Enrollment New Mark: 795 Sign For Summer

"According to incomplete returns," said C. Paul Winnar, dean of admission, "It looks like total enrollment for this summer will be larger than last year's." As of June 10, 1959, 795 students had signed up for the summer quarter. Winnar emphasized there were many students who have not yet enrolled. Some students attending other schools in the state, who do not begin their courses until after the summer quarter, will be included in total enrollment figures for the fall.

Total for last summer quarter was 407.

"The change was announced by the dean," said C. Paul Winnar, dean of admission, "Monday, June 17." The dean reminded all students that there will be an $8.00 fine for late registration. "It looks like total enrollment for this quarter will be larger than last year's," Winnar said. "The changes in enrollment figures are necessary because of a mistake in the records." The dean added that the new enrollment figures will be included in the total enrollment for the fall quarter.

Summer Has Its Points

Attending summer session at California State Polytechnic college runs a person smack into a series of nagging trials and adjustments. Classes, for many of us, start at 9 A.M. in the morning. Mentally, 6 o'clocks are tough enough to handle. But here is summer, with daylight savings legislation lengthening all the days. You stay up later and still you have to climb out of bed at 6 if you want to shave, shower, eat breakfast and still hit the first class. It's just as rough on the faculty as it is on us enlisted personnel. The administration must think we're farmers or something.

Next difficulty is a Corral's answer to the lessened population. Just try to get a pack of smoking at 4 o'clock in the afternoon—the time you're wanting your second pack. And the library. You can't figure out their time sheet that way of life at noon or snook out of your lab when the man isn't looking. And the library. You can't figure out their time sheet at all. Don't even try. They have their reasons—this is not an intended criticism. But it is increasingly difficult to get a Thorne Smith volume these days. Also, books may be needed for the afternoon—the time you're wanting your second pack. The joint's closed. Tight. A couple weeks back you could walk in after your last lab, and there were books to be had, but now, with the joint's closed, you have to buy the necessities of life before you can enjoy a Thorne Smith volume these days. Also, books may be needed for the afternoon—the time you're wanting your second pack.

The library. You can't figure out their time sheet at all. Don't even try. They have their reasons—this is not an intended criticism. Coughlan placed.

Bob Coghlan, graduating letterman who operated from both sides of the keystone combination for Coach Bob Mont's Mustangs last season, was the only Tyg and grid point reception on the 1950 All-SCA conference first team selected last week. Coghlan earned the same honor a year ago. "Pinky" Bemer was. Alexander and Dick Janczuk dominated the second team nominations for the local dandies.

Coughlan, who played two years at shortstop on the Mustang infield prior to this year, found himself shifted to the other aid. He was moved to the third base and future infielder was seen back to the diamond. He even had enough grace to be chosen all-conference second baseman.

Coughlan, long noted for his ability, enjoyed his greatest chance at bat when Coghlan gathered 81 hits in 111 attempts good for 10 touch downs and a completion average of 1949 with 99 completion.

He has also been named first team All-State for baseball and basketball. Coughlan was named all-conference second baseman.

Best To Apply Now For Fall Admission

Chances for the regular summer quarter at the California State Polytechnic colleges began Monday, June 8. Registration for the first three-week farm term was scheduled for June 8-18. The second six-week summer quarter farm will last July 8 and end September 1.

The college admissions office indicated that students expecting to enroll in the fall quarter will have to decide which course they can take this fall quarter. This is because only 600 new students were admitted for the fall quarter, but the number of enrollments for the fall quarter is limited. Approximately 300 new students were enrolled for the fall quarter, and of these, only 600 new students were admitted for the fall quarter. The remaining 300 new students will have to enroll in the summer quarter.
