

Liberalization of Santa Lucia

by LIANE LUCIETTA

Santa Lucia Hall will be co-ed and have 24 hour visitation beginning in March.

A notice distributed to Santa Lucia residents Tuesday afternoon announced that the third floor residents should plan to move before March 1 to the first or second floor of Santa Lucia or to Trinity or Yosemite. The notice said during the first two weeks in March current men residents will have an opportunity to move to Santa Lucia. Robert Bostrom, director of housing, said, "The timing is really unfortunate," the change is a result of a need for men's housing, and not a response to the resolutions presented to Student Affairs Council (SAC) last Wednesday night.

The first resolution calls for a lawsuit against university trustees, the second to freeze Poly Royal funds for this year until room checks are stopped and dorm room window display restrictions are lifted. Both resolutions were postponed until tonight's SAC meeting.

Dean of Students, Everett Chandler also maintained that the change at Santa Lucia was not prompted by last Wednesday's action and was, "absolutely unrelated to last Wednesday's resolutions. There is plenty of documentary evidence to prove it," said Chandler.

Bostrom said the Santa Lucia decision was a result of recommendations he made in early January that were approved last Wednesday morning.

Bostrom said he could make no comment on the resolutions before SAC because of the pending lawsuit but that he had not been provided with a copy of the resolutions.

Bostrom said the reasons for the change at Santa Lucia "were financial and the need for more housing for men at the least discomfort and inconvenience to our residents."

"The alternative chosen will make some people unhappy on the third floor of Santa Lucia," Bostrom said. There is space in Santa Lucia for all but 17 of the women that will have to move. There is room for 20 in Yosemite and for more than that in Trinity, Bostrom said.

"In order to allow current men residents an opportunity to move to Santa Lucia, all third floor women residents," must move by March 1, the notice states.

"Residents say the demands should be for something bigger if Poly Royal funds are to be frozen," said Johnson. Room checks and window displays are not that big of an issue, but refrigerators and visiting hours are, he said.

Denny Johnson, ASI vice-president said he had conducted an informal survey among about 800 dorm residents and found that they either did not know about the resolutions or did not think the two items demanded (no room checks, no window restrictions) were worth fighting over.

Johnson said that most residents said that room checks were no big deal. "The room checks are announced a week in advance, most of them said they aren't worth fighting over," he said.

"Only two people really cared about the restrictions on window displays. Most of them agreed that there shouldn't be obscene items in the windows," he said.

"Residents say the demands should be for something bigger if Poly Royal funds are to be frozen," said Johnson. Room checks and window displays are not that big of an issue, but refrigerators and visiting hours are, he said.

P.E. CREDIT

Participation pays now

For the first time at this university credit will be given for intramural play. It will now be offered as a half unit physical education course.

During Spring Quarter the P.E. Department will be expanding their present program with this addition of the intramural class, numbered as 124 X, offered on a pass-fail basis. Students will be allowed to take up to three units and get credit for it.

The type of classes being offered are co-ed softball taught by the womens staff, mens basketball, co-ed volleyball taught by the mens' staff and mens' weight training. Specific times and instructors have not yet been decided, but they will be offered in the afternoons and evenings.

Anyone may still join intramurals but does not have to feel pressured to join a class.

Dr. Robert Mott, head of the mens' Physical Education Department, said that if this program is successful depending on the amount of people wanting to participate, and depending on the facilities available, then the program will expand.

The idea came up when ASI Pres. Robin Baggett was trying to find a pleasurable way to meet the P.E. requirements. He is interested in the intramural program and also wanted to promote it. He felt this would be the best way to include it in the academic area so everyone can meet the requirements and also participate in intramurals.

Baggett feels that a competitive atmosphere is essential to provide a healthy environment on campus. Any time students interact with others in a competitive manner it is healthy.

He also feels that this class would be better activity than a regular P.E. class because there would be more action. Baggett spent a lot of time over Christmas vacation presenting the idea to Pres. Robert Kennedy and Dean Everett Chandler. They are all for the idea.

Baggett came up with the idea and Dick Heaton will be applying it. Heaton is the co-ordinator for intramurals activity and will be setting it up along with supervising it.

This course will not be offered in the spring class schedules because right now it is an experimental program and the P.E. Department had to get special permission from Academic Vice-pres. Dale Andrews. They will be listed on the add-drop change sheet.

Poly Royal fund freeze: 'problem not scapegoat'

Freezing ASI Poly Royal funds until the Administration meets student housing demands has become the means to justify the end.

The Student Affairs Council introduced a resolution which would result in the freezing of Poly Royal funds as a means to attain dorm reform.

The political tug-of-war between the administration and SAC stem from the demands of five SAC members: Chris West, Brad Isaacson, Lee Pitts, Mike Benson and Jon Harrison. They coauthored the resolution calling for the removal of mandatory room checks and the lifting of window display restrictions.

This year's student General Chairman, Larry Hopson, is of the opinion that while he realizes the problem, he does not think that Poly Royal should become "a scapegoat." Hopson is a senior architecture major and has previously worked as queen's chairman and assistant general superintendent.

Poly Royal has been an annual event since 1938. About 80,000 people attend the two day event, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, April 27-28. The event is an open house for the 80 occupationally oriented departments.

Five-man group named to expedite SAC budget

Robin Baggett has formulated a new financial arm called the "Committee of Five" to help speed and devise a more balanced and justifiable SAC budget.

Finance Committee of ASI listens to budget requests of ASI groups and draws up the budget after these meetings. Finance Committee has the necessary experience or "financial savvy" to use student funds so the student reaps the greatest benefit on his dollar.

The new group, "Committee of Five", chosen from the Finance Committee, will recommend the use of Robin Baggett's veto of any of the Student Affairs Council's actions on the budget which seem unjustifiable.

The committee will be composed of the Finance Chairman, the Finance Vice-Chairman, and three elected members of Finance Committee. The committee members will be required to attend all SAC meetings after the 1973-74 budget has been presented. The Finance Chairman will chair and coordinate all the committee's activities.

The advantages of this system are: 1) It will be faster and all Presidential vetoes will be immediate and not bog down in the budget approval process. 2) The Committee of Five will have the financial experience required for a balanced and justifiable budget. 3) The Committee of Five will be readily available to SAC for testimony concerning any aspect of the budget.

The chairman and vice-chairman are already elected from last year. "The remaining three members will be elected from the Finance Committee by the committee," Bagget said.

Baggett then stated that the Finance Committee understands the intricacies of the budget that Student Affairs Council does not. He said the new committee would carry the expertise of the Finance Committee to SAC.

Withdrawals deadline near

The college catalog states: "Except for college recognized emergencies, no withdrawals from a course will be permitted after the end of the seventh week of instruction."

The seventh week of instruction ends at 5 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 22, according to Registrar Gerald Panches.

Cellist to add his touch

Editor:

Gabor Rajto is indeed "a fabulous cellist," and the students of Cal Poly will have a rare opportunity to witness his performance with the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra this Friday at 8:15 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium.

The orchestra is enjoying another successful year as demonstrated by Fall quarter's standing-room-only concert. Anyone who has not attended a performance of the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra has really missed out on some fine concerts. It is guaranteed that this is one event at Cal Poly that will not be a disappointment.

Admission to this Fine Arts Committee-sponsored event will be $1.50 for students. The program will include Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, Ragtime for Eleven Instruments by Stravinsky, Bach's Third Unaccompanied Cello Suite, and the Haydn D Major Cello Concerto, the latter two being performed by Gabor Rajto.

Don't miss this opportunity to hear fine music at its best.

John E. Hoy
President, Cal Poly

Baseball streak to four

The Mustang baseball team offensively exploded for 28 runs last weekend as it swept three games from defending Far Western Conference champions Cal State Hayward.

The Mustangs, who improved their spotless record to 4-0, defeated the Pioneers, 10-3, last Friday, and swept a doubleheader, 13-4 and 5-3.

In the first game of the series, Rick Simpson came in to relieve in the fourth inning, stifled a Pioneer rally, and went on to record his first win of the season.

Trailing by two runs, the diamondmen tied the game up in the third inning with two runs and put the game out of reach the next inning as they struck for five runs.

Dave Oliver started the rally with a single, stole second base, and Doug Redican singled him home, Redican then stole second base, was wild pitched to third, and scored on a balk. Joe Zagarino then hit a low line drive home run which gave the Mustangs their third run in the inning. Pete Phillips walked and Larry Silveira capped off the inning by hitting a towering home run which drove in two more runs.

In the first game of the doubleheader on Saturday, Mike Krukow pitched seven strong innings as he gained his second win of the season. He received help from his teammates as they blasted out 13 runs and 16 hits in the game.

The Mustangs, holding on to a slim 1-0 lead, blew the game wide open in the third inning as they scored five runs. The big hits in the inning were singles by Gary Knuckles which scored two runs and a single by Krukow which also scored two runs.

Carl Hathaway completed the three game sweep as he shut out the Pioneers for five innings to record the win. Dave Brunell finished up for Hathaway and preserved the win for the Mustangs.
