Cal Poly Soils Science Professor Named Golden Key Advisor of the Year

Cal Poly Soil Science Professor Brent Hallock was recognized as Golden Key International Honour Advisor of the Year for the western region during the society's recent regional conference in Flagstaff, Ariz.

Hallock, who has taught at Cal Poly since 1979 and served as co-advisor of Golden Key since 1994, was presented with $500 and a certificate of achievement. He was commended for "his commitment to the highest academic standard and community service."

Chapter President Samantha Frankovich noted that, "Dr. Hallock's enthusiasm and warmth invoke a feeling of confidence and fellowship for both members and non-members alike."

Hallock was named a Golden Key Teacher of the Year in 1998. He lives in San Luis Obispo.

Also at the conference, Frankovich, an animal science major from Santa Rosa, was elected a Western regional student representative for 2002-2003.

Golden Key International Honour Society is a nonprofit academic honors organization that recognizes and encourages scholastic achievement and excellence in all undergraduate fields of study. It also promotes community service.
