Cal Poly's Kennedy Library Presents 'How to Be a Futurist' with Bryan Alexander

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Cal Poly's Kennedy Library will present "How to Be a Futurist" from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13, in the library's second-floor cafe lounge, as part of its Cal Poly Science Café series.

The event features Bryan Alexander, a futurist, researcher, writer, speaker, consultant and teacher working in the field of how technology transforms education. Alexander will talk about his work and how everyone can be a futurist.

During the interactive event, participants will learn how to make informed predictions about the future in their personal and professional lives and with empathy for others. Alexander will also lead the audience in building a prototype artifact to inform how we think about the future.

Cal Poly Science Café is open to the public. Light refreshments will be served, and metered parking is available.

For more information, go to the Kennedy Library's website at <http://lib.calpoly.edu/events/how-to-be-a-futurist/>.
