Delegates to Attend Western College Congress

Bob Rivers and Don Simpson will be among the 80 student delegates from Westminster College at the Western College Congress to be held at the University of Southern California, October 5, 6, 7 and 8. The Congress, organized by the Student Congress of the Western States, is sponsored by the Stanford Institute of International Relations.

Rivers and Simpson were appointed to represent our college at the congress by the BAC during a meeting held September 26.

The Stanford Institute, a student organization, has invited delegates from 41 leading universities and colleges in California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, and Hawaii.

Delegations are being sent to the resolutions to the American Legion and editor of the Army and Navy News Union City.

Veterans who think they have a claim for compensation for service in World War II should be directed to the American Legion and then to the local chapter.

Young Farmers Plan Many Dances

At the last regular meeting of the Cal Poly chapter of the Young Farmers of California plans were formulated for a series of barn dances to be held throughout the county. Wesley Davies and Bob Kellum, dance chairman, announced that the first barn dance would be held during the first week of the winter quarter. It is the plan of the committee to give instruction in square dancing at these affairs.

Of particular interest at the meeting was the showing of two films, "Irises on Valentine's Day," and "A Night in Hollywood," which were supplied through the courtesy of the Josen G. Maire Co. of Santa Marta.

Wishfuly, Wishfuly who, recently announced the Young Farmers' American Farmer Day program, was in attendance at the meeting.

It is planned to hold the next meeting of the Young Farmers on November 6 at 7 p.m. in Room 214 of the Administration building.

Wanted: 1940 or 1941 model sedan. But I don't want to buy a new car. Apply by letter Box 1, El Mustang.

If anyone wishes to enter this interesting activity, report next Monday night, Oct. 25, at 8:30 p.m., and are likely to score highly by the Gauchos listeners. The Gauchos have registered three not-losing impressions in four series, but win nevertheless. They rolled over an undefeated Pomona squad, 26,13, managed to surprise by a tough bunch from Occidental, 17,14, and last week by the experienced Cal Angels, 24-12. The Gauchos will hold a line averaging 202 pounds and a galling 183 pounds. Their rugged and dependable life guard is centered around John Daniels, all— America center last year. Poly's Window and Dollar will find 212 pounds Vic Paulson and 200 pound Ross Westen at the lanes. At tackle, to give our guards and tackles trouble, will be take-home Max Pickarts, 215 pounder, and Bob Woodruff, an even bigger boy. Two of the most rugged men in the line are the

From The END - O - THE LINE

By I. Harry Endo

"I believe that every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity is an obligation; every possession is a duly," By I. Harry Endo

It is most unfortunate that so many people misconstrued what appeared in this column last week. Particularly irritating were the numerous innuendo protests regarding the backfencers. The individuals who have accused us of backfencing their desires. Coach O'Dell's argument is that he hasn't the coaching staff necessary to field a team soundly schooled in fundamentals. Furthermore, he states, we've been beaten by better teams. He's unkindly right on the latter.

A speaker-for-a-future-opponent was overheard to say, following the contest with College of Pacific, "I have never witnessed a more ragged exhibition of football fundamentals." Certainly few natrural athletes are born, which necessitates a sound program of developing individual players for the season as well as future seasons.

Paul Brown, formerly coach at Ohio State, and now of the professional Cleveland Browns, gives his version of modern coaching technique in a recent issue of Time magazine. He says: "Days of ranting and raving are over," Following the contest with College of Pacific, "I have never seen the Mustangs play one of their best games of the year, the Panthers played one of their best games of the year.

This has become a cold, analytical business. You can't talk a man into doing a job right. He learns only by doing it a hundred times, under exact supervision.

Jerry Carter has joined the parade of quarterbacks par excellence at Cal Poly. Cool, deliberate play-calling and missed the tackles completely. Behrens great talents as a kicker and passer are indisputable, as is Lee's all-around ability. Reference was made last week to the calling of the plays only. After witnessing the miles with the Pacific Tigers, however, even this reference here after will not be mentioned.

This writer has nothing but praise and sympathy for the men wearing the green and gold; praise because when the going is toughest they're at their best, and sympathy because when they're doing their utmost they get beaten. Coach O'Dell's argument is that he hasn't the coaching staff necessary to field a team soundly schooled in fundamentals. Furthermore, he states, we've been beaten by better teams. He's undeniably right on the latter.

Tiger Wins Over Inspired Poly Squad

By Ross Pyle

A tough game between Stockton trolled off the local turf Saturday night pretty well convinced that he's king of all beasts in the 2CW, after facing enormous pressure at the expense of the local Mustangs, 41-11, the last out played as they were, the green and gold gridsters, must have all they had until the final gun which is more than they had said for the championship section.

Playing an offensive game the likes of which has never been seen in the local stadium before, the Tigers capitalized more on the deceptive "T" than on their sharp claws to rip the Poly line apart. Hunter, Paula, and Orvis, combined between them more ability and power than any two backfield men the Mustangs have faced this year.

For the green and gold gridsters, it was a rough and well-played ball game. Considering the fact that the O'Dell coaches played safe of their best games of the year, the only conclusion which can be reached is that COP definitely has it, and that it doesn't mean Jim Behrens has nothing either, including more top-flight material and more than Poly ever hope to put on the payroll. Tiger fans are entitled to expect a lot of this season. The statistic side in Poly's offensive and defensive game were Carl McGregor, Dick Simpson, The Window, and Paul Weede. Les Ross looked more like a quarter- back than he has all year, by mixing his signals and hitting what few weak spots there were in the Mustang's defenses. Pinky Behrens, playing with a temperature of 104 degrees, kicked the ball long and accurately, at least keeping the public-hungry Bengals away from the door temporarily.

Ray Jagerman, playing his usual hard-hitting game, was forced to leave the game early, along with Jack Nigg, who made a valiant effort in the spot of the Tiger's backfield "basketball" men.

Water Polo Team Loses To More Experienced Foe

Coach Dick Anderson fighting men were dealt by the losing Fullerton JC seven goals last Thursday in Fullerton. Poly lost the first water polo game played in its history.

Although the newly formed team lost to First-Amercians, 22-2, the handlers have been strained after Fullerton had easily trimmed UCLA the previous night 17-6.

Jack Jagerman and Jim Davis played a standout game for the Mustangs, with Davis scoring a point from the fast Fullerton aggregation.

Looking ahead on the men's schedule, they meet San Jose State November 16 to conclude the Oriental campus on November 16.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This column is open to the letters from anyone connected with the college. Letters should not exceed 200 words and should be sent to the contributor's correct name. Names will be withheld upon request.

Dear Editor,

The United States has been looked up to by the people of the world, not because of its natural resources, scientific achievement, or educational attainment, but because it was a place of opportunity. It is a land where the little guy had his chance, where he could make something of himself. This is the land the small guy has cherished, the land he loved. It is the land to which the small guy will return.

Prices have readjusted themselves. More important, taking into account the tremendous savings that will accrue to them if they take advantage of the 4% return for every $1 invested after 10 years, full value on redemption, the Government is recognizing the tremendous prosperity that has been built up in the past war world-wide.

Then the little guy is on the run, and the little guy is buying. With a prosperity that outlasted its purpose, instead of recognizing the tremendous values that will accrue to them if they take advantage of the 4% return for every $1 invested after 10 years, full value on redemption, the Government is recognizing the tremendous savings that will be made by the little guy if they take advantage of the 4% return for every $1 invested after 10 years, full value on redemption.

It stopped the little guy from making too much money, and then, in a few years, you see, rational and intelligent measures started in the political realm, and the little guy never got a dollar back. The Government is recognizing the tremendous savings that will accrue to them if they take advantage of the 4% return for every $1 invested after 10 years, full value on redemption.

Dear Editor,

I am not the little guy, and I don't think the little guy is the one who is interested in what is happening to the small guy. I am not interested in what is happening to the small guy. I am interested in what is happening to the big guy, the guy who has the big money, the guy who has the big seat, the guy who has the big voice. I am interested in what is happening to the big guy, the guy who has the big money, the guy who has the big seat, the guy who has the big voice.

I have been offered the "unforgettable" position of Philip J. Fein in the interests of truth, I must say, I am not sure of what I am getting into. I am not sure of what I am getting into. I am not sure of what I am getting into.

But, in these places, I am not sure that I am not getting into the position of the Secretary of the Committee, and I do not think that I am getting into the position of the Secretary of the Committee, and I do not think that I am getting into the position of the Secretary of the Committee.

STUDENTS' WIVES

The meeting of the Students' Wives' club was held at Hillcrest Lounge on October 28 at 8 p.m. The meeting was presided over by Bernard Duveneck, vice-president.

Members of the nominating committee to select candidates for officers during the winter quarter were elected. They are Edie Conley and Irene Rogers, ex-chairman, Barbara Carter, Kay Beck, and Bliss Drake.

The members unanimously approved the proposed social events for the year. There will be a home-coming reception, a winterivalent, the Poly Royal queen reception, and a summer dance. The following announcements were made: There will be a meeting, for students and faculty who are interested in establishing a cooperative store on the campus, at Hillcrest on October 30 at 5 p.m. with Bernard Duveneck presiding.

The next meeting of the Students' Wives' club will be held November 6. The meeting, at Hillcrest, will be the report of the nominating committee followed by a social hour during which Don Carson will present a dance program.

The homecoming reception will be November 7 following the bonfire rally. Sadie Parker is general chairman.

The next series of programs will be presented on November 21, with Guest Chairman, everyone interested is urged to attend.

Some group activities have been organized, with Bernard Duveneck chairman, and Bernard Duveneck, chairman, for Friday night, and Hillcrest on November 12. The swimming pool at the Poly pool on Sunday afternoon and Wednesday evening will be available for swimming.

Following the business meeting, Elizabeth Atkinson read a story which was greatly enjoyed by everyone. A mask making contest was held.

President McPhee Receives American Farmer Award

Julian A. McPhee, state director of vocational education for California Polytechnic college, last Monday was presented with an honorary American Farmer Award which had been voted at the national convention of the Future Farmers of America in Chicago, Ill. McPhee was parliamentary secretary to the national president of the FFA and now a student at Cal Poly.

Presentation of the certificates and gold key was made at the general assembly of the national organization by Dr. E. F. Stouffer, state president.

McPhee has rendered to the Future Farmers of America, but also the outstanding service which the FFA is recognizing not only non-degree granting agricultural schools in the state.

In 1933 McPhee was appointed as an agricultural teacher at the California Polytechnic school, which then was a training school for high school agriculture and industrial school. During the period from 1933 to 1944 he held continuously until 1944 when he was appointed State supervisor in October, 1920. The position he held continously until 1944.

McPhee for "unstinting devotion to the cause of vocational agricultural education for more than 27 years."

Printing Degree Unique In College Curricula

By Don Chastain

A unique but little known fact about Cal Poly's four year degree course in printing is that there is in the United States, only one other four year degree course in printing. This is at Carnegie Tech, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Poly's printing program is unique in itself. Printing majors have the opportunity to work and be simultaneously in conditions that simulate actual on-the-job working conditions.

Printing majors, plus expert instruction, makes it possible for Poly to boast that it in the only college on the Pacific coast that produces its own paper on the campus without outside help.
