Science & Math research conference set for Friday

The 4th annual College of Science and Mathematics Research Conference will be held Friday (May 7) from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Fisher Hall.

The campus and public are invited to attend and talk with students about their research efforts under way. The students will present research projects in biology, chemistry and biochemistry, math, physics and statistics.

For more information, contact biological sciences faculty member Elena Levine at ellevine@calpoly.edu or chemistry and biochemistry faculty member Peggy Rice at ext. 1624.

Two buildings renamed to honor major donations

Two campus landmarks have been renamed to honor major donors:
• The Education Building is now the Cotchett Education Building in recognition of a $7 million gift to support math and science teacher education.
• The Cal Poly Theatre will become the Alex and Fay Spanos Theatre on Friday to honor a $1.5 million gift that will help renovate the theater and the H.P. Davidson Music Center.

Nationally prominent trial attorney and Cal Poly grad Joseph Cotchett and his wife, Victoria, made their gift to launch a model program to put more math and science teachers in classrooms in low-income neighborhoods. The Cotchett Education Building was renamed at a ceremony in April.

Cal Poly alumni, entrepreneur and San Diego Chargers owner Alex Spanos and his wife, Faye, made their donation last year in memory of former music professor Davidson. Spanos was drum major for the Mustang Marching Band in the ’40s, when Davidson was the band leader.

More information about the gifts is available on the Cal Poly News Web site, calpolynews.calpoly.edu.

UCTE’s Hesser Lectures debut with talk Friday

Nationally known educator Linda Darling-Hammond will present “Rebuilding K-12 Education in California” on Friday (May 7) as the inaugural lecture in the newly endowed Hesser Lecture Series of the University Center for Teacher Education.

Darling-Hammond’s talk will be at 5 p.m. in the Business Rotunda (Room 213). San Luis Obispo County Superintendent of Schools Julian Crocker will also speak, commenting on local concerns.

UCTE alumni George and Yola Hesser have pledged $250,000 to endow the lecture series, which will focus on major educational issues facing public schools and teacher education.

Darling-Hammond’s career has focused on school redesign, state education reform and issues of equity and access. She is a professor of education at Stanford and principal investigator for the School Redesign Network and the Stanford Educational Leadership Institute and served on a White House education advisory panel.

She was the founding executive director of the National Commission for Teaching and America’s Future, a blue-ribbon panel whose 1996 report, “What Matters Most: Teaching for America’s Future,” catalyzed major policy changes across the United States to improve the quality of teacher education and teaching.

The campus and public are invited to a pre-lecture reception to honor Darling-Hammond and the Hessers at 4 p.m. in the Cotchett Education Building foyer. For more information and to make a reservation for the reception, call ext. 7380.

Evaluation cycle begins

Human Resources reminds offices that the annual performance evaluation cycle process for staff employees begins in May. Permanent staff employees and temporary employees who worked during fiscal year 2003-04 should be evaluated. Probationary employees are not part of the annual cycle. They are evaluated according to their probationary cycle.

During May, employees are encouraged to complete a self-evaluation (HR form 138a). During June, supervisors should finalize evaluations and forward them to the appropriate program manager. Finalized evaluations, with a final employee signature, are due to Human Resources by July 30.

Employees represented by Academic Professionals of California are evaluated using the Unit 4 Performance Evaluation (HR form 140). The Staff Performance Appraisal (HR form 138) is to be used for all other represented and “Confidential” staff employees. Evaluation forms and guidelines are available in Human Resources, ext. 6-2236 or on the Web at http://www.aafd.calpoly.edu/hr/forms/index.html.

Detailed information on the annual performance evaluation cycle has been distributed to all managers and department chairs. Direct questions to your appropriate manager or department chair, or you may contact Darcy Adams in Human Resources via e-mail or at ext. 2472.
