$25 million uninsured property lost yearly

Locking just one door or window could save you from being the victim of larceny, burglary, or vandalism which nationwide befalls students every 9 minutes and 26 seconds.

Forty million dollars in personal property losses: typewriters, clothing, stereos, radios, cameras, records, glasses, and calculators, are claimed each year by students and their parents. Sadly enough, $25 million of these are uninsured, according to a national insurance firm.

"Why give a burglar an even break" as the Los Angeles Police Department said. Insurance covering clothing, TV's, stereos, and other personal property is available to students through any number of agencies.

Statistics of the San Luis Obispo Police Department show that in 1973, 1,836 crimes were reported with the total value of property stolen or destroyed equalling $31,763; twelve of those were robberies, 477 burglaries, and 77 grand theft.

Women to do car repair at workshop

An auto workshop for women only will be sponsored by the San Luis Obispo Women's Collective on Sunday at the corner of Johnson Ave. and Orcutt Rd. at 1 p.m.

The event entitled "Auto Workshop for Women by Women" will cover such information as general maintenance, tune-ups and consumer information which will protect an individual from bad buys when looking for a car.

Valerie Jacobs, president of the Women's Collective, said, "There will be women at different stations inside the house. They will explain tire changing, oil changes, checking batteries and doing your own tune-ups."

Debi Neal another member, took an auto class in another city and works on her own car. Ms. Neal will teach the theory part of the workshop.

skyrocketing crime rate" said Sergeant R. Thomas Stewart of the San Luis Obispo Police Department. Reports show that incidents of robbery, burglary, and theft have increased over 40 per cent of figures at this time last year.

"Aluminum sliding windows are the greatest tool burglars have ever had" Sergeant Stewart added. They are easily accessible by use of a credit card or other common prying tools. He believes there is no guarantee against thefts.

When you hear someone say, "It was the greatest thing I've ever done," you might think the person performed a great feat or gained a glorious victory. For Tom Jacobs and Don Marquardt, the greatest thing they have ever done was serving as Peace Corps volunteers.

Jacobs and Marquardt, both students at Cal Poly, are serving as campus representatives for the Peace Corps and VISTA, two volunteer programs under ACTION. They are offering information and applications to prospective volunteers from Cal Poly and from the Central Coast.

During his two years in Sri Lanka (formerly Ceylon), Jacobs worked in general agriculture and housing development. The 34-year-old agricultural journalism major helped clear virgin land in Sri Lanka so it could be used for agricultural land.

"I generally made myself available for any type of work I could do," Jacobs said.

His background in farming aided him to work in agriculture, he said.

"I never picked up a pencil when trying to develop low cost housing in Sri Lanka," Jacobs said. "I brought together the people who could design and build the 150 housing units. I tried to figure out the costs and materials for the project."

Jacobs entered the Peace Corps in 1967 because he was "interested in travel, new experiences, learning about another culture and making some contributions."

Those two years were a

Travel gut-jolting route with new group 'Journey'

by BOB MENTEE

Rock and Roll. Three words that when used in conjunction with concerts, brings a twinkle to the eyes of true boogie freaks.

Enter the new, relatively unknown group, as far as being a household word, called Journey. Although mathematics usually has nothing to do with the comparison of terms in music, the phrase "equal to and greater than" comes closest when comparing Journey to rock and roll.

Journey's trip began on New Year's Eve 1973 in San Franisco's Winterland Auditorium. The next day they traveled to Hawaii to perform before 100,000 "fans" at the annual Sunshine Festival at the Diamond Head Crater. These actually were not true fans for the group had only performed once prior to the Hawaiian show, but those in attendance know the individual names of the band members and it was reason enough to welcome them warmly.

From the group Santana came vocalist-keyboard player Gregg Rolie and guitarist Neal Schon. From Britain and bands such as John Mayall, Jeff Beck, Bonzo Dog Band, Frank Zappa's Mothers of Invention, Lou Reed and David Bowie came drummer extraordinaire Aynsley Dunbar. From the Bay Area and the auspices of Steve Miller, Jerry Garcia, Merl Saunders and Frumious Bandersnatch, came bassist Ross Valory and rhythm guitarist George Tickner.

In February of this year curious crowds turned out in San Francisco's Great American Music Hall to hear Gregg Rolie, the man responsible for Santana hits "Evil Ways" and "No One to Depend On"; to hear Neal Schon, an individual who at the age of 16 turned down an offer from Eric Clapton to join Derek and the Dominoes and joined Santana instead; to hear Aynsley Dunbar "work on times out of the four and three routines and into 20-6 or 25-6 or any other times that fit into a melodic run without falling into the old trap of 4-4."

Joel Selvin wrote in the San Francisco Chronicle on Sept. 16, 1974, "Journey still travels the same gut jolting route as the original Santana. In the past nine months, the band has garnered a strong local following after only a few live performances, and without an album release." The group is due to release their first album on Columbia Records later this month. The group is also due to perform in Chumash Auditorium this Saturday at 8 p.m.

In addition to Journey, the Sacramento-based country rock group Redwing will be highlighted Saturday night.

Redwing is described as a tight, together, stomping band that makes people get up and dance. Their original members included Tim Schmit who later shifted to join Poco. The band now is guitarist Andrew Samuel, Tom Phillips on slide guitar, George Hullin on drums, Ron

ASI presents movie tonight

Was Lee Harvey Oswald the sole conspirator in the assassination of John F. Kennedy? That Oswald was only a pigeon in the hands of a circle of socially prominent men is a possibility explored by "Executive Action," a movie starring Burt Lancaster and Robert Ryan.

Presented by the ASI Films Committee, "Executive Action" will show on Friday night, Oct. 11 in Chumash Auditorium. Screen times are at 7:00 and 9:30 p.m. Admission price is 75 cents.

collection of experiences. I found there was a world outside the United States," he said.

Since Jacobs returned from Sri Lanka in 1969, he has worked in recruitment for the Peace Corps, and community ACTION programs. After his graduation in 1973, he hopes to work in Asia in international development along with agricultural journalism.

Don Marquardt was married only one month before he and his wife Susan entered the Peace Corps. Their best friend, a former Peace Corps volunteer, got them interested in the program.

The couple went to Grenada, an island in the West Indies. Marquardt, 31, supervised the drafting department for the Public Works Department in Grenada. The landscape architecture major also taught drafting at a technical college. Mrs. Marquardt, a graduate of Cal Poly's Home Economics Department, served as a dietitian.

"The experience was valuable, not for career advancement, but for learning about life, for increasing my self-confidence and for formulating the goals for my life," Marquardt said.

Marquardt plans to go back overseas either to New Zealand or Micronesia, to apply his knowledge of landscape architecture.

"Eventually I would like to get into university teaching either in the United States or abroad," he

ASI Column

Disinterest will not end student oppression

In the first issue of the Mustang Daily I strongly urged students to get involved in what is going on at this campus. There are many things which in my own mind I have not been able to make sense of and I am sure that there are many questions that have not been answered in our own minds. The problem is that we as a student body are not deeply concerned with the problems we face. Since I have been in the position of ASI Vice President, I have felt a strong sense of dissatisfaction in regards to housing availability, outrageous housing costs, landlord hassles, the parking situation, dorm hassles, and evaluation of curriculum and instructors. We can attribute much of the continuance of these problems to the lack of student participation and interest in the attempt to work for solutions to these problems and the difficulty in dealing with administrative bureaucratic procedures. The problems are there. What are we going to do about them? Are we willing to voice our oppression, get off our duffs and stand up for what we believe is right or wrong?

The articles and editorials that you have seen recently in the Mustang Daily are pretty accurate in terms of policy and decision-making concerning students. The article regarding "Censorship" described one of many inequities that occur on this campus.

Why is it that every time there is a professor who challenges the attitude or tradition of Cal Poly he is either terminated or not rehired? Why is it that every quarter we must evaluate the instructors and the results are never made public to the student? The fact of it all is that students are led to believe that we only have one objective at Cal Poly—that is to study and graduate. But we must understand we are not only graduating bodies but minds as well. We have been conditioned to the point that we no longer are sensitive to our needs or our problems. Perhaps this is an overgrown high school; I like to think otherwise. When I was elected, over 3,000 individuals voted for me. I hope those individuals weren't so naive as to think that two individuals could tackle these problems alone. But the commitment should not stop at the ballot box. We need your help in bringing changes and dealing with our frustrations to create a better future for our educational destiny. Aren't the administration, city council, merchants, and other administrative branches aware that we are the biggest economic factor in San Luis Obispo County and that Cal Poly students pour millions of dollars into this community? Students spend on a nine month basis over three million dollars on rents, two hundred thousand on auto repairs, one million on gas, oil and tires, two million on groceries, over five hundred thousand on clothes, eighty thousand on appliances, one million on entertainment and five hundred thousand on professional services not to mention the ten to twenty million dollars from Poly Royal profits. Yet we are taken for granted, rarely recognized as a community rather than a buying market.

Yet, we continue to get paid slave wages, charged wealthy man's rents and treated with lower class respect. I could go on with many more examples but I think I made my point.

I strongly feel that making students aware of these issues will give them a deeper concern for their living conditions on and off campus. I am optimistic about this coming year because this could be our turning point. If you are either concerned or have information that could be helpful, please come in to the ASI Office or call 544-4351.

Progressive rock is finally coming to Cal Poly with the loud, hard-driving sounds of Journey.
Journey, a name not well known at this writing but showing good reviews and dynamic possibilities, is composed of some of the finest and well known musicians in the field. The group is made up of ex-Santans members Greg Rolie and Neil Schon, along with Analey Dunbar formerly with Frank Zappa's Mothers. Also in the group are Ross Valory (ex Steve Miller Band), and George Yehner, who on occasion has played with Jerry Garcia.
Also on the bill will be a band who originated from the riverlands of Sacramento: REDWING. Redwing has been together for over eleven years and are surprisingly far more accepted in Europe than here in the States.

First contest for women's volleyball set

A new women's volleyball team will face its first challenge this Saturday when it goes up against Cal Poly Pomona in the season opener at 11 a.m. in Crandall Gym.

The team has been working out for two to three hours every day except Sunday in preparation, according to Coach Ann Windolph. She says that most of the team members play in intramurals as well and she anticipates a successful outing against Pomona.

Two players on the team are returning from the 73-74 squad, with senior Sally Krenn in her third year. All the rest are freshmen, bringing height and power that was lacking last year. The team is aggressive and skilled and has been working on the finer points of the game, with the assistance of Chip Weesberg, a varsity player from the men's team.

Weesberg says the team will play with two setters and four hitters, using its height and power to maximum advantage.

The Mustangs had an even record last year with the Pomona Broncos in two meetings. They will play Pomona twice again this year, however neither are league games.

The first league play will come against Cal State Fullerton on Oct. 19 at Fullerton. Whittier is one of the only league opponents on the schedule that is not nationally ranked. Long Beach State, UC Irvine, and UCLA, with their national ranking should provide the Mustangs with their greatest challenge.

who, in public expresses outraged disgust at discovering the field hand in the hay with a peasant girl, but in private is an oversexed hypocrite. Miss Van Vooran plays the part well.

The distinction between sex and violence in the movie becomes so enmeshed that the line between the two virtually disappears.

In the movie's most grotesque scene, the Baron cuts open the female zombie's stitches and engulfs his hands into her insides. The camera moves in for a bloody closeup as he feels her organs and moans in sexual ecstasy.

But the emphasis is on laughs and even the grossness of this scene is removed by the Baron's assistant Otto (Arno Juerging)—a cross between Peter Lorre and Radar O'Reilly.

Although there's a decapitation scene that makes the revolting head in "The Exorcist" seem like kid stuff, "Andy Warhol's Frankenstein" for all its blood and gore won't send anyone into hysterics. After all, it's not to be taken seriously.
