Kenneth Golding, a 22-year-old sophomore at Cal Poly, is placed on stretcher after his car collided with a train.

Car, train crash; Poly student dies

A 22-year-old Cal Poly student was killed Thursday morning after his car was hit broadside by an eastbound train on the tracks in back of Mustang Stadium.

Kenneth Harold Golding, a sophomore business administration major, was taken to Sierra Vista Hospital where he died of massive internal injuries and brain damages shortly after the 11:15 incident.

According to California Highway Patrol officer Jim Szakal, Golding was attempting to cross the railroad tracks at the small throughfare leading from the Church of Latter Day Saints Institute on Casa St. to California Blvd.

Szakal estimated that the train, which was pulling four locomotive engines, was traveling at an approximate speed of 40 mph when the accident occurred.

Witnesses said that Golding did not stop at the posted stop sign and seemed not to hear the warning whistles of the oncoming train.

Golding's Pinto was tossed 75 feet from the point of impact.

According to Shirley Thomas, secretary at the Mormon church institute, Golding was an active member and used the church lot to park his car while attending classes.

She said the Golding had come to pick up his vehicle just before the accident occurred.

According to Mrs. Thomas, Golding, who had just completed a two-year missionary assignment for the church in South Germany, worked nights as a bookkeeper in Morro Bay and often worked as late as 6 a.m. before attending his morning classes.

Golding attended Brigham Young University in Utah before leaving for his missionary assignment. He had been in San Luis Obispo for a few months.

Golding is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Golding of Perris, California. Reis Mortuary in San Luis Obispo is handling local arrangements. Services are pending.

Raped inmate needs money for legal aid

As pointed out in a Feb. 6 Mustang Daily editorial, funds are needed to finance a criminologist for Joanne Little, a North Carolina inmate who claims she was raped by a jailer.

Ms. Little stabbed the jailer with his own icepick during the struggle, and he died shortly afterwards.

The Southern Poverty Law Center, under the direction of Julian Bond, is launching a campaign to raise funds for her legal aid.

Checks should be made payable to the Southern Poverty Law Center, and addressed to Julian Bond, 119 South McDonough St. Montgomery, Ala. 36101, or placed in the Women's Collective Box, No. 216, in the University Union ASI offices. Any donation will be accepted. All contributions are tax-deductible.

Plotkin turns Kissinger

Travels the state to negotiate with Brown, Trustees

If ASI Pres. Scott Plotkin looks a little tired these days, it may be because in the past few weeks he's been attending more statewide meetings than he cares to remember.

Plotkin told the Student Affairs Council about a few of those meetings Wednesday night as he reported on meetings with the state Board of Trustees and the California State University and Colleges Student Presidents Association (CSUCSPA) as well as a meeting with Gov. Brown.

Plotkin discovered that the newly elected Governor isn't one who likes to sidestep issues. "When he comes out with a position it's very well researched," Plotkin said, who is chairman of the CSUCSPA, a group that was questioning Brown about some of his budget cutting decisions.

The CSUCSPA didn't have much luck in getting Brown to change his mind on several important budget cuts, such as funds for a life science building and faculty office building on this campus, Plotkin reported. "But he has shown that he is open to well researched rational reasons as to why money should be appropriated," he said.

Commenting on Brown's techniques at the Trustee's meeting, Plotkin noted that Brown managed to keep the meeting going for five hours with "countless questions that sent chancellors scurrying around the room trying to find the correct information."

At the regular meeting of the CSUCSPA, the school presidents discussed several pieces of pending legislation in the state assembly that their legislative advocate, Joe Hay, had prepared for them.

Some of the legislation and the student presidents' position of support were:

AB 433-The body will support the bill, which extends to five years the renewal period for a student on a California State scholarship.

AB 153-This bill would make it unlawful for anyone under the age of 18 to consume or possess alcoholic beverages. This would make consumption of alcohol on campuses easier, according to Hay. The body supported the bill, as well as a constitutional amendment expressing the sentiments.

AB 365-This would make it possible for the state treasurer to be authorized to apply for lender states under Federal Student Loan Insurance Program. The body supported the bill.

Oil company exec tells Poly group

Synthetic oil saves fuel

The substitution of synthetic oil for hydrocarbon based products could drastically reduce United States dependence on imported oil, the chief executive of the Eon Oil Company of California said Thursday.

During his lecture, "Synthetic Oil: An Energy Substitute," J.C. Cotter said the United States consumes an estimated 40 billion gallons of oil a year in the form of lubricants. This could be released to be made into gasoline if synthetic lubricants were more widely used.

"The use of synthetic oil can help combat the energy, economy, ecology and emotional problems involved in the importation and consumption of hydrocarbon fuels," Cotter said.

Synthetic oil is made by a chemical process and contains little or no carbon, Cotter said. "There is less carbon emission and less carbon residue," he said.

This reduces air pollution.

Synthetic oils create less friction than hydrocarbon lubricants create in an automobile engine, Cotter said. Because of this, motorists can save up to 15 per cent on fuel and horsepower increases.

"The aircraft industry has been using synthetic oils for 20 years," Cotter said. Today, there aren't any turbo or jet planes that are not using synthetic lubricants.

Cotter explained that the automotive industry has not used synthetic lubricants extensively because they cost five times as much as petroleum products.

"A quart of Eon E-11 retails for approximately $6.50 in the San Luis Obispo area, he said, but added that it lasts five times as long as ordinary oil.

All the synthetic lubricants on the market are basically the same, Cotter said, but "we think our product is better. It must be because we are selling more than all the others put together."

J. C. Cotter

In spite of the expense of synthetic oils and lubricants.

Cotter believes that many people will use them. "People hate to support the Arabs," he said. "They can't stand being black-mailed."

Synthetic oils can be mixed with regular oil, Cotter said, but "we don't recommend it, it defeats the purpose of synthetic oil."

Cotter said there is no danger to an automobile engine in the switching from regular oil to a synthetic oil. "If the automobile engine fails due to the oil, Eon will replace the engine," he said.

Synthetic oils are marketed mainly through parts houses because the major oil companies don't want to sell them along with their own products, Cotter said.

Eon products are available in San Luis Obispo, Santa Maria and Paso Robles.

Cotter's talk was sponsored by the Speakers Forum of Cal Poly.

What is Gurnee's role?

Editor:
Alison Harvey's article, published Wednesday, Feb. 5, in the Mustang Daily, urged Cal Poly students to vote for Keith Gurnee—"a voice with some power."

On Wednesday, Jan. 23, Connie Pitta wrote an article dealing with a housing proposal's passage. Gurnee is quoted as saying: "I think it's time that those who are causing city expansion should pay for it." Who is he referring to? Is it the students, the Administration, or who?

These two articles seem to contradict each other. It interests me to know, as a potential voter, Gurnee's actual position.

Claudia Jennings

Editor:

In an article entitled "Keith Gurnee—Student's Voice" by Alison Harvey in the Feb. 5, 1975 issue of the Mustang Daily, "King" Robert F. Kennedy was verbally assaulted. So what, you say, if Alison hadn't, someone else would have. True, true, but it's not that part of Alison's article that's worrisome, rather, remarks such as:

"Gurnee was elected four years ago to represent the student." (I'll just bet there are a lot of citizens that didn't know that.)

"San Luis Obispo is Cal Poly"
"City Business is student business"

"But Kennedy's power has been challenged by the City Council, at the instigation of Gurnee."

It appears from this article that Mr. Gurnee was elected by and for the students, rather than to serve the good of the community as a whole. I hope that this is only an illusion created by the exuberance and lack of accurate facts on the part of Ms. Harvey, and not in fact reality.

I believe that the city of San Luis Obispo and the Cal Poly University campus are two separate communities, just as San Francisco and Oakland are, and while there exists a traffic of persons between these two communities, neither community has the right to dictate policy to the other.

If Cal Poly students have a problem with Dr. Kennedy, I suggest they solve it by their own resources, on campus.

Student housing: a case of apathy

In the past week I have had the unique opportunity of observing apathy, or at least inaction, in two cases where it least belonged. The two unrelated cases left me angry and disenchanted.

The first situation occurred at the San Luis Obispo City Council meeting Monday night.

Last month, Councilman Keith Gurnee introduced the idea of forming a Housing and Community Development Task Force. The group would study the housing situation in town and make recommendations to the council on how to improve housing.

The ASI endorsed the concept of this force, and sent a representative to the Monday meeting. The ASI was hoping that a student representative would be included in the group, as students are so directly involved with the housing problem.

However, bureaucratic apathy kept the council from accomplishing anything.

The council could not agree on whether or not an official task force was the proper group to solve the problem. All the councilmen agreed that there was housing problem (quick aren't they?) but they couldn't seem to find a way to compromise on who would be in the group, or how it would be set up. Finally, they agreed on one thing—to postpone the issue for one week.

Of course it takes government a long time to do anything. All the factors must be studied carefully. I wouldn't want a government that didn't take the time to consider the implications of programs.

But this idea of a task force was introduced a month ago, and there is no excuse for putting it off any longer. The more time the council spends organizing this issue, the longer it will be before recommendations can be made for housing improvements.

While the council is taking its time deciding how the group will be set up, however, the students in this town will be facing a critical housing shortage. And it won't get any better while the council waits.

Apathetic inaction of the council members slowed down the formation of a needed group. When the government is apathetic, can you blame the citizens for the same thing?

The other case took place on campus. Yes, here at Cal Poly where most students spend their time avoiding campus issues. But these same students are the ones who complain the loudest when things take place that they don't like.

Well, students, you all missed your chance to do something about student activities. Or at least you missed an opportunity to learn what you could do to change things.

On Tuesday, ASI Pres. Scott Plotkin held a campus-wide meeting. Out of a student enrollment of 14,000, 100 students (at the most) showed up.

Plotkin discussed Assembly Bill 3116 and what it will mean to student activities. You have heard of AB 3116, haven't you? If not you will be hearing about it soon.

On Feb. 25 and 26 students will vote on whether or not to reduce student body fees. Depending on how students vote, activities (such as athletics, concerts, Mustang Daily) will either increase or decrease next year.

A scholarship for naturalist

Applications for a $100 Natural Resources Management (NRM) scholarship award are available and will be received at the Financial Aid Office in Administration Building Rm. 107 between Feb. 1 and March 1.

Although students, graduates and faculty have helped contribute to this scholarship fund, most of the collection has come from the Natural Resources Club and its various work projects.

Eligibility for the scholarship is limited to NRM majors carrying 12 units, with a 2.8 Cal Poly cumulative GPA.

The scholarship will be awarded near the end of the Winter Quarter.

Song writer Dory Previn will perform

Contemporary singer and songwriter Dory Previn will perform in concert in Chumash Auditorium, Saturday, Feb. 8, at 8 p.m.

Miss Previn, also a well-known lyricist, believes that an artist's function is to reveal oneself. "Self-revelation sometimes encourages self-revelation in response. In that way touch is made," she says.

Miss Previn also wrote the lyrics for several movie theme songs.

Tickets are on sale at the University Union Ticket Office, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost is $2.50 for students, and $3.50 for the public. Admission at the door will be $3 for students, and $4 general admission.

Women netters whip Cuesta Cindermen in non-conference warmup at Forum for Times Indoor

If Cuesta Junior College was any example of how the Cal Poly women netters are going to treat the rest of their opponents, then Coach Sonja Murray can look forward to a lovely season.

The tenacious Mustangs breezed past Cuesta, defeating them 5-0 in a non-league match Wednesday.

In the No. 1 spot, Ruth Gilstrap (Poly) defeated Kathy Smith, 6-4, 6-4. At the No. 2 position, Roxie Lochman (Poly) defeated Vickie Bergua, 6-3, 6-4.

In the No. 3, 4 and 5 spots, eight game pro-sets were played. Kathy Merrel (Poly) defeated Brenda Lundberg, 8-4. Mary Ann Dudley (Poly) defeated Renee Rachlotti, 8-2. Tore Knight (Poly) defeated Jana Gavin, 8-0.

"I think the girls are playing exceptionally well. I'm really pleased. I am very content with all the girl's performances. I feel Tore Knight is going to be to be one of the strongest players, even though she is new to the squad," said Coach Murray.

The Mustangs' league schedule begins Feb. 14 at Pepperdine. On Feb. 15, the Mustangs will travel to Cal Poly Pomona.

Badminton tournament

An intramural badminton tournament will be held in the men's gym Sunday at 1 p.m. Signups will be in the Intramurals Office until 12:30 p.m. Sunday. There is no entry fee. For further information contact Dick Heaton at Ext. 2754.

The Mustang track men will compete in the Times Indoor Games at the Forum Friday night.

The mile relay team of Mike Bartlett, Gilbert Proctor, Kerry Gold, and Curtis Byrd will compete in the open mile relay. Just two weeks ago, the quartet set a school record and Examiner Games meet record in the mile relay at 3:23.8.

Clancy Edwards will compete in the open 60 yd. dash. This will be the third match up between Edwards and Steve Williams in recent weeks.

U of A no match for Mustangs

The Cal Poly wrestling team picked up another one-sided victory as it defeated the University of Arizona, 32-9, Wednesday.

The Mustangs won eight, lost one and were forced to forfeit one bout. The forfeit came when it was decided Ron McKinney should be rested after being injured against Fresno State Tuesday night.

Cliff Hatch won an important bout as he defeated Arizona's Staff Polk, one of the top wrestlers in the country, 4-1.
