Poly's Prize Livestock
In Danger as Tent Falls

A windstorm of cyclonic proportions and a torrential rainstorm hit the Grand National Livestock Exposition at the San Francisco Cow Palace on Wednesday, knocking down tents and temporarily confining the animals of the Poly animal husbandry department, who are also superintendents of the beef cattle division of the show. It was learned through a United Press dispatch, however, that San Francisco police and deputy sheriffs had closed the grounds temporarily and evacuated all but employees, while atta­ rants rescued livestock and guided them back to the shelter of the main arena.

It was reported here that the livestock auction scheduled for Tuesday had been postponed, and the dairy judging, in which Cal Poly has a string of its finest Holstein-Friesian steers, is also scheduled for this week, was also postponed until restored.

With many of the prizes winning Cal Poly stock was in­ jured was not known as this went to press, but concern was being expressed that the livestock would be in the same shape as it would have been had the auction scheduled for Tuesday been kept.

Prior to the unexpected turn of events, Poly students were happily exhibiting strings of award-winning livestock, and looks away from a majority of the prizes won, earning their keep, was also the class in which Poly students were looking.

Five Cal Poly students, Bill Moore, Charles Ackerman, Clyde Brown, Charles McPhee, and John McPhee, have been chosen to represent Poly at the show, and each has been assigned livestock to tender for their own interest in the matter.

An Arrangement
Heard the first Thursday evening of the Young Farmers, and when Julian McPhee, President of Cal Poly, spoke, proved to be very interesting and engaging. McPhee made a special effort to get the members interested in the meeting.

Julian McPhee gave an excellent talk on the teaching profession, and the members were highly interested in the talk.

After Julian McPhee's talk, Al Wilt, chapter vice-president, read a paper and gave general explanation of the by-laws of the Young Farmer's constitution.

VOL. 7 NO. 11 SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA NOVEMBER 21, 1946

Poly Will Show At Great Western Fair in December

The Animal Husbandry department will exhibit more prize winning livestock at the Great Western Livestock Show, to be held in Los Angeles, starting November 30.

These men who plan to exhibit livestock at this show will take their Thanksgivings vacations in order to get their animals on the grounds and prepare them for the show. Never-theless some students plan to make the trip.

The Great Western is one of the largest shows in the country, Poly has exhibited for animals over the past years and has done very well. The hope is that the boys will do as well this year, as the largest Great Western Southwestern.

Project steers of several breeds will be on hand to represent Poly, and the band members will be under the direction of Henry Hamilton, and Mr. Kalton, in charge of Poly Phase club.

The Poly Phase Club is also sponsoring by the Poly students, a dance, which will be broadcast from Cal Poly this Friday evening, has been arranged.

Motorcycle in Danger as Tent Falls

A windstorm of cyclonic proportions and a torrential rainstorm hit the Grand National Livestock Exposition at the San Francisco Cow Palace on Wednesday, knocking down tents and temporarily confining the animals of the Poly animal husbandry department, who are also superintendents of the beef cattle division of the show. It was learned through a United Press dispatch, however, that San Francisco police and deputy sheriffs had closed the grounds temporarily and evacuated all but employees, while attendants rescued livestock and guided them back to the shelter of the main arena.

It was reported here that the livestock auction scheduled for Tuesday had been postponed, and the dairy judging, in which Cal Poly has a string of its finest Holstein-Friesian steers, is also scheduled for this week, was also postponed until restored.

With many of the prizes winning Cal Poly stock was injured was not known as this went to press, but concern was being expressed that the livestock would be in the same shape as it would have been had the auction scheduled for Tuesday been kept.

Prior to the unexpected turn of events, Poly students were happily exhibiting strings of award-winning livestock, and looks away from a majority of the prizes won, earning their keep, was also the class in which Poly students were looking.

Five Cal Poly students, Bill Moore, Charles Ackerman, Clyde Brown, Charles McPhee, and John McPhee, have been chosen to represent Poly at the show, and each has been assigned livestock to tender for their own interest in the matter.

An Arrangement
Heard the first Thursday evening of the Young Farmers, and when Julian McPhee, President of Cal Poly, spoke, proved to be very interesting and engaging. McPhee made a special effort to get the members interested in the meeting.

Julian McPhee gave an excellent talk on the teaching profession, and the members were highly interested in the talk.

After Julian McPhee's talk, Al Wilt, chapter vice-president, read a paper and gave general explanation of the by-laws of the Young Farmer's constitution.

VOL. 7 NO. 11 SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA NOVEMBER 21, 1946

Poly Will Show At Great Western Fair in December

The Animal Husbandry department will exhibit more prize winning livestock at the Great Western Livestock Show, to be held in Los Angeles, starting November 30.

These men who plan to exhibit livestock at this show will take their Thanksgivings vacations in order to get their animals on the grounds and prepare them for the show. Never-theless some students plan to make the trip.

The Great Western is one of the largest shows in the country, Poly has exhibited for animals over the past years and has done very well. The hope is that the boys will do as well this year, as the largest Great Western Southwestern.

Project steers of several breeds will be on hand to represent Poly, and the band members will be under the direction of Henry Hamilton, and Mr. Kalton, in charge of Poly Phase club.

The Poly Phase Club is also sponsoring by the Poly students, a dance, which will be broadcast from Cal Poly this Friday evening, has been arranged.

Motorcycle in Danger as Tent Falls

A windstorm of cyclonic proportions and a torrential rainstorm hit the Grand National Livestock Exposition at the San Francisco Cow Palace on Wednesday, knocking down tents and temporarily confining the animals of the Poly animal husbandry department, who are also superintendents of the beef cattle division of the show. It was learned through a United Press dispatch, however, that San Francisco police and deputy sheriffs had closed the grounds temporarily and evacuated all but employees, while attendants rescued livestock and guided them back to the shelter of the main arena.

It was reported here that the livestock auction scheduled for Tuesday had been postponed, and the dairy judging, in which Cal Poly has a string of its finest Holstein-Friesian steers, is also scheduled for this week, was also postponed until restored.

With many of the prizes winning Cal Poly stock was injured was not known as this went to press, but concern was being expressed that the livestock would be in the same shape as it would have been had the auction scheduled for Tuesday been kept.

Prior to the unexpected turn of events, Poly students were happily exhibiting strings of award-winning livestock, and looks away from a majority of the prizes won, earning their keep, was also the class in which Poly students were looking.

Five Cal Poly students, Bill Moore, Charles Ackerman, Clyde Brown, Charles McPhee, and John McPhee, have been chosen to represent Poly at the show, and each has been assigned livestock to tender for their own interest in the matter.

An Arrangement
Heard the first Thursday evening of the Young Farmers, and when Julian McPhee, President of Cal Poly, spoke, proved to be very interesting and engaging. McPhee made a special effort to get the members interested in the meeting.

Julian McPhee gave an excellent talk on the teaching profession, and the members were highly interested in the talk.

After Julian McPhee's talk, Al Wilt, chapter vice-president, read a paper and gave general explanation of the by-laws of the Young Farmer's constitution.

VOL. 7 NO. 11 SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA NOVEMBER 21, 1946

Poly Will Show At Great Western Fair in December

The Animal Husbandry department will exhibit more prize winning livestock at the Great Western Livestock Show, to be held in Los Angeles, starting November 30.

These men who plan to exhibit livestock at this show will take their Thanksgivings vacations in order to get their animals on the grounds and prepare them for the show. Never-theless some students plan to make the trip.

The Great Western is one of the largest shows in the country, Poly has exhibited for animals over the past years and has done very well. The hope is that the boys will do as well this year, as the largest Great Western Southwestern.

Project steers of several breeds will be on hand to represent Poly, and the band members will be under the direction of Henry Hamilton, and Mr. Kalton, in charge of Poly Phase club.

The Poly Phase Club is also sponsoring by the Poly students, a dance, which will be broadcast from Cal Poly this Friday evening, has been arranged.

Motorcycle in Danger as Tent Falls

A windstorm of cyclonic proportions and a torrential rainstorm hit the Grand National Livestock Exposition at the San Francisco Cow Palace on Wednesday, knocking down tents and temporarily confining the animals of the Poly animal husbandry department, who are also superintendents of the beef cattle division of the show. It was learned through a United Press dispatch, however, that San Francisco police and deputy sheriffs had closed the grounds temporarily and evacuated all but employees, while attendants rescued livestock and guided them back to the shelter of the main arena.

It was reported here that the livestock auction scheduled for Tuesday had been postponed, and the dairy judging, in which Cal Poly has a string of its finest Holstein-Friesian steers, is also scheduled for this week, was also postponed until restored.

With many of the prizes winning Cal Poly stock was injured was not known as this went to press, but concern was being expressed that the livestock would be in the same shape as it would have been had the auction scheduled for Tuesday been kept.

Prior to the unexpected turn of events, Poly students were happily exhibiting strings of award-winning livestock, and looks away from a majority of the prizes won, earning their keep, was also the class in which Poly students were looking.

Five Cal Poly students, Bill Moore, Charles Ackerman, Clyde Brown, Charles McPhee, and John McPhee, have been chosen to represent Poly at the show, and each has been assigned livestock to tender for their own interest in the matter.

An Arrangement
Heard the first Thursday evening of the Young Farmers, and when Julian McPhee, President of Cal Poly, spoke, proved to be very interesting and engaging. McPhee made a special effort to get the members interested in the meeting.

Julian McPhee gave an excellent talk on the teaching profession, and the members were highly interested in the talk.

After Julian McPhee's talk, Al Wilt, chapter vice-president, read a paper and gave general explanation of the by-laws of the Young Farmer's constitution.
Pagamento

El Mustang
Califomia State Polytechnic

Published weekly by Associated Students, California Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, Calif. Editorial office, Room 14, Administration Building. Subscription price: $1.25 per school year. 16,000 copies printed.

Editor
John M. Patterson

Assistant Editors
Cyra Reis
Robert E. Kennedy

Business Manager
Ted Lauer

Facility Advisor
A. M. "Bert" Follows

Printing Instructor

Count Your Blessings

This is our Thanksgiving issue. In spite of the impending examinations, the students in this school have much to be thankful for.

For most of us this is our first Thanksgiving that will be spent with our families in seven years. It is the first Thanksgiving that we will spend away from the environment of the campus in too many years. We are lucky; luckier than we realize, perhaps.

We are students in a good college, a college that has not and will not lower its standards of instruction. We have living quarters that are adequate if not luxurious. Our classrooms have roofs, and walls. We have also had our voices heard in the matter of what we want in the way of government. For most of us this is our first Thanksgiving that will be spent with our families in several years. It is the first Thanksgiving that we will spend away from the environment of the campus in too many years. We are lucky; luckier than we realize, perhaps.

We are students in a good college, a college that has not and will not lower its standards of instruction. We have living quarters that are adequate if not luxurious. Our classrooms have roofs, and walls. We have also had our voices heard in the matter of what we want in the way of government.

We are allowed, no, encouraged to organize our own clubs, to write the constitution for those clubs. If we have a complaint we may voice it. We have a paper that is primarily uncensored. Its columns are open to whatever use we may wish to make of them.

Our advantages over the students in many other colleges are almost unbelievable. Our advantages over other colleges throughout this country are considerable.

Count your blessings.

Hasta La Vista

This is the last issue of El Mustang for the fall quarter. The staff is not going to hang around here over the Thanksgiving holiday to print a paper that few, if any, would be around to read. The whole staff wants to thank you readers for your cooperation throughout the quarter. We hope that you will make a point to come around to read. The whole staff wants to thank you readers for your cooperation throughout the quarter. We hope that you will make a point to come around to read.

Remember, please, that this is your paper; we want your contributions and suggestions.

For your cooperation throughout the quarter. We hope that you will make a point to come around to read.

The whole staff wants to thank you readers for your cooperation throughout the quarter. We hope that you will make a point to come around to read.
McDouggall Spurts Mustang Victory Over Leathernecks

By Ted Laine

Saturday evening turned out to be a successful meeting for the Mustangs as they defeated the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.

Intemural Hoop Tourney Planned

In the women's department, a basketball tournament will be the center of interest. The women will be divided into three teams and the tournament will be held tonight in the Athletic Office. The coach, Miss Betty, will coach the team.

POLY El Toro

The contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

H.L.O.

The game was played splendidly, the contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

Friday night the Mustangs were victorious over the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.

By Ted Laine

Saturday evening turned out to be a successful meeting for the Mustangs as they defeated the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.

Intemural Hoop Tourney Planned

In the women's department, a basketball tournament will be the center of interest. The women will be divided into three teams and the tournament will be held tonight in the Athletic Office. The coach, Miss Betty, will coach the team.

POLY El Toro

The contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

H.L.O.

The game was played splendidly, the contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

Friday night the Mustangs were victorious over the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.

By Ted Laine

Saturday evening turned out to be a successful meeting for the Mustangs as they defeated the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.

Intemural Hoop Tourney Planned

In the women's department, a basketball tournament will be the center of interest. The women will be divided into three teams and the tournament will be held tonight in the Athletic Office. The coach, Miss Betty, will coach the team.

POLY El Toro

The contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

H.L.O.

The game was played splendidly, the contest were many injuries, the most serious being to a Poly player. MacDougall applied the coup de grace to the game with a try for point kick.

Friday night the Mustangs were victorious over the Poly El Toro club by a score of 26 to 18. The Mustangs took over the lead in the first quarter scoring a try for point kick.
A course in Printing and Print Management, designed especially to train "country printers," has added an important feature at Cal Poly, it was announced by Julian A. McPherson, president.

Prior to coming to California, McPherson owned and operated a small newspaper in Oklahoma, and managed a weekly paper in Chilocco, Kansas. For a number of years he was superintendent of the Lebanon Printing and Publishing Company, Kansas City, and later was associated with the Kansas City Publishing Company, Birmingham, Alabama.

The California Newspaper Publishing Association last spring approved the proposed "State" curriculum courses for 1944 and recommended the college include them in the regular curriculum to meet the great demand for well-trained, all-around printers needed by California's more than 500 job shops.

A graduate of the printing course will have technical training in various makes and sizes of press machinery found in the printing shops of the state. He will have a sound understanding of the composition, printing, presswork, paper and inking aspects of the printing business.

In composition, both hand and machine, he will be taught the old and new methods of making up and running forms on various machines. He will learn to estimate, simple stereotyping, the fundamentals of printing and presswork; letter setting, folding, binding work and general book making.

This training will be combined with an intensive business training in composition, so that the graduate will have a complete knowledge of the book-making process. He will be taught to deal with the many sellers and buyers in the printing business.

Dairyman Attend Millers' Social

A good description of Lee L. Miller, dairyman, graduating November 15, was heard from the speaker.

About Dangerous Dan McGrew," a story of the boys who were whipping it up, was a first social activity of the Dairy Club. It marks the first year that this social season for the organization.

The club's second social activity was one of the top ones, with some help from the Chordettes at the choral party by rendering several songs, especially those compositions enjoyed by all, the hits were "I'd Say" and "Turkey in the Straw." Bill Armstrong (of bull fighting fame) and Jim Fisher played a wonderful game of "Hearts." Ber­

Hsieh has it that Armstrong and the "suffering" girl, according to the boys, were at least they were then.

The third social activity was at "Hearts." George Drum, club advisor, had arranged for the group to play a fast game of ping pong. It was a perfect night for the Abravanel orchestra to say we wish you.

The dance, the food, the social and the music was all tops.

Mumford Portraits

9:00-8:00 Phone 1434

His portrait is a fine one.

FORD

FORD

Antique and Rare Sales and Service

1125 Montana St. Phone 149

Andrews Hotel

1st Rooms — 1st Rates

Bridgeport Building

JACK WHITE (Lawn)

Kuppenheimer Clothes

Florsheim Shoes

Arrow Skirts

Dobbs Hats

Rick's Whiskey

On the Highway

Phone Pine Beach 85