Senior cards ready

Graduating seniors can now purchase their senior activity cards at the University Union Information Desk.

The cost is $4 per card. "Included in the cost of the card this year," according to Senior Week Activities Committee (SWAC) Chairman John Ronca, "is a barbeque in Cuesta Park, a brunch and awards program, and a copy of 'Pegasus' magazine."

"Pegasus," a 28-page look at Cal Poly and the Senior Recognition Awards winner, is a new tradition that began last year.

"Many contributors will be called on this year to help profile Cal Poly through the theme 'A Cal Poly Photo Album,'" "Pegasus" editor Bob McEntee said.

For those seniors who do want to purchase a card, individual tickets for the brunch and barbeque can be bought up through May 15. Tickets for the brunch cost $2.50 per ticket, and the cost per ticket for the barbeque is $3.75.

The senior barbeque will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, June 13. Last year approximately 1200 seniors, parents and guests attended the barbeque.

The senior brunch will be held in Chumash Auditorium on Saturday, June 14. Traditionally, the deans and department heads serve as waiters and entertain the seniors and their parents.

Those seniors receiving Senior Recognition Awards from their school councils will be honored at the Brunch.

Other activities coordinated by SWAC on Commencement Day include a tree planting ceremony, Phi Kappa Phi, the commissioning of ROTC graduates, and the informal Senior Ball held in the evening.

Editor's note

The hitchhiker who reported that a Cal Poly student had stolen "everything he owned" evidently lied to get revenge.

The accused student told Mustang Daily Wednesday that the hitchhiker had asked to spend the night at his house, and the student refused.

When the hitchhiker began to get forceful, the driver pulled into the nearest gas station, managed to get the traveler out of the car, and left.

The hitchhiker had no possessions on him when he was picked up, and left nothing in the car.

The driver later found out that the hitchhiker reported an alleged theft to the city police, the campus radio station (KCPR) and Mustang Daily.

All reports were false.

Phnom Penh close to fall

CAMBODIA (UPI)—Khmer Rouge rebels pushed into Phnom Penh Wednesday and battled to within 1,000 yards of the abandoned U.S. Embassy. The International Red Cross in Geneva said the Cambodian government offered to surrender, but Peking reports said exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk rejected the proposal.

The capital began its final collapse under a barrage of rockets and artillery shells and a push by the Communist led insurgents across the United Nations bridge toward the U.S. Embassy.

The Red Cross said the Cambodian government had handed to the Red Cross delegation in Phnom Penh a proposal for a cease fire and transfer of power that "amounted to an offer of surrender." The proposal was passed on to the rebels attacking the capital and to Sihanouk in Peking.

Yugoslavia's national news agency Tanjug, in a dispatch dated Peking, quoted Sihanouk sources as saying, "Sihanouk has rejected the offer of the Quislings in Phnom Penh which was signed by the President of the Supreme Committee, Sak Suthsakhan, which he received through the International Red Cross in Geneva."

Sihanouk sent a reply to the Red Cross calling the proposals "unacceptable" and advising the members of the "puppet supreme committee" to leave Phnom Penh before the final battle because they had earned only the right to be hanged, Tanjug said.

Earlier, Red Cross officials said they had seen reports from Peking that Sihanouk had rejected the offer, but added: "We know nothing officially and just have to wait for a reply."

President Ford said in Washington the United States will "help in any way we can to further those negotiations." Ford said he had just received word that the Phnom Penh government "will work with the Khmer Rouge to try to negotiate a settlement," but added he had received indications Sihanouk "is in no position to achieve or accomplish the results we want—namely a negotiated settlement—and that is an unfortunate situation."

The 16-man Red Cross team Wednesday moved into the Royal Phnom Hotel declared it a neutral zone for the treatment of wounded.

What appeared to be the final battle for Phnom Penh began with more than 50 rockets and artillery shells that killed at least 10 persons and wounded 50 others and an insurgent drive that sent retreating government defenders plunging into the Bassac River, some of them to drown.

"Ragtime-Music from Red Lights to Bright Lights" will be presented by the Cal Poly Ragtime Ensemble during University Hour in Rm. 218 of the H. P. Davidson Music Center.

The lecture demonstration is sponsored by the Cal Poly Music Club. Admission is free.

La. Don Winchell will present a slide show on "Nuclear Power" today at 11 a.m. in Science North Rm. 213. The talk is sponsored by the Math Department and admission is free. La. Winchell will discuss opportunities in the nuclear power field and the necessary training required to work in it.

Jim Wilson will be the guest lecturer in a lecture entitled "Nursery Production in New Zealand and Australia" tonight at 8 p.m. in University Union Rm. 201. Wilson will present a slide show and admission is free. The lecture is sponsored by the Ornamental Horticulture Club.

Dean Pryor of Agro Industries will lecture tonight at 7:30 p.m. in University Union Rm. 207 on "Agricultural Employment." Agro Industries is an agricultural employment bureau. Pryor will discuss the jobs now available in the agricultural industry. The lecture, sponsored by the Boots and Spurs Club, is free.

"We're going to have a big party afterwards, if anyone can walk." That's how HEP student Richard Valdez foresees the outcome of the marathon basketball game to be held in Crandall Gym beginning at 1:00 p.m. on Friday, April 18.

HEP students will be attempting to break the world's record of 48 hours in a continuous basketball game lasting most of the weekend, and everyone involved expects to be a little tired when it's all over.

The marathon was organized by HEP students to inform the public about the HEP program here on campus.

They welcome anyone who would like to play against HEP during the marathon, or who wants to find out about the HEP program by talking to the students who participate in it. HEP students not playing basketball will be supplying food and encouragement during the marathon.

The Washington speech is another segment of a year-long series on America's ethnic heritage which has included speeches by American Indian Movement leader Dennis Banks and Chinese-American author and playwright Frank Chin.

There is no admission charge.

Letters

Bad experience

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to tell you about an unpleasant experience I had at Lake Nacimiento on Saturday, April 12. I hope it is not typical of most Cal Poly sanctioned clubs.

For the past week there have been signs posted in the Agriculture Building advertising the ABM Club's Ski Party inviting students to attend. The sign said for a gas fee of $1 there would be three boats and Ag students were welcome to attend.

I do not own a car myself and went to considerable trouble to borrow one and I drove up to the Lake on Saturday. Here is what happened:

At the lake, I approached the ABM Club group with my water ski slung over my shoulder and inquired if this was the ABM

Club. I was met by silence and blank stares. I again inquired and was told in no uncertain terms that the group was happy with its present members and there was definitely not room for one more.

I don't feel this is the proper way for a school sanctioned group of people to act towards anyone, especially another student who just wanted to enjoy a day at the Lake. I sincerely hope that these inconsiderate and selfish people do not typify the kind of standards and attitudes we here at Cal Poly are teaching our students.

ASI candidate

Editor: In response to your editorial of April 16 on the campaign for ASI President, I thought I'd send you the guidelines I'll be following during my campaign for ASI President.

1. I will address issues instead of making personal comments about candidates.

2. Everyone of my supporters is asked not to comment on the other candidates. If I can't be elected on the basis of what I am, what I've done and what I plan to do, I don't deserve to be elected.

3. I am limiting all campaign expenditures to $200 total. This includes not only the $150 media advertising limit set by the Elections Committee, but all other expenses as well. Examples include flyers, posters, signs, etc.

4. A list of campaign expenditures and donations will be on file with Elections Committee Advisor Bob Walters in the Activities Planning Center. This list will be available for inspection on request by anyone who is interested. This list will be revised every three days during the campaign.

I believe that I have made and can make significant contributions to the welfare of the students here. I will be discussing these contributions and what I hope to contribute during the campaign. I will not indulge in mudslinging, and anyone who does so to aid my campaign has my total disapproval.

Kevin O'Connor
Candidate for ASI President

Campaign over

Editor:

When a candidate realizes his opponent is more qualified and can do a better job than he can, it is time to cease running. I have come to this realization.

Perhaps, I will run for vice-president next year after I get more experience, but even my supporters, whom I thank for helping me, must admit that Sue Stevenson is more qualified than I am.

Sure, she turns some people (including me to a point) "off."

But if given the chance, she may be a good vice-president.

I do not know—only time will tell.

To those dead set against Sue, I can only remind them that Phil Bishop is also running.

I feel I am not removing your freedom of choice in this election since you can always write me or someone else in.

Instead of the position of vice-president, I have decided to run for the spot of Student Affairs Council representing the School of Science and Math—a job for which I believe I have more experience.

Once again, I would like to thank those who signed my petition and supported me.

I hope to receive as much support in future endeavors.

Sincerely,
Larry West

Cal Poly students are uncorruptible?

With Cal Poly currently embroiled in controversy over such hot topics as alcohol on campus and gay students, it is particularly appropriate that I recently interviewed a visiting educator and discussed these and other issues with him.

Dr. Morally Brought Upright is president of Sintree University, located in Heavenly Valley. A man of high academic credentials he is devoutly religious.

Reporter: Dr. Upright, what brings you to Cal Poly?

Dr.: I've heard a lot about what a fine educational institution this is, so I decided to come and see for myself if the stories were true. And, for the most part, they seem to be.

Reporter: What is it about Cal Poly that you like?

Dr.: The emphasis here is on turning out hard working, patriotic, God fearing, morally uncorruptible individuals. And I like that. It's a far cry from most other colleges and universities where the number of degenerates is appalling. Cal Poly is like an island in a sea of degeneracy.

Reporter: Just what is your definition of degenerates sir?

Dr.: You have some on this campus, being a state school I suppose you can't keep them out. But mostly I mean those slovenly, filthy, dope smoking, free sex loving long hairs. Hippies I believe you call them.

Reporter: Dr. Upright, an issue which is currently under discussion here is whether alcohol should be allowed on campus. The administration and particularly Pres. Kennedy are adamantly opposed to such a proposal. What is your feeling on the matter?

Dr.: I agree wholeheartedly with Dr. Kennedy and applaud his courage in opposing such a scandalous proposition. In fact, all the people should praise his efforts to protect our children from the evils of alcohol.

Reporter: I take it then alcohol is not allowed on the Sintree campus.

Dr.: Absolutely not. Such an idea wouldn't even be considered. Someone has to set an example of moral decency for our children. And we feel it is our duty to do just that. This whole country drinks and look what's happening to it—it's going down the drain.

Reporter: Another issue confronting this university, Dr. Upright, is whether gay students should be allowed to form a campus organization. What is your feeling on the matter?

Dr.: I'm shocked and appalled that such a thing is even being considered. I sincerely hope Dr. Kennedy will follow his other fine examples by refusing to sanction such an organization. And if such a group tried to infiltrate our fine university, well, I don't think I should say what might happen.

Reporter: But shouldn't homosexuals be allowed to organize and socialize among themselves as long as they don't bother other people?

Dr.: No. Absolutely not. Homosexuals aren't normal people, they're sick. And the rest of the population must be protected from them, especially the innocent children at our universities and colleges.

Reporter: Dr. Upright, your beliefs on alcohol, and gay students certainly border on the conservative, but what are your feelings on some of the more accepted things. How do you feel about coed dormitories?

Dr.: What a sinful thought. I am totally against such a perversion of common decency.

Reporter: We have coed dorms at Cal Poly, Dr. Upright.

Dr.: Yes, well I guess not even Cal Poly can be completely sane. It's certainly shameful such a thing exists and is tolerated. You can rest assured we do not have coed dorms at Sintree.

Reporter: Why?

Dr.: Why? If you had coed dorms then you would have males and females visiting at all hours of the day and night. And there would be a strong possibility of sinful activities taking place. Have you no sense of common decency and morality?

Reporter: Dr. Upright, you don't seem to have too high of an opinion of students. What is your feelings on student activism?

Dr.: I am totally against it. Students are immature beings who do not have the experience to make rational well informed decisions. Students are children, and like children they should be seen and not heard. By the way, what paper did you say you work for?

Reporter: Mustang Daily, sir, the student newspaper.

Dr.: A student paper. Oh, my God. What next?

(When last seen, Dr. Upright was in convulsions and muttering about the collapse of moral and ethical values on campus.)

Duffers vying at Stanford tourney

The Mustangs will be one of 30 teams competing in the annual Stanford Invitational in Palo Alto. Along with host Stanford, college golf notables San Jose State, University of the Pacific, and Fresno State also will be entered.

The tournament is 54 holes and will be played on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. After Friday's round, the field will be cut to 16 teams and individuals who are within ten strokes of the leader.

Golfing for the Mustangs will be Jim Dow, Tom Bower, Loren Roberts, Roger Huxman, Dale Escen, and Tom Underhill. "We have never made the cut up at Stanford, so right now that is our primary goal," said Hicks.

Roberts recently shot an eight over par 234 at the Pacific Coast Invitational to finish tenth. USC won the tournament. Cal Poly placed 15th.

Earlier in the year the Mustangs captured their first ever golf tournament championship by placing first in the Central Valley Springs Classic.

Pitcher vs. power in Northridge series

It'll be pitching versus punch this weekend when the Mustang baseball squad travels to Northridge for a three game league series with the Matadors.

Entering the third weekend of league competition, coach Berdy Harr's bunch finds itself tied for the league lead with UC Riverside. The Highlanders, who dropped two of three to the Mustangs in the opening weekend of conference play, swept their series with Northridge last weekend to equal Poly's 4-2 slate.

In third place is Cal Poly Pomona at 2-2 with the Matadors, winless in four league games occupying the circuit cellar. The Broncos and Northridge are two games behind due to a doubleheader rainout.

Northridge is considered to have the best hitting club in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. On the other side of the coin, the Mustangs are touted to have the best mound crew in the league.

Harr considers this year's hurlers the best staff he's coached at Cal Poly. This places the 1971 pitching staff, which compiled a cumulative 1.98 earned run average to rank ninth in the final national major college statistics, no better than second.

"The thing I like most about the present staff is they are doing things as freshmen and sophomores the 1971 group was not able to accomplish until their senior year. I'd have to say this is the best pitching staff Cal Poly has had since I came here in 1971."

The Matadors offense is led by seven batters on the left side of the plate. As a result, Northridge has a 3-6 record against southpaws.

Harr plans to capitalize on the Matadors' achilles heel by starting lefthanders Gorman Heimuelter (5-1, 2.55 ERA) and Bud Papadakis (1-2, 3.56 ERA) for Saturday's twin bill. It will be Papadakis' fourth start and first in league. Bruce Freeberg (6-2, 1.91 ERA) will start Friday's series opener.

It's a precarious position for Berdy's Bunch. They enter the series against an opponent who has nothing to lose and everything to gain. Although the Mustangs don't have that much to gain, they have everything to lose against a team that is past due for a good weekend.
