'Selfish Attitude'- Hit By McPhee

At First Assembly

"Conveying a specific meaning about a highly abstract idea in 25 words is a real problem to both student and judge," said William Leary, English instructor- lecturer. Leary, one of the judges in the Blue Crusade For Freedom contest, gave a few hints on what he considers important in the final judging of the contest. "This is an everyday language, but it is an everyday language, and it is very often heard in natural conversations," Leary said.

If a student really understands the statement he signage, he stands a better chance of explaining in a reasonably way why he agreed to it. Therefore, a concrete idea is necessary," Leary stated.

Leary believes most of us day and night make up so much that is unnecessary. To support this contention, he recited two lines from a poem by Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the last paragraph of his talk. "I should have written less,"

Full of the context of the contest to be given on the grey handbill are a number of suggestions about the school. College students are urged to make business, if they are interested, $8.50 first prize and $12 second prize.

PG And E Promotes Electrical Grad To Estimator Post

Robert C. Arth, electrical engineering student, was promoted to rank of estimator on Sept. 15 by PG And E. He is estimator for the company, according to R. L. Glavey, PG And E company department head. Bob's letter stated he was selected over his direct superiors, who had twenty years seniority.

He has been with PG And E for two years, spending six months in San Luis Obispo, six more in Salinas, his home town, and a year in Los Angeles. He feels his three years at Cal Poly were more than equal to the other's 10 years of experience.

Bob will be responsible for planning and ordering materials, and will also be responsible for buying electrical materials for the company.

"I'm happy to be doing something that I feel is beneficial for the company," Bob said.

A Plug For The Fire Crew

Annual Fire Prevention week, Oct. 8-14, brings to mind a school organization that is consistently overlooked when the plans for the year are discussed. This little-publicized organization is the Volunteer Fire crew.

Composed of students serving in obliquity, the VFC is on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week. There are 12 students in all, supervised by Wendell Gates. A student's pay, based on actual labor hours, averages but $85 per month. This isn't much when one considers that each member is on duty only 158 hours every two weeks.

Most of the crew's time is spent in such work as painting, maintenance of fire-fighting equipment, and plenty of drill. Many students have asked what real service the VFC has contributed to Poly. This reflects the obscurity in which it operates. During the past year, the crew put out 31 fires, ranging in size from small blazes to brush fires of considerable size. The crew covered more than 150 miles about the campus in the line of duty.

More than 550 fire extinguishers were recharged this do. The crew then proceeded to check the condition of the extinguisher. They were tampered with.

Following its one brief week in the semi-military, the organization will go back to the job of serving the school in an unassuming fashion.

It's A Livin'

By Gerry Goldstein

Need money? Who doesn't? This feature. 'It's A Livin' will appear every so often with a mention of ways some other students are doing to augment their income through use of ingenuity or enterprising muscles.

Today we salute Gordon St. Claire and Walt Peterson, parking and radio engineers, and their no-nonsense job box. Many of you recall the music from the Friday game last Saturday evening.

Peterson and St. Claire has three cars, for only $36. They keep them in shape with much skill and a little work of material repaired. It needed fan, condenser, radiator, and a whole set of glass.

Pays Own Way

Within a week they rented it out for an evening in the San Loco Lounge. Business club for a dance, through the $12 rental fee. Twelve dollars were raised from rentals during the Friday games practice, completely cost the rent of the machines.

The cost, incidentally, was paid by "Clubs" taking during the dance, and did not come from student body funds. Fully automatic, the machine needs no nickels to make it work. Just plug it in and it plays the whole stack of records in order. The coin box has been removed.

Both Are Married

Peterson has been married for two years and has an 18-month old son. St. Claire is also married, and has been for six years.

The job box, or job, is made up of their families. They like to keep their jobs at such low rent. Each of them has a radio business, and organizations interested in renting the amplifier and sound equipment for an event, can make a reasonable charge and still afford to rent the machines.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I have been a student here for several years. I remember the time when Polytechnie took pride in having a student organization. The society has almost slipped into the darkness.

What I'm getting at is this: Poly student puts up cards, posters and signs at the housing office to advertise his society to all present, past and potential members. His wares, get girls to sign up with the society, or the society will lose its members. The society, which is the International Relations Club and organizations interested in renting the amplifier and sound equipment for an event, can make a reasonable charge and still afford to rent the machines.

The coin box has been removed.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am more than glad to see so many new students. You know I have met a few of them and they seem to be doing fine.

On behalf of the foreign students here, I send a very hearty invitation to everyone to visit the International Relations Club and get to know them. They are all from very different places.

And I don't know if it is the act of being by all means an essential part of our college education to know the points of view of others, especially in such a wide as we are having now days.

We shall meet on Oct. 3 at 7:00 in the Ad building.

Tariq Ali Darzi

Dear Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone in the reading section during the Friday games for their cooperation. That's what is needed to make a good reading section. There were few games the other week, but now there are many. We are pleased to thank them, especially for their contribution. We will always look for good editors because everyone was on the half pages. As for the girls, and it's kept up in the week. Let's have a real-hot section for the next Poly game.

MUSTANGS READY FOR RED INVADERS

Prospects for a Mustang victoryloom bright as Coach Cecil Cushman's Bulldogs from Redlands University invade the corral of the Mustangs today at Poly Stadium for their 1960 opener. Kickoff time is eight o'clock. Coach starters, nine are interrnon from last year's team, will be in action.

The Mustangs will remember the loss of 20 points to 7 against the Bulldogs from the Sandi-egg game. This year, due to the recent signing of three strong men, the Bulldogs will be stronger than ever before, but no one knows for sure just how strong.

Fresno Gains Verdict Over Green And Gold

Howard Heilman ... after suffering a broken leg last year, Howard returns to the fold.

Thanks To Janigan The Forgotten Man

Fresno has been paid football players and coaches, but no such honors have been bestowed on Andy Janigan, our team manager. Andy certainly deserves some praise for his four years of service. These coaches have passed while Andy stays on. He served first as the fresh man manager, then worked as a pitch man, helped the yearlings. Moving up to the sophomore level last year he coached under Chuck Pavulko, and the next two years. Now in his fourth year, he is serving our present mentor, Roy Hughes.

There is no monetary reward attached to his position, so service because he loves the game. Polio is the only urge to his active interest. Like all good Polio players, Andy played three years on the varsity. When picked up playing days, he just was not left. Pavulko is Andy's first love.

As team manager, Andy handles all equipment and locker management. He has the first one on the field and the last one to leave. This responsibilities make Andy one of the men who contributes more time to the squad than any of the players.

I appreciate the cooperation given me by the players and the kindness shown me by the coaches and players. Andy certainly deserves some praise for his four years of service.

Andy has so much faith in the Mustangs that he predicts the Mustangs will win the championship of the Western Athletic Conference without another loss. He has real confidence in the players and coaching staff.

Andy is 32 years old and is looking forward to taking up farming when he graduates.

Should you be interested, there are still many vacancies on the varsity next year. He worked in the varsity class. No opportunity is accessible to the Veteran students who have been at the university for three years and will graduate this year.

Andy has to be the first one to take up farming when he graduates.

Poly Continues To Expand; Three Ranches Acquired

Additions of three adjacent ranches will enlarge the Cal Poly campus and will more than triple 2,500 acres this year, Vail Shepherd, dean of agriculture, announced.

Two of the ranches, the Serrano, 460 acres of range land, and the Peterson Ranch, 950 acres of range land, have already been acquired and the 500 acre Cheda Ranch is in process of being acquired by the state.

Plans have also been completed for construction of a feed feed, and a second animals slaughterhouse and laboratory on the main campus, Shepherd added. Work on the feed unit is expected to start sometime this fall.

Located to the north west of the campus, the 250 acres of range land will be used by the meat industry department for the beef cattle program. Most animal and soils department will also cooperate in developing a range management program on the land. "California has 6,000,000 acres of range land, so this program will have a national significance," Shepherd stated. Under it studies will deal with grazing and soil conservation and research to ensure maximum gain in pounds of meat per acre.

Dairy students will use the Cheda Ranch for their project dairy. At present there are more than 50 dairy students owned by students at Cal Poly. The nutrition and dairy department has offered one acre from this ranch for the use of the students to study milk production of 300 animal dairy students and about 120 dairy students from the western states, he explained.

The feed lot will also be used by the student owned project cattle. Feed lot capacity of 5,000 head of cattle, or 400 to 500 head of cattle will be erected with a charger and blowers to convey hay to the mill. During the past year the feed mill handled more than 1,000,000 pounds of feed, consumed by students owned animals and Cal Poly foundation.

Cal Poly Men Visit Radio Open House

Attending open house at Radio Station KMN8 last Monday and Tuesday were Earl Weinstein, Jerry Light Odell, "El Mustang," feature editor. Both are electronics and radio major, and 15 rules of conduct for those teaching or intending to teach in this field. Speaking at a banquet was Jerry Light Odell, "El Mustang," feature editor. Both are students owned animals and Cal Poly foundation.

Student Driver Meeting

Student drivers who expect to drive multiple vehicles this semester are asked to be present at a meeting Monday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in C.S.A. James Carpenter, assistant chief, announced today. Bus drivers are not asked to attend this meeting, he said.

All Water Dogs Are Asked To Report

That purging and you bear responsibility for the swimming facilities at the Polynesian swimming pool for 1,500 water polo prospects.

This season finds Anderson and two out from first stringers, and two out from first stringers, and two out from the team. Practice is every afternoon from 4:00 to 5:00. All interested students should sign up with Dick at the gym office.

Last year's team did well for its self playing third in the annual Fullerton Tournament and bringing home one of the coveted cups.

Poly Pullets Seek "Golden Egg"

Two pens of student owned white broilers will be doing their lightest weight production for today's "golden egg" award for Poly.

The pullets are entered in the 15th annual California Egg Laying Contest. The "golden egg" award is presented on a basis of highest net income. Poly have won such an award the past three years running.

In August, two pens of the Poly pullets stood fourth and sixth in weight production per egg. Some of the other reasons for having mathematicians was to meet the needs of students who needed to apply numerical methods to apprenticeship workers and craftsmen.

Since the larger part of those present were teacher candidates at Poly, Carpenter gave some timely tips on attitudes and conduct. He contrasted them again looking upon mathematics as a "religion." Thirty-three persons attended the banquet, including eight members of the Poly math department.
