Daniels Speaks At 'Y' Meet

Dr. Daniel Beecher, head of the University of California at Los Angeles, who has been named the new President of Cal Poly, gave an enlightening and informative talk Tuesday night to an audience of over 100 students of Cal Poly.

He summarized the various points that affect our relations with people and gave a number of points—recommendations, for the bad relations between individuals. The speakers and groups in the world today. He also touched briefly on the communistic, anarchistic, and fascist, and gave a view of the present state of the world society.

The YMCA Group is trying to do on the campus.

X-Ray Program Planned for Poly

Eugene Egan, dean of student workers, announced today that an X-ray program is being set up for Cal Poly. The Santa Barbara Tuberculosis Organization and the college are cooperating to provide chest x-rays for all students, faculty, employees, and wives living on the campus who desire such an examination. The tests will be done without charge.

The Santa Barbara County association portable x-ray unit will be set up in the college infirmary on April 18 and 20. A schedule of examinations will be announced at a later date.

As soon as the films are read and reports completed, individuals who require negative reports will get no reports; those cases that are suspiciously positive will be notified and will be scheduled to report to the county hospital to have a larger x-ray taken. In any definite cases, followup will be made by health authorities.

Soph's Rained Out; No Beach Party

When you plan to go somewhere it hardly ever falls to rain. That is what happened to the sophomore class at the last meeting. They laid plans for a beach party to be at Avila. Food, liquor and soiree were on the agenda along with swimming, a ball game, and a good time. Then it rained—no party. Also discussed at the meeting was the intramural volley ball tournament and a team was organized.

According to Leo McAdams, class president, another affair will be held soon. McAdams stated that attendance at the meetings has been poor and asked that the sophomores show more cooperation. The group that has attended the meetings has planned some excellent activities, but they need the help of the entire class, he said.

The regular Thursday meeting of the Rifle club will be held this night in room 214 at 7:30. This is the last night that memberships will be accepted.

Next Assembly Slated for 17th

The next student body assembly is scheduled for April 17. According to Leon Garzeit, student body president, the split assembly will be held in the Engineering auditorium, with the Industrial division meeting at 9 a.m. next Thursday, and the Ag division following at 11 a.m.

Doc Leary, student body vice-president, stated that the entertainment would include the High School and Junior College Drama Society in a skit from "George Washington Riptide Here!" He also stated that Milton Brown would give a report on the progress of Poly Royal, and that Eugene Egan would announce further plans about the mobile tuberculosis unit scheduled. Leary said that additional entertainment would be intoduced. He emphasized the fact that since classes would be accepted for the assembly all students would be expected to attend.

Industrial Plans For Poly Royal

The representatives of the Industrial departments met recently and discussed plans for Poly Royal.

Chairman Vernon Lomax asked for reports from each department outlining their plans for the show. These reports are being used by the publicity managers in stories for several national magazines.

Frank Zalmana gave a report on the lighting of the Poly "P" by the Electrical department. This report stated that the cost involved and labor required is beyond the means of the Electrical department. A suggestion was made to submit the proposition of lighting the big "P" in the SAC.

A publicity program was planned and the following committees were formed: Larges signs, Dan O'Donnell and Ray Harwood; programs, Frank Zalmana and Bob Reagan; food, Robert Brummer. It was decided by the group that the show be done through the Industrial departments from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Friday, May 2 from 8 to 11 noon on Saturday.

Network Radio Show Set for May

GI Program To Be Aired From Campus

A coast-to-coast Mutual network show to publicize Poly Royal is in the offing, according to Robert E. Kennedy, public relations director. Although final arrangements to stunt the dual with the Mutual Broadcasting system have not been completed as of press time, it was understood from Lee Hacker, manager of KVEC, that the show details were merely "preliminary.

Tentatively the time of the network show has been set for 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 19, and will carry as a "kick-off" for Poly Royal the Army show being carried in Los Angeles.

The show is to be handled by Mr. Finn, chairman of the Poly Royal Pictorial, which is written, designed and produced by student body to their relatives and friends in the various stations carrying the show. The show will be presented on the air, and will be broadcast over 180 western radio stations.

In addition to the network show, a "poly royal" show series of fifteen 15-minute programs will be done from Poly Royal to the various departments of the college. Myron Glenn, electrical student, has charge of installing these shows and the Poly Royal network has tentatively agreed to air each of the one-hour shows from coast-to-coast.

The show will be presented on the air, and will be broadcast with extra blarens being installed on the field to provide seating and shelter for all students. Arrangements have been made to cover a several thousand dollar project. A cast of about four hundred men will be flown into San Luis Obispo by two transport planes a day before the broadcast. Including the broadcast, according to Ruther and Belden, public relations director, Sixth Army Recruiting headquarters, the show will

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By Joe GRIFFIN

The Astuce of San Diego State College came down to San Luis Obispo to take on the Mustangs this Friday in a double header baseball game and didn't do their standing in the CIF competition. Last week the Mustangs went to San Diego they were enjoying a big reputation and when they left San Luis they still had it.

San Luis Obispo's outfit have only been beaten once since, San Jose State splitting a double header with them. Looking for a better performance this Saturday, at the Poly Ballpark, Coach Mott will probably be using them as often as possible.

Poly Beavers isn't the only members of the family that is a ball player here at Poly. There are two pretty fast players in the family, the boys, and they are doing a good job. Kenneth. Kenneth is Punky's understudy both on the basketball diamond and on the gridiron and does a good job in both spots. In their last meeting with the Mustangs Kenneth hasn't been able to take over Punky's job at short but he is a comer and one of the boys will be taking a turn at short Saturday. We have to have two Beavers' around. Both are tops.

Another one of the Mustangs is John Gill. John is a second baseman and a good steady player for Poly and in the future will get his chance to show just what he has in the infield. I was looking over the batting averages today, also in the right place and you have a winner.

One of the Mustangs chasers who has developing fast is Karl Frie. Karl is a right hander and has a good fast ball if he can learn to control it. He hasn't had too much work this game but it is round the corner. Coach Mott will probably be using him as often as possible.

Baseball Personalities...

One of Bob Mott's ball players who didn't look too well at the end of the season was L. F. Philbin. After a five day layoff, spring practice got underway Monday, with Coach Howie O'Daniel and Chuck Parsho putting the squad through dummy scrimmage with emphasis on base offense.

Practice session counselors were pleased with the smooth working Mustangs. However, Coach O'Daniel and Philbin are far from satisfied and are working hard to smooth out the weak spots.

Although Cal Poly met two California Collegiate Athletic Association conference teams last year, they were nonconference games. This year the Mustangs' first venture into NCAA football competition. Winner of the conference championship will play an out-of-state championship team at the Fresno Rafter Bowl.

POLY ROYAL, the original college fair on a college campus, is going to be held next Thursday, April 13, on the Poly Royal calendar. Support it. We could go on for several paragraphs, but we have chosen to focus on this show and its importance.

The fact remains that there is a great deal of work to do. Poly Royal can only be as successful as the students themselves make it. This is a concern for us, and we think most of you will agree to that. Now is the time to begin to prepare. Let's get the word out, and get people together.

Each of you knows who the chairman of this department is. You also know what skills you have. Why not volunteer today?

Campus Clean-Up

A few lines about the campus clean-up campaign which will be soon underway. Last week we asked you to be more careful with trash and paper, not to mention cigarette butts. We have been told, in no uncertain terms, that it is not cricket to tell guys to be neat and then not provide places for the disposal of trash. We agree. The Hort department and the grounds crew will soon have receptacles out. We understand, however, that if each student would not throw his empty coffee cups away, we could put on a great show at Poly Royal. Let's try.

Poly Royal is only a month away. It has been customary in the past few years to devote one school day as a "cancer campaign day," but due to the increase in student body, the cleaning up will be carried out on a daily basis. It has been stated, if each student will throw away his cigarette packs or scraps of paper on the lawns or in the parking lots, the cleanup would be that much easier. There will probably be unmolested volunteers. Poly Royal is and it is up to the entire student body to cooperate and have the campus as neat and orderly as possible.

I hardly know what to make of the editorial of last week concerning Lee Garson and other writers as dependable. Other writers... Now Mr. Editor, I have only missed one issue since this column was originated and the dear student body proxy has missed one issue also. Joe Griffin has been member of the Poly Royal staff and I think he makes a good point about the campus dean-up campaign. The coffee line in the morning is going to be a place on a college campus, or in America. It is our belief that we advocate communism. But he, Dennis, con­

Welding Class Field Trip Includes Bay Area Plants

By S. E. Thompson

Thirty-seven members of the welding department journeyed to the San Francisco Bay area on March 23 to participate in the Western Metals Congress and to tour design and manufacturing shops in the bay area. Highlight of the entire trip, according to the students, was following the production steps of the fabrication, erection and testing of Wootridge Company's "Towmapull", a self-propelled earth mover. This earth-mover, similar in design to Lo-Tourneau's "Towmapull" is a carryall which is an integral part of the prime mover.

In the fabrication of the particular type of equipment, the Wootridge Company manufactures all of the parts except the tires, engine, tool boxes and some of the Wootridge, contrary to orthodox methods of fabrication, uses welding almost exclusively to his plates and castings. This eliminates the tedious process of casting and machining the large parts.

At the Western Metals Congress, members of the department heard several papers by experts in the welding field. Even though the papers were highly technical, the students said that they learned much of value. Following these speeches, all of the students toured the exposition hall which products ranging from welding clothes to high horsepower derricks were displayed. One of the most interesting displays was the demonstration of the Victor Equipment Co. oxyacetylene equipment.

On March 26, all of the students visited the Victor plant where they saw the manufacturing processes involved in making welding equipment.

Easter Vacation Sees Poly Campus Visitors
By Yo Tee Huang

Mr. Neeley, well known among students living in any dormitory, returned to Poly early on Monday, April 7, after a three-day vacation. His return meant an end to the visit of Mr. Quiet who was so well welcomed by students who stayed on the campus over Easter.

Quiet was invited to look after the students. The school turned over the campus to students during the vacation as students took the rare opportunity to go home or visit some other place.

To Lead or Not to Be Led; That is the Question

By Harry Bills, Jr.

A kick in the shin, manure on your shoes, a swell in the face, and a battle to win or lose is the story of the boys preparing the daily herds for Poly Royal. Though these little critters arebery, it does not bother the dairy boys bit. They are up at the barn every night leading the herds of cleaning off the old stuff. These boys have been on pastures for quite a while thus having minds of their own when it comes to who is going to lead who. By constantly working with them, the herds soon begin to like the idea through this may be through being bribed with fancy feed. It is important to lead and stand at attention. George Drum, dairy instructor, claims it helps the boys learn how to better care for animals but I sometimes wonder if it doesn’t also help the students understand that working with animals is a battle of wits between man and animal. Who wins is a matter of who has the most intelligence.

This, then, is the inside story of how the students prepare for Poly Royal, offering thanks that the “country fair” doesn’t come oftener than once a year. As for the herds, one can well imagine that they actually enjoy the battles.

Now if she’ll only behave during the judging . . . .

Once upon a time there was a pretty mermaid who pushed a shipwrecked piano player off a slippery rock. He had laughed when she sat down to play but when he began to run the scales—
