

Volume 21, Number 15

November 10, 1970

CAMPUS CONCERTS WILL BE HOMECOMING FOR VIOLINIST MALLORY

David Mallory, who will be the featured soloist when the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra gives its first concerts of the 1970-71 campus music season Thursday and Friday (Nov. 12-13), is well-known to concert goers in the Central Coast area. Presently a member of the Chico State College faculty, Mallory grew up in the San Luis Obispo area, studied under Lucien Morrison, and was a soloist with the San Luis Obispo County Symphony.

Mallory is scheduled to join the 30-member Cal Poly orchestra for its performance of J. S. Bach's Violin Concerto in A Minor during the programs being planned for the Cal Poly Theater. The Thursday concert, scheduled as part of the College Hour Concert series, will start at 11 a.m., and the Friday program, at 8:30 p.m. Admission will be free and the public is invited to attend either or both of the programs.

Mallory is a graduate of San Francisco State College and Indiana University, where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in music. Before assuming his teaching duties at Chico State earlier this year, he taught at Clarion State College in Pennsylvania and studied violin under such well-known teachers as Harry Farbman, Frank Houser, and Louis Kaufman, all former concertmasters of major symphony orchestras.

A music teacher and consultant for the Lucia Mar School District in the Arroyo Grande area between 1961 and 1965, Mallory is himself an experienced violinist. He has performed with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, the 7th Army Symphony, the Henry Mancini Orchestra, the Monterey Jazz Festival Orchestra, and numerous community orchestras in the San Francisco area.

Also programmed for the Nov. 12-13 concerts at Cal Poly, according to Clifton E. Swanson (Music Department), who is conductor of the Chamber Orchestra, are Beethoven's Egmont Overture, Fugue for a Small Orchestra and Hallowe'en by Charles Ives, and Ralph Vaughan Williams' Fantasia on Greensleeves. Swanson said Haydn's Symphony No. 52 in C minor will be added to the program for the Friday evening concert.

Both performances are being staged by the college Music Department.

RETIREMENT ANNOUNCED BY HEAD OF SOIL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Logan S. Carter, the man who established the Cal Poly Soil Science Department of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources, will retire on Jan. 1, 1971. President Robert E. Kennedy announced that Curtis Dean Piper, a member of the college faculty since 1964, will become head of the department on that date.

(Continued on Page 2)

RETIREMENT ANNOUNCED . . . (Continued from Page 1)

Dr. Carter joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1947 after 12 years of government service with the United States Department of Agriculture in the Soil Conservation Service. He became a teacher because his 12 years of government work revealed "the need for more trained people in soil science."

The retiring department head has viewed a major growth in the soil science program at Cal Poly. In 1947 he was the total staff, and the laboratory was housed in the basement of the 1901 structure variously identified as the domestic arts building, the agricultural education building, and currently as an architecture laboratory. Today there are 6 faculty members instructing courses in soil science and 81 majors in the program. The Soil Science Department is housed in a wing of the Science Building and is served by three laboratories and three dual purpose rooms.

In 1968, Dr. Carter developed and initiated Cal Poly's natural resources management degree program, which this year has 161 majors and which will gain department status on Jan. 1. Marvin J. Whalls, a member of the Soil Science Department faculty since 1968, will be acting head of the new department.

The retiring Cal Poly department head was named an honorary state farmer by the California Association of Future Farmers of America in 1959, in recognition of his work in encouraging land judging activities among FFA chapters. In 1966, he was named a fellow of the Soil Conservation Society of America in recognition of his contribution to the science and art of good land use.

Dr. Carter is a member of Alpha Zeta, national honorary and service fraternity for college and university agricultural students; Beta Beta Beta, biological sciences honorary fraternity; Mu Beta Beta, 4-H fraternity; Phi Sigma, biological sciences fraternity; Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary fraternity; the Range Management Society; Soil Conservation Society of America; and the Soil Science Society.

The retiring department head was raised on a general livestock farm near Oak Grove, Ark., and on a fruit ranch at Fresno. He earned his BS degree in agriculture at Oregon State University in 1930 and his doctorate at Michigan State University in 1934.

A member of the soil science faculty at Cal Poly for the past six years, Dr. Piper formerly was a farm operator and college food service director. Just before moving to Cal Poly he was an instructor in research and teaching at Michigan State University. Dr. Piper also has been a consultant to the Peace Corps in overseas programs and has coordinated an internship program for the Peace Corps at Cal Poly for the past year.

The newly-appointed department head earned his bachelor's degree at W. J. Bryan College in Dayton, Tenn., in 1953, and completed his master's and doctor's degree studies at Michigan State in 1959 and 1967, respectively.

"TRENDS IN CALIFORNIA HIGHER EDUCATION" WILL BE TOPIC

"Trends in California Higher Education" will be the topic when James C. Stone of University of California at Berkeley addresses a meeting sponsored by the Education Department at 3 p.m., Friday (Nov. 13) in AgEngr-123. Faculty, staff, and students are invited. Dr. Stone is a professor of higher education at the campus in Berkeley.

LAW AND ORDER STRESSED BY TRUSTEE LUCKMAN

The academic world is now in the dark before the dawn, according to a member of the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges. Internationally-known architect, businessman, and public servant Charles Luckman told a primarily student audience of some 500 that he has great hope for a healing of the academic world. Luckman spoke in the Cal Poly Theater on the topic, "A Trustee Looks at Higher Education."

Acknowledging that, "I seem to have been marching to a different drum these recent years, than many trustees and regents," Luckman said, "I have frequently been wrong -- but never in doubt." He referred to 10 years of service on the state college Board of Trustees, during which his firm, the fifth largest architectural firm in the world, has been the only one in the state not permitted to do any work on any of the California State College campuses.

"I care," Luckman stressed and shared with the audience his concern for the disrespect shown toward law and order. He called the bombings of Bank of America branches, "a terrifying example of uninformed viciousness," in view of the fact that the two top executives of the bank are among the nation's most enlightened business leaders.

Luckman warned students that they must not permit themselves "to be led by a few egomaniacs, sick with their personal ambitions and frustrations." He said, "For this underlying thesis of law breaking can never be likened or linked to academic freedom. All of us, who are a part of higher education, must be devoted to the cause of academic freedom; but equally so, none of us should tolerate academic license, with its concomitant of law breaking."

Without the "false guise of academic freedom," he said, "It is my strong personal conviction that we, who have the responsibility for governance in higher education, must never permit the willful breaking of laws on our campuses; we must not permit this academic license to interfere with the orderly process of education. If we are not willing to teach respect for the law on our campuses, how can we expect our students in later life, to respect the laws which, since the days of the Magna Carta, have been the very foundation of a free society?

"All of us are obligated to the people who support our institutions of higher learnings, to penalize those individuals who would hand select those laws which they will obey, and those which they will break, all under the false guise of academic freedom."

Luckman's views on other topics included:

Appropriate means of dissent - "On the other hand, protests, marches, speeches and demonstrations, in any form which may seem appropriate or effective in dramatizing the need for more Civil Rights, a better economic situation, and the removal of discrimination, must be considered proper -- so long as they are peaceful -- so long as they do not interfere with other Americans' legitimate activities. In contrast, rioting, burning, and looting must be regarded as willful violation of civil law, and proportionate punishment must be provided."

Freedom - "Academic freedom means freedom from interference, not freedom from law. Freedom of the press means freedom to say, not freedom to do."

(Continued on Page 4)

LAW AND ORDER STRESSED . . . (Continued from Page 3)

Kent State University - Luckman blames the "forgotten spark which ignited the confrontation -- the burning by 'rebel students' of the ROTC building."

Discipline - "The proper response to such acts is to expel students and terminate faculty members who participate in such events. As a College Trustee, it is my conviction that when such things as property damage, interference with the rights of others on the campus, or physical violence are involved, the colleges and universities must state in no uncertain terms that participation in these events will subject students to expulsion and faculty members to termination."

Due process - Should not be used to stall or prevent justice.

Faculty tenure - A guarantee of faculty rights to speak freely but not as a protective shield against unlawful actions.

Racism - He criticized the University of California Academic Senate's support of Angela Davis, and termed hastily-implemented black studies programs, "racism and separatism at its ugliest." Luckman supported help for all minorities and proposed "Schools of Remedial Studies." In such schools, he said, blacks, browns, and whites could move forward together toward equal opportunities.

Generation Gap - The older generations owe the younger generation, "love, protection to a point, and respect -- when they deserve it. We do not owe them our souls, our privacy, our whole lives -- and, above all, we do not owe them immunity from our mistakes, or their own."

Authority - Parents, teachers and others need to use firm authority. "Faculty should stop playing chicken," he said, and rioters -- either student or faculty -- "should be met with expulsion."

Luckman indicated that new disciplinary procedures in the state college system would help authorities to act against revolutionaries. He gave several examples of financial strains placed upon higher education as a consequence of campus unrest, and he noted that student leaders now meeting with the trustees appear to be more decent and thoughtful but just as vigorous as activist students of previous years.

Speaking of his role as a trustee, Luckman said, "I want to listen to students, faculty, administrators, citizens -- to all who accept the premise that decency and divergent views are not incompatible; to all who accept the premise that they do make a proper framework for objective inquiry."

"We are seeking answers," he said, "all we demand is that non-violence be the means to these ends."

GENERAL MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUB SCHEDULED THIS EVENING

The Cal Poly Women's Club will hold its first general membership meeting of 1970-71 this Tuesday, Nov. 10, evening at 8 p.m., in Lib-129. Club directories will be distributed and the club historian's scrapbook will be on display in order for members to delve into the club's last decade, pictorially. Highlight of the evening will be a talk and slide presentation by Mrs. John Merriam on the year she spent in Thailand. All club members are invited to attend.

COMING EVENTS -- COMING EVENTS -- COMING EVENTS

Livestock Seminar -- Monday through Friday, Nov. 9-13, all day, Erhart Agriculture Building Room 128. Short course on livestock business and operation for Bank of America executives from throughout California; hosted by the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources. By invitation.

Cal Poly Women's Club General Meeting -- Tuesday, Nov. 10, 8 p.m., Dexter Library Building Room 129. General membership meeting of the women's club featuring Mrs. John Merriam's talk on her recent year-long stay in Thailand. Members invited.

Veteran's Day -- Wednesday, Nov. 11. Academic holiday for all Cal Poly students, faculty, and staff; college operations closed except where essential services are needed.

Development Conference -- Wednesday, Nov. 11, 8 a.m., Cal Poly Theater. Conference on economic development of San Luis Obispo County; sponsored by San Luis Obispo Development Association, the San Luis Obispo County Planning Department, and Cal Poly. Public invited; reservations required.

College Hour Concert -- Thursday, Nov. 12, 11 a.m., Cal Poly Theater. Concert of varied music presented by violin soloist David Mallory and the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Clifton E. Swanson; sponsored by the Music Department. Public invited.

Physics Colloquium -- Thursday, Nov. 12, 11 a.m., Science Building Room E-27. Robert Dickerson will discuss "Atomic Vacancies in Solids;" sponsored by the Physics Department. Faculty, staff, and students invited.

Cal Poly Staff Club Luncheon Meeting -- Thursday, Nov. 12, 12 noon, Staff Dining Room. Program feature will be film presentation by members of Cal Poly's 1970 National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association champion team. Faculty and staff invited.

Folk Music Concert -- Thursday, Nov. 12, 8 p.m., Men's Gymnasium. Concert by folk singer Richie Havens; sponsored by the College Program Board Assemblies Committee of the Associated Students, Inc. General Admission tickets - $3.50, public; $2.50, ASI card holders.

Education Lecture -- Friday, Nov. 13, 3 p.m., Agricultural Engineering Building Room 123. Address titled "Significant Future Trends in California Higher Education" by James C. Stone of University of California at Berkeley; sponsored by the Education Department. Faculty, staff, and students invited.

Varsity Water Polo -- Friday, Nov. 13, 3 p.m., Swimming Pool adjacent to Men's Physical Education Building. Cal Poly vs. University of California at Riverside. Public invited.

Chamber Orchestra Concert -- Friday, Nov. 13, 8:30 p.m., Cal Poly Theater. Concert of varied music presented by violin soloist David Mallory and the Cal Poly Chamber Orchestra conducted by Clifton E. Swanson; sponsored by Cal Poly's Music Department. Public invited.

Chinchilla Show -- Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 14-15, all day, Agricultural Engineering Shop 7. Annual show of the Central California Branch of the Empress Chinchilla Breeders of California; sponsored by the Cal Poly Young Farmers organization. Public invited.

COMING EVENTS . . . (Continued from Page 5)

Western Typographers Photo Mechanical Workshop -- Saturday, Nov. 14, all day, Graphic Arts Building. Workshop for typographers from throughout the Western United States; sponsored by Cal Poly's Graphic Communications Department and the Western Typographers Association. By reservation.

Varsity Water Polo -- Saturday, Nov. 14, 10 a.m., Swimming Pool adjacent to Men's Gymnasium. Cal Poly vs. Monterey Peninsula College. Public invited.

Cal Poly Women's Club Bridge Sections Meeting -- Monday, Nov. 16, 8 p.m., Dexter Library Building Room 129. Meeting with play for members of both sections. Members invited.

Cal Poly Women's Club Walking Section Meeting -- Tuesday, Nov. 17, 9 a.m., Parking Lot, Williams Brothers Market, Lower Higuera St., San Luis Obispo. Meeting for walking tour of the Oceano beach area; sack lunch optional. Members invited.

Cal Poly Women's Club Home and Garden Section Meeting -- Wednesday, Nov. 18, 10 a.m., 235 Chorro St., San Luis Obispo. Batik demonstration by Mrs. Mel McDonald during meeting in home of Mrs. Wesley S. Ward. Members invited.

Cal Poly Staff Club Luncheon Meeting -- Thursday, Nov. 19, 12 noon, Staff Dining Room. Preview of Tom Stoppard's play Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead by J. Murray Smith who is directing the Speech Department's campus production of the play. Faculty and staff invited.

Architecture Lecture -- Thursday, Nov. 19, 8 p.m., Engineering Auditorium. Lecture by Calvin C. Straub, a prominent contemporary residential designer; sponsored by the School of Architecture and Environmental Design. Public invited.

Varsity Wrestling -- Thursday, Nov. 19, 8 p.m., Men's Gymnasium. Annual intra-squad meet matching members of Cal Poly's three-time defending national champion wrestling team. General admission tickets - $1, adults; 50 cents, students.

Cal Poly Theatre Presents -- Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 19-21, 8:30 p.m., Cal Poly Theater. Performances of Tom Stoppard's play, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, under direction of J. Murray Smith; produced by Cal Poly's Speech Department. General admission tickets - $2, adults; $1, students; 50 cents, children.

Farm City Week -- Friday through Thursday, Nov. 20-26. Annual observance of Farm City Week featuring window displays and special activities in San Luis Obispo business district; sponsored by the student council of Cal Poly's School of Agriculture and Natural Resources. See individual event entries for detailed information.

Income Tax Seminar -- Saturday, Nov. 21, all day, Computer Science Building. Seminar on individual income tax for accountants from throughout Central California; sponsored by the Business Administration Department and the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. By advanced registration.

Farm City Week Parade -- Saturday, Nov. 21, 11 a.m., Downtown San Luis Obispo. Parade of farm machinery along Higuera St. arranged as part of annual Farm City Week observance; sponsored by student council of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Public invited.

PERSONNEL REVIEW COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER REAPPOINTMENT, TENURE RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations for the reappointment of second and third-year faculty members and for the granting of tenure will be reviewed by the Personnel Review Committee of the Academic Senate between Nov. 13 and 20. This committee is charged with reviewing all applications for leave with pay and recommendations on retention, tenure, and promotion in cases where there is disagreement in the recommendations made by the department committees, department heads, and school deans, or on the request of a faculty member who believes that unusual circumstances have resulted in an unjust decision.

The committee reports its recommendations to the academic vice president and the president. Any information pertinent to the work of the committee should be communicated to committee members Emmett A. Bloom (Animal Science), Robert F. Asbury (School of Architecture and Environmental Design), Dominic B. Perello (Economics), Robert L. Andreini (Speech), Paul E. Scheffer (Industrial Engineering), Stuart F. Chestnut (Physical Education), Marcus Gold (Audio-Visual Services), Terry Gomes (student), or George R. Mach (Mathematics), who is committee chairman.

JAMES ENGLE OF OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY WILL SPEAK ON CAMPUS

James Engle, a professor of marketing at Ohio State University, will be speaking on Friday (Nov. 13) at 12 noon in MPE-122 on the subject "Campus Chaos -- God's Opportunity." The event, a catered lunch, is being sponsored by the campus Faculty Christian Fellowship.

Dr. Engle is a leading authority on consumer motivation and behavior. He serves as a marketing consultant to leading corporations. He is author of six textbooks including "Consumer Behavior Research" and senior author of "Consumer Behavior and Promotional Strategy."

All faculty and staff are invited, but reservations for the $2 luncheon must be made by 5:00 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday, Nov. 11) by telephoning Robert Cleath (Speech Department), 546-2178 or 546-2648.

FUNDS FOR OVERSEAS TRAVEL ALLOCATED, APPLICATIONS DUE BY NOV. 16

President Robert E. Kennedy has approved allocation of funds for special overseas travel grants and for travel grants to faculty of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources for visits to overseas projects.

Grants totaling $13,000 may be awarded to faculty from the total college in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Bulletin 69-3. Grants totaling $9,000 may be awarded to faculty of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources in accordance with provisions of Administrative Bulletin 69-4.

Deadline dates for applications for travel during the 1970 Christmas holiday period have been set at Nov. 16 for both grant programs. Application forms for the former may be obtained by visiting or telephoning the Office of International Education (Adm-133, 546-2147). Application forms for the latter are available in the Office of the Dean, School of Agriculture and Natural Resources (Erhart Ag-140, 546-2161).

Funds for both travel programs result from overhead earned from the Cal Poly overseas projects. Recommendations regarding the utilization of this fund were developed in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Bulletin 68-11.

VACANT POSITIONS ON COLLEGE SUPPORT STAFF LISTED BY PERSONNEL OFFICER

Three vacant positions on the support staff of the college have been listed by S. Milton Piuma (Staff Personnel Officer). Descriptions of the positions, which are also posted on the bulletin board located in the Personnel Office, Adm-111, 546-2236, read:

Stock Clerk ($530-$644), Receiving Department, Business Affairs Division. (Temporary Help position). Duties and responsibilities to include receiving and delivering merchandise. Applicants must be capable of moving heavy objects, and be able to work well with others. Must be high school graduate with stock and inventory work experience, and possess a valid State of California driver's license.

Clerical Assistant II-A or B ($228.50-$278.00) ($246.00-$299.50), Music Department, School of Communicative Arts and Humanities. (One-half time position). Duties to include typing and general clerical operations in support of the professional staff. Applicants must have passed the General Clerical Test and type 45 wpm. (If "B" must take shorthand at 90 wpm.)

Clerical Assistant II-A ($228.50-$278.00), Home Economics Department, School of Human Development and Education. (One-half time position.) Duties and responsibilities to include typing, running various office machines, filing, receptionist, general office duties. Applicants must be high school graduates with general office experience.

EXPERTS ON PUBLIC RECREATION SLATE CAMPUS VISITS

Frank Sylvester, regional director, Pacific Southwest Region, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, who spoke on campus Oct. 28, was the first of six authorities in public recreation who will meet with Cal Poly natural resources management majors during the Fall Quarter. Sylvester met with the Natural Resources Club and visited classrooms and met individually with students during the day.

Nelson Murdock (Soil Science Department), who has had lengthy experience with the U.S. Parks Service, is arranging the series of visits by men now working in the field of public recreation.

Those scheduled to visit natural resources management classes are: Joseph Rumberg, director, Western Region, U. S. Park Service, San Francisco, Thursday and Friday (Nov. 12-13); Jack Anderson, a Cal Poly graduate in ornamental horticulture in 1949, Yellowstone National Park, Nov. 19-21; Pete Schuft, chief ranger, Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park, and Gordon Boyd, supervisor of back country rangers, Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park, Nov. 17-20; and Tom Tucker, superintendent, Cabrillo National Monument, San Diego, on a date in December to be selected.

STUDENT WIVES GROUP SCHEDULES ANNUAL DINNER

The Cal Poly Student Architect Wives Club will hold its annual fund-raising dinner on Sunday (Nov. 15) at The New I in downtown San Luis Obispo, according to Mrs. Marianne McCurdy. A social hour will be from 5 to 6 p.m. and dinner, from 6 to 8 p.m. Tickets for the home-cooked meal will be available at $1.35 on Sunday at The New I. All faculty, staff, and students are invited. Proceeds from the dinner go to a needy architecture student.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Nov. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
---

APPLICANTS FOR FACULTY POSITIONS BEING SOUGHT

Applicants for four positions on the teaching and administrative faculty of the college are presently being sought, according to Larry Voss (Director of Personnel Relations). Those interested in learning more about the positions or in applying for any of them are invited to contact the appropriate school dean or department head. The vacant faculty positions are:

Department Head ($1317-$1602 monthly), Home Economics Department, School of Human Development and Education. The department head is responsible for administering the home economics instructional program within the overall structure of the school and coordinating the department's educational, fiscal, personnel, and student activities within the established consultative processes and policy guidelines of the college, conducts a continuous evaluation of the effectiveness of the operations of the department, anticipates, develops, and institutes improvements needed in the instructional program, etc. Applicants should have a thorough knowledge of the home economics field, have an awareness of California public-supported educational institutions, and have an earned doctorate or the equivalent. Anticipated appointment date: Sept. 1, 1971.

Intermediate Instructor ($777-$992 monthly), Social Sciences Department, School of Business and Social Sciences. Competence to teach courses in American government (national and California) and in problems and institutions of Africa, south of the Sahara. Applicants should possess a doctorate in political science. Prefer candidates with black or chicano identity. Position available Jan. 1, 1970.

Senior Instructor (.4-time Winter Quarter, 1971, only; salary based on $984-$1253 monthly), Social Sciences Department, School of Business and Social Sciences. Competence to teach social stratification. Doctorate in sociology necessary. Prefer candidates with black and chicano identity.

Lecturer (salary open), Computer Science and Statistics Department, School of Science and Mathematics. To instruct college classes in computer organization, programming, computer applications or systems software. Applicants must have minimum of masters degree from accredited institution and training and experience in third generation computer programming at the assembler language level. Academic work in computer science and possession of doctorate or industrial experience is highly desirable. Demonstrated ability to communicate to students and sincere interest in teaching are essential requirements.

Librarian II ($694-$929 monthly), Library, Academic Affairs Division. Applicants must be undergraduate science majors or have science reference experience. A graduate degree from ALA accredited library school, and a minimum of two years reference experience preferred.

CAL POLY ALUMNI, FRIENDS SLATE IBERIAN CARNIVAL AND AGRICULTURAL TOUR

A combination Iberian Carnival and Agricultural Tour is being offered to members of the Alumni Association and friends of Cal Poly. The tour is scheduled to depart from Oakland Dec. 12 and return Dec. 27, with stops at Lisbon, Madrid, and Majorca. The Alumni Association is offering the tour through American International Travel Service (ATIS), 9465 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. It includes round-trip jet flights, breakfasts and dinners, hotel, and other expenses at a rate of $599 per person, double occupancy. Information about the two-week-long program may be obtained from ATIS either by writing or telephoning area code 213, 278-2500.

PERFORMANCES OF "ROSENCRANTZ AND GUILDENSTERN" PLANNED NOV. 19, 20, 21

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead is not an ominous statement of doom, but the title of a dramatic play by Tom Stoppard scheduled to be produced by the Speech Department on Nov. 19, 20, and 21. Inspired by William Shakespeare's Hamlet, the Stoppard drama will be the first in a series of three plays to be produced by the department this year. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. each evening in the Cal Poly Theater.

J. Murray Smith (Speech Department), a member of the Cal Poly faculty for 10 years who formerly worked as a director at the famed Pasadena Playhouse and at the Civic Theater in Denver, is directing rehearsals for the production.

Tickets for the three performances of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead are available to both students and the general public. Priced at $2 for adults, $1 for students, and 50 cents for children under 12 years, they may be purchased at the Speech Department office, English-206. Season tickets, including admission to one performance of each of the three productions scheduled during the year, are $4.25 each. They may also be purchased at the Speech Department Office.

PAGEANTRY AND EXCITEMENT HIGHLIGHT DISNEYLAND'S HOLIDAY SEASON

The period from Dec. 19 to Jan. 3 is one of the best and most beautiful times of all for Cal Poly employees to take advantage of their membership in Disneyland's Magic Kingdom Club. In addition to the park's 53 major attractions, members can also enjoy the special pageantry, excitement, and tradition of the holiday season at Disneyland in Anaheim.

At 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday nights (Dec. 19-20), Disneyland presents its annual Candlelight Procession, featuring massed choirs, over 1,000-members strong, in an inspirational performance of the Christmas story.

Following the Candlelight Procession is the premiere of Fantasy on Parade, the highlight of Disneyland's holiday season. With more than 600 participants, Fantasy on Parade brings to life such famous Disney characters as Sleeping Beauty, Donald Duck, Mickey, Goofy, Pluto, and Mr. Toad in a happy, colorful parade at 2:00 and 9:00 p.m. daily.

CHINCHILLA SHOW SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Cal Poly faculty, staff, and students, as well as residents of the San Luis Obispo area, will have an opportunity to view 400 chinchillas of various types in a show to be held in Agricultural Engineering Shops 6 and 7 on Saturday and Sunday (Nov. 14-15). The Cal Poly Chapter of the California Young Farmers will host the show conducted by the Empress Chinchilla Breeders of California.

Judging of the entries by more than 100 exhibitors from most of the Western United States will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday and continue beginning at 10 a.m. on Sunday. Six different classes of competition will be offered in the show. Admission will be free.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Nov. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
--

VARSITY GRIDDEERS WILL JOURNEY TO MEET CAL STATE FULLERTON TITANS

All the marbles will be on the line Thursday (Nov. 12) when Coach Joe Harper's varsity footballers journey to Anaheim for an encounter with the Titans of California State College at Fullerton. One of the teams will be alone atop California Collegiate Athletic Association standings when the game, billed for an 8 p.m. start in Anaheim Stadium, is over. Both are undefeated in CCAA play this fall.

The Mustangs used an open date last weekend to let some of the bruises of a rugged campaign heal and begin preparation for the CSCF contest. They presently own a 5-2 won-lost mark overall this fall and are 1-0 in CCAA action. Cal State Fullerton, in the midst of its first season of intercollegiate football, has a 6-1-1 won-lost-tied mark for the season and is 2-0 in league play.

The only athletic competition on campus this week finds the Mustang varsity water polo team closing its dual match season for 1970 with a pair of home encounters. Both slated for the swimming pool adjacent to the Men's Physical Education Building, they find the charges of coach Dick Anderson hosting University of California at Riverside on Friday (Nov. 13) and Monterey Peninsula College on Saturday (Nov. 14). Game time on Friday will be 3 p.m. Saturday's contest will begin at 10 a.m.

HAVENS CONCERT SLATED THURSDAY EVENING

Tickets are now available for the Thursday night (Nov. 12) performance of Richie Havens, the 29-year-old blues singer who gained coast-to-coast recognition with an outstanding performance in Woodstock. Havens will appear in the Men's Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The Assemblies Committee of Cal Poly's Associated Students, Inc., sponsoring organization of the concert, has set ticket prices for general admission at $2.50 for ASI card holders, $3.50 for all others. Tickets for Thursday evening's concert at Cal Poly may be purchased in advance at the Temporary College Union on campus.

Richie Havens' unique and exciting singing style has prompted the recording of four phonograph albums: Mixed Bag, Something Else Again, Stonehenge, and 1983. Personal appearances made by Havens have included, in addition to the festival at Woodstock, N.Y., the "Tonight Show" on television and Carnegie Hall. Most recently, Havens was judged winner of the International Song Festival of South America.

CAMPUS CHAPTER INVITES INFORMATION ON BLUE KEY MEMBERS AMONG FACULTY

The Cal Poly chapter of Blue Key national honor fraternity is interested in compiling a list of faculty members who are members. It would be appreciated if members would send their names, campus address, name of their college chapter, and year of initiation to Dan Segna, President, Blue Key Box, Temporary College Union, or George Beatie (Associate Dean, Special Programs), Blue Key Advisor, Adm-317. A copy of the compiled list will be sent to all who respond, together with a current membership list of the Cal Poly chapter.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Nov. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE ? ? ?

Mrs. Mary Eyler (Placement and Financial Aids Office), Ferd Herriman (Grounds Department), Rubin Rutschke (Custodial Department), Mrs. Mary Shaw (Placement and Financial Aids Office), Mrs. Joyce Thompson (Library), and Art Young (Power Plant) all participated in a two-day workshop on "Approaches to Current Problems in Supervision," which took place in Oxnard recently. Some 50 representatives of colleges, universities, government, and private industry attended the University of California at Santa Barbara-sponsored program.

Richard C. Carlston (Welding and Metallurgical Engineering Department) has received an academic year extension grant from the National Science Foundation. The grant will make it possible for Dr. Carlston to continue research on marine corrosion which he started at the University of Miami Institute for Marine Science last summer.

Barton C. Olsen (History Department) has just been notified that he has been appointed to a two-year term on the National Sites Committee of the Organization of American Historians. The OAH is a major national organization and its National Sites Committee serves as an important instrument in studying and preserving historical sites in America. Dr. Olsen's appointment was announced by OAH President David Potter.

Francis Hendricks (School of Architecture and Environmental Design) is author of a paper published in the August, 1970, issue of Ekistics, an international journal for architects and town planners. The article, titled "Concepts of Environmental Quality Standards Based on Life Styles," was a joint effort of Hendricks and Malcolm McNair of University of North Carolina.

J. Mac McRobbie (Head of Industrial Technology Department) took part in the third annual convention of the National Association of Industrial Technology at Kansas State College, Pittsburgh, Kans., Oct. 22-24. Some 400 industrial technology program educators and students from throughout the U. S. attended the event. Dr. McRobbie was vice president of NAIT during 1969-70.

Robin Lake and J. Murray Smith (both Speech Department) participated in the Fall Conference of the American Educational Theatre Association's Southern California Division at Claremont College, Oct. 23-25. Movement and discipline techniques for the actor and a street people drama, in which the audience took part, were presented during the gathering.

Robert E. Burton (History Department) presented a paper titled "Perspectives of Twentieth Century Oregon Politics" at the 10th Annual Meeting of the Western History Association in Reno, Nev., last month. Dr. Burton's paper centered on an historical analysis of political patterns which have been characteristic of Oregon politics from the turn of the century to the present.

Geoffrey Stanford (School of Architecture and Environmental Design) was the guest speaker at a dinner given in his honor by members of the Petroleum Club of Midland, Tex., recently. Dr. Stanford spoke on the "Total Wastes Management" system, which he has developed, and its particular value in the semi-arid regions of Texas.

Max E. Riedlsperger (History Department) attended the 63rd Annual Meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association in Portland, Ore., recently. Dr. Riedlsperger presented a paper titled "The Independent Party Movement as a 'Third Force' in Austrian Politics Since World War II" during the gathering. An expanded version of the paper is scheduled for publication next year in East European Quarterly.

WORKSHOP FOR TYPOGRAPHERS WILL BE SATURDAY

A photomechanical workshop for typographic supervisors and technicians from the western United States will be hosted by the Cal Poly Graphic Communications Department on Saturday (Nov. 14). The workshop is being presented by the Western Typographers Association and the International Typographic Composition Association. In addition, the Eastman Kodak Company will provide representatives, technicians, and materials for the one-day event.

Purpose of the workshop is to update knowledge and skills in new photomechanical products and techniques based on the increasing reliance on photographic methods in the typographic industry. In printing, photomechanics refers to the film and paper output of cameras, and photolettering and phototypesetting equipment.

Some 60 owners, supervisors, and technicians from firms throughout the Western United States are expected to attend the sessions in the Graphic Arts Building.

TELEVISION PROGRAM WILL FEATURE OAKLAND PERFORMANCE OF MUSTANG MARCHING BAND

Cal Poly's 124-member Mustang Marching Band will be featured in a 15-minute program scheduled during the 5 to 5:30 p.m. time slot on KSBY-TV, Channel 6, San Luis Obispo, tomorrow (Wednesday, Nov. 11), according to program information released by the television station. Included in the program, beside an interview with William V. Johnson (Music Department), director of the band, will be film of the entire halftime show presented by the Cal Poly band during the Oakland Raiders-Pittsburgh Steelers professional football game, played in the Oakland Coliseum on Oct. 25.

CHAMBER SINGERS REHEARSING FOR NOV. 22 CONCERT

Rehearsals for a concert scheduled for the afternoon of Nov. 22 at the United Methodist Church in San Luis Obispo are occupying the attentions of members of the College Chamber Singers, according to John Russell (Music Department) who is director of the ensemble. The program, which is planned for 4 p.m., will feature the mixed voices of the Chamber Singers in several madrigals and four works for choir. Admission will be free, and the public is invited to attend.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Nov. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
--

encouraging notes

November 10, 1970

One of the shortest and clearest statements about "tips on proposal writing" is published by the Office of Education. The one-page guide was written for a particular program, but the suggestions are generally applicable. Each School Dean has a copy for every faculty member, and we printed a few extra. If you don't get a copy in your mailbox within a week or so, you may pick up a copy in Administration 309.

Cal Poly has five winners in the National Science Foundation's Academic Year Extension Program. They are Richard Carlston, (Welding and Metallurgical Engineering), Jon Hoffman (Aeronautical Engineering), Martin Kellerman (Chemistry), Leonard Wall (Physics), and Wayne Williams, (Biological Sciences).

As part of a program of Research Participation for College Teachers, some participants are given small grants to continue their research at their home institutions during the following two summers.

Dr. Carlston was a participant at the Tropical Biological Laboratory, Miami, Florida; Mr. Hoffmann was at Stanford University; Dr. Kellerman was at Oregon State University; Dr. Wall was at Louisiana State University; Dr. Williams was at the University of Colorado.

Office of Education

The Bureau of Education for the Handicapped has several programs, and the deadline is November 25, 1970. We have a large booklet containing guidelines for:

Undergraduate Traineeships

Graduate Fellowships

Summer Traineeships

Special Study Institutes

Program Development Grants

Special Projects, including planning grants, either jointly with a state educational agency or on our own.

Details may be read in this office.

Smithsonian Institution has a competitive program for both pre- and post-doctoral research associates. The work must be done in collaboration with a member of the Institution. Predoctoral applicants must be pursuing an advanced degree, and postdoctoral applicants must have had their degrees no longer than five years. The deadline is January 15, 1971 for 1971-72 awards.

Graduate Studies and Research ● Administration 309 ● phone 2630
CALIFORNIA STATE POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE ● SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA 93401