Dairy Dept. Head Purchases Top Holstein Bovine

Cal Poly's highest priced dairy cow joined the herd last week in the person of Vemway Ideal Lad Hazel, an outstanding registered Holstein, purchased for $1,000 at the 1945 Evergreen Dairy Classic show and sale recently held at Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Acquisition of "Hazel" culminates a 7-year search for a dam of sufficient quality to breed with "Sir Bess," Poly senior Holstein sire, and highest indexed sire in the U.S. Under the direction of G. M. Drumma, dairy department head, a breeding program designed to impart to the herd the splendid qualities of both these outstanding individuals will be started immediately. Eventually, one of the sons of "Sir Bess" and "Hazel" may fill the role of senior sire in the Holstein herd.

Competing in a large aged cow class which Judge Eddie Gordon, extension dairyman from the University of California, described as one of the finest groups of Holsteins it had ever been his privilege to judge, "Hazel" placed second in her class, then went on to be named reserve champion female of the show.

If you wish to meet "Hazel," a friendly cow, one with personality and a friendly disposition, mark your calendar for 11:00 a.m. December 3rd, at the milking barn between 5:30 and 6 o'clock.

Los Lecheros Elect Plan New Activities

Members of the dairy club, Los Lecheros, recently elected Don Mann, president; Francis Walker, vice-president, and Melvin Mayer, secretary-treasurer. Dale Madden was named representative to the student affairs council.

The club is starting a new tradition this year devoted to the collection of photographs of outstanding California breeders of dairy animals. First pictures to start the collection will be those of J. M. Sweeney, Glenview, who bred and owned the "Sir Bess" that has been a generous contributor to the Poly herd and to the dairy industry, and Mr. T. Taylor, Visalia, Calif., who bred the Poly sire, Sir Bess Gettie of Taylaker and The pictures will be hung in classrooms.

Publications Group Gives Facts on Proposed Annual

By CHUCK CHAPMAN

Less than 21 hours after a special joint meeting of the publications committee met to investigate possibilities of producing a yearbook. Outcome of the publications committee meeting was a decision to ascertain whether the demand for a yearbook came from the entire student body or a small clique.

In order to find out the wishes of the student body in this matter of what publications they want, the publications committee prepared a ballot form which is printed on the second page of this paper. Leon Garvan, editor of El Mustang and chairman of the publications committee, requests that the ballots be filled out truthfully and promptly and dropped in the ballot box which will be left in the El Corral tomorrow and Monday. All votes must be cast by Tuesday, he said.

At the written request of Bob Kennedy, publications faculty advisor, SAC appointed two members to the publications committee to represent the agricultural and industrial divisions of the college in the performance with the student body constitution. Boston Robbins was appointed to represent agriculture and Leon McAdams represents the industrial departments. Other members of the committee are, Galen, El Mustang editor, Chuck Chapman, Mustang Roundup editor, Martin McPhee, publications business manager, John Miller, student manager, and Kennedy, adviser, serve by virtue of their positions.

In the discussion in the publications meeting it was pointed out that there are no surplus funds in the publications department for financing a yearbook. It was learned from a financial report of the publications department that contrary to the belief of a few uninformed and self-appointed critics, the MUSTANG ROUNDUP was not a money making proposition. The figures show that during the three-year period from September, 1945, the S.A.C. granted only $1036.80 to MUSTANG ROUNDUP and during that same period the publications department was forced to

The Rebels Had a Way

The days of revolutions and government overthrowings are days of the memorable past in these United States. No longer do states, or regions, challenge other states or regions by military conquest. Those are the days for the beautiful dreams, all of which brings to mind a group of dreamers found on this campus today, who have been entrusted to carry out the associated students affairs to the best of their ability.

The phrase, "to the best of their ability" is strictly a qualifying one. A specific instance can be mentioned to further clarify the statement. As student body members desiring first-hand knowledge of our SAC and their policies a group of students attended a meeting of the group last week. It should be pointed out that all student card holders are permitted to attend regular SAC meetings, and have the right to voice their opinion if recognized by the president, but such students cannot vote.

Approximately 20 students were present about 16 of whom were there in their official capacity as SAC members. And yet, between all the students present, only one copy of the SAC constitution could be presented, that being brought by one of the students representing the publications department, and not a SAC member. Of all the SAC members present, one only had knowledge of the articles in the constitution. Others admitted possessing copies, but had not bothered to read it. Although Pres. Santel passed copies out to all members at the first meeting, it seems that they are collecting dust along the shelves.

Is that doing the job to the best of their ability? It is true the students have elected an efficient and capable staff of student officers. They should be complimented for that, as should the elected officers for the good work they have done so far. But without the unselfish help of the SAC, these officers are restricted in what they really are capable of doing. We must remember the wind blows swiftest when obstructions are removed.

Arizona Eleven Bowls Over Mustang Team, 36-7

By GEORGE H. TUCKER

"Arizona's Wildcats were not too tough as everyone here at Poly expected," was the statement made by the members of the Mustang football squad when they returned to San Luis Obispo after the trip to Tucson. We do not mind playing a team like Arizona, but it is a very different story when you have to play with 11 men on the field at one time, when they have the officials playing on their side and just can't win," was also heard around the campus last Tuesday.

It is true that Arizona handed the Mustangs another defeat with a score standing 37-6 at the sound of the final gun. In a telegram from Ronnie Henderson from Tucson with the reporting kick, blocking the punt on the 11th yard line, there was no score, andPoly's best chance at the game.

AMAZONS IN TUCSON

Bob Turner, our half back and also former Golden Glove champion of his weight in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, found that the piouettes and twirls in this nifty dance world are far from the fairer sex, at least not in a particular gal by the name of Muggale. It seems that after a few warnings Muggale turned Turner every way but loose. Your reporter does not want to make any enemies so I will withhold the reason for this skirmlish.

M.A.'S WILD WEEK-END

The Meat Animals Department had quite an eventful week-end but far from the social type. It seems that Saturday a Suffolk Ram jumped the fence out at the check and tangled up with a pen of registered feeder lambs. This of course is not good, for this particular pen of lambs is to be shown at the Great Western livestock show. Also Saturday night the Sheriffs apartment gave Miss O'Byrne Parker a ring at about 8:30 telling him that the school's prize card of the 1st year was to be rushed on the highway and raising doubt as to the studio of KVEC. With the aid of Charles Harter and Eddie Moore, Parker succeeded in the round-up with no casualties.

THE CLICK

It seems that the SAC has forgotten what it has in the way of duties to perform. I wish to take this opportunity to inform its members that there are over two hundred students for which they are acting. When you decide on something make it to the benefit of the student body as a whole and not any certain party or group on this campus.

As you know the staff of the El Mustang is rather small, so if any of the students here on the campus have any ideas or wish to express themselves in any way, shape or form (which will be printable), don't feel afraid to come up to room 204 and write what you want, for your contributions will be gladly received.

THANKSGIVING

Although some of the Navy Trainees will be spending their Thanksgiving at the Anderson Grill, and "bar" it is the hopes of your reporter that all will have a nice Thanksgiving and that those of you who are still in the service are able to be home before long. It is a known fact that we have plenty to be thankful for, and I am sure that each and every one of us realises it, with this in mind, I leave you till the next issue of El Mustang, to which we are attached which will be November 30th.

Page Four: Phonograph Swing Session in El Corral Huge Success

By M. E. WOODALL

"One of the best dances of the year, and everyone was charmed," said Miss Roxanne Spooner, a local belle, after the Glee Club dance recently held in El Corral.

Due almost entirely to the superb invitational work of "Cohen, Inc., Dates for Dances," the girls were evidently superior to the boys from Cal Poly. Our neighbor cities of Atascadero, Morro Bay, and Atascadero, as well as San Luis Obispo, were well represented.

For once, the music was not dependent upon the whim of the girls who operate the commercial phonograph. Various personalities of the glee club and band manipulated the phonograph-speaker combination, and the overall results were quite satisfactory to all concerned.

The course of the evening, a jitterbugging exhibition was presented by Boneless Carl Thubtenk and his partner, Jackie, and one of the trainees, Lloyd Percy, who was rushing a terrific platinum blonde, Janelle Schon. As usual, J. M.O'Brien and W. J. Wagner attempted to wolf any of the temporarily unadorned ladies, and at the slightest excuse Dave Ingraham gave forth with a long commercial about himself to anyone who would listen. Casanova Moody, our shutterbug, received a grand rush, much to the disgust of his many suitors. Miss Emily Trubschenek and her partner, Jackie, and one of the trainees, Lloyd Percy, who was rushing a terrific platinum blonde, Janelle Schon.

Time passed all too swiftly, and soon the fateful hour of 2:30 neared. The last dance was danced, and the civilian students tripped merrily out with their dates, while the trainees bade the ladies of their choice farewell and trudged wearily to their various dorms to dream of many more dances.

Huge Engineering Company Locate On Poly Campus

Any day during free periods and during weekends for a short time, F. L. Birdes, chief representative for the freshman class, has been flying around the campus on a closed cockpit plane.

The plans for this aircraft were obtained from the American Model Engineering Company of Fort Worth, Texas. The blue prints contain specifications for building a large-wing monoplane named "Miss Behave, Model 1." The able engineers have made a few changes, such as installing movable controls in the engine cowling, a four-bladed propeller with detachable center section, etc. These changes change the name of the plane to "Miss Behave, Model 1, Modification 10."

If Sunday morning sleepers are awakened by a snorting and cracking noise according to a miniature cyclone, they should not become panicstricken. It is only the dynamic, atomic, one-cylinder power plant which will propell this aircraft (to who knows where) being suspected that the engine is running. The latest difficulty arises when the four-bladed propeller tors the crankshaft up.

The engine is now going thru the stages of a complete major overhaul.

The members of this company are H. D. Case, Chief Engineer; R. Smith, Chief Airframe Expert; P. K. Brown, Chief Prop Slinger; and W. H. Wilson, Plans Captain. At an interview that production has been according to schedule except for a one-day closed shop because of lack of glue necessary to assemble the plane.

The first test flight is expected to be held within the month, if the U.S. Army has the Cal Poly's air strip in fair shape. In case you are pampered by a blue comet sometime this month, it isn't the milkshakes you are drinking, but just the dynamic aircraft "Miss Behave, Model 1, Modification 10" on a test flight.

FROSH CLASS MEETS

Not to be outdone by other classes, this freshman class held its regular meeting last Thursday, Nov. 8, under the presidency of Boston Robbins. A motion was passed to the effect that the frosh challenge the upperclassmen in a basketball tournament.

A selected SAC representative for the freshman class, Discussion to raise funds for the treasury by a bid dance was also held.
