DRS. DUMKE AND KERR POINT OUT NEED FOR APPROVAL OF "PROPOSITION 2"

Chancellor of the California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke warned last week that the failure of Proposition 2, the higher education bond issue which appears on the ballot for today's (Tuesday, November 8) General Election, would cause the diversion of thousands of students to the state's already hard-pressed junior colleges. President Clark Kerr of University of California, which would share funds from the $230 million proposal, if voters approve, said that a large percentage of the UC allotment would be used to construct medical education facilities to meet California's shortage of medical doctors.

Drs. Dumke and Kerr made their statements during a joint press conference held in Los Angeles last Thursday (November 3) to emphasize the importance of Proposition 2. Chancellor Dumke said he feared the significance of the two-year college and university construction program was being lost in the tumult of the general election campaign. He said that the diversion of students to California's junior colleges would place a heavier burden on the local property taxpayer, the principal source of junior college funds.

Will Not Add to Property Tax Burden

Chancellor Dumke pointed out that Proposition 2 has virtually unanimous bi-partisan support, praised it as a sound financial proposal, and added that there is no suitable alternative. "Without these funds, we will have no choice but to turn away thousands of qualified students," said the chancellor. "Failure of Proposition 2 could set the state colleges classroom construction and site acquisition program back three years."

President Kerr stressed the fact that approval of Proposition 2 will "not add one penny to the already heavy property taxes." He said that the bonds would be repaid out of income, business, and sales taxes -- "all geared to the increasing prosperity of our state, rather than fall on homeowners, many of whom have relatively fixed incomes." Dr. Kerr said that repayment would cost an average of 49 cents per person per year over the 25-year life of the bonds.

Both Chancellor Dumke and President Kerr denied that the bond proposal is a "blank check" for the two higher education systems. Dr. Kerr said that each dollar of proposed expenditure already is allocated in a project-by-project construction list of higher education projects in the two systems over the next two years. Dr. Dumke pointed out that all expenditures will be controlled by the state legislature through budget appropriations.

RANCH COMPANY OFFICIAL SLATED AS CAMPUS SPEAKER, C A T A DINNER GUEST

Robert Long, vice president of the Irvine Ranch Company, will be guest speaker for the first Agriculture Council Speakers Program of 1966-67. His topic for the program, which is planned for 8:00 p.m., tomorrow (Wednesday, November 9) evening, in the Theater, will be "Land Use Planning," according to a spokesman for the sponsoring student Agriculture Council.

Long will also be guest of honor at a dinner meeting of the California Agriculture Teachers Association's Region-at-Large prior to tomorrow evening's public address. The CATA event will take place in the Staff Dining Room on campus, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The ranch company official is a director of Sunkist Growers, Inc.; the Council of California Growers; and several other agriculturally-related organizations and firms. He is also chairman of the Agriculture Section of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the University of California's Agricultural Advisory Council, and a member of the Agriculture Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce. A graduate of Wabash College (Ind.), he also attended the Graduate School of Business at University of Southern California.

Members of the campus faculty and staff, as well as the public, are invited to attend the speakers program, which will be presented free of charge. Those planning to attend the CATA dinner meeting may make reservations by contacting Duane Seaburg, secretary-treasurer of that organization's Region-at-Large and a member of the Agricultural Business Management Department's faculty.

FORM FOR USE IN GROUP TRAVEL AVAILABLE

Faculty responsible for student group travel, clubs, curricular field trips, etc., may obtain supplies of Form 79 - "Use of Private Vehicles for Official Travel" from the Student Activities Office, according to an announcement received from Dr. Dan Lawson, associate dean, activities, last week. The form, which identifies the driver, the car to be driven, and a list of passengers, in addition to identifying insurance coverage and verifying the driver's operator's license, is an adaptation of a form that has been utilized for some time by the Crops Department.

Dr. Lawson points out that increasing use of the form by faculty sponsors and other instructors indicates appreciation of the form as a convenient means of verifying reliable transportation. "It is recommended that all faculty make use of this form; it is a prudent act that would prove valuable in any litigation involving vehicular accident," he concluded.

Those desiring to obtain copies of the form are invited to contact or call the Student Activities Office, which is located in the Temporary College Union, (546)2476.

C S E A CHAPTER SCHEDULES DISCUSSION OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Pros and cons of industrial collective bargaining in public service will be discussed during luncheon meeting being planned for noon, tomorrow (Wednesday, November 9), in the Staff Dining Room. William Grimm, a program consultant for the California State Employees Association who recently conducted a study of that subject, will be guest speaker for the program, which will be sponsored by Chapter 97 of CSEA. Recent concern over unionization in public service should make the program a timely one and all members and non-members are urged to attend, according to Howard Rhoads, chapter vice president.

DEADLINE FOR COPY FOR NEXT WEEK'S STAFF BULLETIN MOVED UP

Deadline for receipt of copy intended for inclusion in next week's edition of Staff Bulletin in the Public Relations Office has been moved up to Thursday (November 10) at noon. Cause for the change, which will be in effect this week only, is the Veteran's Day holiday, which will see campus administrative offices closed. The change will not affect publication date for the next edition.

GEMS, HANDCRAFTED JADE AND OPAL JEWELRY INCLUDED IN LIBRARY EXHIBIT

The foyer of Dexter Library is aglow this week with a display of gems and jewelry made by Dr. Philip Overmeyer, a member of the faculty of the Business Administration Department. Dr. Overmeyer does both the lapidary (making finished gems from rough gem material) and making the finished gold and silver jewelry from plate and wire.

Gemstones on display in the current exhibit include jade, rodhonite, rodocrosite, corcodolite, amethyst, and opal. Among the items of jewelry included are rings, pins, brooches, tie tacs, earrings, and chains. Dr. Overmeyer has been pursuing his hobby for a number of years and has displayed his craft at several gem and jewelry shows.

Exhibit cases in the library may be reserved for individual, departmental, and club displays beginning January 2, according to Mrs. Joy Berghell, acting coordinator of the library's reference section who announced this week's display.

VARSITY GRIDDERS HOST SANTA CLARA IN FINAL HOME ACTION OF 1966

University of Santa Clara's potent Broncos will provide the opposition when Cal Poly's Mustang grid varsity closes its 1966 home slate this Saturday (November 12.) Starting time for the game, which will take place in Mustang Stadium, will be 1:30 p.m. The Mustangs, fresh from their 14-10 victory over California State College at Los Angeles last weekend, will be seeking revenge for the 6-3 loss they received from Santa Clara late last season. Their stout performance last weekend indicates that they are ready for an all out effort in their home finale.

STAFF CLUB GOLF TOURNEY SCHEDULED FOR ATASCADERO COURSE

Members of the college faculty and staff who are duffers, as well as those who consider themselves to be "golfers," are invited to participate in the Staff Club's Fall Golf Tournament, which will take place Friday (November 11), beginning at 8:00 a.m., on the Atascadero Golf Course. William Armentrout, chairman of the club's Golf Committee who announced the event, said that a variety of prizes and competition is being planned.

In a change of sorts, the tourney's biggest merchandise prize will go to the golfer whose gross score is nearest to the average of all participating players. Dr. Armentrout said the winning golfer's name will be withheld from publication unless he consents to his being crowned as "Mr. Average Staff Club Golfer" and is willing to defend his laurels at the club's next golf outing. Other prizes being planned include those for the 18-hole low gross score, the 18-hole low net score, and the division play trophy, which the Applied Arts Division team is expected to defend.

Those who desire to do so may make up their foursomes in advance and sign for a starting time in the pro shop at the Atascadero course. Foursomes will be made up at the tee for those who have not made other arrangements. Green fees will be $2.00

"INQUIRY '66: THE AMERICAN SCENE" WILL BE STAFF CLUB LUNCHEON TOPIC

"Inquiry '66: The American Scene" will be the topic when Jerry Moore, a member of the Agriculture Business Management Department's instructional staff, addresses the Staff Club's weekly luncheon, beginning at noon, Thursday, (November 10), in the Staff Dining Room.

Moore, who with his wife, Susan, served as chaperone for the Associated Students, in 16,500-mile tour of the United States during June, July and August of this year, has been a member of the college faculty since 1964. His commentary on the trip taken with 13 students as his charges, should provide both humorous and serious moments, according to J. Philip Bromley, the club's program chairman.

DRAMA PREMIERE SCHEDULED ON CAMPUS

Way, Way, Way Out There, an original play written by Edwin Schoell of Santa Barbara, will have its world premiere performance later this month when it is produced on campus by the English and Speech Department. The play's three-night run will open November 17 and conclude with performances the following two evenings in the Theater. Curtain time each evening is being planned for 8:00 p.m.

Murray Smith, director and producer of the play and a member of the English and Speech Department's faculty, called the department's production of the play a significant contribution to the overall fine arts activity of California's Central Coast Area. "In producing Dr. Schoell's new work, the college performs two functions of educational theater. It presents a new dramatic work and it helps encourage writers to write," he said. "Either would justify doing the play, but there is an additional reason. Way, Way, Way Out There is a very funny play and it makes a serious point," Smith concluded.

Plot of the Santa Barbara playwright's latest work revolves around a visitor from outer space who encounters a host of unusual experiences in his initial contacts with Earth men.

Dr. Schoell, already well-known in the world of educational theater, is a graduate of University of Denver, where he earned both his MA and PhD degrees. He is presently a member of the University of California at Santa Barbara faculty. In addition to his teaching career at UC, Dr. Schoell has taught at Michigan State University and University of the Pacific; has been active in educational and community theater as a director and frequent contributor to professional journals; and has won a number of prizes and competitions for his original plays.

RENTAL OF FURNISHED HOME AVAILABLE

The furnished, three-bedroom home of a member of the faculty who will be on leave will be available for rent between mid-December and September 1, 1967. The home is carpeted and has forced air heating and a covered patio. Those interested in receiving further information may do so by contacting its owner, Dr. Donald Hensel at his home (544-0130).

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE ? ? ?

Lloyd Hall, MD, Student Health Center, attended the 18th Annual Meeting of the California Academy of General Practice, which took place in San Diego, October 30, 31, November 1, and 2.

Barbara Weber, Home Economics, was a featured speaker before over 700 delegates at the meeting of the California Future Homemakers of America, October 28-29, at Asilomar. As one of the founders of this high school home economics organization, Mrs. Weber spoke on "Our Past - A Guide." Also in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. Ellen Stookey, also Home Economics, and two members of the student body who were in charge of a display developed by the department's "Home Economics Methods" class. The display was entitled "Happiness Is -- A Major with a Future at Cal Poly" and depicted various phases of home economics education.

Charles J. Hanks, Mathematics, received the US Coast Guard's Commendation Medal during a ceremony held recently. Dr. Hanks, a captain in the Coast Guard Reserve, received the medal for meritorious achievement in a number of commands during the period of May, 1958 to September, 1966. His present assignment is as commander of the USCG Organized Port Security Unit, San Francisco. The commendation also praised Dr. Hank's "outstanding leadership and professional competence in both the scholastic and military professions" as being instrumental in development and improvement of the Coast Guard's district Reserve Summer Training School.

John Healey, acting head of Technical Journalism, and Vince Gates, also Technical Journalism, spoke on "Careers in Journalism" at the fall Yearbook Seminar held at North High School, Bakersfield, October 29. Close to 150 students representing 15 high schools in the Kern County area attended the conference.

Fuad H. Tellew, Business Administration, addressed members of the campus student body from foreign lands during a program sponsored by the college, which took place October 15. Title of Dr. Tellew's talk was "Your Life Between Two Worlds."

M. Eugene Smith, head of Social Sciences, was a participant in the Conference on Education and Public Administration, held in Los Angeles, October 21. The one-day conference dealt with education for public administration within the California State Colleges and resulted in establishment of a committee composed of representatives of the state colleges with strong public administration education programs. Discussed during the meeting was establishment in the Los Angeles area of a so-called "Administrative Staff College" utilizing faculty members of the state colleges. The committee is scheduled to work on development of the "staff college" concept.

Owen L. Servatius, head of Business Administration, used the title "You and Your Job" when he addressed members of the Rotary Club of Morro Bay at the regular meeting of the club, held November 1.

Douglass Miller, publications manager; Richard Kombrink, Mechanical Engineering; Chester Young, assistant to the vice president; George Beatie, coordinator of special services; Owen L. Servatius, head of Business Administration; and Douglas Gerard, building coordinator; have been speakers before civic and professional groups in the county during the past two weeks. All designed to present factual information on Proposition 2, their talks were given before the Rotary Club of San Luis Obispo, the Monday Club of San Luis Obispo, the Senior Citizens Club of Morro Bay, the High Twelve Club of San Luis Obispo, the San Luis Obispo County Contractors Association, the Elks Club of San Luis Obispo, Region 10 of the California State Employees Association, and the Cal Poly Staff Club.

SCHEDULE FOR OVERSEAS FLIGHTS LISTED

Schedules for flights to and from Europe, on which members of the faculty and staff of the California State Colleges might obtain passage at reduced rates, were announced in a memorandum received on campus recently. From Dr. Thomas P. Lantos, director of International Programs for the state colleges, the memo included the following details:

"The faculty and staff members on your campus may be interested in receiving information concerning the charter flights of the California State Colleges International Programs in 1967. Through their affiliation with the California State Colleges, faculty and staff members, and their immediate families traveling with them, are eligible to use these charter flights on a space available basis, as in previous years.

"Since the flights are planned to carry International Programs students to and from Europe, only a limited number of spaces is available on each of the flights. The fare is $225 for the one-way trip ($112.50 for children under 16 years, free for children under 2 years).

"Two westbound flights will be scheduled from Europe to San Francisco on or about August 5 (subject to change either way by no more than a week), and two east-bound flights from San Francisco to Europe will be scheduled for late August or early September.

"Further information is available from the Office of International Programs, BSS 219, 1600 Holloway Avenue, San Francisco, 94132, telephone (Area Code 415) 469-1044."

ORAL READINGS BY STUDENTS SCHEDULED FOR "BOOKS AT HIGH NOON" PROGRAM

Students enrolled in the English and Speech Department's "Oral Reading" course will give a series of readings of prose, poetry, and drama to illustrate that oral reading may be effectively used to increase understanding of literature, during the program of the Books at High Noon series being planned for next Tuesday (November 15), beginning at Noon, in the Staff Dining Room.

In addition to John Garcia, who will be master of ceremonies, students taking part in the program will include June Trask, who will read "What is Purple?" to show the power of words as symbols in communication; Mrs. Helen Lilley, who in Robert Frost's "Blueberries," will illustrate poetry as a prime vehicle for communicating feelings and ideas; and Jackie Allen, who will read from the "Book of Ruth," emphasizing the rhythm and emotion of great prose. Other students on the program will be Richard Friend, who will build toward the climax of Poe's Telltale Heart; and Jim Fallah, who will read from the play, The Honeymoon is Over, to show use of humor to communicate a serious idea.

On today's (Tuesday, November 8) program, Clyde Hostetter, Instructional Materials Program coordinator on the Audio Visual Department's staff, will review three plays he attended in London last summer. Starting time and place for today's program will both be same as those announced for next week's Books at High Noon luncheon.

SECTION MEETINGS DOT CALENDAR OF CAL POLY WOMEN'S CLUB

Meetings of its Travel, Home and Garden, Newcomers, and Book, Music, and Art Sections and its Walking Group dot the calendar of the Cal Poly Women's Club during the next two weeks. Also on tap is the club's General Meeting of its members, which will take place this (Tuesday, November 8) evening.

Featured during the general meeting, to which members of the Cuesta College Women's Club have been invited as guests, will be Mrs. Charles Hutchison of the Wick and Wood Shop, Solvang, who will give a talk entitled "Hi-lites on Candeelight." Starting time for the meeting, which is scheduled for Room 129 of Dexter Library, is 8:00 p.m.

Travel Section - Next meeting of the CPWC's Travel Section will be Monday (November 14) when the section's members will meet at 6:00 p.m., in St. Stephens Parish Hall, 1344 Nipomo Street, San Luis Obispo. The program will feature Mr. and Mrs. George Couper (he's a former member of the college faculty and Bureau of Agricultural Education employee), who will show slides of their recent trip to Europe. Section members will be contacted regarding the planned pot-luck dinner. Others interested in attending are asked to contact either Mrs. John Allen (543-6618) or Mrs. Vance Lewis (543-6326) for reservations.

Walking Group - Members of the club's Walking Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Earl Hesch, 233 Patricia Drive, San Luis Obispo, at 9:00 a.m., next Tuesday (November 15) for their next outing. A walk in San Luis Obispo's Foothill-Mt. Bishop Area is planned.

Home and Garden Section - A talk on "Seasoned Greetings" by Anne Rupp, home economist for Southern Counties Gas Company, is being planned for the next meeting of members of the women's club's Home and Garden Section. Planned for 10:00 a.m., November 16, the meeting will take place at the SCGC's facilities in Santa Maria.

Newcomers Section - The home of Mrs. Glenn Rich, 222 Longview Lane, San Luis Obispo, will be location of the next meeting of the Newcomers Section of the club. Mrs. Beth Law of The Hobby Shop, San Luis Obispo, will present a program entitled "Ideas for Christmas Decorations and Gifts" during the meeting, which is scheduled for 8:00 p.m., November 16. Any Cal Poly women who wish to attend are invited to do so.

Book, Music, and Art Section - Members of the CPWC's Book, Music, and Art Section will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Stoffel, 241 Luneta Drive, San Luis Obispo, for their next program. A book review is being planned.
