

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

RE-ENVISIONING PARADISE: CAL POLY STUDENTS INITIATE A PATH TO RECOVERY

Dear Reader:

Many people came together to support the work of both studios – either with financial support, technical expertise, design reviews, accommodations, or time. The students in my class and I gratefully acknowledge all of them, without whom our work would have been impossible.

- The several financial donors who underwrote the cost of the studios' transportation, accommodations, and other expenses;
- The “teaching mentors” in several architectural firms in San Francisco who supported the students with design reviews every few weeks over the course of six months;
- The staff at Cal Poly's Kennedy Library who encouraged and facilitated the publication of the studio's work in Digital Commons;
- The faculty and students at Chico State who hosted our several public presentations;
- The many kind folks in Chico, heeding an SOS from my nephew Jeff Macdonald and niece (in-law), Melissa McGeachie, who opened their homes to us on our first visit to Paradise, way back in January, when all the hotels were booked up;
- And finally, the residents of Paradise who received us with kindness and open minds at our presentations there and in Chico.

A special hat-tip to Ali Chen, a student in the studio, who did an outstanding job of refining the poster graphics and proofreading the texts – in addition to making the work ADA-compliant – in preparation for their publication in Digital Commons.

The greatest debt goes to Stacey White, my colleague in the Architecture Department at Cal Poly. The vision for making Paradise the focus of a “service-learning” effort was hers. I came along for the ride after Stacey had already done much of the initial planning: making connections with people in Paradise and Chico, arranging funding, and ultimately, organizing bus charter trips, hotel accommodations, and media coverage throughout the two quarters. Her commitment, energy, and organizational skills were phenomenal.

When someone asks if you want to take a ride on a rocket ship, you should probably say yes, especially if it's with someone like Stacey.

Sincerely,

Kent Macdonald, Lecturer
Architecture Department, Cal Poly

On behalf of the students in my studio:

Killian Angell
Christian Bernard
Ben Campbell
Ali Chen
Nolan Delgado
Arielle Eleazar

Elisabeth Frizzell
Natalie Giombi
Victor Hoyos
Ryan Huddleston
Gabrielle Icardo
Kaleena Klimeck

Khoa Le,
Emma Puryear
Tiana Shiroma
Sophia Smith
Foster Westover
Sabrina Yerena

Studio Financial Sponsors

WRNS Studio, San Francisco

BNIM, San Diego

Mode Associates, San Luis Obispo

Cal Poly Student Affairs (Keith Humphey)

Cal Poly Architecture Department (Margot McDonald)

Cal Poly Kennedy Library (Adrianna Popescu)

Teaching Mentors

Mason Hayes and Chip Hubert (Aidlin Darling Design); Chris Haeggglund, Martin Smith, Liza Gregory Bass, Jenny Gonzalez, Bettina Andre, James Ford, and Anny Chang (BAR Architects); Anne Fougeron (Fougeron Architecture); Marsha Maytum and Aaron Thornton (Leddy Maytum Stacy Architects); Justin Skoda (Perkins Eastman); Keith Houchin and Brita Spano Villanueva (SB Architects)

Cal Poly CAED Faculty Reviewers

Pamalee Brady, Ryan Brockett, Kelle Brooks, Hema Dandekar, Andrew Goodwin, Amir Hajrasouliha, Alex Hirsig, Ansgar Killiing, Margaret Kirk, Andrew Kline, Humberto Lauro, Janet Napier, Cristy O'Hara, Clare Olsen, Margaret Pedone, Bill Simbieda, Umut Toker, Greg Wynn, and Margarida Yin

Chico State University

Kijeong Jeon, Debra Larson, Rouben Mohiuddin, Seema Sehwat, Rachel Simmons, Melody Stapleton

State of California

Seth Doulton (Treasurers' Office), Fiona Ma (State Treasurer), Eric Shaw (Office of Emergency Services), and Danna Stapleton (Lieutenant Governor's Office)

Paradise Residents

Abby Armer, Charles Brooks, Melissa Boutelle, Tama Czarecki, Lowell Forward, Melissa Schuster, and Olivia Taylor

Cal Poly Kennedy Library

Danielle Daugherty, Jesse Vestermark, and Jeanine Scaramozzino

Cal Poly Disability Resource Center

John Lee

The Chico Innkeepers (and their Families)

Ellie Ertle, Austin Larsen, Mason McKellips, Kelly Munson, Carmen Rodriguez, Sue Steiner, and Nani Teves, and my nephew, Jeff Macdonald, and his wife, Melissa McGeachie

The Students in Stacey White's Studio

Pacific Austin, Jarrett Boynton, Nathan Chudnovsky, Reii Nelle Del Campo, Margaux Elliott, Zoey Fox, Michelle Huang Kaye, Dominique Lao, Sirina Law, Alyson Liang, Nicole Lo, Ella McQuillen, Amanda Radner, Therice Ramos, Eva Taupier, Katherine Young, and Alessandro Zanghi