

New Cal Poly Discussion Series to Focus on International Terrorism

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- Cal Poly is sponsoring a fall quarter series of panel discussions titled "Seminars on International Terrorism." The first is set for 7-9 p.m. Wednesday (Oct. 24) in the Pavilion in the Performing Arts Center's Christopher Cohan Center.

Panelists for the presentation, "Central Asia and the Middle East: An Overview," include Political Science Professor Bud Evans, History Professor Manzar Foroohar, Geography Professor James Keese and Aerospace Engineering Professor Faysal Kolkailah. Political Science Professor Phil Fetzer will moderate the panel in a discussion of Islam and the geography, history and politics of Central Asia and the Middle East.

The series will continue on Nov. 14 with discussion focusing on "International Politics and Terrorism," and on Nov. 28 with a look at military and intelligence issues. Those forums will also be 7-9 p.m. in the Christopher Cohan Center's Pavilion.

The panel discussions are designed to provide information on topics of general interest to the community. They are free and open to the public.

For more information on the seminar series contact, Anny Morrobel-Sosa at 756-1380 or Fetzer at 756-6147.
