LONG-RANGE EDUCATIONAL PLANNING REVIEW COMMITTEE APPOINTED

A second stage development in long-range educational planning for Cal Poly was initiated last week with appointment of a 17-man Long-Range Educational Planning Review Committee. In consultation with Roy Anderson, chairman of the Faculty-Staff Council, Vice President Dale W. Andrews on November 16 appointed the committee which consists of eight teaching faculty members, including two from each instructional division; four department heads, including one from each instructional division; the four instructional division deans; and the administrative vice president.

In his letter of appointment to members of the committee Vice President Andrews referred to his Fall Staff Conference talk to the faculty and staff in which he took considerable time to explain the proposed procedure to be followed during 1966-67 in developing the Phase II Long-Range Educational Plan requested of each state college by the Chancellor's Office. He also mentioned that a Long-Range Educational Planning Editorial Committee consisting of four faculty representatives and four staff representatives had been working since early in September on the development of "position papers" designed to be of assistance in evaluating proposed new programs.

During the same period of time Dr. Arthur Butzbaugh, on a special assignment, has been interviewing all instructional department heads and division deans for the purpose of obtaining information on proposed new programs to be considered for possible adoption during the period through 1971. All long range educational planning material submitted to the review committee for evaluation will also be processed through the Faculty Staff Council's Curriculum and Instruction Committee, and eventually through the entire Faculty-Staff Council. The Executive Council will also review and make recommendations on long range educational planning proposals.

The Chancellor's Office has requested each college to submit a preliminary draft of its Phase II Long-Range Educational Plan by January 31, and a final draft by March 31.

COPY FOR NEXT ISSUE OF "STAFF BULLETIN" DUE TOMORROW

Copy intended for inclusion in next week's issue of Staff Bulletin must be in the Public Relations Office, Room 216, Administration Building, by noon, tomorrow (Wednesday, November 23). Change of the deadline for copy from its regular noon, Friday, time is prompted by the Thanksgiving Holiday, Thursday (November 24), and the Academic Holiday, scheduled for Friday (November 25). The publication date for next week's Staff Bulletin (Tuesday, November 29) will not be affected by the holiday schedule.

NEW MAP OF CAMPUS AVAILABLE; RETURN OF REMAINING COPIES OF OLD MAP REQUESTED

A new "Campus Guide," developed by the Public Relations Office in cooperation with the Audio-Visual Department, has been completed and is presently available for use, according to Public Relations Coordinator Donald L. McCaleb. The public relations coordinator also requested those still having supplies of the old map on hand return them to the Public Relations Office, either in person or via campus mail. They will be gladly replaced by the new map, he continued.

The new map folder represents a change in approach from that of the map used on campus for the past three years. Its "gate-fold" format is boldly resplendent in two colors --black and yellow--presented on white paper stock.

Identification of the primary buildings located in main campus area of the map's center spread is made easier by an oblique perspective and "balloons" which include the building names. In addition, two smaller maps in the guide show locations of the principal units of the campus farm and identify principal routes to campus from the City of San Luis Obispo.

Information and indexes provided in the new folder include "Index to Buildings and Facilities" for the main map, plus supplementary indexes which show locations of parking lots, residence halls, instructional department offices, and other offices and agencies located on campus.

Sufficient supplies of the new "Campus Guide" are now available so that those individuals and offices needing them for use in mailings and other projects may have them. They may be requested by contacting the Public Relations Office, 546-2576, or Room 216, Administration Building.

SCIENCE NORTH CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY WILL CLOSE TEMPORARY STUDENT PARKING AREA

Start of the $1.6 million Science North Building officially began this (Tuesday, November 22) morning and is expected to result in closure of the temporary student parking lot which lies immediately west of the English Wing of Erhart Agriculture Building. Campus Building Coordinator Douglas Gerard, who announced start of the contract between the state Office of Architecture and Construction and Global Construction Company, said only a small portion of the temporary faculty-staff parking area adjacent to the Administration Building would be affected by the construction activity.

Gerard also called attention to the personal hazards and insurance restrictions that result from campus construction and requested that members of the faculty and staff remain outside the construction area. Both construction supervisory personnel and representatives of the Office of Architecture and Construction have received instructions to challenge anyone entering the area who is not there on official project business.

"CHRISTMAS PACKAGE" MEAT LOAF IS HIGHLIGHT OF LUNCHEON MENU

"Christmas Package Meat Loaf" is the entree of the luncheon menu being planned for December 2 by members of the Home Economics Department's Meal Management Class. Those interested in attending are invited to call 546-2289 to make reservations.

STAFF CLUB PREXY NAMED "MR. MEAN GROSS" FOR FALL GOLF TOURNEY

J. Murray Smith, whose credentials currently include being president of the Staff Club, a member of the English and Speech Department faculty, and director of the new campus stage smash Way, Way, Way Out There, was named "Mr. Mean Gross" following his performance in the Staff Club's Fall Golf Tournament, which took place November 11, on the Atascadero Golf Course. Smith's 98 gross score turned out to be nearest of the 35 participating players to the average gross score of all participants (98.4) and won him the tourney's largest prizes.

Other big winners in the annual golf "classic" were Chester Young, assistant to the vice president, who carded the day's low net at 78; Roy Anderson of the Business Administration Department faculty, whose 85-56 was the best Calloway handicap score; and Frank Coyes of the Agricultural Engineering Department faculty and George Ikenoyama of the Architecture and Architectural Engineering Department faculty, who tied for the day's high net score at 79. Donald S. Nelson, business manager, was a close second in the Calloway scores with an 89-57.

The tourney's Clarence Brown Jewelers Division Trophy was won by the Applied Sciences Division Team whose three top performers posted a total gross score of 247. Team members and their scores were Col. Elmer Bauer, head of Military Science Department, 80; Milo Whitson, head of Mathematics Department, 81; and Oswald Falkenstern of the Mathematics Department faculty, 86.

F-S C FACULTY SALARIES SUB-COMMITTEE HEARING SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY

The Faculty-Staff Council's Sub-Committee on Faculty Salaries will conduct a hearing on current faculty salaries Monday (November 28), starting at 3:10 p.m., in Room 221 of Erhart Agriculture Building on campus, according to an announcement received from Roy Anderson, chairman of the council, last week. In addition to consideration of California State Colleges salary schedules, topics being considered by the sub-committee, which is preparing recommendations for consideration of the entire F-S C, are overlapping pay schedules, merit increases increase in the number of pay steps, and the 60-40 promotion ratio. Dr. Anderson's announcement emphasized that all members of the faculty were invited to attend the hearing and present their views.

DISCUSSIONS OF C S C INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS SLATED

Dr. Thomas Lantos, director of the California State Colleges International Programs, will discuss the state colleges' study abroad programs during two special programs being planned during his annual visit to campus next Tuesday (November 29). Dr. Fuad Tellew, campus coordinator for the programs, announced the gatherings last week.

First of the meetings will take place at 11:00 a.m., Tuesday, in Room 126 of Dexter Library and will be primarily for students interested in obtaining more information about the CSC International Program. Following the student meeting, which is scheduled to end at 12:00 noon, Dr. Lantos plans to meet with members of the college faculty and staff for a no-host luncheon, which will take place in the Staff Dining Room.

Those interested in obtaining information about Dr. Lantos' visit or about the CSC International Program, are invited to contact Dr. Tellew, by telephone (546-2278) or in his office (Room 113, Business Administration and Education Building).

69 FOREIGN NATIONS REPRESENTED IN STUDENT BODY

Sixty-nine foreign countries are represented by some 369 of their citizens among students enrolled on campus, according to information released recently by the office of Registrar F. Jerald Holley.

Iran, the country with the largest number of students, has 59; Nigeria, 28; Hong Kong, 26; Pakistan, 22; and Canada, 15. Nations with 4 or more students currently studying at Cal Poly are India, 13; Kenya, 12; Israel, 11; Republic of China, 10; Peru, 9; Lebanon, 8; Greece and The Sudan, 7 each; Colombia, Ghana, and Mexico, 6 each; Guatemala, Japan, Saudi Arabia, Thailand, and Togo, 5 each; and Jordan, Korea, Nicaragua, Somalia, and Tanganyika, 4 each.

Among the foreign citizens enrolled are students registered in nearly all of the college's 35 instructional departments. Their majors range from soil science, agricultural engineering, and agricultural business management to various engineering majors and technical journalism, home economics, mathematics, and the sciences.

Some 90 of the foreign students studying here are doing so under cooperative international programs of the United States Department of State's Agency for International Development. They are enrolled primarily in agriculture majors.

"BOOKS AT HIGH NOON" SCHEDULES REVIEW ON TANZANIA

Curriculum Librarian Pearl Turner will review Tanzania: Young Nation In a Hurry by Alexander MacDonald, during the Books at High Noon luncheon series program being planned for next Tuesday (November 29).

In his book, Mac Donald, a newspaper publisher and friend of Robert Mott, head of the Physical Education Department, during his two-year stay in the new African nation, presents the specifics of the Five Year Plan of Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere. MacDonald demonstrates that Tanzania emerges as a striking example of success in the world's current revolutions among peoples of every race and color.

On today's (Tuesday, November 22) program, Bernice Loughran, a member of the Education Department's faculty, will review Arts and Technics by Lewis Mumford. Starting time and place for today's program are both same as those announced for next week's Books at High Noon luncheon.

GRID VARSITY CLOSSES 1966 SEASON WITH VICTORY

A well-earned 14-10 victory over University of California at Santa Barbara's Gauchos last weekend closed the most successful season since 1959 for Coach Sheldon Harden's varsity footballers. The win gave the Mustangs a final 6-4 record for the season and was the best mark posted by a Cal Poly eleven since the 1959 team chalked up a 6-3 mark for Coach Roy Hughes.

The campus winter sports season, now but a week off, officially opens next Tuesday (November 29), when Coach Vaughan Hitchcock's defending national champion wrestlers host UCSB's grapplers in a match booked for an 8:00 p.m., start in Men's Gymnasium. First home action of the 1966-67 campaign for Coach Stuart Chestnut's basketball team does not come until December 10, when it hosts University of Nevada.

DEADLINE FOR COPY INTENDED FOR NEXT WEEK'S STAFF BULLETIN IS NOON, TOMORROW (WEDNESDAY)

DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF COLLAGE CONTEST ENTRIES IS DECEMBER 2

December 2 is the deadline established for receipt of entries in the Collage Contest being sponsored by the College Union's Fine Arts Committee. Members of the student body, faculty, and staff are eligible to enter the contest, which has no theme nor size limitation, according to a Fine Arts Committee spokesman.

Prizes, provided by San Luis Obispo-area merchants, will be awarded for winning entries. In most cases, these prizes will consist of $5.00 gift certificates. Judges for the contest will be selected from among art instructors on the Education Department faculty and the faculty of the Architecture and Architectural Engineering Department. Information and entry blanks for the contest may be obtained at the Student Activities Office.

All collages entered in the event will be on display in Dexter Library following the contest.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULE FOR NATATORIUM ANNOUNCED

Holiday schedules during the next several weeks will affect the campus Natatorium in much the same way holiday periods affect other activities, according to an announcement received from Robert Mott, head of the Physical Education Department. Dr. Mott's announcement revealed that the recreational swimming periods that would normally fall between noon, tomorrow (Wednesday, November 23) and Monday (November 28) morning, would be cancelled. The same will be true of the December 10-January 5 period, he said.

COLLEGE SEEKS APPLICANTS FOR OPENINGS IN PERSONNEL FIELD

Cal Poly is presently seeking applicants for two staff positions in the personnel field, according to information received recently from the Business Management Division. Titles of the positions in question are associate personnel analyst and assistant personnel analyst. Inquiries about either opening may be directed to Donald S. Nelson, business manager of the college.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVITIES PREEMPT STAFF CLUB LUNCHEON

Traditional Thanksgiving holiday activities will preempt the Staff Club Luncheon, which takes place at noon, each Thursday. Unless a good many members of the campus faculty and staff get too much turkey during the holiday period later this week, the luncheon series will resume December 1.
