The plant sale in the University Union is a common sight each quarter. Plants cultivated by the Ornamental Horticulture department and baskets supplied by El Corral Bookstore are sold to students at discount prices. Cici Barbe inspects some plants for herself, commenting, "My room is so bare!" The plant sale continues today.

San Luis mayor addresses noise

By GREGG SCHROEDER
Staff Writer

A proposed amendment to the present city noise ordinance is not an anti-student move, said San Luis Obispo Mayor Melanie Billig Tuesday night at the City Council meeting.

The proposed ordinance is based on a survey by Brown-Buntin Associates of existing noise levels in the town. The study suggests using a decibel meter, which measures sound levels, to enforce the proposed ordinance.

Under the previous ordinance, the element of proof was the subjective opinion of the responding police officer. If the proposed ordinance passes, noise readings can be compared objectively to a standard decibel level.

Councilwoman Glenna Dovey said the new ordinance would be easier to enforce than the existing one which "did not give benefit to noise makers."

Linda Eberle, community affairs representative for the Associated Students, Inc., told the council the ordinance is discriminatory to Cal Poly students, specifically attacking their parties.

Eberle questioned the objectivity of the standard decibel level. "What's loud to me may not be loud to you," she said.

"The ordinance would create dissension between the city and students," Eberle added. "The 15 to 16,000 students are legal residents with voting power."

Dan Robinson, former president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, told the city council he discussed the noise ordinance last year with police officers with the understanding that a study would be done and that he would be consulted when findings were made. Robinson said he was not consulted again.

Representing the Cal Poly Administration, Walt Lambert asked the council for postponement of a decision on the ordinance so the university can evaluate the issue and offer input.

Mayor Billig said another public hearing would be scheduled.

Six other residents voiced concern about noise generated by city garbage trucks, businesses and traffic. Fourteen year resident of San Luis Obispo and Cal Poly student Richard Smith said he did not see the new ordinance as an attack on students.

"It's a lot more than a party ordinance," he said. "The existing ordinance outlawing loud and unusual noise is... ludicrous."

Councilwoman Dovey asked representatives from Cal Poly to meet with city council members and make comments in reference to the proposed ordinance. The City Council could then form a compilation of responses for the next hearing.

"Both sides would have time to work with it (the proposed ordinance)," Dovey said.

Billig told the Mustang Daily the City Council felt it was very important to make it clear the ordinance is not an anti-student move.

"It was not meant that way," Billig said, referring to the ordinance. "It concerns us (the council staff) when people misconstrue."

"Students have to realize they are one component of the city. The council represents everyone."

Billig said the proposed ordinance is designed to address commercial, vehicular and neighborhood noise.

"It could never be construed to be selective (singling out Cal Poly students)," she said.

Eberle said she was happy with the proceedings, adding there was a lack of communication between the city and the university before the council meeting.

Eberle plans to meet with ASI, the Administration, the IFC, and possibly the Panhellenic Council to discuss the ordinance.

Billig said the next hearing on the noise level ordinance will be sometime in "early to mid-November."

Foundation supports Cal Poly

By KIM MILLER
Staff Writer

Not only does the Cal Poly Foundation run El Corral Bookstore, but it is also involved in diverse university financial operations, said its executive director.

Alfred Amaral, the Foundation's executive director, explained that every university has a legally separate financial institution that takes on the university's money matters.

"The main purpose (of Foundation) is to support the educational mission of this university," Amaral said.

The Foundation accepts gifts on behalf of Cal Poly and sees that the funds are distributed as the donor intended. Amaral said that Cal Poly received over $4 million dollars in cash and gifts last year.

Externally funded and sponsored programs are overseen by Foundation. "If the government signs a contract with Foundation to help support migrant engineering students, it is our job to see the contract is kept," Amaral said.

The university has requested the Foundation's aid in every facet in which the corporation has expanded. Amaral said, "We like to think of ourselves as the silent partners of the university," he added.

Cal Poly produces educational fare that is sold to other universities and high schools, and the Foundation oversees that enterprise, said Amaral. Student businesses like University Graphic Systems and agricultural programs are supported financially by the Foundation, although it is the specific dean of the school that administers the program, he said.

And then there are the functions that most students recognize, the bookstore and food service. "We support students in the resident halls by giving them adequate food to eat and by selling them books," said Amaral.

He added that the Foundation employs 185 full-time employees and 1500 part-time workers, most of which are students.

The Foundation's latest endeavor was to contract with the micro-computer manufacturers to sell personal computers at the El Corral Bookstore. "Now we are exploring the feasibility of on-campus faculty housing," Amaral said. "We're just getting started at looking at the problem."

He said the goal of such a project would be to provide short term housing for new faculty members to offset the high cost of living associated with living in San Luis Obispo.

"It will take weeks to pencil out the feasibility," said Amaral.

A nine member board of directors governs Foundation operations.

The board is made up of the university president, one student and up to three citizens from the community who serve one year terms. Seven faculty members or staff are appointed to staggered two year terms, said a Foundation brochure.

Amaral said he executes the board's policies.

Man intrudes on dorm resident

By DONALD MUNRO
Staff Writer

A woman resident of Tenaya Hall was surprised Monday night when a man entered her room claiming to be looking for another person.

The incident happened about midnight, said Cal Poly Investigator Ray Berrett. The woman resident reported that when she asked the man what he was doing in her room, he claimed to be looking for another person and gave a room number down the hall.

The woman reported the incident to her resident advisor, who questioned the residents who lived in the room the man said he was trying to find. The residents said they weren't expecting any guests that evening.

The suspect is described as a white male, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs about 170 pounds. He has shoulder-length blond hair and was wearing blue jeans and a windbreaker.

There have been a number of reports of suspicion persons loitering in the dorms so far this quarter, said Berrett.

Berrett said many rapists use a similar pattern of walking into dorm rooms looking for potential victims. If asked what they're doing, they usually say they're looking for someone else.

"This kind of pattern will repeat itself over and over again this year," Berrett said.

Many times, all it takes to thwart a potential rape or burglary is to act aggressive and tell the intruder to leave, Berrett said. There have been cases on campus when a girl has gotten very angry when someone entered her room and told him to leave, and he did.

Because many rapists want to feel powerful and in control of their victims, they will leave an aggressive, angry woman alone, Berrett said. They will often go down the hall searching for a victim who is timid and afraid, he said.

If people would just lock their doors, up to 90 percent of the crimes that occur in the dorms could be prevented, Berrett added.

Travelling responsibly through life

College students are responsible adults, and they should take responsibility for respecting human lives, both theirs and other people's.

Drinking and driving is not responsible.

Countless warnings about the severity of driving under the influence have been reiterated to people all over. Yet, the number of alcohol-related accidents continues to soar.

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers say that drunken drivers cause more deaths, injuries and destruction than murderers, thieves and rapists, and one out of two Americans will be the victim of an alcohol-related crash.

The state has tried to discourage drunken driving by enforcing severe penalties. Steve Seybold of the San Luis Obispo Police Department said that in San Luis Obispo a person is fined a minimum $375 and spends two days in jail for a first time drunken driving arrest. A driver's insurance also increases by about 20 percent.

Seybold said on a first offense the two days in jail can usually be suspended by working 40 to 80 hours for city cleaning services.

The second time a person is arrested for drunken driving, he or she will pay a $500 fine and spend a mandatory three days in jail.

Too many students think they will never be the ones to be involved in a drinking and driving accident. Friday's TGIF party leads to Friday night's party, which leads to driving home early Saturday morning—a little too inebriated.

Seybold said 60 percent of the people arrested for drunken driving in San Luis Obispo are college-age students. The number of weekend arrests is higher than weekday arrests.

By August there were 329 drunken driving arrests for 1984 in San Luis Obispo, a 32 percent increase from the same time in 1983, said Seybold.

Hearing the facts over and over again won't keep a potential drunken driver from getting in his car and getting on the road, possibly killing himself as well as someone else. As responsible friends, acquaintances and adults, we must stop someone who's drunk from driving home.

Take the keys away or offer a ride to a buddy who has had a little too much to drink. It could be the most responsible thing you've ever done.

Concerned reader suggests new way of safer transport

Editor:

I've read many articles concerning student safety on and off campus. How about some solutions? I'm sure there are quite a number of students, especially female, who find themselves with no means of transportation to get home during evening hours. Our so called "convenient" Poly Shuttle only runs until 7 p.m.

One solution to such a problem, as employed by my undergraduate university, is to enforce a student-volunteer transportation service. The service was called the "Anti-Rape Task Force." Students were asked to volunteer their services or provide their automobile for transportation. Pickups were scheduled at specified locales (i.e.

library, union) at specified hours (i.e. every hour, on the hour).

The student association at my former school took on the service as an experiment, and they were surprised by the number of volunteer turnouts as well as the number of female students taking advantage of such a service.

It may not be the best solution, but it's better than no solution at all.

The service can also run a certain route, accommodating the major residential areas (i.e. Valencia, Tropicana, etc.).

This can be an alternative to biking or walking home through the dark streets of San Luis Obispo.

Grand Avenue paves confusion

Editor:

Grand Avenue is more than living up to its name. It is equipped with more yellow lane dividing lines than any other street in the free world. Anyone entering the campus via Grand will find not only, but two lane separating lines colored yellow. Extensive research on my part has determined that throughout the country, yellow lines are used to separate lanes of traffic moving in opposite directions. So what does this mean for Cal Poly? Grand is the main entrance to Cal Poly, viewed by all visiting dignitaries and more importantly by the young impressionable freshmen living in the residence halls. Certainly a conservative school such as Cal Poly can realize the dangerous ramifications of discarding society's limitations. By ignoring agreed upon standards, we are destroying the illusion of utopian perfection we have tried so hard to create. Such an act as this could be interpreted by the communist menace as an invitation to come here and infiltrate our institution, destroying the very moral fiber with which our lives are woven. I am the first to admit that yellow lines are certainly more attractive than common white ones, however, their existence does have a purpose. I think James Watt said it best when he said "Preserving the beauty of a location should not come before its functionality is considered."

Reader sick over comic

Editor:

I believe you were using very poor judgment in allowing the October 1 Dorm Antics comic strip to be printed in your newspaper.

The comic strip showed a guy who goes to his social dance class the first day, and upon spotting an overweight girl becomes nauseous and asks directions to the Health Center.

I imagine that the only people who find this amusing are the ones who are callous enough to put a

"No Fat Chicks" sticker on their car. Their vanity gives me a case of nausea.

I makes me sad to think that has become acceptable to make fun of people with a weight problem. We are bombarded daily with media message that "thin is beautiful" manipulating us to believe that the outer appearance that counts. Why not try looking past the outer appearances? Take time to see the heart.

Rose Float Committee unveils new building

The 1985 Rose Float Committee dedicated their new building Saturday, Sept. 29 at the Rose Float Lab Facility.

The lab is located on campus on Feed Mill Road.

The committee unveiled a brass

'The Cellar' makes move

The Cellar vending food facility will be open on Monday, Oct. 8 at its new location in room 111A of Dexter Library.

Lloyd Lamouria, satellite operations manager of food services, said the new location is much better than the old, which is being remodelled along with much of Dexter Library. He said he was pleased because at its new location the Cellar will have an exterior entrance, a patio directly off of it, windows and improved ventilation.

If all goes as planned, said Lamouria, the vending machines will be moved in this weekend. The Cellar will be open from 6 a.m. to 12 midnight.

plaque at the dedication ceremony which will be mounted on the building later this year. The committee also sponsored a dance later in the evening for the occasion.

The new 35-feet by 40-feet "warehouse style" Butler Manufacturing Building has been in the planning stages for four years. The building took six months to construct and cost $6,000. The concrete foundation for the building was completed last summer.

"When you consider the added costs of the rolling door, concrete slab, skylights and sewer line, the building becomes a $12,000 expansion project," Mike Colvin, Rose Float Committee chairman, stated. "It would have been difficult without the support of local businesses and individuals who generously contributed to the project."

Colvin said that the building was partially financed through Associated Students Inc., which contributed $3,500. Lesley Lathrop, mother of past construction chairman Alden Bedard, donated $3,250 to the project.

Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo's half of the float will be stored and built in the new building. The Cal Poly campus in Pomona will build the other half of the float.

"Currently we are shaping all the design work and preparing to transport our half of the float down to Pomona at Thanksgiving," Colvin said.

"I'm very happy with our new building," Colvin added. "It's something that we've needed for a long time."

The old lab facility will be used to store equipment, supplies and animation materials.

Any student interested in the float building process are encouraged to join the Rose Float Club which also sponsors social activities. The club meets every Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in University Union Room 220.

Work on the float will begin every Saturday at the lab facility at 10:00 a.m.

Goodies waiting for Miss SLO

By KEVIN H. FOX
Staff Writer

A $500 scholarship, an all-expense-paid trip to the Miss California Pageant in Santa Cruz and a wardrobe worth several thousand dollars await the winner of the Miss San Luis Obispo County Scholarship Contest to be held Jan. 26, 1985.

Applications are now available at the University Union information desk or from the pageant promoters, Linda Fielder 481-4707 or Susan McHaney 481-4809. Entries will be accepted until Oct. 31.

Applicants must live in San Luis Obispo County, be between the ages of 17 and 26 and be a U. S. citizen to participate in an audition for the pageant. The top ten women will go on to the final pageant which will be held at the Pismo Beach Veterans Memorial Building.

The audition will consist of not more than a two minute and fifty second talent routine, swimsuit competition and a personal interview.

Contest Executive Director Linda Fielder said that this will be the only preliminary to the Miss California/Miss America contests.

"This is more than just a beauty pageant. Talent makes up 50 percent of the judging," Fielder said. "We try to make it something more than what God gave the girls."

"I know there are a lot of talented girls at Cal Poly and I look forward to having many sign up," said Fielder.

The Miss San Luis Obispo County pageant is replacing the San Luis City and the Grover City pageants. "Instead of sending two girls from the county, we will be sending only one to the state competition," said Fielder. "Hopefully we can get someone in the finals up in Santa Cruz."

POLICE REPORT

Cal Poly police responded to four auto-related thefts in a period of three days, according to Investigator Ray Berrett.

Parts from two Hondas parked in the R-1 residence hall parking lot were reported stolen Saturday, Sept. 29. A front bumper was taken from a 1982 silver-grey Honda Accord sometime between Thursday morning and Saturday morning. The car was parked on the level just below the water tower. The bumper's estimated value was $250.

Also stolen from the R-1 lot was a black metal grill from a 1983 Honda Accord. The car was parked on the drive between levels three and four of the lot. Estimated value of the grill was $100, said Berrett.

In another auto-related theft, a wallet was stolen from a car parked in the G-3 parking lot Sunday, Sept. 30. The suspect entered the car through a partially opened window by pushing it down, and then took the wallet from the glove box.

Police also reported that a car cover was taken from a car parked on Pacheco Way on campus Friday, Sept. 28. The cover was blue-green and was worth about $40, said Berrett.

Shuttles will seek cities

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — When the shuttle Challenger soars into space Friday it will carry a radar camera that scientists hope will detect ancient lost cities, icebergs, oil spills and forests damaged by acid rain.

"It's very important because it's going to help us understand our environment and the processes shaping our environment," said Charles Elachi, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory physicist heading the 13-nation project for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Known as Shuttle Imaging Radar-B, or SIR-B, the device's 35-by-7-foot antenna will be aimed at Earth from Challenger's open cargo bay for 50 hours during the eight-day shuttle flight. The antenna will beam radar microwaves at the planet's surface, record the echoes and relay them via satellite to Earth.

Because the radar will scan 18 million square miles — about a fourth of the planet's landmass and 5 percent of its total surface, including oceans — it will take two years to convert all the data into black-and-white pictures, Elachi said.

On Tuesday, the Soviet Union completed a space mission which yielded almost 25,000 photos of Earth's surface, officials said. The three cosmonauts on the mission spent a 237 days aboard an orbiting laboratory, history's longest manned space flight.

SIR-B is a descendant of the Seasat satellite, launched in 1978, and SIR-A, which flew aboard a shuttle in November 1981. Seasat was designed to map ocean currents, tides, temperatures and wave heights, but surprised scientists by revealing hidden features on land. SIR-A revealed ancient, dry riverbeds buried beneath the sands of the eastern Sahara Desert in Egypt and Sudan.

Wave the flag for true love

"This is land is your land, this land is my land..."
—Woody Guthrie

I've never waved an American flag.

I've never really had the opportunity.

Sure, I've been to my share of Fourth of July celebrations, but the way people have explained what that day is supposed to signify (that we are better than everyone else in the world) has completely turned me off to the idea of waving a flag on the fourth.

So I thought it was strange that as I waited outside the Ticketron outlet in San Luis Obispo at 3 a.m. for a chance to buy a Bruce Springsteen ticket, I was also wondering as to where I might purchase an American flag.

I think that my wanting to buy that flag is a direct reaction against the numerous newspaper articles and television news segments have been written commenting on the renewed patriotism of the American public.

Frankly, I don't think many of these commentators know what they are talking about.

For instance, we've had the recent political conventions, the Olympics and the influence of a president that thinks the 1950s were a great era for Americans.

Yeah right, people have suddenly become patriotic.

I'm sorry but staged flagwaving demonstrations on convention floors have never particularly appealed to me.

I also don't think having the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of a country saluting the Olympic ideals that, which are beyond nationalism, should be considered a patriotic action.

For me patriotism is loving and caring for something with a fierce loyalty even when you know there are a lot of things wrong with the thing you love.

But, somewhere, (I think it was during the 1960s) somehow, someone made a big mistake. They gave away the flag. They gave away a precious symbol of freedom, independence and the pursuit of happiness.

We have to work with the system to make it better.

I am going to wave it because, even though there are many bad things happening, there is a hope that can never be extinguished, a dream that can never be killed but likely will never be realized.

I am going to wave it because Springsteen is the only person who sings about the real America (not the phony one of the image makers).

That's real patriotism.

"I'm a cool rocking daddy in the U.S.A."

News reporter ordered to present notes

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A Los Angeles news reporter said Wednesday "it remains to be seen" whether he will comply with a judge's order to produce his notes in connection with a fraud trial scheduled to start Oct. 10.

"It's unclear what's going to happen," said Jeff Kaye, who was ordered Tuesday by Santa Clara Superior Court Judge Joseph F. Biafore Jr. to produce his notes Oct. 9 in the case of Lucile and Donald Hillestad. Kaye covered the story while working for the San Jose Mercury News.

But one thing is clear, Kaye told The Associated Press. He said he has no intention of complying with the Hillestad defense demand to "know everything" Kaye did in connection with his work on the Hillestad story.

"That's an area I don't intend to get into," said Kaye, now a reporter with the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. The order on the notes came during a day in which he appeared at a pre-trial hearing.

The Hillestads were charged two years ago with five counts of bribery, conspiracy and conflict of interest after an undercover investigation, by the sheriff's department and the county district attorney's office, into suspected corruption in the town of Los Altos Hills.

In the story Kaye wrote for the Mercury News on Oct. 22, 1982, the Hillestads admitted backdating a real estate document so that Mrs. Hillestad, then a Los Altos Hills councilwoman, could vote on property in which she held a financial interest.

The judge's order, according to Mercury News lawyer Edward P. Davis, who is representing Kaye, goes counter to the California Constitution on grounds that a reporter's notes and any other published material are protected — a point the judge qualifiedly conceded.

Judge Biafore said he ordered the notes so that he can review them and decide whether they should be turned over to the defense.

PUC approves 7 percent bus fare hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The cost of Greyhound bus tickets in California will rise 7 percent as the result of a $5.1 million fare increase approved Wednesday by the state Public Utilities Commission.

Despite grumbling from Commissioner Donald Vial that the PUC didn't know all it should know about Greyhound's finances, the increase sought by the company was approved on a 4-0 vote.

The price of a San Francisco-Los Angeles ticket will rise from $36.60 to $39.20. A Los Angeles-San Diego ticket will increase from $12.60 to $13.50, a Los Angeles-Fresno ticket from $18.35 to $19.65, and a San Francisco-Sacramento ticket from $10.85 to $11.60.

The increase takes effect five days after Greyhound posts public notices in buses and terminals.

Greyhound got a substantial fare increase last year and later gained concessions from union drivers in settling a strike. But the PUC agreed with Greyhound that the new increase was reasonable and would reduce the gap between in-state and interstate fares.

Last year the PUC approved only 9.25 percent of Greyhound's proposed 15 percent fare increase, but Greyhound then got the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant the rest of the increase.

The ICC went along with the state commission, however, in rejecting Greyhound's proposal to drop service to more than 90 points in California.

Vial said the Greyhound increase appeared justified, but noted that the PUC had not examined the company's capital structure to get additional perspective on its costs and revenues.

He said the commission looks at capital structures of energy companies, where there no federal agency can overrule the PUC. But the recent federal law giving the ICC a relatively free hand in overruling the state commission on bus fares has affected the PUC's approach to the subject, Vial said in an interview.

Ferry sinks after colliding with barge

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — A ferry taking 43 passengers on a birthday cruise in rainy Hamburg harbor sank after colliding with a barge towed by a tug boat. Nineteen people were killed and 24 were injured, officials said today.

Hamburg Interior Senator Rolf Lange told a news

Farce

MRS. PRINGLE WANTED A HAIRCUT TO MAKE HER LOOK YOUNGER

conference 43 people were aboard the ferry Martina when it went down Tuesday night, seconds after the collision. Police previously said about 47 people were aboard.

Twenty-four passengers were rescued by the tug boat Therese and other boats that responded to an alarm, but 19 others from 13 families were either confirmed dead or missing and presumed dead, Lange said.

The body of an elderly woman passenger was recovered about an hour after the sinking, and six other victims — a woman, two men and three children — were found aboard the ferry after it was raised from 42 feet of water this morning, police reported.

Police earlier Wednesday said another adult body was recovered from the ferry when it was towed to a Hamburg shipyard but that report was retracted at the news conference.

Lange said 12 passengers were missing and presumed dead.

Lange, the city's top security official, said the exact cause of the collision was unclear, although the investigation had established that the ferry somehow got between the tug boat and the barge.

He said examination of the barge's hull showed it collided with the ferry.

Divers found the sunken ferry early today, 5 1/2 hours after it went down. High tide had hindered efforts to raise the wreck.

The ferry was on a cruise chartered by Wolfgang Rosenhagen to celebrate his 40th birthday. Rosenhagen and his wife Gudrun, both Hamburg meteorologists, were among the survivors, but their two sons, Guntram, 11, and Mathias, 5, were listed as missing, police said.

Students help out community

Hundreds of Cal Poly students are deciding to spend their extra time helping people in the community through the Cal Poly Student Community Services, instead of going to the beach or partying.

Over the years, thousands of student volunteers have assisted many people including children, senior citizens, disabled people and patients of Atascadero State Hospital.

Sam Lutrin, advisor to Student Community Services, said last year

200 students helped out in the community by being big brothers and sisters, tutoring children in grade school and junior high school and helping the disabled.

Volunteers with the Student Community Services serve in various roles ranging from leader and manager to promoter and teacher. Lutrin said the people who participated before have said, "It feels good to help people. It is such a meaningful thing to lend a hand to others."

Lutrin added, "(Working with these people) makes you stop and think how happy you are and how much worse things could be."

Students from all majors, including technical fields, have participated in Student Community Services, Lutrin said.

"People from technical areas like (participating) because it's so human oriented—it's a break from their major," said Lutrin.

Students or clubs who are interested in Student Community Services can stop by Room 217 of the University Union to find out more information or pick up an application.

Catching fallen stars

By BRENDA BIELKE
Staff Writer

So expressed the theme of a collaboration by four Cal Poly faculty members that includes an art show in the University Union Galerie and a recital in the Cal Poly Theatre Friday, Oct. 5.

Portraits, music, dance and dramatic literature are interwoven in "Stars, Songs, Faces," to recognize various artists who died young but left lasting impressions.

Tickets for the presentation are $2 for students and $4 for the public, available at the University Union ticket office, Cheap Thrills, Boo-Boo Records and the Dance Shop.

Painter Dan Piel, oral interpreter Pamela Cook Miller, composer John Russell and choreographer Cynthia Nazzaro, all Cal Poly faculty members, combined their talents to create a two-part tribute to both classical immortals and recent young fallen stars.

Friday's recital will include works by Wolfgang Mozart and Franz Schubert, both of whom died in their early 30s. A dramatic reading from the works of John Keats and an original dance set to an original musical composition will also be featured.

The collaboration began with Piel, who painted a series of entertainers' portraits in heroic proportions. Fourteen of these are on display in the Galerie, Room 220, through Oct. 20.

Beginning with Rudolph Valentino, who died at age 31, Piel moved through time to John Lennon by way of Jean Harlow, James Dean, Marilyn Monroe, Jim Morrison and other performers who died in the peak of their careers, some tragically. Color and an illuminating start gradually intensify in each portrait, from the black and white of the Valentino portrait to the vibrant hues of Elvis Presley and Lennon.

Piel approached Miller, a member of the Speech Communications Department faculty, when he was working on the portrait project. She agreed to select a quotation to accompany each portrait. Once the idea to use quotes with the portraits took root, Piel and Miller decided to expand on the concept.

the emotional content of the piece. I wanted some way of tying the ancient past (to the present). People haven't changed much, the same feelings are still felt today," Russell said.

In "tying in the old with the new" as Russell phrased it, he and his colleagues found the ancient tale relevant to the contemporary stars in Piel's portraits. "This story is especially appropriate to Marilyn Monroe," said Miller. "We can see her in her movies which keep her forever young but we can never attain her."

Nazzaro, a member of the Theatre and Dance Department faculty, choreographed the dance to Russell's music. She and David Blood of the Oakland Ballet, the principal dancers, will dance the performance live. A videotaped dance presentation is part of the exhibit at the Galerie.

Love relationships are the core of Nazzaro's dance.

"It is a symbol for the dynamics which exists between great genius, media stars if you will, and how that relationship exists. A love relationship can also be destructive. It's a power struggle, the pathos of love, if you will," Nazzaro said.

The show is going on the road in November. The artist and their works have been invited to the California State University Chancellor's Office in Long Beach. From there they will head to Pacific Grove, UC Irvine and Cal Poly Pomona. A few changed will be added to the presentation before the tour. A few problems with the quotations will be worked out, one of the solutions of which is to use two quotations with each portrait, one from literature and the other

"We first thought the music of some of these stars would be good, but original music would be better," Piel said. Russell was recommended to Piel as an excellent composer who wanted to write a modern music suite. "It was his (Russell's) idea to do a recital," Piel said. Dance became incorporated into the project and Nazzaro, who had worked previously with Russell, was chosen to choreograph.

Miller organized the Interpreters Theatre to present John Keats's "Eve of St. Agnes" at the recital. Group members include V. Craig Heidenreich, an instructor at Santa Maria's Allan Hancock Community College, in the title role in Macbeth this fall at Cal Poly; Carol Cosgrave, Cal Poly student; and Aaron Elmore, a Cal Poly student also appearing in Macbeth. Gretchen Heidenreich, wife of V. Craig Heidenreich, directs

A Greek myth forms the base for "Endymion and Selene," a piece composed by Russell for two dancers.

"I composed the piece in my studio at home on a digital synthesizer interfaced with a computer," said Russell. The story of Selene, goddess of the moon, and Endymion, a handsome shepherd, is a love story. The goddess falls in love with Endymion, visits him on earth and wants to possess him entirely. She throws him into a deep enchanted sleep where he remains forever young, beautiful and unattainable.

It is this aspect of the myth which prompted Russell to use it as the basis of his composition.

"When I composed the music, I had the myth in mind. It affects

Factory accused of not paying Asians

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U.S. Labor Department accused T and W Fashions of underpaying 424 workers, mostly female Asian immigrants, $405,000 over a three-year period at its San Francisco women's clothing factory.

The department said the company paid workers below the federal minimum wage of $3.25 an hour and failed to pay overtime as required by federal law for all hours above 40 in a week.

There was no immediate comment from the company.

As allowed by federal labor law, the suit seeks twice the amount of the unpaid retroactive wages, or $810,000, in damages for the workers from August 1981 through the present.

T and W is also the target of a private civil suit, filed last year by the Asian Law Caucus and other legal groups on behalf of 11 former employees.

Dennis Hayashi of the Asian Law Caucus said T and W has paid its workers as little as $18 for a 10-hour day.

Hayashi also said the caucus' suit seeks damages from one of the manufacturers for which T and W makes clothes, Fritz of California. He said the clothes are sold under the brands of Fritz and You Babes.

Clove cigarettes making waves

BY ROSEMARY COSTANZO
Staff Writer

Clove cigarettes are quickly replacing Vuarnet sunglasses as the west coast status symbol.

"Clove cigarettes are particularly popular in beach community towns, they have become the new West Coast status symbol," said Sheri Sciarrino of the American Lung Association.

Many of the people that smoke clove cigarettes think they are a safe alternative to regular tar cigarettes.

"People think they're being organic and healthy when they smoke cloves. What they don't realize is that clove cigarettes contain high tar just like tobacco cigarettes," said Sciarrino.

"While it is not known whether cigarettes with clove oil are more dangerous to smoke than regular cigarettes, we must assume that clove oil cigarettes pose at least the same danger as regular cigarettes unless proven otherwise," said Debbie Kelley, program director of the San Diego Lung Association.

Clove oil is one of hundreds of additives currently being used by the tobacco industry to improve the flavor, aroma, and burning qualities of cigarettes, especially those with low-tar and low-nicotine. While most of these additives appear on the "generally recognized as safe" list of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, they are presumed safe only when consumed orally in their unburned form. When burned, many of these substances may become toxic and potentially harmful to a smoker's health.

Most clove cigarettes are imported from Indonesia which may be the root of another problem associated with these cigarettes.

"Tobacco imported from Indonesia isn't the high level of tobacco used in America," said Sciarrino. "It's Grade B, instead of A."

The tobacco is frequently treated with DDT and other pesticides that aren't acceptable in the United States, she said.

The clove oil in the cigarettes acts as an analgesic and it coats the bronchial tree so smokers don't realize how deeply they're holding in the smoke, said Sciarrino.

Some people claim to get high when smoking cloves. Sciarrino said that the high is caused by the nicotine in the cigarette.

The Manager of The Sub, Bruce Brown, samples some of his own wares by lighting up a clove cigarette. Several brands of cigarettes imported from Indonesia

Church of Scientology suit reinstated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal appeals court on Wednesday reinstated a slander suit by the Church of Scientology of California against a lawyer who described how something went wrong with his airplane while he was in a legal dispute with the church.

The statements of Michael Flynn could be reasonably interpreted as accusing the church of trying to kill him, said the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Flynn, a Massachusetts lawyer who often represents former Scientologists against the California church, was described in the lawsuit as having made the statements in a speech to about 80 people in Los Angeles in June 1983.

According to the allegations quoted by the court, Flynn discussed four years of litigation with "an enormous organization" that hires "armies of lawyers to try to destroy me and my clients."

He was quoted as saying that in October 1979, shortly after he rejected a settlement offer from the Church of Scientology in a case, his private plane lost power on a flight to South Bend, Ind., and made an emergency landing.

Flynn was quoted as saying that after the landing, he and his passengers drained quarts of water from the fuel tanks. Any condensation of water in the tanks would be detected on a pre-flight examination, he was quoted as saying.

Surfer attacked by 12-foot white shark

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) —

Surfer Bob Rice says he felt "terror, sheer terror" when a 12-foot great white shark sank its teeth into his surfboard in the ocean off Pacific City.

"You could feel the bite," Rice said in an interview here Tuesday. "I couldn't believe it was happening to me."

Rice, 25, said he was close to ending "a perfect day" of surfing with two friends south of Cape Kiwanda when the attack occurred at 3:30 Sunday afternoon. The Pacific had been glassy smooth with evenly breaking five-foot

The Aloha native attending Oregon State University here said he could see the ocean bottom 15 feet below and had spotted many sealions.

Rice said he was sitting on his board, waiting for a good wave, when the shark suddenly appeared on the ocean side and lunged at his board. The shark's jaws bit once, then again with "a big chomp" before turning away and diving towards deeper water.

The 10-year veteran surfer said he was tossed off the six-foot-long board but quickly climbed back on and paddled toward the beach as fast as he could.

"To be here and talking about it and not in a hospital hurting is truly amazing," Rice said. His only injury was a small scrape on his right foot and there was a small tear in his wetsuit.

"It had to be a great white shark, no question about it," said Dale Snow, a biologist with the Oregon Fish & Wildlife Department.

Snow analyzed the tooth marks on Rice's surfboard and said the fish was 12 to 15 feet long and weighed about 1,200 pounds.

Drunken driver convicted

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A man convicted of second-degree murder for the deaths of two people in a drunken traffic accident has been sentenced to nearly 20 years to life in prison.

Charles Francis McCarns III, 33, of Gardena, was given the 19-year, 8-month to life sentence Tuesday by Judge W.J. Harpham, a Lake County judge sitting temporarily in Riverside Superior Court.

McCarns, a refrigeration mechanic, is the first person in the county to be convicted of second-degree murder in a drunken driving accident case.

A jury in July found McCarns guilty of two counts of second-degree murder, two counts of vehicular manslaughter, drunken driving resulting in injury and hit-and-run. The judge, for technical reasons, dismissed the vehicular manslaughter counts Tuesday.

The fatal accident occurred July 23, 1983, in the Sunnymead area as McCarns returned from a fishing trip to Lake Perris. His Chevrolet crashed head-on into a Volkswagen driven by Frank Ferreira, 23, of Stanton. Ferreira and daughter Jennifer, 2, were killed. Four others in Ferreira's car were injured.

McCarns, who was driving with a revoked license, suffered a cut forehead.

Defense attorneys Rex W. Kellough and Robert Dowd of La Habra said McCarns would appeal.

Deputy District Attorney L. Kim Purbaugh argued for a long term because McCarns drank and drove despite prior convictions, a jail term and revocation of his license.

The defense contended the verdicts of murder and vehicular manslaughter were inconsistent because malice is a requirement of a murder finding, but not of vehicular manslaughter.

The prosecutor argued that California courts have ruled that the appropriate remedy is dismissal of the vehicular manslaughter counts. The judge did just that.

Harriers No. 3 in nation

Women ranked high in poll with Division I teams

Cal Poly Women's Cross Country team moved on Wednesday. And they moved in their favorite direction — up.

The team was ranked No. 4 in the NCAA Division I Coaches Poll last week and moved up to No. 3 this week, behind No. 1 Oregon and No. 2 Wisconsin.

The outstanding factor in the ranking is that Cal Poly is the only Division II school to be named to the Division I poll.

"Even though we don't have the financial abilities as the Division I teams, we have great runners who are able to overcome that for us," Coach Lance Harter said.

The team will not be relaxing on its laurels this week, however, since the Mustangs will be preparing for a Saturday meet against No. 5-ranked Stanford, at Stanford.

"We'll find out this week how good we really are when we play them," Harter noted.

Chicago takes lead

Raiders trying to bounce back

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Dernier transformed speed into a pair of Chicago runs and Steve Trout continued to silence San Diego's bats Wednesday as the Cubs beat the Padres 4-2 and took a two-games-to-none lead in the National League Championship Series.

The Cubs moved to within one victory of advancing to their first World Series since 1945.

Since the current division format was instituted in 1969, no National League team has lost the first two playoff games and won the series. Only the 1982 Milwaukee Brewers have done it in the American League.

The Cubs won the opening game 13-0 Tuesday. Trout, 13-7, adding another laurel to the best season of his career, gave up only five hits, struck out two and walked three before giving way with one out in the top of the ninth to Lee Smith.

Smith, who had 33 saves during the season, struck out Carmelo Martinez and got Terry Kennedy on a long fly to left to preserve the victory.

The wind in Wrigley Field changed dramatically from Game One to Game Two, and so did the nature.

The Cubs used five homers — two by Gary Matthews — to rough up San Diego in Game One. In Game Two the wind died, and the Cubs turned to the speed of Dernier to manufacture two important runs. Dernier went from first to third on a ground ball before scoring in the first inning, and he stole a base and scored in the fourth.

In between, the Cubs scored twice in the third inning on a double by Cey and a sacrifice fly by Jody Davis.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The defending Super Bowl champion Los Angeles Raiders won't go unbeaten this season. They lost Sunday.

Coach Tom Flores of the Raiders acknowledged his disappointment Wednesday with his team's 16-13 loss to the Broncos, but also chose to appreciate the positive aspects of what's transpired so far this year.

And he also chose to look to the future.

"We haven't fallen apart," Flores said at his weekly meeting with reporters. "We're still 4-1, we're still in first place."

"We're not panicking, but it is devastating to lose when you're not used to losing. It happens, it's pretty tough nowadays to go through a season undefeated."

"It's over. You have to go on." The loss left the Raiders and Broncos tied for first place along with Seattle in the American Football Conference's Western Division. All three teams have 4-1 records. The other two teams in the division, Kansas City and San Diego, are both 3-2.

"We're a third of the way through the season," Flores said. "It's going to be much tougher than past years. Just look at the division. The worst team is 3-2. There's no breathing room. It's going to be that way all year."

Los Angeles faces Seattle at the Los Angeles Coliseum this Sunday. The Seahawks were victorious over the Raiders in both of the regular-season National Football League games played between the teams last season but dropped a 30-14 decision in the AFC Championship Game.

"The Denver game was our third division game in a row and this will be our fourth," Flores said. "There's no love lost in games within our division."

"The loss shows that we're not unbeatable and shows how strong our division is. We squeaked by Kansas City and we squeaked by San Diego and we lost to Denver."

Flores had a simple explanation for what happened in Denver.

"We just didn't play very well," he said. "I've always been a strong believer that execution is one of the most important things. We just didn't execute."

"We came off a Monday night game (a 33-30 victory over San Diego) that was a tough game for us physically and emotionally. That shouldn't have mattered, but maybe it did."

Board solid on defense

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dwaine Board of the San Francisco 49ers has come all the way back — and then some, perhaps — from his last knee injury.

"Dwaine Board is playing every down of every game for us, which is amazing. Some other defensive linemen do it, but not players with the same physiques," Coach Bill Walsh says.

"He's a racehorse kind of athlete, not built low to the ground." Board is a 6-foot-5, 248-pound defensive end. His nickname of "Pee Wee" would seem ludicrous anywhere outside the National Football League's trenches of line warfare.

He missed most of two seasons, 1980 and 1982, because of knee injuries. With him in the lineup, the 49ers are 35-11 since 1980, and Walsh says, "He has to be considered one of the top linemen in football."

Spikers get 15th win

by JILL PERRY
Staff Writer

It may be raining cats and dogs this week for the Cal Poly Women's volleyball team, but the winning spikers plan to stay high and dry.

After sweating it out against the Fresno State Bulldogs Tuesday and coming out the victors in three games, 17-15, 15-6 and 16-14, the team will face the University of Arizona Wildcats this Saturday at home.

"It was not a sterling effort," head coach Mike Wilton said of the victory over unranked Fresno State. "Our hitting stats were horrible," he added. Neither team was on top as far as hitting percentages went Tuesday night. With a division average of .250, the Mustangs recorded a low .079 percentage, while Fresno turned in .176.

Junior Lynn Kessler scored the highest number of kills against the Dogs with a high of 14.

Part of the problem for the team at this point is more play and less practice. The spikers have played six matches in the past six days, including a tough tournament last weekend in which Poly came out tournament champ at Cal Berkeley. "We have been in a skid lately because of a lack of concentrated practice time," Wilton said.

The team will no doubt be spending the next three days before Saturday's game on the practice courts, even though Poly prevailed in the last two matches it played against the Wildcats, winning in five games last year. Wilton is taking no chances and is preparing for anything.

"The University of Arizona is ranked ninth and is going to come in here loaded for horse, and I mean Mustang," he said seriously. They want a piece of us and they're really good."

Because Arizona is only 5-3 this season, Poly could have an experience advantage over the Wildcats with 18 matches played and a record of 15-2. But the Poly spikers will not be relaxing come Saturday. "They (Arizona) should be right on and ready to go. They come from a heavy playing conference (WCAA) and they will have just played No. 3-ranked Stanford Friday night," Wilton said.

Since the Mustangs haven't had a home game since Sept. 6, Wilton said the team is looking forward to competition on its home turf. "They're aching to play at home in front of a home crowd. Our home crowds are traditionally knowledgeable and really hang in there with us and get us going," he said.

Service will be at 7:30 p.m. in the main gym. The match is free to students with valid ASI cards.

Poly ends tied after overtimes

The Cal Poly men's soccer team continues its comeback, tying Cal State Los Angeles in a double overtime league match Wednesday, 1-1.

Cal State Los Angeles had won its last seven matches and was 3-0 in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, but the Mustangs held the usually high scoring Golden Eagles to one goal.

Cal State Los Angeles started the scoring with a goal after goalie Don Aguiar failed to handle a routine ground ball.

Cal Poly tied the score in the second half on a goal by midfielder Mark Gambatz on a penalty kick. The game went through two overtimes with neither team scoring.

The Mustangs got a "standout performance" from Dave Pai and Eric Crozier, said Cal Poly head coach Wolfgang Gartner.

"The midfield play of Mike Williams, Jeff Ferber, Mark Gambatz and Dave Tobias," said Gartner, "continually startled the highly-ranked L.A. team and was a major reason for a successful game."

The men's soccer will play at home this Saturday, Oct. 6, in Musatang Stadium. The game starts at 7:30 p.m. and is free to students.

LA trades Muhammad

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Raiders have traded wide receiver Calvin Muhammad to the Washington Redskins in exchange for a selection in the 1985 National Football League draft, Coach Tom Flores announced Wednesday.

'Pee Wee' back for 49ers

"Dwayne has to expend himself the whole game against blockers who are 20 to 30 pounds heavier and still be able to give us a strong pass rush in the last two minutes," says Walsh.

Board has been successful, obviously, or he wouldn't be on the field so much. The other six defensive linemen on the team are constantly running on and off the field.
