Second Annual Cal Poly Diversity and Inclusiveness Colloquium Set for Feb. 5

The second annual Cal Poly Diversity and Inclusiveness Colloquium will take place from 5:30 to 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 5, in Harman Hall in the Performing Arts Center. A reception with exhibits will follow in the Rossi Main Lobby. Attendance is free and open to all. In planning, the university has consulted with the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce’s Diversity Committee to involve the local business community in a discussion on how Cal Poly and the city can develop inviting climates for people of all backgrounds, including race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, class and ability. Find out more on the upcoming colloquium online.

Cal Poly Receives $1.3M Dept. of Energy Grant for Algae Biofuels Project

The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) has awarded a $1.3 million grant to a multidisciplinary Cal Poly research team, the Algae Technology Group (ATG), for a project aimed at developing processes that turn waste resources (such as those from municipal and agricultural wastewaters) and nutrients recycled from algae biomass processing into sustainable algal biofuels. The DOE hopes to significantly improve the sustainability of algae-based biofuels and accelerate technological breakthroughs. The project will be carried out in experimental raceway ponds at the City of San Luis Obispo Water Reclamation Facility, a pilot facility that has been invited to join the U.S. DOE National Algae Biofuel Testbed program. The DOE research project could result in technology that has the ability to save Californians hundreds of millions of dollars in water recycling costs each year. Read more about this grant online.

Cal Poly to Host Climate Action Planning Conference Jan. 31-Feb. 1

The City and Regional Planning Department, in partnership with the Governor’s Office of Planning and Research (OPR), will host the California Climate Action Planning Conference on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 31-Feb. 1, on campus. The event is the first conference to focus solely on the practice of local and regional climate action planning in California. Experts and practitioners from around the state will participate in in-depth presentations and discussions on the technical and political facets of climate action planning. Henry Hilken, director of Planning and Research at the Bay Area Air Quality Management District, will be the keynote speaker. The Bay Area Air Quality Management District is responsible for assuring clean air in the nine-county San Francisco Bay Area. Read more online.

Ethnic Studies Professor's Project Receives $10,000 Grant from Cal Humanities

A project by Cal Poly ethnic studies professor Grace Yeh has been awarded a 2013 Community Stories grant for $10,000 from Cal Humanities. Yeh's project, "Filipino Love Stories in San Luis Obispo and Northern Santa Barbara Counties, 1920-1970," draws upon oral history interviews and family archives. It tells the stories of how early Filipino immigrants to the agricultural region of California's Central Coast experienced romance, love, marriage and family life under challenges posed by the exclusionary social and legal structures of the time. The project will result in an online archive, a curated Web-based exhibit, and public programs that will make this history accessible and available to the community, students and scholars. It is part of a larger ongoing effort at Cal Poly called "The Re/Collecting Project: An Ethnic Studies Memory Project of California's Central Coast." The project aims to digitally capture and make publicly accessible the rich history of the diverse yet under-documented communities of the region. Read more about the project online.

Events

The Data Studio Presents Navigating OpenStreetMap

with Joe Larson on Jan. 31

The Kennedy Library’s Data Studio will present a Jan. 31 talk with Joe Larson on Navigating OpenStreetMap. Larson is a GIS specialist with Cal Fire. He will explain how the agency uses OpenStreetMap (OSM), an open access geographic information system (GIS) resource, to create detailed maps of the local community that include various assets and structures. OSM also includes mobile applications that allow users to contribute data, and both have wide teaching applications. The Jan. 31 event will run 11 a.m. to noon in the Data Studio (Room 111C). Faculty, students and community members are welcome. More information is available online.

Athletics Takes on Heart Disease Jan. 31

Thursday, Jan. 31, is National Wear Red Day at Cal Poly. Cal Poly Athletics encourages all faculty and staff to wear red and to encourage students to wear red for this all-day event. Athletics' staff and students are committed to Cal Poly's health and well-being and wants everyone to know more about heart health. To celebrate the 10th anniversary of the American Heart Association efforts, Athletics also will host a RED OUT women’s basketball game at 7 p.m. on Jan. 31. In 2003, the American Heart Association and the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute took action against heart disease, which claims the lives of hundreds of thousands of American women each year. Heart disease remains the No. 1 killer of women each year. For more information about the AHA, visit http://www.goredforwomen.org/. To purchase T-shirts for the RED OUT, contact Stacia Momburg at ext. 6-0280 or smomburg@calpoly.edu. All proceeds benefit the American Heart Association.
Ethnic Studies Presents Regents' Professor Ted Jojola on Jan. 31

The event is free and open to the public. Sponsored by Ethnic Studies, College of Liberal Arts' Lottery Funds, College of Science and Mathematics, City and Regional Planning, Natural Resources Management and Environmental Sciences, Social Sciences, Student Affairs, and the Chicano/Latino Faculty and Staff Association. For more information, contact Yolanda Tiscareno in the Ethnic Studies Department at ytiscare@calpoly.edu or ext 6-1707.

MultiCultural Center to Host Gospel Fest Feb. 2

Cal Poly's MultiCultural Center will host Gospel Fest from 8 to 10 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 2, in Chumash Auditorium. This celebration of gospel music will include a performance by San Luis Obispo's Breakthrough Ministries. Pastor Stephen Adeniyi from the Celestial Church of Christ in Los Angeles will minister the event. Student performances throughout the evening will include praise dancing, poetry and singing. For more information, contact Jessica Hernandez at ext. 6-6249 or mcc@calpoly.edu or visit the MultiCultural Center website.

Cal Poly Science Café presents Pyroprints! Fingerprinting Bacteria on Feb. 7

Hear stories from Professor Chris Kitts and third-year biology student Maria Zuleta Alvarado about their adventures collecting local E. coli data for the Cal Poly Library of Pyroprints (CPLOP) at the next Cal Poly Science Café, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7, in the Kennedy Library's second-floor lounge. The database is intended to be a searchable, online library and lower-cost resource for tracking E. coli to help researchers understand who or what is polluting the water. One of the greatest challenges researchers face is finding ways to collect wildlife samples that include origin confirmation. Kitts and Zuleta will ask for participants' ideas on how to solve this problem. For more information see the Kennedy Library website.

Michigan State Professor to Discuss Food Ethics and Technology Feb. 8

Michigan State University Professor Paul B. Thompson will discuss three key problems in food ethics, which are connected in surprising and sometimes incompatible ways. The talk will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, in the Ag Engineering Building, Room 123. The event is free and open to the public. Find more information online.

Music Ensembles to Perform Benefit Concert at Old Mission Church Feb. 9

Several of Cal Poly's finest student music ensembles will perform traditional and contemporary chamber music at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9, in the Old Mission Church in San Luis Obispo. "A Night at the Mission" will feature performances by a saxophone quartet, saxophone ensemble, flute quartet, clarinet ensemble, trumpet ensemble, trombone choir, brass choir, brass quintet and woodwind quintet. The event is a fundraiser for the Cal Poly Band Program, whose members will travel to England, Ireland and Scotland for 12 days in June. Tickets to the Feb. 9 performance are $9 for students and senior citizens and $12 for the public. Pricing includes all Performing Arts Center fees. Tickets are sold at the Performing Arts Ticket Office between noon and 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. To order by phone, call SLO-4TIX (756-4849). Athletics
Men’s Basketball
Junior forward Chris Eversley's sixth double-double of the season – a career-high 30 points along with 14 rebounds, one shy of his career high – powered Cal Poly to its ninth consecutive home conference victory, 75-64 over Cal State Northridge on Saturday night before a crowd of 2,464 in the Mott Athletics Center. Read more about the game. The Mustangs return to Mott Athletics Center at 7 p.m. Feb. 7, when they meet University of Pacific. Tickets are available available at the box office in front of the Rec Center or by calling 805-756-4TIX.

Women’s Basketball
In spite of a double-double by junior Molly Schlemmer, Cal Poly lost 80-70 in a double-overtime Big West Conference game on the road at Cal State Northridge. It was the second time in four outings a Cal Poly women’s basketball game was decided in overtime. Read more about the game. Women’s Basketball meets Fullerton this Thursday at 7 p.m. in Mott Athletics Center. It’s a RED OUT game, so wear red to help support the American Heart Association's National Wear Red Day. T-Shirts are available for $15 by calling Stacia Momburg at ext. 6-0280. All proceeds benefit the American Heart Association.

Men’s Tennis
The Cal Poly men’s tennis match with No. 50 South Florida in the consolation round of the ITA Kick-Off Weekend was cancelled because of weather on Sunday at the Los Angeles Tennis Center. The Mustangs entered the week ranked 57th in the nation. Read more about the weekend. Men’s Tennis meets San Diego State this Saturday at 11 a.m. on the Mustang Courts. They meet UC Santa Cruz on Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Avila Beach Club. Bring lunch and show your support.

Women’s Tennis
Junior Kathryn Webb and freshman Sophia Bott both prevailed in singles action, and two other Mustangs pushed their singles opponents to three sets, but the Cal Poly women’s tennis team was ultimately trumped by No. 54 Hawai’i on Monday afternoon at the UH Tennis Complex, 5-2. Read more online. The women return to Mustang Courts at 11 a.m. Sunday when they meet San Jose State.

Swimming and Diving

The Cal Poly swimming and diving teams split a non-conference dual meet Saturday against UC San Diego at the Anderson Aquatic Center. After a full day of 32 events, the Mustang women’s team won 185-115 while the Cal Poly men’s squad fell short 179-115 to the visiting Tritons. Read more about the meet.

Baseball

The Cal Poly baseball team officially begins preparations for the 2013 season Friday afternoon at Baggett Stadium. The Mustangs will spend the next three weeks getting ready for the Feb. 15 opener at the University of San Francisco. Read a season preview story from the 2013 Cal Poly Baseball Media Guide, scheduled to be posted online Feb. 8. The Cal Poly Alumni Game is set for Saturday, Feb. 9.
