COMPANY B BOYS ASK FOR MANY PRESENTS

Dear Santa Claus: Please send me a riding machine; I hope to tax myself. —Millis.

Dear Santa: Please send me some Chesterfield; Zanelli and I both like them. —Betty Margraves.

I need a new pair of pants real bad, Santa, can't you please help me out? —Oswald.

Please send me a book on how to sell paper-soled shoes. —Bill Tisdale.

I want to be rough,—William Lee.

I want a new butcher knife; I've ruined my last one. —Raymond Lee.

Send me some tools and cigarettes. —Fred Muff.

If Brovell won't object, I'd like to step a little. —Ben Preuss.

If you will oblige, I am, John Carroll.

Please give me a new phonograph and some new records, that I may keep the dorm boys awake all the time. —Carlos Barmeister.

Will you kindly send me a new car that will really run, so that I can visit Ethel every week-end. Thank you. —Santa. —George Crowell.

Please send me an endless supply of liquids to keep both myself and my girl away from me. —Herbert McKean.

I want a new whale shot from our house to room 205 in the dormitory. —Burt Harris.

I wish my hair would turn black. —Athena.

I want to go out with me at half past seven, and come home at one. —William Sinclair.

I want a new motto—one who will devote all his energies to his studies. —Ruth Defendorfer.

I wonder if to arrive tonight down at the Poly Dining Hall. This is primarily a dance and cheer, and make the Freshmen feel at home. —John W. Lucas.

Santa Claus with us to distribute gifts under the auspices of the Toyland, North Pole. The occasion will be a roaring "Yuletide," and girls cordially invited, not requested to furnish Kirts for the girls they bring. This, without them. —Tony K. Eldredge.

A Barrel of candy, all the pies and cakes you have and a mountain of ice cream. —Vernon Langeland.

I have only a few records and my phonograph is wearing out; so please send me a new phonograph and some new records, that I may keep the Poly boys awake all the time. —Carlos Barmeister.

Give me a new nickname and two husky men for a bodyguard. —August Mattingly.

I want a girl that will walk home from the show, and go out with me at least twice. —Donald Fullwood.

Please, Santa, make my feet make. —Ron Keshel.

I want a new little cemetery with a nice sunny lawn. —Al Young.

Please put a new lock on my door with a large keyhole that I can find when I return from Murray in the worst hours of the morning. —Vernon Langeland.

I have spent all my money foolishly, so please give me a ride home on your sleigh. —Herbert Hodges.

Give me the ability of an athletic coach. —Rosed Huglen.

PRES. RICCARDI'S
CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Christmas suggests Home.
All our Christmas planning centers about the Home. We find pleasure in planning to give, and we find genuine pleasure in actually giving. Christmas is the time of the year when "we forget ourselves and find ourselves."
It is the time when we think most of Home.
You may not realize it, but your present means a great deal to your particularly at Christmas. So, be sure you go Home with a smile. Radiate happiness. Make your parents proud of your record here. Come back determined to make the best year possibile next year.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!
And since a smile can do great good in cheering hearts of a
Let's smile and smile and smile:
That is what the whole world is waiting for.

MATHMATICS
Love—Two equals nothing.
Knowledge—One plus one equals two.
Marriage—One plus one equals two.

Before and After

Two nights before Christmas, when I was through school,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care.
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.
The stockings were full of toys for boys and girls.

Mary: "Did Santa fill your stocking, Aliso?" Aliso: "My dear Mary, that wasn't Santa. That was dealing." (Have you ever noticed?)

"It's foolish to take your automobile two hours and a half away from home yesterday."

"What a shame!"

"How do you feel?"

"Can you support her in the city any longer?"

"When Santa Claus visits the dormitory, this is what he will say to himself: 'Well, Santa, old boy, you've smashed down all kinds of odd chimney caps, but this is the first time you've ever tackled a periscope!' (Have you ever noticed the drain pipes at the dormitory?)"

"I'll make you a new one for Algy Kidd.

"Mr. Tomaso: 'I have some toys for Algy Kidd, but I've forgotten if the kid has any money.'"

"Hubert, your mother got to talk this afternoon about what girl you were in grammar school.

"I thought you were nursing the gene yet?"

"Mr. O'Donnel (in History): 'Now, students, tell what great woman's letters show the suffering and hardship of her time.'"

"Class: 'Lydia Pinkham's.' "

"Reid: 'I would be tickled to death with a suit of clothes.'"

"Bulbs—Hyacinth, Chinese lily, pansy, and not a fat one—if the truth is known.

"He looked around apprehensively, but noticed the drain pipe at the dormitory, th's is about what he will say to the last person on earth.

"Mr. O'Donnel: 'In History,' "

"Mother: 'That young man you are engaged to is a bad egg.'

"Daughter: 'I know he is, that's the reason I'm afraid to drop him.'

"Bailey (sadly appearing at the wrong moment): 'Ray, Santa, your face is on a crooked, aye yer stomach's crooked, damn.'"

"Mr. O'Donnel: 'In History,' "

"Class: 'Lydia Pinkham's.'

"Reid: 'I wouldn't marry you if you were the last person on earth.'

"Mr. O'Donnel: 'In History,' "

"Class: 'Lydia Pinkham's.'

"Reid: 'No, but I have him going.'"
It was a well known fact that Jim- mery Wella was the new kid in the school. We all called him "Dimples," and we became very friendly with him. He wasn’t very smart, but he was very nice. He always had a smile on his face and he was always ready to help someone. He was a real friend to us all.

On Christmas Eve, we were all excited. We knew that Santa would be coming soon to deliver gifts to all of the children. We waited eagerly for the announcement of the Christmas party.
