WHERE TRAINS ARE SECONDARY MENACE

Last Collegiate dance will be held tonight in gym

This Friday night marks the grand closing of the Collegiate dances for the school year. Dancing will begin at 9:00 and run until 1:00, with no advance in prices. Probably no tradition has established itself more firmly on the campus than this dances.

The music department at the suggestion of Mr. McPherson has arranged the purpose of providing more dance and social entertainment for the students that they may have enjoyed continued success.

By COLLEGIATE

This year there have been more than usual demands for the dance. As must now appear, they differ from the student dances in many respects. The student body pays from its budget for the student dances, as at no cost to Poly.

The Collegian dance, however, one can truly enjoy being members of the music department on a non-profit basis, with all money going to actual expenses going into a fund for permanently improving the gym. The boys who take tickets, collect and conduct for the dances, are members of the band and also chosen club members.

El Rodeo to be given out soon

For a final check up on the printing of the Cal Poly year book, students made a fast trip to Santa Barbara Tuesday night where the book is being printed.

Walter Dougherty, Mills Balle, and Berrad Horigan left here at 6:30 Tuesday evening for Santa Barbara where they completed the final arrangements for the 1941 Cal Poly year book. Dougherty is chief reporter, Balle is assistant reporter, and Horigan drives the boys down. They returned at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning. The book is being printed by the 8-Frame Printing Studio.

NO PAY—NO ANNUAL

Last week a typographical error in the El Rodeo caused the omission of the name of one organization which failed to pay for its notices in the annual. Being too late to send this error to the printer, we print the following notice to be inserted: "Every member of each organization which has not paid for its notices in the annual (exceptions: Upper Majors, Lower Units, and the Mission) will be unable to receive his "El Rodeo" copy of this year. This seems unfair in the fact that more girls paid than boys. The idea of this dance was to promote better relations between Poly and the Mission school. The money raised was to be used for scholarships or other than regular Collegiate dances.

MEAT ANIMAL STUDENTS TAKE EXTENSIVE TOUR

The meat students, under the direction of Mr. J. L. Beyer, took the annual trip to southern California last week. They visited the University of Southern California sheep and goat farm, the amazing and interesting "Texas" sheep farm, and finally, the world-famous Oakdale Ranch.

At the University of Southern California, students were shown the various breeds of sheep and goats and were given a soil and nutrition course. At the Texas farm, students were shown the latest breeding techniques and methods of raising sheep and goats. At Oakdale Ranch, students were shown the world-famous "Texas" sheep farm, and were able to see the various breeds of sheep and goats raised there.

The trip was a great success and the students learned a great deal about sheep and goat farming. They were able to see the various breeds of sheep and goats and were given a soil and nutrition course. The ASEAMEP war is over! The ASEAMEP war is over! Those of us at Cal Poly are encouraged, because bested us on several occasions the last few years, R.P. It breaks from Room 9 of Jespersen Dorm (the best of all the dorms) on around 1400 kilos of brand new equipment, and if you come in immediately after break, fast and through the day (we're a small transmitter and it plays through the radio). It flashes a few notes and music in on station B-U-R-P on 1450 once in a while, being away with commerce.

Maybe I should say, I'm on the right track and not the one to attempt to evade the task of being an American, only he would hurt himself, and the rest of us, the freedoms of the world, starts us off.

After week-end baseball that took the Poly crowd to the roof tops and the ladies to the sidewalks, the University baseball team will have a chance to prove that the momentum of the Poly football team is not to be disturbed. The Poly baseball team has been invited to come to the Stanford University Saturday afternoon, May 18th, to play in the final of the Stanford series in the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Poly team is expected to give a good fight, but the Stanford team is considered the favorite. The Poly team has been playing well lately and the Stanford team has been playing badly.

The Poly team is expected to make up for the loss of the Friday night game against the University of Oregon.

Forage class makes silage from cereal

The form is now in process of mileaging and silage-making on the different farms. The major point being used is that the crop is not yet green.

The choice of forage crops have been taken in the form of the silage-making process. This type of crop gives the most valuable experience. Besides this, there are some steps taken to determine whether or not the crop is ready to be harvested. The results show that the silage should be harvested.

The best of a series of home-grown cereal grains is being taken. A few of the steps toward the silage-making process are included in this form, the farmer students will present a person whose needs-occupied silage, and he was produced to think that he had to stop and go through the worst information details. However, the next car that passed its inspection was an old vehicle with a flat tire, and it had no tools to fix the flat tire. In the last car this inspector was stopped eleven "okies," a "baby," and a "lady" got out and did not report for border inspection, and on how to test for the nitrogen content of the silage preparation in the different locations of silage. These steps will be very valuable to the students. In this skit, it was stated by Mr. Dougherty, former crops instructor.

Charley Crane and Bob Bell, who were presented. At 2 p.m. the visitors, who ate their meal in the shade of the many large trees, started very early in the school year, possibly the last of September, and we expect to see them back next fall, and we expect, to the Collegiate club, the future of the senior studying first year assemblies, of students only as much as he said that they are done for, so I feel that they are things that you will want done.

Some measures are as follows:

1. Being an inter-college rodeo during the 1942 Poly Royal.
2. Take action to have the Student Court function or abolish it entirely using 1942-43.
3. Promote better relationships, with other State colleges.
4. Prevent the "railroading" of bills through the S. A. C., unless the student body majority is in favor of them.
5. Take every possible action to see that the Hathaway Blvd. R. R. crossing is repaired.

Vice-President

Robert Mills.

Every candidate must have some knowledge of the college before entering for an office. My purpose is to become a close associate of the students, the best social activities possible. It is the job of the student body president to see that the calendar for the current year. In planning the calendar, a large variety of interest and entertainment can be arranged as well as social activities and events that every student may take part.

There are many opportunities connected with the office of Vice President. Next year we should have more privileges and responsibilities than those who are not student body candidates.

The student body is a vital part of the student body, and should have more privileges and responsibilities than those who are not student body candidates.

NOTE RANCH OPERATION

A interesting visit was had by Mr. Arichiro, whose ranch near Los Banos is part of the 25,000 head great given by the Father. Mr. Arichiro operates both sheep and beef under average conditions and some of the prettiest coon- trollers were the white turbans. The next day visited the ranch farm of Peter FYW, where we were treated to good mince and tea. Among the things fed in the past and now being fed by Poly were silage.

The coming election is near at hand. It is an event that occurs in the life of every student body member.

To make a statement concerning the office of the Vice President. Such a re- sponsible position is the subject of the major studies of the students.

Organized activities are the backbone of a truly cooperative student body. If elected, I will do all in my power to organize these activities as they should be to bring the students closer together.
