Enrollment Reaches New High

Whiting To Teach Shop Mechanics

Joining the Industrial Instructional Staff this quarter is Frank Whiting, a former Naval machinist shop instructor.

With a brand new photostatic discharge in his pocket, acquired early last week, Frank Whiting said that he is finding Cal Poly very friendly and cooperative school, and a place that makes one feel good to come to.

His history is one of academic industry, starting with graduation from high school in Marshall, Minnesota, in 1926, followed by two years as a member of a surveying party. Next he received a B.A. degree from Shout Institute in Minnesota. Wisconsin, which is a state teachers college specializing in technical and home economists training. For six years after, he taught sheet metal work in the Eau Claire Junior High taking a year's leave of absence in 1947 to secure a milliners degree in education from the university of Minnesota. Back home again in Minnesota, he took on a high school teaching job until February, 1948, when he went to work in the Wisconsin Ordinance plant. In September, 1948, the University of Minnesota asked him to set up a training school for navy machinists mate, where he stayed until Feb­rury, 1949, teaching some 300 sellers. The Navy commissioned him a Lt. J. G. and put him to work in the Wisconsin Ordinance plant.

From the first day you arrive here, you are part of a fine student body. This carries 'with it a great measure of responsibility. Part of that charge is the attendance of assemblies, the support of our teams, participation in athletics, and good will toward all the other fellows on the campus. Pride in your college in another greater duty.

We are a happy lot of men here at Poly. It is campus custom to speak to everyone you meet. A nod, or word of a wave of the hand is in order at all times, either here on the campus or downtown.

We shall try to make your stay at Poly as enjoyable as possible by planning social events, staging sports contests and games, and otherwise keeping you entertained. Our responsibility is scheduling these events. It is yours to participate and thereby get as much enjoyment as you possibly can from them. With the active cooperation of all students enrolled, we shall easily meet this end.

Officials Expect 400 New Students To Enroll

Anticipating the largest enrollment of regular students on the San Luis Obispo campus of California Polytechnic college, administration representatives today revealed that upwards of 400 new students would file through the registration lines today and tomorrow, bringing the total enrollment for the Spring quarter within the neighborhood of 700 students.

In order to facilitate the handling of the large group during the registration period, new and revised methods have been adopted by the administration. In order that the students can be enrolled and ready for classes by Wednesday morning with the least amount of confusion.

With an enrollment increase of approximately 250 students during the past year, 15 per cent of the new students, it is expected that Cal Poly moves the end of the war time era. During the war years, California Polytechnic college trained 3,000 Naval pre-flight students and 900 Civilian Trainees. Now, with the return of the fighting over, Cal Poly is ready to resume her all important role in post-war education.

In order to facilitate the large influx of new students, Cal Poly has planned an extensive building program. Starting in the pre-war years, the construction of an administration and an engineering building is to start at once and continue in the near future, besides serving the needs of her country. Now, with her part of the fighting over, Cal Poly is ready to resume her all important role in post-war education.

A Challenge To Students

It is with regret and hesitancy that this editorial is written. Regret, because all expectations of the student body have been in vain. Hesitancy, because today our enrollment has increased by approximately 400, and perhaps, among these new students, we have acquired more liveliness, increased eagerness to help and cooperate, and general "all around fellows" instead of more of the slacking, complacent group that has been here for the past two quarters.

Because many students are veterans and are married, students, in a survey poll, suggested that this assembly last Thursday, 159, only 159 students and faculty members attended — even after notices were given. Many of the leaders of student activities are married, and they too, cooperate. A large percentage of veterans are not married, but they do not participate in activities.

When three FFA speakers representing various sections of southern California spoke before an assembly last Thursday, 159, only 159 students and faculty members attended — even after notices were posted in conspicuous places, and an article appeared in El Mustang.

That sort of spirit isn't fair to Cal Poly or the speakers. Some might say they studied for exams; however, many of those that attended also had exams for which to cram, but they found other time to do so. It is a sad plight for Cal Poly to have as student body, a body that they don't have time for anything other than their studies, and elbowing at Jot's. The will cease immediately.

Grades Not Ready For Distribution

The registrar's office announced today that Winter quarter grades will not be processed and ready for distribution for several weeks, and no notice will be posted on the post office bulletin board. when they are ready. "Until such time as this notice appears, it would be appreciated if students would refrain from asking for their grades during the registrar's office," Record Winner said.

Grades are determined by the usual academic troubles and give him some respect.

When asked if he was married, he thought for a minute and said, "Yes, I have a flock of kids totaling three, and only one wife."

Bill Hill, Veterans administration field contact representative, is located in the basement of the Administration building. For any veteran or veteran's administrator, contact Hill in room 20, Administration building.

There's a box down in the El Corral for grips and news for the El Mustang. I hear numerous grips and suggestions uttered verbally, but nobody seems to have nerve enough to put anything in writing. The staff of this rag would welcome some interest in the paper even if it is nothing but criticism...then we would know that somebody reads some of the copy.

DO YOU KNOW THAT every student holding a student body card can attend the BAC meetings? It might be a good idea for some of the more alert students attended and lived up procedures. At present there is a lull in BAC activities.

Boy, boy, what a lively bunch of students we have at this college. We must have been at least a quarter of the student body attending the assembly, less than 40 students. Hesitancy, because in what a lot of us have been thinking. Of course Winnie wasn't pointing his finger at those present, but at those drinking coffee in the store or up in their rooms in the sack. There are a few signs on the bulletin board, I can only hope that it will be a quarter of the people that will come to this new quarter brings some change in student attitude, student government and student activity. It sure is a minus factor now.

HAT OFF TO the basketball team who came through last week to take the City League title. The old men all came out and played, and it just was what a lot of us have been thinking. The Marines are truly the lovers!!! Come to the next one for a formal announcement.

I found out about getting a post office box here at Poly... have to have 1000 students to have your own. So I guess that it will not come about in my stay here, but with the increase in enrollment each quarter it won't be more than a few years... few years, I'll be a few years yet, maybe I'll see it after all.

The barber shop will be held up by the union at last report. Even if we get a barber out here it will still be a buck a throw. All read somebody reads this column and tries to get some action. Might get something to work sooner or later.

Here's Your First Sports Quiz Questions

Due to the fact that a large number of new students are enrolling today and that last week was finals week, making it impossible to work on this quiz, we are going to extend the deadline for answering the most correctly out of order, for second place. DEUEL

MAJOR DEUEL

Three and a half years during the war, he had pitched baseball at Poly for the past twenty-five years. Many good players have been developed by him during this time, including Thornton Lee, star pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, Earl Bubash, now pitching for the Hollywood Stars, was also tutored by the Major.

Besides teaching baseball, Major Deuel has also played a lot of ball. In his younger days, he pitched for York, Pennsylvania, in the old Tri-State league, as a third baseman and a short stop. He also played semi-pro ball in Vermont and New York while in the Canal Zone in 1944. He caught for the league leading 29th Infantry team and led that league in hitting. "They made a catcher of me down there because no one else would handle those 'split ballers' which were prevalent in those days," says the Major.

"It is a little early yet to make any predictions on any individual players," stated the Major, "but with the spirit displayed so far, the team should make a good amount of itself." He makes it clear that no positions are sewed up yet, and that we can still use anybody who wants to try out. As the Major says, "in order to make the team, a man has to be able to hustle, run, throw, and most important of all, be able to hit!"

His duties here will be concerned mainly with machine shop instruction.

BOB VALENZUELA

Bob Valenzuela is back in his old position as the hard hitting Keystone artist of the Poly baseball squad. He lettered in basketball and baseball prior to his tour of duty in the Navy.

and his family, he would appreciate very much any helpful suggestions.

Can you sing or play an instrument? H. P. Davidson, director of music, extends a cordial invitation to all new students who sing or play an instrument, to try out for the band, orchestra, or glee club. "We can use a number of men in the band and orchestra, and a few more in the glee club," Davidson stated. "The orchestra, known as the "Collegians," is in need of new members. The band and orchestra are scheduled to give concerts next fall, but we want to get a nucleus of the orchestra started this spring." We are in need of a number of returning veterans next fall, but we want to get a nucleus of the orchestra started this spring.
