ADMISSIONS LIMITS ANNOUNCED FOR WINTER, SPRING QUARTERS

Only a limited number of additional students in special categories will be admitted to Cal Poly for the Winter and Spring Quarters of 1970, the college announced last week. The college enrolled 11,378 students in September, about 550 more than projected for the Fall Quarter. More than 300 other fully qualified applicants were denied admission for the Fall Quarter when it became obvious that enrollment in a number of instructional departments had exceeded facility and faculty resources, said President Robert E. Kennedy.

State college budgets are developed more than a year in advance of funding by the Legislature and are based primarily on predicted enrollment for each college and the system as a whole, Dr. Kennedy said. Enrollment surges were experienced by most of the other 18 colleges in the California State Colleges system so there are no extra funds available for redistribution within the system, he added.

"Even so," President Kennedy stated, "we have decided to admit by priority categories an additional 400 students each for the Winter and Spring Quarters because it is the only reasonable course of action in view of the very real needs of the qualified students whose applications we are holding." Students who complete their work at the end of the Fall and Winter Quarters and those who drop out for other reasons are being replaced by additional students even though this method will give Cal Poly an annual average enrollment above its budgeted capacity, the president added.

Continuing Students Not Affected

Continuing students, those now in attendance at Cal Poly, are not affected by the enrollment decision, except insofar as classes will continue to be as over-crowded as they were during the Fall Quarter, Dr. Kennedy explained. The 400 additional students to be admitted for the Winter Quarter, which begins Jan. 2, include primarily former students, upper division junior college transfers, and graduate students.

Dr. Kennedy said the priorities are intended to provide for students who have prior study at Cal Poly, particularly returning veterans, and for those who have successfully completed two years at neighboring community colleges. The priorities for the Spring Quarter's additional 400 students will depend upon an analysis of Winter Quarter enrollment.

First to be admitted under the winter priorities will be returning graduate students (with previous Cal Poly graduate credit) and some first-time graduate students (chiefly those who have completed undergraduate work at Cal Poly and are continuing in graduate programs). Some 150 of the 400 students to be admitted will be in this category.

The second admissions category, for returning upper division undergraduates (who have formerly studied at Cal Poly), will include 125 students who have already begun Cal Poly studies but who may have been out of college for one or more quarters for military service or other reasons.

FARM-CITY WEEK PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED BY AGRICULTURE STUDENTS

Fifteen clubs of the School of Agriculture will be competing for a trophy donated by the Cal Poly Chapter No. 97 of the California State Employees Association, when they install Farm-City Week window displays in downtown San Luis Obispo buildings beginning Friday (Nov. 21).

The window displays will be judged on Saturday, Nov. 22, by Art Hapgood of KSBY-TV; Dale W. Andrews (academic vice-president); and Boyd Wettlaufer (Audio-Visual Department), vice-president of the Cal Poly CSEA chapter.

David Loquaci of Madera, student chairman of the Farm-City Week observance, says the windows will emphasize the interdependence of the rural and urban dweller. The trophy will be presented to the winning club at the Student Agriculture Council meeting at 5 p.m. on Nov. 25, in Erhart Ag-138.

The Farm-City Week observance, sponsored by the Cal Poly Student Agriculture Council, will also include a parade of farm machinery along Higuera Street beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday (Nov. 22) and a display of farm equipment and educational demonstrations at the Madonna Plaza Shopping Center, also on Saturday.

PUBLIC INVITED TO ATTEND CAMPUS CHINCHILLA SHOW

Central coast area residents are invited to view the third annual Central California Chinchilla Breeders Association show in Agricultural Engineering Shop 6, on campus, Saturday and Sunday (Nov. 22 and 23). More than 400 chinchillas will be exhibited by more than 200 breeders from all of California. The show is co-sponsored by the central coast association and the Cal Poly Farm Bureau Center, a student organization affiliated with the San Luis Obispo County Farm Bureau. Admission will be free.

The third category will provide for the enrollment of 63 upper division transfer students from California community colleges. First to be admitted in this category will be those who have completed programs at Cuesta College, Allan Hancock College, and Hartnell College.

The fourth category is for 50 returning lower division undergraduates, whose educational progress was interrupted but who formerly studied at Cal Poly, similar to those in the second category. The college expects to admit all 388 students anticipated in the first four categories, and to enroll only 12 in the fifth category, first-time freshmen.

Category six is for lower division transfers from California community colleges, and category seven is for undergraduate transfers from four-year colleges in California; no admissions from these categories are contemplated for the Winter Quarter. Cal Poly does not plan winter admission of out-of-state or foreign students. Exceptions will be made only for Agency for International Development-sponsored students, for which Cal Poly has a contractual obligation.

Within each category students will be accepted in the chronological order of the receipt of their applications for admission, in accordance with Title 5 of the California Administrative Code. A continuing review of the applications, and of the priority categories, will be made, according to President Kennedy, and adjustments will be reflected in admissions announcements for the Spring Quarter, 1970, to be made later.

FIVE OVERSEAS TRAVEL GRANTS AWARDED TO FACULTY

Grants for overseas travel during holiday and vacation periods have been awarded to five members of the college faculty for use during the next several months. Three of the grants went to members of the School of Agriculture faculty for travel, which will be in support of overseas educational programs of the college, and one each went to members of the School of Architecture and School of Applied Sciences faculties for travel designed to increase their usefulness to the instructional program of the college.

Named to receive the grants, which were made under provisions of the recently announced programs of overseas travel for members of the college faculty and members of the School of Agriculture faculty as outlined in Administrative Bulletins 69-3 and 69-4, were Edgar Carnegie, Lloyd H. Lamouria, Charles W. Quinlan, Joseph N. Weatherby, and Gerald L. Westesen. Carnegie and Westesen are both members of the Agricultural Engineering Department faculty, which is headed by Lamouria, Quinlan is a member of the School of Architecture faculty, and Weatherby is a member of the Social Sciences Department faculty.

The two overseas travel grants programs are financed by separate $9,000 funds established for the purpose of making short-term overseas travel grants available to members of the college faculty. According to AB 69-3 and AB 69-4, basis for awarding the grants from the two funds, which resulted from overhead monies from the overseas educational projects of the college, is the improved instruction or other direct benefits that will accrue to the college program or to the individual.

Carnegie, who first joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1963, expects to travel in Thailand and visit with members of the Cal Poly Agency for International Development specialist team in that nation during the Christmas holiday period under his grant of $1,350. He plans to depart from Los Angeles Dec. 11 and return on Dec. 23 after spending 10 days in Thailand.

In addition to journeying to Swaziland and Zambia, where the college also has specialist teams assigned under AID contracts, Lamouria expects to travel to Budapest, Hungary, where he will present a paper during the third Congress for Mechanization in Horticulture. A member of the college faculty since 1965, he expects to use his $1,900 grant for travel between Aug. 29 and Sept. 20.

Quinlan, who became a member of the college faculty in 1965, received a $1,120 grant for travel in England during the forthcoming Christmas holidays. He will study new town planning in that nation in an effort to better prepare himself for the courses in city and regional planning, which he teaches.

The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia will be the travel objective for Weatherby who expects to leave San Luis Obispo Dec. 19 and returns shortly after Jan. 1, after brief stays in Leningrad, Puskin, Kiev, Moscow, and Zagorsk, in the USSR, and Prague, Czechoslovakia. A member of the Cal Poly faculty since last March, he plans to use his grant of $830 for travel designed to improve his background for teaching courses in comparative government, problems and institutions of the USSR, and geography as it relates to Europe.

Westesen also expects to use his $1,730 grant for travel in Zambia and Swaziland. He plans to depart Dec. 5 and return 17 days later after working with members of the Cal Poly specialist team in both nations. A specialist in irrigation, he expects travel in the African nations to expand his knowledge of overseas agriculture and its problems. Westesen joined the college faculty in 1965.

RESIDENT DIRECTORS BEING SOUGHT FOR INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS C S C

Candidates for the position of resident director for the California State Colleges International Programs are presently being sought, according to information received on campus recently. Applications in the form of detailed curriculum vitae should be submitted to the International Programs Office of the state colleges in Los Angeles no later than Dec. 15.

The positions, which require at least three years of experience as a member of the faculty of one of the California State Colleges and a doctor's degree or equivalent, are for one year. Those appointed provide academic, administrative, and fiscal supervision of an overseas study center of the state colleges. Countries where overseas study centers operate with full-time resident directors are France, Germany, Italy, Spain, and Sweden.

Copies of the detailed position description are available for perusal by members of the college faculty and staff in the office of Douglas Pierce (Director of International Programs), Adm-133, and Fuad Tellew (Business Administration Department), BAandE 106. Dr. Tellew is Cal Poly's representative on the CSC Academic Council on International Programs.

BIDS FOR SCIENCE NORTH BUILDING LANDSCAPING CALLED BY GENERAL SERVICES

The Office of Architecture and Construction of California's Department of General Services last week called for bids on landscaping and grounds development for the recently completed Science North Building on campus. Expected to cost about $35,000, the project will include construction of curbs and gutters, installation of a remote controlled sprinkler irrigation system, and landscaping. Bids will be opened next Tuesday (Nov. 25) in Sacramento.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULE FOR RECREATIONAL SWIMMING LISTED

The recreational swimming program operated by the Physical Education Department will close Nov. 25, and operate again Dec. 1-7, before being closed for the Christmas Holiday season, according to information received this week. It will reopen on a regular schedule after start of the Winter Quarter.

FACULTY EVALUATIONS BY STUDENTS SCHEDULED DEC. 1-5

The week of the evaluation program of the Associated Students Survey of Instructors' Teaching (ASSIST) Committee has been changed to the last week of classes, Dec. 1-5, due to technical difficulties. All instructors who have not yet answered whether they want to participate or not are urged to do so as soon as possible.

DRAMA PERFORMANCES SLATED FRIDAY, SATURDAY NIGHTS

The age-old conflict between reality and illusion will be the topic when students present the second production of the campus drama season Friday and Saturday (Nov. 21-22). Italian playwright Luigi Pirandello's Six Characters in Search of an Author is being produced under auspices of the college Speech Department. Both performances will be given in the Cal Poly Theater with curtain time at 8:30 p.m.

In the play, Pirandello, recipient of the Nobel Prize in 1934, deals with what is real and what is illusion. It is built around an incident which occurs in a theater in which a rehearsal is taking place. Six strangers suddenly appear and demand that they be permitted to act out their own play rather than the play that's being rehearsed.

The Cal Poly production of Six Characters in Search of an Author is being directed by Stuart Sutton (Speech Department). Sutton joined the college faculty in September after having taught at both San Francisco State College and Santa Rosa Junior College. He has also worked at the Circle in the Square and the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, both in New York City.

Tickets for the performances are priced at $1 for Cal Poly students and $1.50 for the general public. They are season tickets which are good for all the dramatic productions scheduled at Cal Poly during 1969-70. Six Characters in Search of an Author is the second of five plays scheduled at the college during the year.

HARRIGAN NAMED EDITOR OF NATIONAL BULLETIN

John E. Harrigan (Psychology Department) has been named editor of Human Factors Bulletin, the monthly journal of the Human Factors Society. A member of the college faculty since September, Dr. Harrigan will assume his duties as editor of the journal in January. They will be in addition to his teaching assignment at Cal Poly.

Engineers and behavioral scientists whose interests lie in fitting machines, work situations, and buildings to people who must operate within them, belong to the society. It has 1,650 members from colleges, universities, and industries throughout the nation.

Dr. Harrigan, who also specializes in human and social engineering, has received other recognition of his efforts in the field of human factors analysis in recent weeks. The commander of the U.S. Naval Ship Engineering Center, located in Hyattsville, Md., commended him for work he conducted as leader of a team working on development of a reaction time simulator for the Naval Electronics Laboratory Center's Human Factors Branch. Dr. Harrigan worked for the Electronics Laboratory Center, which is located in San Diego, immediately prior to joining the Cal Poly faculty.

A member of the American Psychological Association, Operations Research Society of America, and Society of Sigma Xi, as well as the Human Factors Society, Dr. Harrigan earned his bachelor's degree at University of California at Berkeley and his doctor's degree at Colorado State University. He formerly taught at Loyola University of New Orleans, Washington State University, and San Diego State College.

Cal Poly Report is produced by the Office of Information Services, Administration 210. Typewritten material should be submitted prior to noon on Friday.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE ? ? ?

Thomas W. Carpenter (Aeronautical Engineering Department) was the speaker for a meeting of the Central Coast Group of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers held last Friday (Nov. 14) evening in the Faculty Dining Room at Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria. Dr. Carpenter discussed the combustion characteristics of a high chamber pressure rocket motor.

Marjorie Cass (Education Department) represented Cal Poly at a conference on the new California English curriculum last week (Nov. 9-13). Called by the State Department of Education, the conference took place at the Asilomar conference grounds located near Monterey.

Charles O. Beymer (Library) attended the Fall Meeting of the Southern California Technical Processes group held last month in Santa Barbara. The meeting was devoted to a history, review, and application of the Library of Congress MARC Project and included librarians and library systems analysts from colleges and universities throughout southern California.

Donald Curtis (Health Center) attended a workshop on reliability control of microbiology and monitoring control of clinical instrumentation held early this month at Fresno State College. The workshop was conducted by the Western Regional Workshop Group of the American Association of Bioanalysts.

Walter P. Schroeder (Head, Education Department), William W. Armentrout (also Education Department), and Allen D. Miller (Mathematics Department) attended the Fall Conference of the California Council on Education of Teachers which took place at Yosemite National Park, Oct. 30-Nov. 1. Major considerations during the event were the organization of four new commissions and the explanation of the approved program approach to certification of teachers.

Gloria Jameson (English Department) helped conduct a training session on English as a second language on Nov. 5 at Bruce School in Santa Maria. The program was the first of six being provided under auspices of the Santa Maria Elementary Education Association for the purpose of helping teachers working with Mexican-American children understand the problems faced by children from bi-lingual homes. Dr. Jameson is a specialist in the teaching of English as a second language.

Larry Rogers, a 21-year-old poultry industry major from Camarillo, has been awarded the $500 Marshal Richardson Memorial Scholarship. He received the award during the recent Western Poultry Congress in Fresno. Currently president of the Cal Poly Poultry Club, Rogers has been active as secretary of that club, as well as representative to the Student Agriculture Council of the School of Agriculture.

HEARING SLATED BY STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

An open hearing on the question of college recognition of social fraternities and sororities is scheduled for tomorrow (Wednesday, Nov. 19) at 7:30 p.m., in Sci-E-26, by the Student Affairs Committee of the Cal Poly Academic Senate as part of its study of the question. According to the chairman of the committee, Roland Pautz (Poultry Industry Department), information gathered at the hearing will aid the committee in developing recommendations for consideration by the entire senate. Additional information about the hearing can be obtained by contacting Pautz.

MUSTANG CAGERS, WRESTLERS PREPARE TO OPEN 1969-70 SEASONS

Highlight of a full week of sports activity will be the football game matching the Mustangs of Cal Poly and the Broncos of Cal Poly at Pomona, Saturday (Nov. 22), at 8 p.m., in Mustang Stadium. Also high on the list of sports activity for the week are the final matches of the varsity intrasquad wrestling tournament Thursday (Nov. 20) beginning at 8 p.m., in the Men's Gymnasium and the varsity-freshman basketball game Monday (Nov. 24), also 8 p.m., in the Men's Gym.

Both the wrestling and basketball special events will be previews of season openers for the respective teams, which will open their seasons in the next few days. The wrestling team will open its 1969-70 slate Nov. 25 when it hosts University of California at Santa Barbara in a 7:30 p.m. match in the Men's Gymnasium. Opening game for the basketball varsity will come Dec. 1, with UCSB also providing the opposition for a Men's Gym contest.

Saturday's football clash between the varsity teams of the two Cal Poly's will be the second in history and will also be a deciding factor in determining which of the member teams will be declared champion of the California Collegiate Athletic Association when the coaches vote early next month. The Mustangs, who lost a heartbreaking 9-7 contest to UCSB last Saturday, will be trying to up their won-lost mark for the season to 6-4 and the Broncos, who are now 2-7 for the year, will be trying to salvage an otherwise dismal season.

Also on tap this week for campus sports fans will be the 1969 State College Water Polo Tournament. Being hosted by Cal Poly, the matches are scheduled to take place in the new Swimming Pool adjacent to the Men's Gymnasium throughout the day Friday and Saturday (Nov. 21-22).

CAL POLY DISTANCE MEN PLACE HIGH IN NATIONAL MEET

Cal Poly's cross-country team weathered snow and sub-freezing temperatures last Saturday to finish ninth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's College Division national meet at Wheaton, Ill. Highest finisher for the Mustangs was Greg Tibbets, a junior who finished 49th in the field of 414 men. Other members of the Cal Poly team, which was among 51 entered in the meet, were Mathyas Michael, Wally McConnell, Ray Morawski, Gary DuVal, Dave Bronzan, and Rich Tidwell. The Mustang distance team will conclude its 1969 season Friday (Nov. 21) when it competes in the California Collegiate Athletic Association championship meet at Cal Poly at Pomona.

DATES FOR OVERSEAS FLIGHTS LISTED BY C S C INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS OFFICE

Dates for three one-way chartered jet aircraft flights from Geneva, Switzerland to San Francisco, on which a limited number of spaces are available to members of the student body, faculty, and staff of the California State Colleges, have been listed by the CSC Office of International Programs. The flights are presently scheduled for Aug. 4, 8, and 15, with a fare of $225. Those desiring additional information are invited to write the Office of International Programs, The California State Colleges, 1600 Holloway Ave., San Francisco, Calif., 94132; or telephone (415) 469-1044.

Cal Poly Report is produced by the Office of Information Services, Administration 210. Typewritten material should be submitted prior to noon on Friday.

DATE FOR CHRISTMAS DINNER-DANCE ANNOUNCED BY STAFF CLUB AND WOMEN'S CLUB

The Elk's Club in San Luis Obispo will be the site of the Cal Poly Women's Club-Cal Poly Staff Club dinner-dance being planned for the evening of Dec. 12. The event will begin with a no-host social hour at 7 p.m. Dinner will start at 8 and be followed by dancing to the music of Jack LaForte's Music Makers. Tickets for the dinner-dance are priced at $4.50 per person and are being sold at meetings of the women's club's various special interest sections and of the Staff Club.

OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIOD FOR MAJOR MEDICAL INSURANCE SLATED BY P E R S

The Public Employees' Retirement System Board of Administration is providing a "limited major medical enrollment period" for all employees and annuitants currently enrolled in one of the board-contracted basic or supplemental health plans who failed to enroll in one of the PERS major medical plans during the past open period. The opportunity to enroll is Nov. 17 through Dec. 10, with an effective date of coverage of Jan. 1, 1970.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. GUSTAFSON HELD IN ATASCADERO

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche M. Gustafson, the wife of Lester W. Gustafson (Aeronautical Engineering Department), were held last Thursday (Nov. 13) afternoon in Atascadero. Mrs. Gustafson died in a San Luis Obispo hospital on Nov. 11 following a brief illness. She had been executive secretary of the San Luis Obispo County Tuberculosis and Health Association for the past eight years.
