Student plans diabetes aid

BY CATHY SPEARNAK

A diabetes major has a goal of helping diabetics.

Kathy Roderick, 22, has designed a pamphlet that will aid students in choosing better diabetic diets. Roderick, who works as a diet

Inside Today

1. Student plans diabetes aid

2. Diablo Fuel conversion study considered

3. Senior project becomes a community celebration

4. Inside Today

Consumer —

Students beware

See page 4

Tennis —

Mustangs in league finals

See page 6

BY SEANNA BROWDER

BY RALPH THOMAS

BY SEANNA BROWDER

Junior, four Cal Poly child

Senior project becomes a community celebration

BY SEANNA BROWDER

Daily Staff Writer

Four Cal Poly child

development majors have organized a Week of the Child for San Luis Obispo.

The students — Donna Henley, Marla Geller, Melinda Young and Janice Hnath — have planned events and seminars through April 12 as part of their senior project.

"Children have no one to represent them," said Donna Henley. "People need to become aware of the opportunities available to children in the community. There is more than just school.

The women have been planning for this since October 1, 1979.

"It has taken a lot of time and work, more so than a research paper," said Marla Geller. "Organizing this was definitely hard work but seeing everything fall into place has made me feel that we have accomplished something.

"It has become more of a project with the community than a senior project," Henley said.

There will be experts speaking on schooling, discipline and child nutrition, and seminars throughout this week. For times and places of the seminars, contact the Cal Poly child development department.

The highlight of the week will be on Saturday, April 12. A festival will be held at the Mission Plaza. A variety of booths, food and entertainment will be in attendance.

Demonstrations by the police and fire departments will be given. A "petting zoo" will be set up by the Future Farmers of America. Experts in the fields of child nutrition, mental health and law will also be present.

"We did not have a budget," Henley said. "Everything has been donated or volunteered.""I was surprised how people were so willing to participate," said Geller.

"The cooperation with Children's Service Agencies and the Child Care Resource Center was fantastic," Henley said. "We want people to know that there are organizations in the community that we can help parents and children.

"We were exposed to many professionals in the child development field," said Geller. "I have learned a lot about the type of careers there are in child development. It has definitely been a worthwhile project.

Henley said she hopes that someone else will pick up Week of the Child for their senior project next year.

"It would be sad not to see Week of the Child continue," agreed Geller.

Diablo Fuel conversion study considered

BY RALPH THOMAS

A bill that would call for a study on the feasibility of converting the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant to an alternative fuel source has been introduced to the state Legislature.

"It's open-ing has been delayed by opponents who question the safety of the plant," said Bill Podesta, a PG&E spokesman, does not think Muscle Bill is necessary.

He said converting the Diablo Canyon project to a different fuel source "would be economically and technically feasible.""I was surprised how people were so willing to participate," said Geller.

"The cooperation with Children's Service Agencies and the Child Care Resource Center was fantastic," Henley said. "We want people to know that there are organizations in the community that we can help parents and children.

"We were exposed to many professionals in the child development field," said Geller. "I have learned a lot about the type of careers there are in child development. It has definitely been a worthwhile project.

Henley said she hopes that someone else will pick up Week of the Child for their senior project next year.

"It would be sad not to see Week of the Child continue," agreed Geller.
More than friends

The American-Iranian hostage dilemma, and Russian crises in Afghanistan, have been eye-openers. They have not only exposed deep resentment of Americans by Middle Eastern countries, but illuminated flaws in our partnership with allies.

Throughout these crises a majority of U.S. allies have been giving half-hearted responses to American pleas of coherence and unity in international policy. The administration has asked allies to support boycotts of Russia and Iran. But, ho-hum, allies had more important things to consider: Would they alienate the Ayatollah Khomeini and bring his wrath? Where would they get supplements from lost Iranian oil? What would happen to their own country?

Japan has bluntly stated it refuses to goalong with any oil boycott. It imports more than 90 percent of its oil and has claimed the loss of Iranian oil would be too great a favor, and for what?

France, with a troubled economy and government, would seemingly need to be drafted before it pitches in to help during the crises.

Germany fears Russian rebukes; its support has been mostly behind the scenes. A return to the Cold War has real meaning for Germans, who have fought long for a relaxed border in East Germany.

England alone has consistently backed the American boycotts of Iran and Russia. With no fewer troubles than France, England has spoken out against Khomeini and international terrorism.

What it boils down to is a poor show of cohesion inside NATO and among other American allies. That is reflected by inability to decide on any form of action. Consequently, the Soviets or other countries can play on ally disunity.

Talk of boycotts was shrugged off by Russia and Iran. The Soviets issued threats of repercussions to European neighbors. But, if NATO and other free-world allies are to be taken seriously, they must start acting more like partners and less like fair-weather friends.

Letters

Apart from the news

Editors:
This is in response to a letter from Jan Gartenberg published in the Daily (March 14) during the waning days of last quarter.

In his letter, Gartenberg charged the KCPR news department with prejudice because of a story we ran during one of our newscasts. The story told of the arrest in Los Angeles of a rabbi and 13 students for disturbing the peace.

While we do not intend to enumerate here all of the considerations that go into the decision to use any particular story in a given newscast, we would like to make this one point: there is no logical connection between the use of any valid news story (which this one most definitely was) and the personal feelings of those who report that story.

For example, if a story on Watergate is run, does that demonstrate that the broadcaster who does the story is anti-Republican? We think not. As a matter of fact, there were some people in this country (and still are) who charged that the media was out to get Nixon. We would hate to think that Gartenberg occupies the same mental realm as these people, but he has certainly done nothing to make us think otherwise.

Strong language? Yes! We are all offended at being called anti-semites.

Mustang Daily

By Dave Curtis

Queeb's

Hey George!
I hear you are learning how to surf!

Hey ya, I'm totally stoked about my goofy-foot backside carves in those emerald tubulars, yo...

So you've already been out in the water?

Well, no, it took me two days just to learn how to talk.

Other stories in this issue:

More than friends

The American-Iranian hostage dilemma, and Russian crises in Afghanistan, have been eye-openers. They have not only exposed deep resentment of Americans by Middle Eastern countries, but illuminated flaws in our partnership with allies.

Throughout these crises a majority of U.S. allies have been giving half-hearted responses to American pleas of coherence and unity in international policy. The administration has asked allies to support boycotts of Russia and Iran. But, ho-hum, allies had more important things to consider: Would they alienate the Ayatollah Khomeini and bring his wrath? Where would they get supplements from lost Iranian oil? What would happen to their own country?

Japan has bluntly stated it refuses to go along with any oil boycott. It imports more than 90 percent of its oil and has claimed the loss of Iranian oil would be too great a favor, and for what?

France, with a troubled economy and government, would seemingly need to be drafted before it pitches in to help during the crises.

Germany fears Russian rebukes; its support has been mostly behind the scenes. A return to the Cold War has real meaning for Germans, who have fought long for a relaxed border in East Germany.

England alone has consistently backed the American boycotts of Iran and Russia. With no fewer troubles than France, England has spoken out against Khomeini and international terrorism.

What it boils down to is a poor show of cohesion inside NATO and among other American allies. That is reflected by inability to decide on any form of action. Consequently, the Soviets or other countries can play on ally disunity.

Talk of boycotts was shrugged off by Russia and Iran. The Soviets issued threats of repercussions to European neighbors. But, if NATO and other free-world allies are to be taken seriously, they must start acting more like partners and less like fair-weather friends.

Letters

Apart from the news

Editors:
This is in response to a letter from Jan Gartenberg published in the Daily (March 14) during the waning days of last quarter.

In his letter, Gartenberg charged the KCPR news department with prejudice because of a story we ran during one of our newscasts. The story told of the arrest in Los Angeles of a rabbi and 13 students for disturbing the peace.

While we do not intend to enumerate here all of the considerations that go into the decision to use any particular story in a given newscast, we would like to make this one point: there is no logical connection between the use of any valid news story (which this one most definitely was) and the personal feelings of those who report that story.

For example, if a story on Watergate is run, does that demonstrate that the broadcaster who does the story is anti-Republican? We think not. As a matter of fact, there were some people in this country (and still are) who charged that the media was out to get Nixon. We would hate to think that Gartenberg occupies the same mental realm as these people, but he has certainly done nothing to make us think otherwise.

Strong language? Yes! We are all offended at being called anti-semites.

Mustang Daily

By Dave Curtis

Queeb's

Hey George!
I hear you are learning how to surf!

Hey ya, I'm totally stoked about my goofy-foot backside carves in those emerald tubulars, yo...

So you've already been out in the water?

Well, no, it took me two days just to learn how to talk.

Other stories in this issue:

More than friends

The American-Iranian hostage dilemma, and Russian crises in Afghanistan, have been eye-openers. They have not only exposed deep resentment of Americans by Middle Eastern countries, but illuminated flaws in our partnership with allies.

Throughout these crises a majority of U.S. allies have been giving half-hearted responses to American pleas of coherence and unity in international policy. The administration has asked allies to support boycotts of Russia and Iran. But, ho-hum, allies had more important things to consider: Would they alienate the Ayatollah Khomeini and bring his wrath? Where would they get supplements from lost Iranian oil? What would happen to their own country?

Japan has bluntly stated it refuses to go along with any oil boycott. It imports more than 90 percent of its oil and has claimed the loss of Iranian oil would be too great a favor, and for what?

France, with a troubled economy and government, would seemingly need to be drafted before it pitches in to help during the crises.

Germany fears Russian rebukes; its support has been mostly behind the scenes. A return to the Cold War has real meaning for Germans, who have fought long for a relaxed border in East Germany.

England alone has consistently backed the American boycotts of Iran and Russia. With no fewer troubles than France, England has spoken out against Khomeini and international terrorism.

What it boils down to is a poor show of cohesion inside NATO and among other American allies. That is reflected by inability to decide on any form of action. Consequently, the Soviets or other countries can play on ally disunity.

Talk of boycotts was shrugged off by Russia and Iran. The Soviets issued threats of repercussions to European neighbors. But, if NATO and other free-world allies are to be taken seriously, they must start acting more like partners and less like fair-weather friends.
Khan philosophy discussed

“The Architecture and Philosophy of Louis I. Kahn” is the topic for the next guest speaker in the Distinguished Architects Lecture Series on Thursday, April 10, at 5 p.m.

John Lobell, an architecture professor from Pratt Institute in New York City is expected to use Kahn’s architecture to show parallels between Kahn’s approach and that of Frank Lloyd Wright.

Lobell will speak in Room 108 of the Architecture and Environmental Design Building.

---

Author to air issues of racism

The prolific author and speaker spent six years in Liberia as a Peace Corps education advisor, consultant and team leader for an educational project.

The lectures are sponsored by the university’s Child Development Club, child development department and the School of Human Development Education in cooperation with the campus chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

---

Credits given for exam

Cal Poly students and others from California high schools and colleges will be able to qualify for English credits by taking the CSUC English Equivalency Examination.

The test, which allows students to receive a full year of college credit for taking an equivalent level of English in the United States, will be administered at Cal Poly and other CSUC campuses on Saturday, May 3.

For applications is Friday, April 11, to students who achieve scores equal or surpassing the six top college students will qualify for six units of credit or counterpart quarter units. In addition, non-students will be excused from taking the campus’ Placement Test.

The students, according to their past experience, and are well on the English Equivalency Examination advanced from the English Placement test.

---

Worship’ is the theme

Mr. True Religion is a Brave New World will be the title for the first program on the theme of “Worship” that will be presented at Cal Poly during the Spring Quarter.

Dr. Robert Michaelsen will present the lecture on Thursday, April 10, in Room 220 of the Julian A. McPhee University Union.

Michaelsen will also lead a dialogue on the same subject with particular emphasis to the meaning of religion in current context in the Monterey Room on April 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the Discovery Inn, 1800 Monterey St.

Admission to both presentations will be free and the public is invited.

---

American history and culture

The prolific author and speaker spent six years in Liberia as a Peace Corps education advisor, consultant and team leader for an educational project.

The lectures are sponsored by the university’s Child Development Club, child development department and the School of Human Development Education in cooperation with the campus chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

---

THE CRUSADERS

A TASTE OF JAZZ
SUNDAY, APRIL 13
8:00/ CAL POLY GYM

FEATURING: JOE SAMPLE; WILTON FELDER; STIX HOOPER
WITH GUEST ARTIST MISS RANDY CRAWFORD

---

An Air Force Representative will be on campus Tuesday, April 15th.

For additional information, please call (213) 466-3292.
Gripes 'How-tos' of complaining told

BY KATHY McKENZIE Daily Stall Writer

If you expect to get satisfaction when making a complaint to a store or business, there are three basic steps to take, according to a Cal Poly home economics teacher. Start at the lowest level of authority and work up; don’t give up; and assume there’s an answer to your problem.

Prudence Zalewski, who has taught at Cal Poly for four years, teaches a class titled "Consumer Role of the Family," in which students find out what they need to know about their rights as consumers. "Merchants consider students somewhat of a pushover," said Zalewski of the fact that students are often taken advantage of by stores. "They know students don’t have experience in purchasing and buying.

"Defective products or poor service.

"Most (merchants) are nice but you have to get tough with them," said Zalewski, who has been interested in consumer activism since she was a student. "You have to show them you know your rights, you know the law, and you know what you want to do about it." Zalewski said certain steps should be taken by students with consumer gripes. First, students should talk to the salesperson who originally helped them. If there is no response, the student should take down the salesperson’s name and go to the manager with the problem.

At this time, a student may also register a complaint against the business with the Tri-Counties Better Business Bureau in Santa Barbara. The BBB’s address is P.O. Box 746, Santa Barbara, CA 93102. One can also contact the bureau to find out if this company has had complaints lodged against it before.

The student should keep on trying to get a response from the company, if necessary, write the company president. If there is still no action taken, the student should call the Consumer Fraud Unit of the San Luis Obispo District Attorney’s office at 549-5600.

Otherwise, one may write to the California Department of Consumer Affairs, Division of Consumer Services, 1020 N St., Sacramento, CA 95814.

There are also more specific agencies that students can go to if they have a particular problem — there is a certain agency that handles auto repair complaints, and so on, said Zalewski.

"Make yourself heard," she urged. "If enough students register complaints, something will eventually get done about that particular product or company.

Consumer agencies generally help out in the problem or advise the student to take it to small claims court, which is "very easy," Zalewski said. There are a variety of publications out that can help the student in consumer complaints. Zalewski said. Some of them are listed below:

- Justice for the California Consumer by John Silva

The Complete California Consumer Catalogue by the California Department of Consumer Affairs, available from the Department of Motor Vehicles

- Savvy Shopper by Tresa Drury

- Consumer’s Resource Handbook available free by writing the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 522 G, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

More books for consumers can be obtained from the university library in the consumerism section, said Zalewski.

But, she said, it’s important for students to do research before they start shopping, especially when they make their first big purchase, such as a car or stereo.

"This is the worst time. The student is usually not informed about warranty rights, and the type of product he or she should buy." With inflation and the shrinking value of the dollar, said Zalewski, it’s more important for the student to be aware of the rights done and what ones he can do.

"You can’t let it lie anymore," she said. "We’re taking too much for granted."
Poly Rose Parade float competition now open

All students are invited to enter the design contest for the Cal Poly 1981 Tournament of Roses Parade float.

Prizes are $50 or two tickets to the Rose Bowl.

The parade's theme is the Great Outdoors, and float theme ideas include High Country, Wild Safari, and Picnic.

All entries must be received by noon, April 16, at the Activities Planning Center, at which time they become the property of Cal Poly. The competition is sponsored by the ASI Rose Float Club and Rose Float Committee.

CAREER OPPORTUNITY IN ELECTRONICS

If you are graduating with a major in Electronic Technology, WILTRON may have just the career opportunity you are looking for.

We seek hands-on problem solvers with a strong electronics background to be dynamically involved in the manufacture of state-of-the-art microprocessor-based electronic test instrumentation for the microwave and telecommunications industries. Our proprietary products have an international reputation for excellence that has helped provide a history of steady growth.

You will enjoy challenging work in a modern facility with an outstanding benefit package that includes Cash Profit Sharing and Flexible Work Hours.

A WILTRON technical representative will be on campus Friday, April 11 to conduct pre-employment interviews. Contact your Placement Office today to arrange a convenient time.

WILTRON

825 EAST MIDDLEFIELD ROAD
MOUNTAIN VIEW, CA 94043
AN EQUAL-OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER
The Mustang tennis team achieved a decisive 8-1 victory over Cal State Northridge on Thursday, setting the team up for a possible conference title. Coach Ken Munroe had high expectations for the team's performance, stating, "I thought we'd take all first points."

The Mustangs were tied with Cal Poly's men's tennis team, but they won both singles matches against Bennett and Siordia, with Bennett winning 6-2, 7-6. coach Munroe described Bennett's performance as "smart," and he expected Bennett to play well in the tournament.

The Mustangs beat Cal State Northridge 6-3 at the Santa Barbara Tournament earlier this season. Coach Munroe said he had expected Northridge to be a much tougher team to best at this meeting. Cal State Northridge Coach Phil Munroe thought his team would be "the game's played. They waited until we beat ourselves," Coach Munroe said.

The Mustangs begin tournament play Thursday at Cal Poly Pomona. The team will play for individual conference titles as well as for points for the team title. Currently, Cal State LA is first in the conference.

SUMMARY

Singles: 1st Robb Chappell (CP) def. Rich Bennett (CSN), 6-2, 7-6; 2nd Martin Dydell (CP) def. Phil Siordia (CSN), 6-2, 6-3; Tom Morris (CP) def. Terry Deever (CSN) 6-7, 6-3, 3-6; Ken Ueltzen (CP) def. Steve Brooks (CSN) 6-2, 6-2; Mike Goldowitz (CSN) def. Andrew Weber (CP) 7-5, 4-6; Bill Frink (CP) def. Steve Grossman (ICP) 6-3, 6-4.

Two cagers tabbed all-stars

The Cal Poly women's basketball team's two players from Calgary, Alberta—Laura Buchning and Colleen Finney—were named to the AIAW's All-Regional Squad. Buchning and Finney, who were the heart of Coach McNeill's team which earned its first-ever trip to the AIAW Western Regionals this season, were two of only 11 players named to this year's team. Sophomore Buchning, who participated in the Olympic team tryouts in March, paced the Mustangs in every important category last year, including a 17.2 game average.

Finney proved to be the most consistent player on the team, averaging 11.4 points in SCAA games and practice games.

Reformed Wheel

McALISTER, (AP) — A Melrose shopping center is the recipient of $50 in science essays from one reformed shoplifter who hopes to start a career in writing. Richard Lewis, a former shoplifter, wrote the essays as part of a science project and delivered them to the center. The essays will be used in an upcoming science class at the center.

El Corral Bookstore

Has a Complete Line of Art Supplies

Liquitex Acrylics
Grumbacher Brushes
X-Acto Knives
Strathmore Pads
Catlinna Tempera
Krylon Paints
Pentel Color Pens
Prismacolor Pencils
Osmiroid Pens
Dr. Martin's Water Colors
Grumbacher Designer Colors

Plus many more art and technical supplies.

Compare with other "discount" prices then you'll buy at El Corral.
El Corral offers 10% off!

Ask for color processing by Kodak. Slides, snapshots and movie film. We handle all the details.

El Corral

THE HEADLINER
Ellen's and Woman's Hairstyling
NEXUS

And one-step ear piercing, too!

963 Monterey St.
San Luis Obispo
543-2116

Hickey batted out a double threat, three were able to cross the plate.

The Mustangs scored six runs in the sixth to cinch the victory. Chapman tried to come back in the seventh but was only able to score two runs.

Cal Poly then upped the favored Sun Devils of Arizona State in the seventh, after Chapman失误. The Sun Devils only two hits off the Cal Poly pitching, but that proved to be enough as the Mustangs won 1-0. Liz Kelly reached the plate by coming home on singles by Yoshihara and Gaye Wilkinson. Langrock was again awarded the win as she struck out two Arizona State players.

The Mustangs winning streak ended on Saturday, as Cal State Fullerton won the tournament title. Pitcher Rhonda Keiser was scheduled to start for the Mustangs, but was unable to because of an injury. Mathilde Rayner was on the mound for Poly, but was later removed from that duty by Langrock.

The men's side, spricker Mike Bush punched in a 21.43 in the 200 meters in the Fresno State Invitational to qualify for the NCAA Division II National Championships.

psst! want a hot tip?

Ask for color processing by Kodak. Slides, snapshots and movie film. We handle all the details.

El Corral

THE HEADLINER
Ellen's and Woman's Hairstyling
NEXUS

And one-step ear piercing, too!

963 Monterey St.
San Luis Obispo
543-2116

Hickey batted out a double threat, three were able to cross the plate.

The Mustangs scored six runs in the sixth to cinch the victory. Chapman tried to come back in the seventh but was only able to score two runs.

Cal Poly then upped the favored Sun Devils of Arizona State in the seventh, after Chapman失误. The Sun Devils only two hits off the Cal Poly pitching, but that proved to be enough as the Mustangs won 1-0. Liz Kelly reached the plate by coming home on singles by Yoshihara and Gaye Wilkinson. Langrock was again awarded the win as she struck out two Arizona State players.

The Mustangs winning streak ended on Saturday, as Cal State Fullerton won the tournament title. Pitcher Rhonda Keiser was scheduled to start for the Mustangs, but was unable to because of an injury. Mathilde Rayner was on the mound for Poly, but was later removed from that duty by Langrock.

The men's side, spricker Mike Bush punched in a 21.43 in the 200 meters in the Fresno State Invitational to qualify for the NCAA Division II National Championships.
Iran prepares for 'holy war'

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini urged Iran on Tuesday to join their "holy war," of belt-tightening and possible ratiﬁcation to grapple with economic woes.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadat declared there was "no reason to worry" about the U.S. economic embargo against Iran, but added that Iranians would need an extra effort to resist the pressure.

In a message to the nation, Khomeini said President Carter's anti- racketing to grapple with economic woes.

Cuban unrest, trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Washington, President Carter, shifting gears from the Iranian stalemate, held talks Tuesday with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat aimed at pumping new life into negotiations for an end to U.S.-Egyptian diplomatic relations and to solve the Iran hostage crisis Tuesday by enlisting the aid of U.S. allies for President Carter's economic sanctions.

If we really mean to break the tragic impasse with Iran we need to consider an urgent basis sharing our oil with the allies, who might be cut off from Iran, to win their support on the sanctions," the Illinois Republican presidential candidate told a joint meeting of the Los Angeles County Bar Association and the Women Lawyers' Association of Los Angeles.

Andersen's idea would involve further reductions of U.S. oil imports through conservation to make up for the 2 million barrels of crude exported to Western democracies by Iran.

storms rip nine states; 2 dead

From The Associated Press

Dooms of tornadoes born in a "family of storms" splintered scores of homes and businesses, killed two people and injured more than 90 others in a two-day assault on nine interior states.

The National Weather Service said that since noon Monday, 14 tornadoes had hit Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, three in Texas, two in Illinois, two in Mississippi, one in Kansas and one in Tennessee.

And the National Severe Storms Forecast Center warned that as many as 20 more were likely. The National Weather Service said the tornadoes and thunderstorms that lingered in the region were "part of a family of storms."

But nothing has quite so dramatized popular disaffection for the regime as has the appearance of thousands of Cubans on the4-LUNCH PLAN!

44 meals for $89.00

Make purchases at the Univ. Union
Cashier
14 and 19 meal plans also available.

Calculators at Discount Prices

Texas Instruments
UNITIX
NEWLLA & PACKARD
Casio Calculator Department

Your Films Deserve The Best

24 HOUR PHOTO FINISHING

For your personal films

CAMPUS CAMERA
IT COSTS NO MORE!

No Magna-Glo Storefront San Luis Obispo Phone 543-3847

Michael Wright
760 Foothill
541-3942

Mustang Daily Wednesday, April 9, 1980

Carter in talks with Sadat

WASHINGTON (AP) -- "We are sailing in a sea of difficulties. We have been in this sea for some time," but the shore is far away."

In that way, Cuban President Fidel Castro candidly acknowledged last December that his revolution had fallen on hard times.

At the time, there were reports of increased street crime, worker absenteeism and black market activities. In addition, pamphlets and posters denouncing the regime began to appear in Havana. There also has been a dramatic rise in the number of Cuban "boat people" arriving in the United States.

Hey Smarty!

If you are a student with "B" or better, we qualify for Farmers' Good Student Discount. Determine a special of sort, your parents, rate on your car insurance.

Call today and get 10% off Farmers' Good Student Auto Policy.

Mustang Daily Wednesday, April 9, 1980

Page 8

CApache Daily Wednesday, April 9, 1980

Carter in talks with Sadat

WASHINGTON (AP) -- "We are sailing in a sea of difficulties. We have been in this sea for some time," but the shore is far away."

In that way, Cuban President Fidel Castro candidly acknowledged last December that his revolution had fallen on hard times.

At the time, there were reports of increased street crime, worker absenteeism and black market activities. In addition, pamphlets and posters denouncing the regime began to appear in Havana. There also has been a dramatic rise in the number of Cuban "boat people" arriving in the United States.

Hey Smarty!

If you are a student with "B" or better, we qualify for Farmers' Good Student Discount. Determine a special of sort, your parents, rate on your car insurance.

Call today and get 10% off Farmers' Good Student Auto Policy.

Mustang Daily Wednesday, April 9, 1980

C(avg)