TRUSTEES APPROVE 10 PERCENT PAY INCREASE FOR ACADEMIC STAFF OF STATE COLLEGES

A salary boost of 10 percent for California State College personnel in academic and closely-related positions was granted by the colleges' Board of Trustees during its meeting held Sept. 2, in San Francisco. The increase, which totaled $7.4 million, had been authorized by the last session of the California Legislature and is retroactive to July 1, 1965. It affects some 7,000 members of the CSC's faculties.

In taking the action, the board noted that it had announced its intent to do so as early as July 22, but that cost estimates and certification of the availability of funds from the Department of Finance had required extra time. The board also asked Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke to continue to gather data to demonstrate further the salary needs of the state colleges. For academic administrators the trustees asked a five percent raise, effective January 1, to compensate for their failure to receive an equitable adjustment on July 1, 1965. [See article on page 3 for further information on salary increase.]

In other action the board: 1] approved master curricular plans for Sonoma State College and Cal State Los Angeles; 2] approved appointment of Dr. F. Blair Mayne as acting-president at Sacramento State College to replace retiring President Guy A. West; 3] delegated authority to the chancellor to fix student body membership fees and establish rental rates for on-campus student housing; 4] appointed members to the advisory boards of Cal State Fullerton, Cal State San Bernardino, and Fresno, Sacramento, San Deigo, San Fernando Valley, Sonoma and Stanislaus State Colleges; 5] allocated $42,000 for working drawings for a women's gymnasium at Cal Poly's San Luis Obispo Campus; 6] adopted a campus master plan for Humboldt State College and revised the campus master plan of Cal State Long Beach to provide for a nursing building.

The trustees also approved schematic plans for: a $7.4 million library and classroom building at San Diego State; a $2.8 million college union building, a $2.4 million student housing complex, and a $1.5 million engineering-mathematics classroom building at the San Luis Obispo Campus of Cal Poly; a $1.7 million student housing facility and cafeteria at Humboldt State; a $1.3 million college union for Fresno State; and $427,000 in site development at Sacramento State. The student unions are to be financed at no cost to the state.

SABBATICAL LEAVE APPLICATIONS DUE OCTOBER 1

Applications for sabbatical leaves during the 1966-67 academic year are due in the offices of the respective instructional division deans October 1, according to provisions of the Employee's Handbook. Those interested in further information are invited to check Section 401.44 [4b] for detailed discussion of regulations relating to sabbatical leaves and filing of leave applications.

PERMITS FOR FALL QUARTER PARKING ON SALE; REMOVAL OF OLD PERMITS STILL REQUIRED

Parking permits for the Fall Quarter, which begins next Monday [September 20] are presently being sold at the Cashier's Window located on the first floor of the Administration Building. Price for the permit, which allows members of the college faculty and staff to park in properly-marked "staff" parking spaces, marked with blue paint anywhere on campus, is $9.

Enforcement of college parking regulations begins with start of classes for the quarter and will continue through end of final examinations.

Need for having permits from previous quarters removed from vehicles continues. Both college parking regulations and the California Motor Vehicle Code bear on this matter. Campus regulations call for removal of all permits not currently in effect, while the MVC requires that all decals of this nature be confined to the seven-inch-square area in the lower right-hand corner of the windshield surface.

ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES REASSIGNED

In order to strengthen the effectiveness and administration of each of the local campuses of Cal Poly, President Julian A. McPhee announced on August 16, that effective September 1, various duties, responsibilities and personnel would be reassigned. Included in his announcement was an extensive delegation of authority for the operation of each of the campuses to the local campus chief executive officer, presently known as the dean of the college.

In a memo sent to all of those affected by the reassignments, President McPhee said that the changes were based upon the following principles:

1. To reduce the number of levels in the line organization between the president and the local campus operations.
2. To establish a direct-line relationship between the president and the local campus executive officer.
3. To increase the delegation of authority to the local campus executive officer and thereby reduce the operation workload of the college-wide administration.
4. To reduce, accordingly, the staff of the college-wide administration, and strengthen the staff at the local campuses.
5. To reduce to a minimum any duplication of effort, and delays in the decision-making process.

Included in the reassignment of duties and responsibilities was establishment of positions equivalent to that of a dean of academic planning at each of the campuses, to assist the campus executive officer with administration of the instructional program of the college. Also assigned to the campus executive officer, on a staff basis, were the positions of administrative assistant, director of staff services, personnel and business specialist, public relations coordinator, class scheduler and coordinator of special services, and the building coordinator.

The college-wide administration of the college will consist of the administrative vice president, Robert E. Kennedy, serving on a staff basis in assisting the president on college-wide and state-wide matters, three college-wide staff specialists in the areas of institutional research, catalog policy and preparation, college-wide budget requests, curriculum, accreditation, publications, etc. [continued on next page]

NEWS FROM THE KELLOGG AND VOORHIS CAMPUSES

Some 500 members of the Kellogg Campus' staff and faculty are in the midst of their annual Fall Staff Conference. Highlights of the traditional orientation event included an introduction of new faculty during yesterday's [Monday's] program; a keynote address by President Julian A. McPhee and presentation of the Outstanding Teacher Award, both today [Tuesday]; the President's Banquet, Wednesday; and the Fall Tea, sponsored by the Women's Club, Thursday.

New freshmen and transfer students will get a jump on returning students at the Kellogg Campus with an orientation program of their own, including a general introduction to the campus, physically and academically, Thursday and Friday.

Classes at the Kellogg Campus begin Monday [September 20] for an estimated 4,900 students -- an increase of some 400 over the number that registered for the Fall Quarter last year.

CHECKS FOR RETROACTIVE PAY INCREASES DUE ABOUT OCTOBER 1

Checks in payment of 10 percent retroactive pay increase for members of the faculty announced earlier this month should be available on campus about October 1, according to Personnel Officer Milton Piuma, whose office must handle necessary paperwork connected with the payment. Piuma said yesterday that he hoped that paperwork would be completed by today [Tuesday, Sept. 14] and that individual checks should be available in about two weeks.

Also on the college-wide administrative staff will be the director of the Voorhis Educational Center, the director of extension services, the foundation manager, assistant to the president, and the director of developmental affairs. The latter position is a newly-established one and will be filled by Col. William B. Boyce, who is retiring from his position in the US Army and as professor of military science here on the San Luis Obispo Campus, effective November 1.

On the San Luis Obispo Campus, personnel assigned are: dean of the college, Dr. Dale W. Andrews; dean of academic planning, presently unfilled; administrative assistant, Chester Young; director of staff services, Executive Dean Harold O. Wilson; personnel and business management specialist, James Landreth; public relations coordinator, Donald McCaleb; building coordinator, Douglas Gerard; and class scheduler and special services coordinator, George Beatie.

Personnel assigned to positions at the Kellogg Campus are: dean of the college, C. O. McCorkle; dean of academic planning presently unfilled; administrative assistant, Stan Smith; director of staff services, Executive Dean Hugh O. LaBounty; personnel and business management specialist, presently unfilled; public relations coordinator, Tom Burdick; building coordinator, Harry Welch; and class scheduler and special services coordinator, William McIntosh.

Those assigned to the college-wide administrative staff are: administrative vice president, Kennedy; staff specialists, David W. Cook, Lowell Dunigan, and Douglass Miller; director of extension services, Les Vanoncini; director of developmental affairs, Boyce; foundation manager, Gene Brendlin; director of Voorhis Educational Center, Ken Kitch; and assistant to the president, Howard West.

CAMPUS POST OFFICE ISSUES REMINDER ON MAIL ADDRESSED TO "VETVILLE"

Mail addressed to persons living in "Vetville" (or Poly Ninos, as the area is often known) must be addressed also to "San Luis Obispo, Calif.," according to a reminder issued by the Campus Post Office last week. Margaret Hoyt of the campus postal staff told Staff Bulletin recently that mail intended for persons living in the family units, located near the baseball diamond on campus, properly addressed, should read: "Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doaks, Vetville No. xxx, San Luis Obispo, Calif., 93401."

Since the Vetville area receives its mail directly from the San Luis Obispo Post Office, letters, etc., addressed in care of Cal Poly must be re-addressed and returned to the San Luis Obispo office for delivery.

Mrs. Hoyt also pointed out that the "Vetville" designation on such mail must also be spelled out. The "VV" abbreviation often used is not recognized by postal workers.

AIR MAIL STATIONERY FOR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE NOW AVAILABLE

Governmental air mail stationery for foreign correspondence is now available in the General Office and may be used by members of the college staff and faculty for official correspondence, according to Kathryn Rowland, General Office Supervisor. In order to save on overseas postal charges, the Business Management Division has asked that those using the special stationery use it without enclosures, particularly to African and Asian countries where the basic air mail rate is $.25 per half ounce. The governmental air mail stationery costs $.11 per unit.

ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS FOR FOOTBALL SEASON BEGINS

Start of advance sale of tickets for Cal Poly's 1965 varsity football season has been announced by Robert Spink, graduate manager for the Associated Students, Inc. Several different types of tickets, including reserved-seat season, single-game reserved-seat, general admission, and ASI associate membership cards, are available for members of the college staff and faculty.

The associate membership, priced at $7.50 each, entitles holders to many of the admission opportunities available to regular members of the student body. It entitles each associate member to purchase one ticket at the student rate to any ASI-sponsored event throughout the year. There is no limit to the number of such memberships an individual member of the faculty or staff can purchase.

Again this fall reserved seat season tickets for all five home varsity football games, regularly sold at $15 each, are being sold to faculty and staff at a special $5 rate with purchase of the ASI associate membership. Such a ticket provides the holder with a particular reserved seat in Section J (steel bleachers) of Mustang Stadium. An added feature of this offer, according to Spink, is that it includes five seats with each purchase, regardless of whether they be one each for each of the five home games, or five seats for one particular home contest.

Purchased singly, reserved seats for individual home games will be priced at $3 and $3.50 (depending upon the particular game in question). General admission prices this season will be $2 each for adults and $1 for students and children.

Those interested in obtaining further information regarding purchase of tickets for football games may do so by calling the ASI Office, 546-2411.

"C S C REVIEW" FOR JULY, NEWS CLIPPING DISTRIBUTED

Copies of the July issue of The California State Colleges Review and a news clipping discussing fiscal progress for higher education have been included as attachments to this edition of Staff Bulletin for information of members of the college faculty and staff.

Those who are familiar with the Review will recognize the expanded format and new type now being used. A monthly publication issued by the office of CSC Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, the Review is designed to help keep members of faculties of the various California State Colleges informed of events and accomplishments of their colleagues at other campuses in the system.

The news clipping, from the July 2, 1965, edition of the Los Angeles Times, discusses in detail some of the improvements in fiscal position of the CSC's as reflected in the Budget Act approved by the California Legislature in June.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE? ? ?

John R. Jones, Business Administration, has been appointed faculty athletic representative by Cal Poly President Julian A. McPhee. He replaced Dr. M. Eugene Smith, who asked to be relieved so he could give full attention to his new duties as head of the Social Sciences Department. Jones, a member of the college faculty since 1961, will represent the college in its relations with the National College Athletic Association and the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

Dr. Fuad Tellew, Business Administration, is the new San Luis Obispo Campus liaison representative for the California State Colleges' International (study) programs. Appointed to that position by Dean of the College Dr. Dale W. Andrews, he replaces Jerry Lansdowne, who is no longer a member of the college faculty. A member of the instructional staff since 1960, Dr. Tellew was one of some 16 California State College's representatives who visited Pakistan this past summer in connection with the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's International Studies Project.

Charles Elston, Mathematics, has been reappointed college liaison representative to the Mustang Boosters Club by President McPhee. Elston first assumed those responsibilities while serving as Faculty Athletic Representative as a leave replacement two years ago and has served as liaison representative since. He has been a member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1947.

WOMEN'S CLUB SLATES COFFEE HOUR FOR PROSPECTIVE NEW MEMBERS

Prospective new members of the Cal Poly Women's Club will be entertained during a coffee being planned for Saturday (September 18) morning, between 10:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon, in Room 129 of the Library Building.

An announcement from the club indicates that all new women employees and the wives of all new members of the college faculty and staff are cordially invited. Chairmen of the organization's varied special interest sections will be present during the coffee to explain their groups' activities.

POSTMASTER ASKS ASSISTANCE WITH "ZIP CODE"

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski called for assistance of everyone involved in higher education in increasing use of the Post Office's Zip Code in a recent letter addressed to the college. Use of the code number as part of the address in all mail, including Christmas cards and bulk mailings, etc., is important to the efficient handling of the nation's volume of some 72 billion pieces of mail.

MUSTANG GRIDDEERS WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN AT SAN FRANCISCO STATE

Head mentor Sheldon Harden's Mustang grid varsity has high hopes for opening its 1965 season with a victory Saturday afternoon when it encounters San Francisco State College's Golden 'Gators in the Bay City. Reports from the practice field, where the team has been experiencing three-a-day drill sessions since September 1, indicate that some 55-60 men are still in the roster after two weeks of practice and morale is at a high level.

First of five home appearances for the Cal Poly eleven this fall will be September 25 when they host a rugged Linfield College team in an 8:00 p.m. contest. Other home games for the varsity this fall include Fresno State College, Oct. 16; California Western University, Oct. 23; California State College at Long Beach, Oct. 30; and the Homecoming game with U.C. Santa Barbara, Nov. 16.

NINTH ANNUAL ARTS AND CRAFTS SHOW SLATED AT MEN'S COLONY

Members of the Cal Poly instructional, service, and administrative staff have been invited to attend the California Men's Colony's ninth annual Arts and Crafts Show. Scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday (September 17-19) in Buildings T-401 and T-404 on the CMC's West Facility grounds, the traditional show will include paintings and other art and handcraft work from both the East and West Facilities. Open hours for the show will be 12:00 noon to 8:00 p.m. each day.

Educators Hail Budget as Victory

Colleges, University
Granted Increased
Funds Next Year

BY WILLIAM TROMBLEY
Times Education Writer

With the guns finally silenced in the long Sacramento budget battle, leaders of California's higher education saw signs of victory.

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke Thursday issued this statement:

"The California State Colleges made a major breakthrough this year in gaining legislative understanding of the level of support necessary to operate a gigantic system of colleges."

Dumke pointed not only to the 10% pay raise for faculty but to legislative allocations for research support, moving expense money for new faculty and administrators, more money for out-of-state travel to recruit new faculty, increased sabbatical leave pay and improved libraries.

Kerr Comments

University of California President Clark Kerr said he "appreciates the extraordinary effort by the governor and the Legislature to provide the university with a budget which meets many of its pressing needs. Actions taken on faculty salaries and libraries are particularly essential to forward progress of the university and, consequently, are greatly welcomed."

UC faculty members received a 7% pay increase. Distribution of the pay increases among various professorial ranks will be determined by the UC Board of Regents and the State College Board of Trustees.

Although these decisions may not be reached for some weeks, the pay raises will be retroactive to July 1.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 2, 1965

Precautionary Word

Dr. Arthur G. Coons, newly elected president of the Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education, had a precautionary word.

"I'm pleased that the budget has gone through in this magnitude," said Dr. Coons, "but I wonder if this is simply a stop-gap measure? Since there are no sources of significant new revenues, will we have to go through the whole thing again next year?"

On first analysis it appears the state colleges fared better than the university in this year's budget discussions.

On pay raises both systems did about equally well—the UC Board of Regents asked for a 10.9% increase and got 7%, while the State College Board of Trustees asked 15.8% and got 10%.

In library funds, however, the state colleges' original request was increased to $1 million, while the UC appropriation was cut from $1.5 million to $800,000.

Budget Gains Listed

Most of these library funds will go to state colleges which have the lowest book-per-student ratios—Cal State (Long Beach), Cal State (L.A.), San Fernando Valley State College, San Jose State College and Cal Poly, Pomona. System-wide, the new funds will bring the book-per-student ratio from 25 to 27.7.

The state colleges also made these budget gains:

1—$200,000 for faculty research. This is the first time the state colleges have been granted such funds, which will be used to replace faculty members who take leaves to do research. The professor must agree to return for at least three full terms of teaching after his research work has been completed.

2—$100,000 was appropriated to pay up to half of the moving expenses for new faculty members and administrators. It is estimated that this money may assist as many as 400 new professors.

3 — Out-of-state travel funds were increased by $96,000. This will enable faculty and administrators to attend more professional meetings, many of which also prove useful as opportunities to recruit new professors.

4—$250,000 will go toward making possible more sabbatical leaves for state college professors. Many professors now eligible for sabbatical do not take the leaves because they must pay their own way. These new funds will enable an additional 84 faculty members to take paid sabbatical leaves next year.

5—$148,000 has been appropriated for student assistance, with $100,000 specifically intended to pay students who help professors with clerical tasks, thereby theoretically freeing the latter for more teaching and research.

6—$100,000 has been set aside to create "distinguished teaching awards" for state college professors and to aid in publication of research done by these professors.

All of these items, referred to in Sacramento as the "state college quality package," surprisingly emerged from the Senate Finance Committee, which in the past has ignored requests for these kinds of funds.

An official at State College System headquarters in Inglewood pointed out that many of the new items are important not only because of the money they make available this year but because they now become part of the on-going state college "work-load budget."

Presumably these new funds, in particular the 10% pay increase, will help the state colleges hold onto faculty they now have and aid in recruiting additional new professors for the fall.

Enrollment Curbs

If so, the enrollment limitations announced by Chancellor Dumke Wednesday may not have to be imposed. But it will be late summer before anyone is sure.

Meantime, Dumke urged the Legislature to treat the state colleges even more generously in the future.

"The state colleges educate two-thirds of all students in four-year public institutions, yet receive a comparatively low level of state support," he said Thursday.

"This imbalance must be corrected in the near future, or the colleges will not be able to continue to provide sound education to increasing numbers of students."

GOVERNOR APPOINTS NEW TRUSTEE

Governor Edmund G. Brown has appointed Chester R. Bartalini of San Francisco, president of the California State Council of Carpenters, to succeed Thomas L. Pitts of the AFL-CIO Labor Federation as a member of the CSC Board of Trustees. Mr. Pitts resigned because of the press of union business. Mr. Bartalini, who has been a member of the state's Correctional Industry Commission for two terms, accepted the trustee post Jul. 17. A biography of Trustee Bartalini will appear in a forthcoming issue of the CSC Review.

PRESIDENT DODD ACCEPTS NEW POST

President Paul A. Dodd of San Francisco SC has announced that he will resign his position Feb. 1 to head the West Coast office of the Institute of International Education, a private non-profit agency which administers most of the U.S. State Department's educational and cultural exchange programs.

Dodd has been SFSC's president since 1962. Before coming to the College he was a faculty member at UCLA where for 15 years he was dean of the college of letters and science. In 1959 he became acting vice-chancellor for academic affairs there. From 1960 to 1961 he was in Ankara, Turkey, as consultant to the president of the Middle East Technical University.

Dr. Paul A. Dodd

Among the programs now handled by the I.I.E. are Fulbright scholarships and Ford international fellowships. The organization administers programs of educational exchange between the U.S. and more than 100 other countries, involving some 6000 persons annually, and includes programs for foreign governments, private groups, foundations and corporations. It maintains five regional offices in this country and three overseas.

As West Coast director, Dr. Dodd will continue to reside in San Francisco. He will handle Institute affairs in Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon and Nevada as well as California.

Commenting on Dr. Dodd's announcement, Chancellor Dumke said, "He has served well the students, faculty and community at San Francisco. I regret very much that we are losing him, but pleased that in his new assignment he will still be serving education in California."

BRAKEBILL TO SUCCEED RICHARDSON

Harry E. Brakebill, 51, vice-president for business affairs at San Francisco SC, will become CSC vice-chancellor for business affairs on Sep. 1, succeeding John F. Richardson whose resignation is effective that date.

Brakebill has held fiscal management posts with the Colleges since his graduation from San Jose SC in 1937. He served as assistant comptroller of SJSC until 1948 when he became business manager of SFSC. In 1959 he was made executive dean at SFSC, and four years later was named vice-president. He is a member of the board of directors of the National Association of College and University Business Officers.

In accepting Richardson's resignation, Chancellor Dumke expressed gratitude on behalf of the Trustees for Vice-Chancellor Richardson's valuable fiscal services during the past four years which have marked the formation of the CSC into the largest system of public higher education in the nation.

Richardson was formerly director of administration for the Asia Foundation, director of the Oregon State Department of Finance and a consultant to the Ford Foundation.

FRESNO SC NAMES NEW UNIT HEADS

Implementing Fresno SC's revised academic structure, which is based on schools rather than divisions, President Fred-eric W. Dr. Walker, who had previously been academic vice-president at Marshall U. in Huntington, W. Va., assumes his new duties Aug. 1.

AD HOC POLICY REPORT IN

The report of the Ad Hoc Committee on development of Policies and Administrative Procedures, completed and printed but not yet considered by the Board of Trustees for action, is currently under study on all CSC campuses.

At the time the committee was formed in response to a request made to the Chancellor by the Statewide Academic Senate, the Trustees stipulated that action would be taken on any recommendations "only after they have been presented to the Academic Senate and the State College Presidents; and the counsel of these bodies, reported through the Chancellor, has been received."

Trustee Louis Heilbron, chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee, announced publication of the report Mar. 17 and concurrently directed copies to the Board, the Senate and the Presidents. Board action is expected to take place at an early meeting following the summer recess.

ELEVEN CAMPUSES PARTICIPATE IN LECTURE SERIES

The CSC's third annual statewide lecture series which features distinguished personalities in the arts and sciences began early in the academic year with a lecture-concert performance at Cal State Los Angeles on Oct. 2, 1964, followed by a similar event at Cal State Long Beach on Oct. 15.

Prof. Henri Temianka

Both presentations were conducted by Henri Temianka, professor of music and director of the symphony orchestra at CSLB. The series programs were presented by the California Chamber Symphony, an organization formed by Temianka five years ago. Composed of approximately 40 string, wind and percussion instruments, the chamber group has made some 200 public appearances throughout the U.S. and Canada. Soloists of the CSLB program were Netania Davrath, soprano, and Louise Di Tullio, flutist; the CSLA soloist was Christine Walevska, cellist. Music was furnished in part through the courtesy of the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry and Local 47 of the Musicians Union.

On Oct. 5, 6 and 7 at Fresno SC, Cal State Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley SC, the president of the Association of American Colleges, Dr. Theodore Distler, (who had been a Series Lecturer last year, too) addressed three campus meetings well attended by faculty and staff at these Colleges.

Dr. A. L. Rowse

Cal State Los Angeles again participated on Feb. 10 when Dr. A. L. Rowse, biographer of Winston Churchill's family, noted English historian and author of a Book-of-the-Month choice on the life of Shakespeare, gave a noontime campus lecture based on his book, "Christopher Marlowe: His Life and Work," which had been published the month before.

Dr. Rowse is a senior research associate at the Huntington Library, San Marino, where he spends winter semesters. During term time he is in residence at All Souls College, Oxford. A fellow of that college, and a fellow of the English Academy, he is internationally known as the author of numerous books about the Elizabethan period, and of essays and poems as well as biographical studies of Sir Richard Grenville, Sir Walter Raleigh, early and later Churchills, Marlowe and Shakespeare.

Dr. Lawrence Clark Powell

Books were also at the focal point of the seventh presentation in the series by Dr. Lawrence Clark Powell, dean of UCLA's school of library service, who spoke to an evening audience on the campus of San Fernando Valley SC, Apr. 22. His lecture dealt with Western books and writers and their relation to the dramatic past of the region, particularly the Los Angeles area.

Dr. Powell was the first recipient of the American Library Association's Clarence Day Award for the encouragement of a love for books and reading. He received his Ph.D. in 1932 from the University of Dijon in France, and holds an honorary Litt.D. from Occidental College as well as an honorary L.H.D. from the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

On Apr. 29 and 30 at Fresno SC, when the Statewide Academic Senate and the CSC Board of Trustees were both meeting on that campus, almost continuous conferences with faculty groups attending the sessions were conducted by Dr. William Fidler, general secretary of the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Fidler's formal address was delivered at a joint meeting of the Board of Trustees, Council of Presidents, Statewide Academic Senate and Chancellor's Staff which Dr. Fidler commended as "an event almost unprecedented in American higher education." He presented his professional views on policies and procedures for the governance of the CSC system, and assured his audience of "all possible assistance," present and future, from the AAUP.

Dr. Fidler received his A.B. from the University of Alabama in 1928, his A.M. from Harvard in 1930, and his Ph.D.

from the University of Chicago in 1947. During World War II, he served first as administrative assistant in the Army training programs at the University of Alabama, and later as a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy. He is a member of the Modern Language Association and other learned societies. His experience also includes 26 years of teaching college-level American literature and English composition courses.

Continuing the inclination to educational introspection, the next lecture in the series was given by Dr. Robert J. Wert, vice-provost of Stanford U., on May 10 at Sonoma SC. His topic: "The Restless Generation and Undergraduate Education." Later in the month he further discussed the subject in another lecture at Cal State Hayward.

A company of 12 singers, dancers and instrumentalists entered the statewide series on May 11 with a lecture-concert presented at San Diego SC to interpret ancient Aztec, Inca and Mayan music. The company was founded by its director,

Richard Peinado,
choreographer and dancer

Elizabeth Waldo, who is considered a world authority on the folk music of the Indo-American cultures. Miss Waldo collected the rare and authentic instruments played, and was the arranger-composer of the Pre-Colombian music in the presentation.

Her company of musicians and dancers, descendants of the people whose music they recreated, began their "Festival Folklorico—a musical adventure into the exotic musical heritage of the Western Hemisphere" with selections echoing first the rituals of prehistoric times, then early compositions from the Peruvian Andes to the pueblos of the U.S. Southwest. These led to a variety of Mexican mestizo tunes disclosing influences of European and African sources, and the program concluded with California mission music which celebrated solemn devotionals and gay fiestas. Choreographer Richard Peinado imbued the illustrative dances with the fire and spirit of his Aztec ancestors.

A dual augmentation for the artistic side of the series was also initiated in mid-May, although the resulting lectures were not scheduled to be given until late in the following month. Under the auspices of the Statewide Lecture Series, world-famous sculptors Kenjiro Azuma of Japan and Joop J. Beljon of The Netherlands were enabled to come to this country to take part in the first International Sculpture Symposium to be held in the U.S., Jun. 21 to Aug. 14, on the campus of Cal State Long Beach.

Eighteen such symposia, which permit artists to produce masterworks larger than those customarily exhibited in museums, have been held abroad since 1959; but this is the first one in the U.S. Eight outstanding sculptors from 4 foreign countries and the U.S. are participating in the event.

U.S. sculptor Gabriel Kohn poses with his completed 10-ft.-high work of laminated redwood, the first to be placed on the campus of Cal State Long Beach during its International Sculpture Symposium.

Each sculptor will create one monumental work, 25 to 30 feet high, on the campus. Graduate and advanced students of sculpture at the College, acting as assistants to the invited sculptors for three hours a day, have an opportunity to earn a total of eight semester units in their concurrent art courses. Three additional hours each day are scheduled for the students to work on their own sculpture projects. A critique is included each week, at which time students have their work evaluated by the visiting sculptors.

Dr. Carl R. Rogers

An all-college convocation held at Sacramento SC on May 20 heard Dr. Carl R. Rogers, resident fellow of the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute, discuss "Some Things I Have Learned About Interpersonal Communications." This lecture was further amplified by Dr. Rogers in a subsequent informal seminar he conducted for psychology students and faculty at the College. He is the recipient of the Distinguished Scientific Contribution Award of the American Psychological Association, conferred four years after the publication of his pioneering work on "Client-Centered Therapy." He is also the author of a more recent work, "On Becoming a Person."

Dr. Rogers earned his B.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin and his M.A. and Ph.D. at Columbia U. Lawrence College granted him an L.H.D. degree in 1956. He is a member of the American Academy of Psychotherapists, the American Orthopsychiatric Association, the American Association for Applied Psychology and is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

One of the most versatile scientists in America, Dr. Ashley Montagu, an internationally renowned anthropologist who is principally interested in bridging the gap between biological and social sciences, lectured at three campuses—Cal Poly's two, and Chico SC—before a total audience of some 1700 people, on May 24, 25 and 26. At Cal Poly, Pomona, his topic for the evening of May 24th was "On Being Human"; next evening at SLO, his subject was "Myths, Monkeys and Men"; and at Chico SC he discussed "The Natural Superiority of Women."

Author of more than 20 books on various aspects of genetics, paleontology, biology, sociology and ethnology, Dr. Montagu has been a U.S. citizen since 1940. He was educated at the University of London, England, and earned his doctorate in anthropology at Columbia U. in 1937. He has been chairman of the department of anthropology at Rutgers U., professor of anatomy at New York U., Distinguished Visiting Professor at the University of Delaware, Bode Lecturer at Ohio State U., Visiting Lecturer on Sociology at Harvard and Regents Professor at UC.

On May 26, too, Dr. Robert J. Wert of Stanford delivered his lecture on undergraduate education to faculty and students at Cal State Hayward. A Stanford graduate himself, and now dean of undergraduate education as well as vice-provost of the university, Dr. Wert was the first president of the state's Coordinating Council for Higher Education and is currently chairman of its educational policies committee. He played a prominent role in obtaining passage of the Donahoe Act.

Dr. Robert J. Wert

At the end of the academic year, the third annual Statewide Lecture Series was scheduled to continue through the summer as sponsor of several lecturers who will be panelists at the Institute of World Affairs in San Diego next month. Now in its 23rd year, the institute is under the direction of Minos D. Generales, professor of political science at San Diego SC. The institute is conducted as a part of the summer session program at the College and is dedicated to the presentation of current issues of international significance. A brochure listing the speakers and panels is available from the College. Like all events presented under the aegis of CSC's Statewide Lecture Series, meetings of the institute are open to the public without charge.

ENROLLMENT LIMIT RATIO SET

Curtailed fall enrollments were recently authorized by Chancellor Dumke to offset lagging faculty recruitment. Reports from the Colleges, he said, indicated that sufficient faculty will not be available to staff all of the classrooms.

Present admissions reductions for each College are being calculated on the assumption that many of the total new faculty positions needed can be filled by fall. The number of new students to be denied admission will, however, be proportionate to the actual percent of faculty not available. In June, this figure was 25 percent, but it may be adjusted up or down at a later date by the Colleges, with Chancellor Dumke's approval, depending upon success in hiring qualified faculty before the fall semester opens.

The Chancellor's action followed a policy adopted recently by CSC Trustees which stated that admissions would be curtailed if qualified faculty were not available in order to preserve the level of educational quality in the Colleges.

SACRAMENTO OFFICE ESTABLISHED

The governmental affairs office of the California State Colleges has been moved from Inglewood headquarters to Sacramento for closer liaison with the Legislature and other key state agencies. The Legislature had requested the move.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said he is transferring Les Cohen, director of governmental affairs, to the state capital because the complexity of SC's operations requires increased coordination with the Legislature and other state agencies.

Cohen will locate his office in the 11th-and-L Building near the Capitol.
