Directory

The Directory Section is a continuing feature of E&A. It is a source of information on groups and periodicals concerned with ethical questions about treatment of non-humans. The groups and periodicals themselves provide the information, subject to space limitations and minor editing by the E&A staff. The policy of the Directory is one of maximum inclusiveness, i.e., a submitted listing for a group or periodical will be included unless it is wholly irrelevant, manifestly libellous, or clearly pornographic. It is hoped that local, state, provincial, regional, national and international groups of all sorts will submit listings. To obtain a listing form for your organization, or to recommend that another group be listed, contact the SSEA office.

ANIMALS

Animals magazine is published by The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals six times a year. Subscriptions may be entered at the Circulation Department of Animals, 350 South Huntington Avenue, Boston, MA, 02130—$6.50 for one year, $12.50 for two years (Canadian and Foreign, add $1.00 per year).

OCEANS MAGAZINE

The Oceanic Society (qv) publishes OCEANS bimonthly to provide its members with balanced and informative perspectives on subjects connected with the oceans. Although the Oceanic Society encourages conservative management of the marine environment, the magazine does not concern itself solely with environmental issues. A greater part of it is devoted to, for example, profusely illustrated features on various species of plant or animal life, personal accounts of oceanic expeditions, or discussions of geological formations in or around the ocean. These articles treat the information in some depth without overwhelming the reader with too much technical detail.

A special section of OCEANS, entitled "Sea Sense", has a more environmental slant. It carries articles concerning endangered creatures, current legislation involving the ocean, and conflicts between the oceans' natural ecosystems and the increasing technological demands upon it.
