PRESIDENT KENNEDY WELCOMES FACULTY, STAFF; URGES STUDENT PARTICIPATION

In a welcoming message to new and returning faculty and staff members, Dr. Robert E. Kennedy, Cal Poly president, described the college as unequaled in its dedicated interest in young people.

"You can't find a better faculty and staff in terms of cooperativeness, willingness to work, genuine respect for one another, and friendly interest in colleagues and students," Dr. Kennedy told Cal Poly personnel attending the general conference meeting held Monday morning in the Little Theater. His address, entitled "Three R's: Revolution, Reaction and Relevancy," contrasted the Cal Poly student-faculty-staff interaction with disruption prevalent on campuses throughout the United States and in foreign countries. He described a 300,000-student demonstration he and Mrs. Kennedy observed in Mexico City August 27.

Tracing the history of student revolution from the Middle Ages to the present, Dr. Kennedy discussed three styles of reaction to student discontent. "It can be ignored, it can be suppressed, or it can be reconciled." He suggested that a college must acknowledge as a fact of life that some rules of conduct are necessary for all members of the academic community, including students, faculty and administrators, and the application of these rules should be determined in the light of the objectives of the particular college, by appropriate consultation.

Giving examples of educational developments which are parallel to Cal Poly traditions, President Kennedy urged the faculty to continue to insure relevant instruction which meets student needs, balancing current job requirements with the general education of the whole person. Genuine interest in students creates an environment in which problems are capable of solution, he indicated, warning against "transparent tactical devices" which will fail.

"Student involvement in the decision-making processes will be effective only if we are sincerely interested in the effective assistance students can give in working on problems where they have some special interest and vital input," he said.

"My personal evaluation from watching a number of student representatives who served last year on councils and committees of which I am a member is that in every instance their contribution was significant. They participated in discussions with faculty members, department heads, deans and vice presidents without reticence but with dignity, dedication, skill, and integrity. I believe that the students who served in these capacities last year will vouch for the fact that they had freedom to express their opinions and those opinions were considered equally with those expressed by other members of each body. I honestly believe that their advice in many instances helped the administration to make decisions which maintained student morale at a high peak last year, with a minimum of conflict and just enough tension to keep us working together to build a stronger institution."

FALL QUARTER AND ANNUAL PARKING PERMITS ON SALE

The new annual parking permits as well as Fall Quarter permits are on sale at the cashiers' window on the first floor of the Administration Building. Enforcement of Fall Quarter parking regulations will be effective Monday, September 23.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE - THAILAND AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

J. Cordner Gibson, dean of agriculture, and Howard West, acting director of international education, have announced that they are in the process of recruiting potential candidates for replacement personnel for the Cal Poly AID sponsored project in agricultural education in Thailand. The college presently has a five-man team in Thailand headed by Warren Smith, former dean of agriculture, as the chief-of-party. Mr. Smith will continue in his capacity as chief-of-party, but the other four team members will be ending their two-year tours of duty and returning to the United States in June of 1969 and, thus, replacements for them are being sought.

In the four-man replacement team, individuals will be required in the overall areas of crops, animal husbandry, farm management, and agricultural mechanics. While individuals will need to have a background in these areas, they should also have a solid foundation in the overall area of agricultural education.

Individuals interested in being considered for these positions should make a formal application by letter through the dean of agriculture. Gibson and West also indicated that Mr. Smith will be making a consultation trip to the campus in October, at which time he will be meeting with individuals who have expressed an interest in the positions. In addition, in November the director general of vocational education in Thailand, the director of the World Bank Loan project under which the Thailand project is operated, along with a member of the AID staff in Thailand, will be visiting the campus to meet further with those who are interested and who are being considered for the positions and to provide additional orientation on the project.

PARKING LOT CONSTRUCTION DELAYED

Work was begun September 10 on the new 760-space parking lot to be constructed in the general area of the old Vetville. Initial planning for construction of the parking lot called for a start June 17. Delays attributable to the architects and to State of California and California State Colleges regulations and procedures have added up to a total of some three months delay.

Madonna Construction Company, which submitted a bid of $174,637, has been awarded the contract.

The parking lot was funded from parking revenue bonds. In November of 1967 Cal Poly officials made out a timetable which called for the work to start June 17, 1968. This plan had to be postponed due to the delay in the architects' offices. When the bids were finally opened July 11, plans called for construction to start July 29. But this also was delayed by the length of time required to receive state college and state approvals.

The best estimate now is that the new parking lot will not be available before the beginning of the Winter Quarter in January.

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT SEEKS ACCREDITATION

Application for accreditation of the Chemistry Department at Cal Poly by the American Chemical Society has been initiated. Detailed information data sheets, copies of all course examinations given last year, senior projects, and publications of the department were submitted during the summer. Dr. Bruce Kennelly, head of the Chemistry Department, presented information at a review in Washington, DC, on September 5, and met in conference to answer questions with the Committee on Professional Training of the American Chemical Society on September 7, 1968, in Atlantic City just prior to the national meeting of the organization.

Detailed consideration is made of the academic preparation of the staff, the quality of the instructional program, accomplishments of graduates in graduate school, industry and government positions. The laboratories, equipment, and instruments must be modern and suitable for the very best instruction. The committee will make a formal recommendation after consideration of all materials presented.

HARADA APPOINTED TO CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGES STAFF

Michael F. M. Harada has been appointed associate for teacher education in the Division of Academic Planning, Office of the Chancellor, the California State Colleges. He will be involved in matters related to teacher education, continuing education, educational television, innovation and experimentation, advanced placement, and compensatory education under the direction of Dr. C. R. Webb, Jr., associate dean of academic planning.

Mr. Harada received his AB degree in English from Stanford University and his MA in Education from Occidental College. He has taught in teacher education programs at the University of California, Los Angeles, and at Occidental College. He has been actively involved with the Commission on English of the College Entrance Examination Board and with the Advanced Placement Program of the State of California. He has been curriculum coordinator and chairman of the Department of English at Eagle Rock High School for a number of years and has also served as college scholarship advisor.

R O T C ADDS FLIGHT TRAINING COURSE

A new course, the Flight Instruction Program, is being offered by the Military Science Department. This program provides an opportunity for Cal Poly students to learn to fly while participating in Army ROTC training. In this program the Army will pay for flight training for selected ROTC students who have an aptitude for flying and who meet required qualifications. A contract has been negotiated with a local aircraft company, which will conduct the training at San Luis Obispo County Airport. The new course of instruction is not listed in the 1968-69 catalog.

HORN NAMED LEAD GROUNDSMAN

Melvin Horn, 374 Santa Lucia Dr., was recently appointed lead groundsman in the Grounds Department effective August 30. He has been on the staff of the Grounds Department since 1964.

STAFF MEMBERS MAY ENROLL FOR CLASSES AT REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

Staff members are reminded that if they wish to enroll for classes during the Fall Quarter the Registrar's Office will assist with their registration. Staff members who will be enrolling should complete their registration books and leave them at the Registrar's Office (Adm. 219) before 11:00 a.m. September 18.

Students or staff who were not enrolled during the Spring or Summer Quarters must clear through the Admissions Office before they can enroll for Fall Quarter.

SCHOOL NIGHT FOR SCOUTING SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

San Luis Obispo County schools will observe the annual "School Night for Scouting" tonight, Tuesday, September 17. On this date, which coincidentally is Citizenship Day, every elementary and secondary school in the entire county will have both scouts themselves and adult representatives present to answer parents' questions about the Boy Scouts of America. All the school nights will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will not quit until everybody's questions are answered.

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES FELLOWSHIPS AND SUMMER STIPENDS

The deadline for application for fellowships and summer stipends from the National Endowment for the Humanities is October 14, 1968. Support is available for a number of disciplines including, but not limited to, language; linguistics; literature; history; jurisprudence; philosophy; archeology; the study of the history, criticism, theory, and practice of the arts; and those aspects of the social sciences which have humanistic content and employ humanistic methods.

The awards provide promising young humanists time free for uninterrupted study so that they can develop their capacities to contribute significantly to humanistic knowledge. Applications are particularly encouraged for the support of studies which will contribute directly to a better understanding of matters of vital national concern, such as urban or minority problems. However, the endowment will continue to welcome and support proposals for more traditional studies. Application materials and additional information are available from the dean of the School of Applied Arts or from the director of research and development.

CLERICAL ASSISTANT (TYPING) II, RANGE A VACANCY

This position is located in the Admissions and Records Office of the Student Affairs Division. The primary duties of the position are to perform the following typical tasks under the direction of the Evaluation Technician I and the Clerical Assistant III:

1. Evaluates transcripts presented by transfer students
2. Prepares and types evaluations for current students changing majors
3. Prepares and types graduation checks for degree candidates

The individual filling the position must also have the ability to meet the public and to maintain effective interpersonal relations with students, faculty, and staff members. Applicants must have at least one year general office experience and be able to type at the corrected rate of at least 45 words per minute. The monthly salary range for the position is $415-$505.

P E R S MEMBER ANNUAL STATEMENTS

The Personnel Office has been notified that the issuance of the Member's Annual Statements of Contributions to PERS has been delayed. They will not be available until later in September. As soon as they are received the Personnel Office will make every effort to distribute them immediately.

DR. HENDEL PUBLISHES ARTICLE ON SPACECRAFT

Dr. Frank J. Hendel, Aeronautical Engineering, is the author of an article in the August issue of Astronautics and Aeronautics concerned with fire prevention in manned spacecraft. The article outlines changes in existing procedures which, in the author's opinion, would greatly reduce the likelihood of fire in the cabin of the spacecraft.

The Cal Poly Staff Bulletin is produced by the Office of Information Services, Administration 210. Material should be submitted in writing prior to noon on Friday.

INSTRUCTORS' COOPERATION ASKED BY A-V DEPARTMENT

Cooperation of all instructors is asked by the Audio-Visual Department to help speed up service.

In the past it has been necessary for the Audio-Visual Department to move equipment or materials only at the class break. Limitations of equipment and student assistants have now made it necessary to adopt a new method which will speed set-up service. Instructors are requested to move equipment and materials to the hall outside their classroom immediately after use. Placing this equipment outside the classroom will make it possible for our student assistants to pick up, move, and set-up (where possible) the equipment during the hour. Without the wait for the 10 minute class break, more equipment can be moved each hour.

Your cooperation will help us serve you better, say the Audio-Visual staff.

NEW STAFF AND FACULTY AND THEIR FAMILIES INVITED TO PLAY IN COLLEGE SYMPHONY
