DIRECTORY

The Directory Section is a continuing feature of E&A. It is a source of information on groups and periodicals concerned with ethical questions about the treatment of nonhumans. The groups and periodicals themselves provide the information, subject to space limitations and minor editing by the E&A staff. The policy of the Directory is one of maximum inclusiveness, i.e., a submitted entry will be included unless it is wholly irrelevant, manifestly libellous, or clearly pornographic. It is hoped that local, state, provincial, regional, national and international groups of all sorts will submit listings. To obtain a listing form for your organization, or to recommend that another group be listed, contact the SSEA office.

ORGANIZATIONS

Advocates for Moral Reevaluation of Animal Experimentation/
People for Ethical Treatment of Animals (Florida)

c/o Holly Jensen
10830 S. W. 85th Court
Gainesville, Florida 32601

AMRAE is a local, grassroots pressure group concerned with animal experimentation. Our goal is to increase public awareness about animal experimentation and to greatly curtail animal experimentation in its present institutionalized form.

PETA is AMRAE writ large since PETA is concerned with all forms of animal exploitation.

Membership in both is $15/year. Send checks and inquiries to above address.

African Fund for Endangered Wildlife, Inc.

3601 Cedar Drive
Baltimore, Maryland 21207

The African Fund for Endangered Wildlife, Inc.'s (A.F.E.W.) purposes are to preserve endangered species of wildlife, to aid in the creation, stocking, and operation of wildlife preserves and to educate the public about wildlife preservation. A.F.E.W. publishes and disseminates educational material in the United States about issues relating to African wildlife in general and works with municipal zoos in the United States concerning the acquisition of breeding pairs of endangered species of African wildlife. In addition, A.F.E.W. has also arranged the creation of a charitable organization in Kenya which was designed to, and does, carry on tasks related to wildlife preservation there.
American Vegetarians

7202 Trescott Ave.
Takoma Park, Maryland 20912

American Vegetarians promotes the animal rights, world hunger, and health message of vegetarian diet through the tools of mass media, economic boycotts, lawsuits, and networking.

The group provides lists of favorable media at cost (either 10¢ a page xerox for the 94 sheets or 30¢ a page gum label) to all animal rights groups of ahimsa nature.

AV encourages the use of media tools such as letters to editor, scheduling guests on TV and radio talk shows, press releases, mailings to food, religion, science and other reporters.

AV has a committee, the Fruitarian Network, which promotes fruitarian diet as the diet causing the least suffering to animals and plants, the diet with the highest acreage yield, and the most healthful ingredients. No member receives a salary.

Animal Liberation Collective

C. P. 148
Durham-Sud, Quebec J0H 2CO
Canada

The Animal Liberation Collective is a non-profit educational organization which promotes the rights of animals. Our priority concern is food animal production, and we encourage the public to adopt a vegan diet. We are also committed to acting as a liaison with other progressive movements (peace, feminist, socialist, environmental). Our activities centre on research and writing, and we are in the process of establishing an archive. We have also organized demonstrations, public dinners, booths, exhibitions, and other events. The group presents briefs to various levels of government to lobby for positive change for animals, and we provide information and speakers to the media. We have produced a slide show on factory farms and slaughterhouses, and a film on the same subject is in progress.

People who wish to support our work may do so by sending a donation to us at the above address. Since we do not publish a regular newsletter at this time, we have no fixed membership costs. Interested people are also invited to contribute material for our archive, and it is open for consultation by mail at cost (photocopy and mailing charges).
Free Range Egg Association

39 Maresfield Gardens
London NW3 5SG
England

The Free-Range Egg Association was founded in 1975 with the object of putting free-range farmers in touch with suppliers, and in this way to decrease the sale of battery eggs. In each case, farms and shops were personally checked and inspected. We would consider that the sale of battery hens has dropped by roughly 70% over the last few years, and there are more shops requiring eggs than farmers to supply them. We have been fortunate in our publicity -- both in the national press and in magazines such as Home Farm - The Countryman, Woman's Realm, The Pan Health Food Book, and also through radio programmes.

The Human/Dolphin Foundation

P.O. Box 4172
Malibu, California 90265

The Human/Dolphin Foundation is a non-profit educational and scientific corporation formed for the purposes of research leading to communication between humans and dolphins, whales, and porpoises. The Foundation is funded by memberships, donations and grants.

Currently, dolphins and whales are considered in the law and socially as property, and as an industrial resource. The oceanaria are educating the public to understand who the cetaceans are.

Free cetaceans roam the watery 71% of the planet and can communicate with each other over miles. They live in emotionally-supportive families and become melancholic when separated.

The main purpose of our research is to test the hypothesis that dolphins and whales are sentient, intelligent creatures with communicative capacities beyond our own.

The staff of the Foundation are currently testing the JANUS computer configuration as a communicative window on the minds of the cetaceans.

Minnesota Voters for Animals and the Environment

1471 Barclay Street
Saint Paul, Minnesota 55106

MVAE is a new organization of voters working to protect wildlife, domestic animals and the environment. Our goal is to educate other citizens as to which candidates for various political offices support our goals. We will be basing our support of candidates for offices on the municipal, state and Congressional level.
on these issues: 1) prohibition of leghold trap, 2) wetland, forest land protection, 3) repeal of pound seizure, 4) clean air, clean water protection, 5) endangered, threatened species, 6) protection of bears, wolves, bobcats, lynx, doves, etc., and 7) a strong Minnesota Animal Welfare Act.

Membership is by donation.

Universities Federation for Animal Welfare

8 Hamilton Close
South Mimms, Potters Bar
Herts EN6 3QD
England

The Universities Federation for Animal Welfare (UFAW) is a scientific and educational charity which was founded in 1938 to promote humane behaviour towards domesticated and wild animals and thus to reduce the sum total of pain, discomfort and fear inflicted on animals by man. This aim is pursued by enlisting the support of university graduates, students and professional men and women, by obtaining and disseminating relevant knowledge and by co-operating with government departments, parliament, learned societies and other appropriate organisations.

UFAW believes that kindness towards animals is not enough and that an understanding of their biology and needs is essential for their humane care and management.

UFAW helps to compensate the harm done to the cause of animal welfare by animal-lovers of the unbalanced kind, and to form an intelligently humane body of public opinion.

The Federation holds annual symposia and occasional workshops and publishes the proceedings of these meeting; it carries out and sponsors scientific research and field investigations into many aspects of the biology and welfare of farmed, companion, wild, zoo and laboratory animals; it produces standard texts on animal care and management (e.g. The UFAW Handbook on the Care and Management of Laboratory Animals and The Care and Management of Farm Animals), and it publishes technical reports etc., on animal welfare matters. Ordinary (voting) membership is restricted to graduates and members of professions; associate membership is open to anyone who supports the aims of the Federation.

Minimum annual subscription is £2.
