DIRECTORY

The Directory Section is a continuing feature of E&A. It is a source of information on groups and periodicals concerned with ethical questions about the treatment of nonhumans. The groups and periodicals themselves provide the information, subject to space limitations and minor editing by the E&A staff. The policy of the Directory is one of maximum inclusiveness, i.e., a submitted entry will be included unless it is wholly irrelevant, manifestly libellous, or clearly pornographic. It is hoped that local, state, provincial, regional, national and international groups of all sorts will submit listings. To obtain a listing form for your organization, or to recommend that another group be listed, contact the SSEA office.

ORGANIZATIONS

Animal Rights Front

P. O. Box 3307, Yale Station
New Haven, Connecticut 06520

We are a local activist group, two years in existence, opposed to the harmful exploitation of animals. We vary our work, from carrying out protest-demonstrations to visiting school and college classrooms (showing films and generating discussion) to making our way on television and radio programs to regularly placing information tables in public places. Our biggest projects have comprised the coordinating and hosting of symposia on the moral status of animals in human society (we have available for sale tapes and transcripts of events in which Tom Regan, Michael Allen Fox, Jim Mason and Don Barnes, among others, have participated).

All our members work without pay; we have no membership dues but do require a commitment to veganism.

We welcome correspondence at the address above.

Buddhists Concerned for Animals Inc.

300 Page Street
San Francisco, California 94102

Buddhists Concerned for Animals (BCA) is an organization of people who see consideration of animals, and responsiveness to their suffering, as an integral part of religious practice. BCA is involved in both humane education and direct action to end animal exploitation; and to develop ethics of compassion and responsibility toward members of other species.
BCA exposed the negligent and illegal treatment of animals at the University of California at Berkeley, and published an extensively documented report which subsequently led to legislative and legal action.

The informative BCA Newsletter is the creative link between the religious community, animal rights people, and the general public. Regular features include interviews and essays with prominent spiritual teachers of today.

Our supporters include people from a variety of backgrounds who share a common concern for our animal friends. Membership and subscription to our publication is $10.00 per year.

Citizens Committee for Laboratory Animal Liberation

12214 Saddlestrap Row
Bayonet Point, Florida 33567
Telephone (813) 868-4895

The Citizens Committee for Laboratory Animal Liberation was formed in 1979 to educate the public on the availability of alternatives to animal experimentation and to promote the use of these alternatives. Although philosophically in favor of total abolition of vivisection, we supported the Research Modernization Act and are now working actively for the Research Accountability Act, but we oppose bills for the regulation of vivisection. We have organized demonstrations against New York University and the 1980 Democratic Convention, where we called for an animal rights plank in the Democratic party platform. We are currently engaged in accumulating documentary evidence on the testing of chemical and biological weapons on animals and have extensive files on this and other areas of animal experimentation. Dues: $5.00

Connecticut Cetacean Society

P. O. Box 9145
Wethersfield, Connecticut 06109

A totally volunteer, non-profit, education and conservation organization dedicated to raising consciousness about whales and other cetaceans and to informed, positive action to protect and preserve them. Volunteer headquarters in Wethersfield, Connecticut, with approximately 350 dues-paying members, mostly in Connecticut, but including supporters throughout the United States and official volunteer representatives in eight foreign countries. Monthly newsletter, "The Connecticut Whale," and other informational materials mailed to members and an additional 300 persons on mailing list. Monthly meetings about cetacean issues and adventures, usually in Hartford area.

Annual dues: $10 regular, $15 contributing, $25 supporting
The National Anti-Vivisection Society

100 East Ohio Street
Chicago, Illinois  60611

The Society seeks to eliminate the use of animals in biomedical research. Headquarters in Chicago conducts research and education activities to encourage alternatives to the use of animals in biomedical research. Washington office monitors legislation and regulations.

Membership in NAVS includes the quarterly Bulletin and other informational mailings throughout the year.

Individual membership, $10; Family membership, $15; Life membership, $50; Student/Senior membership $5. Contributions are tax-deductible for income tax purposes.