Nadas' recital began '74 Mozart Festival

by CATHY CARRIER

The lights dim and a hush goes over the crowd. The stage is lighted revealing one lone grand piano standing regally before a bluish green curtain.

A man, dressed in a black suit, white shirt and bow tie, appears from the side of the stage and the audience begins to clap. He walks to the piano, takes a quick bow, sits on the piano bench and begins to play.

So began the 1974 San Luis Obispo Mozart Festival, Wednesday, July 31 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

Istvan Nadas' piano recital made Mozart's Fantasia in C minor, Sonata in B-flat major, and Bach's Aria with sundry variations, come alive.

During the recital's two hours Nadas became one with his music. He felt every note and every piano key become a part of his soul.

Construction of utilities is underground

A $51,000 augmentation approved by the State Public Works Board during July was announced by E. Douglas Gerard, executive dean of Cal Poly. This will get the ball rolling to start a major utilities project around August 15. Collins Electric Company of Stockton got the contract with a bid of $307,777.

The most noticeable construction work will be on the North Outer Perimeter Road. With a 12,000 volt primary electric circuit originating at the Mustang substation, an underground conduit system and manholes will be required from the intersection of Mountain Drive and North Outer Perimeter Road, west to the baseball stadium. Also in Pepper Lane, adjacent to parking lot E-12, an underground steam conduit will originate which will end at the site of the new architecture classroom building.

Hopefully, the underground excavation work on North Outer Perimeter Road will be completed before the start of classes Fall Quarter. Construction activity may continue into the school year. Completion of the project will be around June, 1975.

Delaying the project until next summer was considered by the university and the Chancellor's office. But due to rising costs in materials, particularly electrical equipment, it was decided to start the project at the earlier date in the best interest of the state.

Nadas appeared to talk to his music through expressions. His face and body all were part of his playing. As the rhythm stepped up pace, Nadas began to snake his head back and forth. When a more somber section was played Nadas leaned back and then slowly came forward bending down with his head just missing the keys.

His mouth puckered and smiled as he went through a piece and the audience knew he was enthralled and enjoying each minute of the recital.

The pieces he chose to play embraced a range of sound and tempo and kept the audience involved and attentive.

Nadas is a native Hungarian and graduate of the National Academy of Budapest. He has studied music with Bela Bartok, composition with Zoltan Kodaly and chamber music with Leo Weiner.

While still in his teens, he was touring Europe as soloist with orchestras and in recitals.

His vast repertoire includes the complete works of Beethoven and Bach as well as over fifty concerti.

Chemistry grant awarded

The Chancellor's Task Force on Innovation has awarded $18,000 for Dr. Grant Venerable's project grant proposal entitled "Diagnosis and Prescription in Freshmen Chemistry."

Dr. Venerable, submitted his proposal to the Chancellor's Task Force on Innovation with over 150 proposals submitted by the 19 California Universities and Colleges System.

According to Dr. Venerable, the program is designed "to train

ASI to sponsor sale

Discount cards sold in fall

by RICHARD McMILLEN

Discount cards will be available to students this fall for one dollar apiece, it was announced at the Summer Interim Committee meeting Wednesday night, July 31.

Greg Fowler, coordinator of the ASI Discount Card Program, said the total cost of the program to ASI would be $174. This includes postage for letters to merchants, window signs for participating merchants and advertisements in Mustang Daily.

The cards are valid through the school year. Fowler said that last year approximately 70 local merchants offered their goods and services at a discount to students. The discount program, he said, fosters community relations and helps students ease their financial problems.

Student clubs haven't had the opportunity to bid to sell the cards on campus. For the past two years, Sigma Delta Phi, the fraternity that brainstormed the discount idea, has sold the cards. The committee must also decide how profits from the card sales are to be split between participating merchants and ASI.

Currently under consideration is a proposal to allow 60 per cent of the profits to be retained by the merchants. The ASI would keep the remaining 40 per cent. The issue was to have been decided as a business item last night.

The committee July 31 also re-approved a new campus club, the Filipino Students Organization, that had been approved last quarter by the Student Affairs Council.

The action had not been recorded in the minutes of the SAC meeting. To receive operating funds from the Ethnic Programming Board, to which the club belongs, it must be officially approved by student government.

In other discussion, ASI Vice Pres. Mike Hurtado recommended to the committee that the ASI Codes and Bylaws be revised. The present codes and bylaws, he said, are vague and not specific and haven't been revised since 1966.

Seventh week of instruction to end today

The seventh week of instruction ends at 4:30 p.m. today. This is the deadline for submitting a petition to withdraw from a course. The university catalog states, "Except for university recognized emergencies, no withdrawals from a course will be permitted after the seventh week of instruction."

Today is the last day to submit a petition to repeat a course. If you are repeating a course in which you have previously received a D or F grade from this university, you must file this petition in the Records Office to ensure the re-calculation of your Cal Poly grade point average.

Today is also the deadline for submitting a petition to take a course for credit or no-credit.

Vet Reps commence services on campus

Cal Poly veterans will no longer have to write to their congressman to complain about not receiving their checks. They can now complain to the Vet Rep on campus.

Jim McBay and Dennis Holmes, Cal Poly's Vet Reps, are setting up shop in the University Union, Rm. 103. Both are from the United States Veterans Administration Office from the Los Angeles Region.

McBay started Monday morning answering questions and helping the campus vets. "Our first concern is for the vets to get paid on time and paid the right amount of money," McBay said. "We will also help them fill out applications for any veterans benefits such as medical and dental care, home loans and insurance," he added.

McBay said the Vet Rep program was initiated last year from a study done by the Veterans Administration and the U.S. Office of Management and Budget. The study concluded that veteran representatives were needed on college campuses.

Besides aiding in veterans benefits, McBay said vets can come in to discuss any personal problems, financial aid or housing problems. "We will do all we can to aid the veterans," McBay concluded.

He compared his course structure to eating food. The body absorbs the nutrients and the nutrients become part of the body.

According to Dr. Venerable the same is true with his chemistry classes. The students are able to apply chemistry in all facets of their life, from going to the supermarket to eating.

Dr. Venerable's program is a renewal and expansion of what he has been doing in his chemistry classes since January 1973. The program employs Dr. Terry Braithwaite's "Multiple Processing Methodology" in terms of teaching individualized large-group sections in the beginning chemistry classes. This program first started at Monte Vista High School in Danville, California. Under the direction of Dr. Terry Braithwaite the method proved successful.

Dr. Venerable believes this program enables the student to learn and assimilate more chemistry than in traditional chemistry courses.

Dr. Venerable is a native of Los Angeles. He received his BS in organic chemistry from UCLA. Following his graduation he attended the University of Chicago and received a MS and Ph.D. in chemistry.

Teacher exam dates set

Four different test dates for the National Teacher Examinations have been announced by the Educational Testing Service. The dates are November 9, 1974, January 25, April 5 and July 19, 1975.

The Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers the testing program, offers the test for college seniors preparing to teach school.

Testing for prospective teachers includes the Common Examinations, which measure professional preparation and general educational background.

Results of the National Teachers Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers. They are also used by several states for license certification of teachers. Some colleges require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or the Counseling and Testing Center, Administration, Rm. 211, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

The "Bulletin of Information for Candidates" contains a list of test centers, information about the examinations and a registration form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540.

Defaulted loans hurt defenseless students

Senator John Tunney recently introduced a bill that would protect students from being stuck with federally insured student loan programs when their schools close.

Tunney said, "Under present circumstances, when an institution closes its doors, the student is left holding the bag with a loan to repay and without the product: his education."

"This is an intolerable situation for thousands of students who find that whether by illegal practice or lack of funds, the institutions they attend are forced to close, often mid-term," Tunney said.

Tunney's bill would provide that federal student loans, federally insured student loans or veterans education allowances could be paid to a vocational or proprietary institution, unless it has been in existence for less than ten years; or unless the school provides an assurance (by posting a bond or otherwise) that it would reimburse the student for the unused part of the loan.

The second portion of Tunney's bill would cover institutions that have closed down. It would direct the Secretary to forgive the federal loans that were defaulted to the enactment of the legislation.

According to Tunney, the federal government has been held responsible for over 116,000 defaulted student loans which amounted to $110.8 million of taxpayers money. California alone had 60,923 defaulted loans paid by the government amounting to $79.6 million.

Tunney said, "Only a percentage of these defaults were the result of an institution closing. However, one such instance is too many and neither the student nor the federal government should be forced to clean up after an educational institution that has shirked its responsibility of educating. Too many students are being blindly duped into attending new vocational and proprietary institutions by misleading sales tactics and other abuses."

Renewal of football season tickets ending

Cal Poly football season ticket holders have until August 30 to renew their orders for 1974 Mustang football game tickets. Season tickets for the five home games will be sold for $20 to the general public and $8 to Cal Poly students.

New orders also are being accepted at the Associated Students, Inc. office in the University Union. Prospective ticket purchasers may go to the ASI office and pick out their seat locations, although former season ticket holders have first priority on seat assignments.

The Mustang football team, which finished the 1973 football season with a 9-1 record, gained national rankings of No. 8 by the Associated Press and No. 9 by the United Press International. The Cal Poly gridgers will kick off their 1974 campaign against Boise State in Mustang Stadium on September 14.

Cal Poly also has home games with U.C. Riverside on October 5, Cal State Northridge on October 26, University of Nevada at Reno (homecoming) on November 2 and Cal State Hayward on November 23.

Basketball game for handicapped via wheelchairs

The paraplegic students on campus will meet non-handicapped students and faculty in a wheelchair basketball game in the Men's Gym at 8 p.m. this Friday.

Tudy Ross, student sponsor of the event, invites the public to attend this special event. Admission will be free to the game, although donations will be accepted to help sponsor a regular wheelchair basketball team among the paraplegic students.

Informal swim event

Looking for a place to cool off? A special intramural swim meet will be held this Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. in the men's pool.

The meet is open to all students, faculty and staff members. If you are interested in participating just show up at the pool. There is no need to fill out entry blanks.

There will be six different events in this informal swim meet. There are three 25 yard events; the butterfly, breaststroke and backstroke. The freestyle race will be 50 yards. The medley relay will be composed of 25 yards of each of the above four swimming styles. The final specialty event will consist of a 25 yard sweatshirt race. The participants of this race are advised to bring their own sweatshirts.

Free watermelon will be made available to those attending the swim meet. Also free ice cream will be given to all the race winners.

Poly gains four NCAA winners

Cal Poly has gained four more National Collegiate Athletic Association individual champions for the 1973-74 school year, bringing a total of 37 NCAA individual titles won by Cal Poly athletes. Cal Poly ranks second only to U.C. Irvine with 38 in the number of individual national titles.

Two Mustang wrestlers won NCAA individual titles. Cliff Hatch, won at 155 lbs., and Keith Leland at 190 lbs., to give the Cal Poly wrestling team a total of 18 champions.

The other two NCAA title winners were members of the Cal Poly track team. Sprinter Clancy Edwards won the 230 yard dash at the NCAA Division II meet while pole vaulter Dave Hammer won his specialty to give Cal Poly a total of 19 individual track champions.

Cal Poly also has a fine showing in its NCAA team championships, winning 11 NCAA team titles.

High scoring Poly wins coveted award

Cal Poly has won the Ironman Trophy, the award for the California Collegiate Athletic Association Conference member with the best overall record in conference competition. It was the first time for Cal Poly to win in the seven-year history of the award.

Point totals in the Ironman Trophy competition were awarded on a 6-5-4-3-2-1 basis in sports where all six league members participated. Cal Poly accumulated 39 points with Cal Fullerton, the 1972-73 winner of the award, second with 35 and a half points and Cal State Northridge third with 34 and a half points. Cal Poly Pomona was fourth with 23 points, U.C. Riverside fifth with 18 points and Cal State Bakersfield sixth with 11 points.

Ten out of 12 Mustang athletic teams logged winning records during the 1973-74 school year. The teams' record was 133 events won and 70 lost for an overall percentage of .655.

CCAA championships were won in tennis, football, wrestling and basketball. The Mustang track team placed second, while third place awards were won by the cross country, baseball, water polo and swimming teams. Cal Poly's golf team placed fourth in the conference.

Ed Jorgensen's tennis team logged the best record of any of the Mustang teams. The Cal Poly netters had a 24-1, .960 dual meet record and placed third in the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Joe Harper's football team won their fifth straight CCAA crown with a 9-1, .900 record.

The Mustang wrestling team, coached by Vaughan Hitchcock, had a 17-5, .773 dual meet record. They won the CCAA Conference title for the 12th straight year and took NCAA honors for the seventh year in a row.

In basketball, Ernie Wheeler's club finished with an 18-10, .643 record. They placed third in the NCAA West regional competition after winning the CCAA Conference title.

Steve Simmona's track team had a 3-1 dual meet record and placed second in CCAA competition. They also placed third in the NCAA.

The cross country team, coached by Larry Bridges, had a 5-2 dual meet record and placed third in CCAA and the United States Track and Field Federation Western meet.
