FALL QUARTER ENROLLMENT CONTINUES RECORD TREND

Records continue to be established each quarter when students enroll for classes, according to figures released last week. The report, issued by L. H. Dunigan, director of institutional studies, revealed that the 8,314 students who signed up for fall quarter classes during the regular registration period last month was nearly 600 higher than the previous year when 7,735 had enrolled on a similar date.

This fall quarter is the ninth in succession during which new records for enrollment have been established at Cal Poly. The student body has grown from 4,182 to its present size in that time. Dunigan said that late registration, which ended last week, had boosted the college's enrollment to 8,406. He expects the normal attrition that follows start of classes to return the final figure for the quarter to something near the regular enrollment period total.

Also included in the report on the regular registration period were figures establishing the School of Applied Arts as the largest of Cal Poly's four instructional schools. Close behind that school, which has a total of 2,669 students, is the School of Engineering with 2,502. The Schools of Agriculture and Applied Sciences have enrollments of 1,709 and 1,434, respectively.

SUGUITAN NAMED SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO CHANCELLOR DUMKE

Appointment of Arthur F. Suguitan as special assistant to the chancellor, effective immediately, was announced early this month by Chancellor of the California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke. Suguitan, who joined the staff of the Chancellor's Office in 1966 as administrative service officer, succeeds Morgan O'Dell in the position. The post was vacated when Dr. O'Dell was appointed executive officer of the Association of Independent California Colleges and Universities. Prior to joining Dr. Dumke's staff, the new assistant to the chancellor was a higher education specialist with the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

S E R S REPRESENTATIVE SLATES CAMPUS VISITS

Louis C. Larson, State Employees Retirement System representative, has announced his plans to be on campus later this month and again in December for personal interviews with employees contemplating retirement soon. NEW NATURAL RESOURCES MANAGEMENT MAJOR ANNOUNCED

Cal Poly will offer for the first time next fall a major designed to prepare students for positions as managers or developers of natural resource areas for recreational uses. Those who complete the recently-authorized major will be equipped to assess the value of possible recreational areas, to plan the development of such areas for the maximum benefit to the public, and to serve as curators of the natural resources of historical interest.

The new major will be made possible by the addition of 14 specialized courses, in addition to drawing heavily on existing offerings in 22 other departments of the college for supporting instructional work. Students will receive a well-rounded background in the animal and plant sciences and supporting training in business and social sciences.

Students enrolling in the natural resources management major, first of its type to be offered by any of the California State Colleges, will have the choice of two areas of concentrated study. One will be designed to equip them for administrative roles in the natural resources management field, while the other is being planned to strengthen their usefulness in the evaluation, development, and preservation of woodlands, beaches, deserts, and wildlife preserves.

A I D-UNITED GIVERS DRIVE BEGINS

The Associated In-Group Donors drive for 1967 has officially opened on campus. Each member of the faculty and staff will soon receive a packet containing AID functional information as well as a pre-punched IBM card with instructions so that payroll deductions can be effected.

AID is the only campaign making provision for monthly payroll deductions which is authorized for state agencies by the state controller. The local campaign is now underway and brochures regarding the extent of AID's activities are included in the packet of information.

Leaders of the local AID drive have again emphasized the need for broad participation in the drive and have acknowledged the assistance received from the Cal Poly community in recent years.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY TO ATTEND TWO MEETINGS IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

President Robert E. Kennedy is in Washington, D.C., this week to attend the National Conference on State Technical Services sponsored by the US Department of Commerce, today (Tuesday, October 10) through Friday (October 13), and the 50th annual meeting of the American Council on Education, Thursday and Friday (October 12-13).

The State Technical Services Program was created by the State Technical Services Act of 1965 of which President Lyndon B. Johnson said, when signing the law, "This bill will do for American businessmen what the agricultural extension service has done for the American farmer. It will put into their hands the latest ideas and methods, the fruits of research and development." Institutions of higher education are especially interested in the State Technical Services Program because of its financial support of research and of workshops, conferences, etc., as a means of reporting on new technology.
