Cal Poly's Outstanding Students Support the Arts

Cal Poly Arts announced the winners of the organization's annual Student Arts Awards at an end-of-the-year reception and Senior Recognition Award Ceremony hosted by Cal Poly's College of Liberal Arts on Thursday, June 6, 2002.

Each year, Cal Poly Arts' Board of Directors recognizes students who have been nominated by their departments for maintaining high levels of involvement in the arts while attending Cal Poly. Each recipient receives a cash award, framed certificate, and the engraving of their name on the Arts Awards plaque displayed in the lobby of the Performing Arts Center.

La Canada's James Wylie apRoberts, an Art & Design student, received the Service in the Arts Award. Art & Design students Cassandra Ellen Chambers of Pasadena and Andy Paiko of Davis each received the Achievement in the Arts Award.

Other students nominated, but not selected, automatically are considered for a Cal Poly Arts Commendation Certificate, distributed within the departments at their respective end-of-the-year functions. This year's recipients of Commendation Certificates include Art & Design student Joseph Hsu (San Jose), English students Erin Martin (Chico) and Amber Whelchel (Lompoc), Music student Jessica Getman (Barstow), and Theatre student Jarrod Bray (Paso Robles).
