State Expert Named New Dean Of Students

Everett M. Chandler, present administrative assistant with the State Department of Finance, becomes Dean of Students at Cal Poly. He has held the position since 1947 on an acting basis.

Chandler's appointment is to fill the position created by the recent broadening responsibility for guidance, scholarships, student activities, academic records and student health and management work of the college.

Mancham To Teach
Mancham will remain in the Dean of Students' office until Chandler is seated in his new duties according to the administration. It will remain, as it has been, an agriculture division instructor and his duties will be continued.

Cal Poly Drive Ready
Cal Poly drive is ready for the final push of the year. The drive, which started last week, is expected to rise even higher as the end of the year is approached.

Avalanche of Salaries
An avalanche of salaries is expected to be the result of the drive. The drive is being conducted by the National Student Alumni Association, and all students are encouraged to participate.

For Final Push:
The group is set on increasing the avalanche of salaries and is working hard to achieve this goal. The drive is a way for students to support their college and contribute to its success.

Office Being Fixed For Dean Wilson

Recent construction work in the Ad building's main hall, north of the information desk, has made many faculty working there feel a little anxious. Dean Wilson, who is in charge of the library, says the work is almost complete.

The construction will include the following:
- New windows in the main hall
- New flooring
- New lighting fixtures
- New shelves for books
- New heating system

These changes will improve the library for students and faculty alike.

Programing to be Included in the Library

A new program is being planned to help students and faculty find the books they need. The program will include the following:
- A computerized catalog system
- A book reservation system
- A new library guide

These changes will make it easier for students and faculty to find the books they need.

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!
It's A Cold, Cruel World

Every now and then some well meaning student will stride through the door of this office, demand to see who's in charge, find the guilty party and proceed to give him and "El Mustang" a verbal lashing for its "do nothing," will-to-power editorial policy. He then departs, mission accomplished.

We are continuously asked by these same students why we don't crusade for a bigger and better Cal Poly, complete with gals, of course; $160,000 for a new athletic plant; Paul Brown as football coach at a $4000 per salary; new dormitories designed by Frank Lloyd Wright; a volunteer combat team for the Korean front, and a complete reorganization of the United Nations, Russia and China excluded.

These important problems to be sure. Something should be done. However, in view of "El Mustang's" questionable success in past crusades, we are a little afraid to show our noses at some of these various enterprises. Let's examine what happened to our latest effort.

A state building inspector cut the seating capacity of that hot "Mambo Jambo" when the pedal was mashed. Students were forced to 'go to the stage and hear the band, but no one ever gives him a chance. I guess we're kind of cautious about crusading now.

It is said that journalism must have a nose for news to make a real success in the newspaper game. We have none, but what their real values are we don't know. We assume our noses were placed on our faces in the rather awkward—position partly for the smelling of news. News in this column smells rather strangely anyway, and no one ever gives us a chance.

And to think, it was just a little, harmless crusade. Nothing world-shaking, at all. We weren't mad at anybody. Just a little crusade that might help.

So you see, we're kind of cautious about crusading now. Our feelings are hurt. We'd like to see El Corral cleaned up.

The much desired department tour is only eight weeks away! The little time is passing quickly. For the last six months or so, we have been reporters for high schools in San Joaquin Valley. Man making this tour is really out of the question, take all week for concerts and return the following week. We only have six columns with the number being limited, so competition is beginning to increase rapidly. Our thanks to the elements. Let's examine what happened to our latest effort.

Coast Squadron Beats JV Matmen

Coast Squadron JV wrestling team defeated the Cal Poly junior varsity 16-13 last Friday afternoon in Crockett gym. The Mustang JV team was made up of reserve wrestlers and freshmen.

Art Gugliemelli started the Mustangs off on the right foot, grinding his opponent in the second period of the first match. Gugliemelli's fall victory gave Cal Poly its first lead. Gugliemelli and the Mustangs went on to win the meet by a 43-17 score.

Next, Mustangs' second-stringer Paul E. Clay took on Florencio De Leon of Cal Poly. Clay, a non-scholar, defeated De Leon in a "free-for-all" which resulted in Clay's second victory of the day.

Coach Bill LaCroix was pleased with the Mustangs' effort in the meet. He stated, "We went out and beat them, and I feel we showed that we can beat them in the future."

Clay furthered his lead on the scoreboard with his third victory, a 3-0 decision over Cal Poly's Chris Jones. In the last match, Raines LaGare, a hopeful for the Mustang varsity, was placed on the court to face freshman Chris Jones. LaGare fought a great match, but was finally defeated by Jones.

"I was happy with the way things turned out," said Coach Bill LaCroix. "We've had some problems with injuries, but I think we've got the team to go places."

The Mustangs will continue their league meetings in a new site. Coach LaCroix stated, "We're going to be playing in different places around Southern California."

The Mustangs will meet San Diego, UC Santa Barbara, and UC Santa Cruz in the next few weeks.
Muscle-mitt men have been polishing up on their timing and strategy for their matches with the Brins of UCLA in Crandall gym tomorrow night. Matchmakers have scheduled 11 matches to fill the evening card. The activities will include the regular scheduled 8 p.m. golden ball.

Coach Phaes says that the Mustangs must win the last week’s elimination bouts with both matches to enter the first round if UCLA should suffer a broken nose in the bout with Cal Poly. The Mustangs, in his belief with Leon Jackson, the coach is confident he can hold his own with both opponents. The Mustangs are facing three of the senior players in the Bruin team and one of the strongest teams in the nation.

Dean Answers Draft Questions
On Enlisting, Academic Status

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of questions and answers presented to the general subject of selective service as it applies to students. The information is provided by the Dean of Students.

Questions: What is the new ruling in regard to student enlistments and physical examinations?

Answer: While the local Selective Service Board has not received an official directive in regard to an authentic quotation from the Defense department giving the student who gets a draft notice the right to volunteer for the armed forces, orders for physical examination have been received. The student who enlists at Poly as a freshman in September 1951 should be prepared to submit to his local board a certification of the current school year in order that consideration of his request for deferment may be made.

It is felt desirable to again advise all students and others who may have received their 18th birthdays that it is mandatory to appear before the local selective service board for registration. If the individual has passed his 18th birthday and has not registered, he should do so as immediately.
