Viet Cong and Hungarian delegates attend the multi-national conference in Paris to guarantee the Vietnam cease-fire.

Lasting peace in 'nam shakey

PARIS (UPI) — The world's great powers sat down with the warring parties of Vietnam Monday to try to achieve a lasting peace in Indochina. The Viet Cong immediately charged the U.S. and South Vietnam with sabotaging the cease-fire, and Canada threatened to withdraw as one of the peace-keeping nations.

The 13-party International Conference on Vietnam, provided for in the Vietnam peace settlement to give international guarantees, to the agreements, held its first meeting in the ornate Hotel Majestic, where the accords were signed a month earlier.

The meeting, which lasted for two hours and 30 minutes, generally was marked by restraint on the part of the major powers. Diplomats said this was partly because none wanted to commit itself to direct action should the Vietnam cease-fire completely break down.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers set forth the hopes of the United States, telling the delegates "our common goals and aspirations motivate us to concentrate on a single objective—peace."

But Rogers said the conference can guarantee peace in Vietnam without "elaborate machinery," possibly by establishing apparatus for reconvening the 13-parties in the event at least six feel peace has failed.

Rogers and China's foreign minister, Chi Pong-Fei, met for the second time this week at a reception given by French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann at the foreign ministry on the banks of the Seine River.

Rogers and Chi smiled and chatted under crystal chandeliers in a salon rich with gilt, red brocade draperies and 16th-century tapestries.

Rogers said later he was satisfied with the conference and that he anticipated no problems. "I think it all can be worked out by the end of the week," he said.

'Personal' acid is legalized by court decision

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)— Possession of the hallucinogenic LSD for personal or household use is not illegal under existing Michigan laws, the state court of appeals ruled Monday.

In a 3-0 decision, the court overturned the conviction of Stephen Urban, who was found guilty in Macomb County Circuit Court of illegally possessing a sugar cube laced with LSD and wrapped in metal foil.

The court ordered a new trial for Urban because the prosecutor failed to prove that the LSD in Urban's possession "was for other than personal or household use."

A 1966 Michigan law covering LSD and similar drugs makes possession illegal unless "in accordance with the federal Food, Drug and Cosmetics Act."

The federal act in effect at the time the state statute was written permitted LSD for personal and household use and stated that it was the burden of the prosecutor to prove otherwise.

Two years after the state statute was enacted, the federal act was amended to abolish the exception for personal and household use.

However, the appeals said that the Michigan law must be construed to refer to the earlier federal law that included the exception.

Senior lists

A preliminary list of students eligible for preferential registration is posted in the foyer of the library. This list includes students who completed 135 units at the end of fall quarter AND are currently or have previously enrolled in 461 senior project courses. This list also includes graduate students.

Students should report any omission to the Registrar's office, Ad. 219, before March 8, 1973, according to Gerald Panches.

Bands give variety show

by JOAN CAMPBELL
March will be launched with a drum roll this year when the campus band gets together for a little concerting in a big way.

As part of the University's College Hour Concert series, the 55-piece Concert Band will give a free, hour-long concert Thursday at 11 a.m. in the campus Theater.

Caesar Giovanni's "Overture in B-flat," Vincent Persichetti's "Pageant," and John Philip Sousa's "El Capitan" will be among the numbers featured.

The program will also include performances from the university's Studio Band, the Percussion Ensemble, the Saxophone Ensemble, and the Clarinet Quartet.

The following evening will highlight the 75-piece Symphonic Band in its seventh annual Winter Concert. The Percussion Ensemble, the Clarinet Quartet, and the Studio Band will also perform. The concert is scheduled to begin at 8:15 in Chuniash Auditorium.

A wide variety of music will be offered at the Winter Concert ranging from Alfred Reed's "The Music Makers" to the "Toe Soul" of Richard Frits.

Admission prices are 75 cents for students and $1.25 for adults. Tickets for the March 2 concert are available at Brown's Music Store, Premier Music Company, Ogden Stationers, and the Union Information desk. They will also be sold by band members and at the door on performance night.

According to Conductor William V. Johnson, members of both the Symphonic and Concert Bands are selected from the larger Marching Band after football season to concentrate on traditional orchestral transcriptions and works for the modern wind band.

The Percussion Ensemble and Clarinet Quartet are selected from the Symphonic Band. The percussion group has eight members on all kinds of percussion instruments, while the top four clarinetists of the 25 of the Symphonic Band make up the Clarinet Quartet.

DA VINCI'S WORLD

Art highlights festival

An exhibit illustrating the inventive genius and foresight of that magnificent man who conceived of the flying machine will be part of a 26-day festival at this university next month.

The festival, entitled "Leonardo and His World," will commemorate the works and contributions of Leonardo da Vinci. It will open March 21 and run to April 15 under the sponsorship of the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities.

According to Dr. Jon Ericson, dean of Communicative Arts and Humanities, the festival will include lectures, motion pictures and other presentations relating the importance of the famed 15th Century artist-scientist's work to the 20th Century.

The exhibit of da Vinci models, on loan from the Department of Arts and Sciences of International Business Machines Corporation, includes 27 models built from his scientific and technical drawings.

Among the models are a paddle-wheel ship, an idea not successfully developed until the advent of steam power in the 19th Century; a theoretical gear system that produced three speeds of rotation; and a device for determining the tensile strength of wire.

Models in the show will include an armored tank, not extensively used until World War I, and a scaling ladder that resembles the modern fire-fighting apparatus, but was designed to storm the walls of enemy fortresses.

As a scientist and engineer, da Vinci was always concerned with accuracy and measurement. As part of the exhibit, models of his designs for a hygrometer for measuring humidity, an anemometer for measuring wind velocity and an inclinometer for determining the degree of slope.

The first set of models of da Vinci's work built in contemporary times was constructed in 1938 for an exhibition in Milan, Italy. The exhibit traveled briefly and during World War II was completely destroyed during the bombing of Tokyo.

Another group of models, built in the United States after the war, was acquired by IBM in 1961 and incorporated into the company's touring exhibition program.

Recently, the exhibition has been completely redesigned. The models, painted red, yellow, blue and green are displayed with panels of explanatory material and sketches from da Vinci's notebooks. Other panels bear the inventor's sketches in such fields as mathematics, optics, astronomy, botany and city planning.

EDITORIAL

Impossible task or wise investment?

If someone had come along and offered a plan to build a new stadium for the ASI at the low, low price of $400, everyone would have said it was a great idea but not really feasible.

If someone had offered to design and institute by next week a bus system that would clear the campus of snarled traffic, everyone would have smiled at a dream that could hardly come true.

But when Skip Kelley came along early last year, offering to create a computerized index of all the regulations affecting student government and at a reasonable cost—well, nobody talked about whether it was feasible or just a nice dream. Everyone smiled, said it was a great idea, and kept on smiling right through quarter after quarter of delay.

Few could argue with the advantages of being able to locate rules and laws within seconds. But it takes no close association with student government to realize that the complex maze of documents, letters, memoranda, and directives claiming jurisdiction over ASI is difficult to pin down. Changes in regulations will (and even Kelley admits this) put his index, Catch 22, out of date daily, requiring constant revisions.

Keeping up with the administrative Joneses is going to cost money. It has already cost over $300 for the unfinished project. No one is willing to estimate how much it may run to copy documents as they are issued—but the Catch 22 people have made a budget request for next year.

Almost any amount of money would be pretty reasonable for a system that would tell what is and is not possible in student government—but the system is not working. Promised deadline after promised deadline has passed—the latest estimate by Kelley is that the project should be finished by the end of Spring Quarter. But we've heard that story before.

Mustang Daily has tried to ascertain why Catch 22 isn't complete after a year and a half of work. But after producing two stories and closely following accusations and counter-accusations, we seem no closer to the truth.

Kelley says he does not view the delays as part of an administrative plot to sink his ship. But he must blame the administration, at least in part, for he has composed a list of 10 documents that he needs and has not been able to obtain from the university.

Enter ASI Pres. Robin Baggett. He says that all the documents are available, even one that Kelley claims does not exist—an index of serial letters from the Student Affairs section of the Chancellor's Office.

Kelley says bitterly that he cannot get people to talk to him—Baggett has cancelled two meetings with him and Kennedy will not talk to him on the phone. Baggett says, in fact, Kelley cancelled a meeting with him and he has his secretary's not to prove it.

If all this sounds uninteresting, it is. And it is just the sort of petty detail one suspects that has kept Catch 22 from completion. Or perhaps Catch 22 is an impossible task of unmanageable dimensions.

Whatever the answer is, Student Affairs Council better be prepared with perceptive questions the next time Catch 22 comes up for vote. Even without an index to the dos and don'ts of student government, it is obvious that SAC is commissioned with the task of spending ASI dollars wisely—and a computer system that may never work is far from a wise investment.

Students are 'appalled' at outdated dorm rules

Editor:
In reply to Mr. Duer's letter that appeared in the Friday, Feb. 23 issue of Mustang Daily, we were appalled at his antiquated view of how university life should be.

Instead of being impressed by air conditioned rooms, carpeted floors and new mattresses, we are more concerned with our basic rights as adults. We feel that the responsibilities of shaping our own lifestyles should be left up to us without restrictions. Therefore we feel that dorm reform is not over emphasized or that a few simple events at Poly Royal is too great of price to pay for the long overdue rights of dorm residents.

As to Mr. Duer's view that we should be so thankful to the university for allowing us to attend, that we should not protest any of its policies, it is apparent that he believes that the university is not here to serve us, but we are here to serve the university.

If Cal Poly's purpose is to educate us so we may enjoy a fuller adult life, it seems like the administration would not run our living quarters like an elementary school day camp.

Loss of son prompts father to seek photos

Editor:
A standing policy adopted by the Student Affairs Council this year has been to send letters of condolence to the families of deceased students on behalf of the Student Affairs Council and the Associated Students, Inc.

I recently received this letter, which I am enclosing, from Virendra Dalal, father of Bhikhar Dalal, recently killed in a local plane crash.

I would like to share this letter with the students on this campus and ask for any assistance they can give.

"Dear Laura Lampson and Associated Students, Inc.,

"My wife Lalita and daughter Sa join me in thanking you for the sympathy and condolences you have conveyed us and thus shared our bereavement in our recent loss.

"May we ask for a small favor? We would like to have any photographs of Bhikhar that his friends may have, as my daughter and I have not seen him since August 1987.

"Thanking you, Sincerely, Virendra Dalal."

Thank you for your attention.

'Dear Dr. Hip' will discuss sex and drugs

The author of a weekly newspaper column concerning sex and drug problems will discuss his latest book, "Dear Dr. Hip Pocrates—Advice your family doctor never gave you," Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium.

San Francisco's Dr. Eugene Schoenfeld or Dr. Hip, if you please, will be the featured speaker in a lecture sponsored by Speaker's Forum Committee. Schoenfeld's columns in the San Francisco Chronicle and 24 college and underground newspapers have aroused numbers of letters to Dr. Hip, asking advice on all subjects from alcoholism to unwanted pregnancy.

Admission to Wednesday's lecture is $7.50 for students and $1.25 for the general public.

CHAOS IN LAOS

Battles go on

VIENTIANE (UPI)—Negotiations between Communist and government officials to set up a coalition government failed to start on schedule Monday and fighting continued throughout the country on the fifth day of an official ceasefire.

Government sources reported the Pathet Lao delegates began haggling about the places the meetings of the Joint Commission should be held. They said at one point Ngon angrily shouted at them and accused them of using delaying tactics.

In Washington, the United States threatened that U.S. air attacks would be resumed if the Communist Pathet-Lao continued to violate the ceasefire. Laotian government sources said the reason the meeting on a coalition government was not held was that Pathet Lao officials were away from Vientiane consulting Hanoi.

Laotian military sources reported the government Sunday took back a village lost to the Communists Friday after the cease-fire went into effect. They identified the village as Ban Pokheh, 33 miles west-northwest of Vientiane.

Pathet Lao delegates to the military and political sides of the Joint Commission exchanged angry words at a two-hour session with Public works Minister Ngon Sananikone, who heads the government political delegation, sources said.

Government figures showed military activity leveling to about 20 Communist violations each day since the cease-fire went into effect last Thursday. The government has reported a total of 88 Communist violations to date.

Government delegates to the Joint Commission meetings turned up at the government's former defense ministry building and the public works ministry this morning as scheduled.

Political delegate Sananikone and military team chief N. Bounthieng Bengvongsas waited for about 45 minutes at the sites before returning home.

At about the same time both Petrasay, Pathet Lao military delegation leader, and Prince Souk Vongsack, the political team leader, turned up at Ngon's house where they held a two-hour session.

The university's Health Center is sponsoring their second annual photo contest following the successful contest of last year. This year's contest will expand to include two categories of entries: black and white prints and color slides.

There will be three prizes given in each category: first, $25; second, $10; third, $5. The judges' choices will be final.

The theme of the contest and of all entries will be "Health and Health Education" in its broad ramifications as related to the Health Center and or campus.

Winners will be announced during Poly Royal and all entries will be on display during that time. All prized prints will be retained as property of the Health Center to be used in displays of Health Education.

"Last year the people at the Health Center decided to sponsor some kind of activity so we could participate actively during Poly Royal and in this way become a more involved organ of the university," said David Graham, Director of Student Health Services.

"We had a lot of fun with the contest last year," said Graham, "and hopefully this year's contest will be even better. Anyone who wishes to take pictures inside the Health Center is welcome to Larry Silveira displays aggressive style that has given Mustang baseball team a 5-0 early season record. The diamondmen are host to Fresno State today in a noon doubleheader.

by TONY DIAZ
The Mustang baseball team, now becoming known as the "Big Green Machine", continued its high run scoring spree as it defeated Cal State Sonoma 12-0 last Friday.

Coach Berdy Harr's Mustangs now have a perfect 5-0 record and will have their five-game winning streak tested today as they face Cal State Fresno for a noon doubleheader on the campus diamond. Wet grounds forced Harr to shift the games from San Luis Obispo Stadium.

Starting on the mound in the first game will be Rick Simpson and slated to start the second game is Doug Alderman. Today's doubleheader was to mark the first of 13 home games to be played at the San Luis Obispo Stadium.

Ace pitcher Mike Krukow, who recorded his third win without a loss against the Cossocks, was superb for eight innings as he gave up only two hits. Krukow struck out 14 batters and still has not given up an earned run this season.

The diamondmen started off fast as they scored two runs in the first inning. Dave Oliver led off with a single, Doug Redican walked, and then both pulled a double steal. Oliver then scored on a passed ball and Redican also scored on a passed ball.

The Mustangs added three more runs in the third inning to stretch their lead to 5-0. Joe Zagarino started the rally with a walk, Pete Phillips singled, and Larry Silveira also singled to drive in Zagarino. Gary Knuckles then delivered the big hit in the inning as he doubled to drive in Phillips and Silveira.

The Mustangs put the game out of reach in the eighth inning as they scored five runs. Redican and Dan Marple walked, and Zagarino reached first on an error to load the bases. Phillips then singled to drive in two runs and Silveira got his third hit in the game to drive in Zagarino. Phillips scored the fourth run of the frame on a sacrifice fly and Silveira scored on a single by Greg Clark, who was pinch-hitting for Krukow.

The Colts will take their 6-3 record to Santa Maria today to take on the Allan Hancock College Bulldogs. Hancock is 2-3 on the season and is the state's defending small school's JC champion.

Hitchcock to be placed in Helms Hall of Fame

Vaughan Hitchcock Mustang wrestling coach the past 11 years, has been cited as one of five new inductees into the United Savings Helms Hall Amateur Wrestling Hall of Fame.

The announcement was made in Los Angeles last week by the board of the enshrining agency.

Wrestlers of note Richard Baugman and Joe Scarpello were selected as well as noteworthy contributors Dr. Williams Tomaras and William Farrell. Tomaras was Hitchcock's collegiate wrestling coach at Washington State.

Hitchcock's wrestling team has emerged as the dominant school in California wrestling and has flourished on the national scene as well. The Mustangs have never lost to another California school in 11 seasons under the 38-year-old coach. The string is now 118 straight including 10 rivals this season.

The Mustangs have logged its third 20-victory season in the past four years. Facing what ranks as one of the toughest, if not the hardest schedule in the nation, the Mustangs of Coach Hitchcock have compiled a dual meet record of 189 wins, 34 losses and two ties for a winning percentage of .829. They have averaged scoring 28.2 points per meet and totaled 5,376 points while limiting opponents to 1,730 for an average of 8.5 points.

Jog-in planned

If you are an early riser, you are invited to join in the third "jog-in" of the quarter set for Wednesday at 7 a.m. Starting location for the two and one-half mile run is at the old track.

Participants are asked to meet at the old track at 6:45 a.m. for sign ups.

The run is stressing for participation only, not for competition. All who do run will receive a certificate verifying participation. Awards, however, will be given to the first three men and the first three women finishers.

At least 100 students will be running, according to Miss Kathy Warner, who is assisting with the "jog-in." She added that the public is invited to join students since many do jog early in the morning.
