenditure.

DAIRY JUDGING TEAMS PLACE ONE, TWO AT GREAT WESTERN

Cal Poly had two winning teams in the Great Western Livestock Exposition Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging contest in Los Angeles last Saturday (Oct. 25). Cal Poly teams placed first and second in the contest. The Tulare trio of Larry Dutto, Ray Orisio, and Vernal Gomes won the competition among 11 college teams. The second place Cal Poly team included George Grossi of Novato, Tony Cunha of Laton, and Ralph Sartori of Petaluma. Joe Alves of Gustine was alternate on the winning team, Jim Davis of Riverdale, alternate, second place team. Orisio was high individual in the competition.

TOP-SELLING BULL BRINGS $1,625 AT CAMPUS SALE

The Mountain View Ranch of Dixon paid $1,625 for a Hereford range bull from the Layous and Son Ranch at King City to top the 13th annual Cal Poly Trial Bull Sale held last Monday, (Oct. 20) in the Beef Pavilion. The combined trial bull sale and Tri-County Hereford Breeders Association auction saw the sale of 77 bulls at an average price of $689.54. This compares to $669.86 in the 1968 sale, $707.65 in the 1967 sale, and $648.94 in 1966.

The 47 trial bulls sold brought an average price of $734.98. Last year, 44 trial bulls sold for an average of $772.04. The 1967 average was $744.91, and the 1966 average, $711.54. The trial bulls entered a rate-of-gain performance test at Cal Poly March 1. The bulls had rates-of-gain per day ranging from 1.4 pounds to 2.24 pounds. The top selling Layous bull had a rate-of-gain average of 2.17 pounds.

In the sale of 30 bulls consigned by members of the Tri-County Hereford Breeders Association, an offering from the Dos Pueblos Ranch, of Goleta brought the top price, $875. The buyer was the Huth Ranches of Bakersfield. The 30 bulls in the Tri-County auction sold for an average price of $619.17. Last year, the average for the Tri-County bulls was $490.

The auction was co-sponsored by the Tri-County Hereford Breeders Association and the Cal Poly Animal Husbandry Department.

WORKSHOP ON COUNTY DEVELOPMENT SLATED FOR NOV. 11

Plans for a day-long series of workshops on orderly development of San Luis Obispo County have been announced by the San Luis Obispo County Development Association. The event, which is scheduled for Nov. 11, will take place in the Cal Poly Theater. Both Cal Poly and the Planning Department of the county are cooperating in making the program possible, according to George H. Clucas (Director of Research and Development, who is chairman of the workshop committee.

Among those who will address the conference, the theme of which is "The County General Plan - Guidelines for Development," are Cal Poly President Robert E. Kennedy, and Development Association President Howard Newby, who will both welcome those in attendance, and Henry Bostwick, president of the American Industrial Development Council, who will deliver the keynote address.

In addition to the opening session and a summary session, eight panels of speakers are scheduled to discuss topics of importance to economic development of the area. Topics to be discussed by the panels include industrial growth, the future of agriculture, tourism, water and land pollution, transportation planning, beaches and parks, air pollution, and tax reforms.

Clucas, who pointed out that members of the college faculty and staff are invited to participate in the workshops, said registration for the conference will cost $3 and an optional luncheon will be $2. Other information about the conference program and a registration blank may be obtained by contacting the Research and Development Office, Adm-307, 546-2630, or the Economic Development Association office located in the County Courthouse Annex.

MUSTANGS SLATE CAL STATE LONG BEACH FOR HOMECOMING ENCOUNTER

The Forty-niners of California State College at Long Beach will provide the opposition when Cal Poly's mustangs take the field Saturday (Nov. 1) for their 1969 Homecoming Football Game. Gametime for the encounter, which will take place in Mustang Stadium, will be 1:30 p.m.

Saturday afternoon's contest will be the first between the two teams since CSCLB dropped its membership in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. Cal Poly recorded a 28-19 victory over CCAA opponent San Fernando Valley State College last weekend to run its won-lost mark for the current season to 5-1. Cal State Long Beach owns a 4-2 record after its weekend win over Santa Clara University.

Other sports events on tap on campus this week will find the varsity water polo, soccer, and freshman football teams in action. Friday (Oct. 31) afternoon will find the Cal Poly Colts returning to the Mustang Stadium turf for a 2 p.m. contest with San Fernando Valley State's frosh gridders.

Other events slated for Saturday will pit Cal Poly's water polo team against that of California State College at Fullerton in a game slated for 12 noon, in the swimming pool adjacent to Men's Gymnasium, and the soccer team hosting Loyola University in a 1 p.m. match on the athletic field near the Men's Gymnasium.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE ? ? ?

Owen L. Servatius (Head of Business Administration Department) gave the keynote address at the opening session of the California Grange convention in Ukiah last Tuesday (Oct. 21). He reminded convention delegates that the "personal, responsible individual is the greatest contributor to all that we have and know as good on this earth."

Mrs. Pat Eilers and Mrs. Mary Summers (both Student Health Center) attended a meeting of the Association of California State College Nurses held Oct. 18 in Fresno. Mrs. Eilers was chosen to represent ACSCN at the annual meeting of the American College Health Association, which is scheduled for April, 1970, in Boston, Mass. The nurses' association, which has over 100 members, has improvement of student health nursing care in the state colleges as its purpose.

David E. Loquaci heads the student committee making plans for annual Farm-City Week activities in San Luis Obispo, Nov. 21-27. The committee, representing the Agriculture Student Council, plans to coordinate activities including window displays in downtown San Luis Obispo, a parade of farm equipment, and a display of farm machinery. In addition to Loquaci, a junior majoring in food processing, members of the group are Keith Gorzell, a senior mechanized agriculture major; John Edgecombe, a junior majoring in soil science; John Bledsoe, a senior majoring in mechanized agriculture; and John K. Lundahl, a senior majoring in soil science.

Walter P. Schroeder (Head of Education Department) presided over meetings of the Vocational Education Curriculum Committee of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators, which took place Oct. 9-10, in Los Angeles. Development of a strong policy statement to be processed through the more than 3,000 members of CASSA in coming months is the primary goal of the committee for 1969-70. Dr. Schroeder has been chairman of the secondary school administrators group for the past seven years.

"HARPER'S BIZARRE" CONCERT WILL BE TOMORROW NIGHT

The popular rock music group, Harper's Bizarre, is scheduled to offer a concert on campus Wednesday (Oct. 29). Set for the Men's Gym at 8 p.m., the show will also feature Bigfoot, a hard rock group from Los Angeles. The concert is part of the 63rd annual Homecoming festivities, which include a parade, a bonfire, a football game and a formal dance.

Tickets for the concert are available at the Associated Students, Inc., office and at Brown's Music, Premier Music, Supersonic, and Ogden's Stationers in San Luis Obispo. They will also be sold at the door. Tickets purchased in advance of the concert are $2 for Cal Poly students, and $3 for general admission. Tickets bought at the door will be $2.50 for Cal Poly students, and $3.50 for general admission.

Harper's Bizarre started in Santa Cruz, Calif., as the Tikis. In 1966 the Tikis released the single 59th Street Bridge Song and changed their name to Harper's Bizarre. Feeling Groovy and Anything Goes were the group's next hits. Harper's Bizarre has made 25 appearances on national television on shows that included "The Mike Douglas Show," "The Pat Boone Show," and "The Red Skelton Show."

The concert is jointly sponsored by the College Program Assemblies Committee and the Homecoming Committee. Both are Cal Poly student government organizations.

DRAMA WILL TELL STORY OF ROBOT REVOLT

What happens when a revolt of robots threatens to take over the world is the theme of a play being prepared for performance by a student cast. The play, Karel Capek's R.U.R., will be staged Friday and Saturday (Oct. 31 - Nov. 1) in the Cal Poly Theater. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. both nights.

Capek's R.U.R. -- named after the firm in the play which manufactures human-like automatons for service as laborers, Rossum's Universal Robots -- made the first use of the word "robot," from the Czech word "robobit" meaning to drudge. The play is set sometime in the future on an island which is the site of the Rossum's Universal Robot works. At the urging of some progressives who want to improve the living and working conditions of the robots, Rossum's secret formula is changed to "humanize" several hundred robots.

The play, which is being directed by industrial technology major Carl Daughters, is being produced by the College Program Board Drama Committee, an arm of the Cal Poly student government. J. Murray Smith (Speech Department) is faculty advisor to the group.

Tickets will be available prior to curtain time both evenings at the theater box office. Priced at $1 for Cal Poly students and $1.50 for the public, they will be good for all of the College Program Board and Speech Department drama productions scheduled for 1969-70.

REVISED GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES BEING DISTRIBUTED TO HOLDERS OF ADMINISTRATIVE MANUAL

Copies of Administrative Bulletin 69-6, "Faculty Grievance Procedures," are being readied for distribution to holders of the College Administrative Manual. The revised procedures, which supersede Administrative Bulletin 69-1, "Revised Faculty Grievance Procedures," became effective Oct. 12. They reflect changes suggested by the legislative counsel of the California State Colleges, endorsed by the Cal Poly Academic Senate, and approved by President Robert E. Kennedy. In addition to being distributed to holders of CAM, copies of the revised procedures will be available to all members of the college faculty, on request from the Personnel Office, Adm-111, 546-2236.

ARMY COMMANDER VISITS CAL POLY

Cal Poly hosted the commanding general of all U.S. Army forces located in the western-most part of the nation last Thursday (Oct. 23) afternoon. Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Larsen, who assumed his post as commander of the Sixth U.S. Army in mid-1968, visited President Robert E. Kennedy and other members of the college administrative faculty during his brief stay.

Lt. Gen. Larsen is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy and prior to assuming his present duties was First Field Force commander of Army forces in South Vietnam. Before that he was deputy commander of the Continental Army Command. Cal Poly is the home of the largest voluntary ROTC programs among colleges and universities in the Western U.S. It commissioned 127 graduates as second lieutenants last academic year and presently has an enrollment of 397 students.

APPROVAL OF INSTITUTIONAL STUDIES PRIORITY LIST FOR 1969-70 ANNOUNCED

Approval of the priorities list for institutional studies for 1969-70 has been announced by President Robert E. Kennedy, whose action follows endorsement of a proposed list of priorities submitted by the Academic and Administrative Councils and by the President's Council. Four items were added to the original list by the latter group. The approved list of study priorities is:

Salary warrants for the October pay period for members of the college faculty and staff will be available Friday (Oct. 31). They may be picked up in the Business Affairs Division Office, Adm-114.

TALK BY LUTHERAN PASTOR SLATED BY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Vicar Paul Hoffman, new campus pastor for Lutheran students will lead a discussion on "Christian Doubt" during the next meeting of the Faculty Christian Fellowship, Friday (Oct. 31), beginning at 12 noon, in Sci-D-37, according to Robert J. Rodin (Biological Sciences Department), a member of the group. Dr. Rodin said all staff and faculty are invited to bring their lunches and attend meetings of the fellowship, which are scheduled each week at the same time and in the same place.
