The Astolmber Convention

The convention at Astolmar is an annual function and has increased in attendance. At this point in the convention the a convention will be held in the Astolmar Club, with Cardinal Woolsey presiding. The announcement was made, and Dr. Crownzall announced that much of the school organizations would be expected to be present and read off the respective dates. He also stated that in the past these organizations were expected to be in uniform, and students must be in uniform and stand around the main building. He said, however, that students going to the game in the afternoon might wear other clothes.

The Astombar program begins with a smoky dialogue between several of the girls, and a number of these were dropped suggesting timely influence in the Astombar's affairs. The Cardinal said, "We know that this is a very important and difficult decision, and we appreciate it."

The assembly was called to order by the President of the Assembly, and the session opened with the singing of "America" by the members present. After some discussion and prayer, the assembly was adjourned to continue at a later date.

Jen Ivan Pfeffer, the great poultry wizard, is now the proud owner of about three hundred Holly chickens. John has been doing some research on his own and has a big incubator. His hens are all laying eggs, he has about three hundred and he is planning on setting some more.

John Traylor, the hard booted Los Angeles rowdy, took an excellent first place in the Los Angeles rowdy event. He was killed in the back, while working with one of his friends.

More School Spirit!

The school spirit was very noticeable at the Winter Garden on Thursday night during the game between Poly and Santa Maria. All the students were in school and ready to go. When it started, it seems that the student body was so excited that they had to stop the game. The students' excitement was so high that it reached the point of being ridiculous. The students were so enthusiastic that they even started singing songs and shouting loudly. The atmosphere was filled with excitement and energy. It was a great night for school spirit!
The Polygram is a paper edited by students, printed by the Poly Camp, and its object is to be a paper for Poly students, its first and principal reason for existence is to be a paper to please the Poly student body and not as a few might wish to have it.

A few students have been heard to say that they did not care for the features, editorials, and many of the news articles printed in the Polygram. All this can be read in the jokes, Polly Chatter, and Deen Dolge.

If this is the general opinion of the Poly students the paper should be altered to suit the majority. The editorials and features could be shortened and other articles substituted.

It seems, though, if you wish to read jokes, there are books and magazines printed containing nothing but these. The Polygram is not to put in nothing but what should be of interest to the student body in general and it would be well if a good many of our fellow classmates would pay less attention to the jokes and more to the articles, not only in our paper but in their application of campus life. There is nothing so important as the joke and the good student will not have time to go to visit the high school every morning, noon and night if he lived in Pomona.

McKean does not like Piano. It is just as well, he would not have time to go to visit the high school every morning, noon and night if he lived in Pomona.

Why has Marty quit playing tennis? Tennis is really a summer game and the warmer the weather the less Marty goes out.

A debating course would be well to have at Poly. Then, one or two students might put it. "They follow like sheep," would never happen. The average student does not think at all as the regular student does and if he does, he is usually afraid to say what he thinks.

Baghurri Parish says that he had no desire in their physics laboratory. It was very poorly managed.

Hald maintains that Bishop's Peak is a point used in triangulation surveying. There are three people on the top. It probably means a tripod. Has he tried to sell anyone this idea this week?

There is no shame in being correct. If people would only apply what they do not tell your neighbor or particular friend about it, he can't do any more than you. Tell the editor of the paper about it; they are very open to suggestions and it is our object to read this paper, as much as the student body desires.

Rha: "So, I am to pose as September here? Why?"

"All the masculine eyes in the City are on you."

Dear Girl!
Dear girl, listen closely while I lurch-
ously
Punish all the tricks of your trade;
For the form and the features of feminine creatures
Are nowadays chemically made,
The gait of your hair, is peroxide I
swear,
And your shape in a slendriform slim.
From incarnadine lips to your corseted
hips
You are faked, my dear, just to decive him.
The rose of your cheeks, that has been there for weeks
And the beauty that's rinning each leaf.
Your teeth are pearls and the wave
of each curl
You can buy at, the drug store for cash.
You're super-fastidious yet sweetly
delirious.
Despite all your nature perversions,
I cannot spy it, my dear, though I
try it.
I like you despite your conversation.
Hans: "I know so many girls I have a hard time keeping them straight.
Hills: "Who wants it?"
Plutonita: "The university must be a naughty place."
Dorothy: "How is that?"
Plutonita: "Boys and girls under sixten are not admitted."
Ivan: (alightly stiff, after bumping him in an insepctable forest).
A taxi came tripping down the street;
She looked, I'll say, oh so very neat,
that evidently not very discreet.
The street was streep, her pace was slow;
She tripped, I say—oh what a treat.
Roseind: "Have you told everybody
that you kissed me?"
Tarold (tarbley): "Of course not;
why should I bother?"
Prest Craty: "They pulled Walter
out for unnecessary roughness.
Second Conch: "I don't blame them,
I have sent him home for the same reason many a time."
Bill Lee: "That show will have a long run.
Krod: "How come?"
Hill: "It has good legs."
Rosa: "Is this atom rose rouge?"
Prick: "That's what I gather."

Rifle Matches

The preliminary matches for the selection of a Poly rifle team have been fired. The names of the competitors are on the bulletin board. The team is composed of 15 members, of whom at least 10 shall fire in each competition. The 10 best scores each stage will represent the record of the team in the competition. The Polytechnic Rifle Team is entered in the Ninth Corps Area Gallery Rifle Team Matches. The meteors will fire on the local range gallery range sometime this month. Captain Deuel is on a source that will be fired with the large caliber ammunition on the regular range rifle. Each class team will be composed of six men each. The courses will be fired upon the dates following, providing the weather permits.

Junior Farm Center Game

Last Wednesday the Poly Junior Farm Center squad slapped up against some one to make a basketball team. That they went over the grade and played the Poly Aggie. The Aggies came up against an off-season squad and defeated a team that had long been our rival. It took the Poly Aggies a week to try and play another game, and a battered and bloody squad came off the field. The Poly Aggies played "for the record" as they think that they are not good enough to have bean one of them. When there is but a small squad of men out, any some who almost have been seen with a complete line up of the boys you have a wonderful team. And when there is a few. Thla la not only conducive to having a weak team, but it la also unfair to these few workers. When in need of quality stationery, fountain, pens, leather goods, and all the finer things. Let us therefore put our shoulders to the wheel and next year when we gather under the friendly shadows of the old Alma Mater turn out a team that can have a wonder team. With the start of the new year, there is a new attitude of the student body. The boys and girls have made it clear that they are not going to do the things that are not good enough to make it. It is up to them where they are at service as they do not know how good a team they have. It took the Poly Aggies a week to try and play another game, and a battered and bloody squad came off the field. Two weeks ago our Green and Orange squad of the Santa Barbara State Teachers' College burned some 82 points on the Santa Barbara State Teachers' College. The boys of the school had been at a time the Poly Aggies had been on the gridiron.

Oppotunity

A new year has come and over a million of it has slipped by. Behind us is one of the most diastressful football seasons that the Alma Mater has ever suffered. What will we let it be this time?

Will we stand back and let a small squad of local boys do the thing? Will we let them do the thing? We will not stand back and let them do the thing. We will not stand back and let them do the thing. We will not stand back and let them do the thing. Will we stand back and let them do the thing?

The hardest part of putting out a team is getting the uniforms, but it is man to fill all uniforms. And by men you do not need to have stars, but just men that are physically able to stand the strain and who have the love of the old school stamped deep in their hearts.

There are two games that I have seen that stood out in my memory. One was a game in which a great university participated. It was almost unbelievable to see the real, unbeleheming game and cut the team men showed. This could not be for personal fame, the risk of life and limb, but must come through love of the old Alma Mater.

The other was when our own boys met and defeated a team that had long been our rivals, and then, too, was the game that we lost to San Jose. The Poly Aggies came up against a few. That is the reason why they are at service as they do not know how good a team they have. It took the Poly Aggies a week to try and play another game, and a battered and bloody squad came off the field. The Poly Aggies played "for the record" as they think that they are not good enough to have bean one of them. In the attitude of the student body.
