Books, Clothing Ready for Asia

Mrs. Loring Leroy, of the Cal Poly Alumni Association, and a discussion group, announces that the university will be making expeditions to the Far East within the next few months.

All of the seven local clothing factories have given their support to the expeditions. The factories will be closing down their shops through the summer months in order to work on the clothing.

The clothing will be made of materials from the Orient and will be shipped back to the United States. The clothing will be sold to the public at a cost of $2.00 per piece, with all proceeds going to the university.

Architects Shun El Corral, Save Own Mud

In order to save their own mud, some of the architects have taken to the streets to shun the El Corral, which has been closed down for the summer.

The architects have been busy preparing for the new academic year, working on various projects and designing new buildings for the university.

Ship Supplies Missing

Sheleekon, and Star of the West, are two of the seven vessels that have been missing.

Sheleekon, a small fishing boat, was last seen at sea on June 10th. The crew is believed to be somewhere in the Pacific Ocean, but no word has been received of their condition.

Star of the West, a large cargo ship, was last seen at the port of San Francisco on June 5th. She was heading for the Far East with a load of wheat. No word has been received of her since then.

Enrollment Slips Off For 2nd Summer Term

For the sixth week in a row, the enrollment figures have been decreasing. This is due to the fact that the university is in the process of closing down for the summer.

The enrollment figures for this week are as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Department</th>
<th>Enrollment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Business</td>
<td>750</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Education</td>
<td>800</td>

<td>Engineering</td>
<td>900</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fine Arts</td>
<td>1000</td>
</tr>
<tr>

</table>

The decrease in enrollment is due to the fact that many students have already graduated and have left the university.

Opportunities Offered
To Show Pride In Campus

This week brings a multiplicity of news items — from a note that Cal Poly students under 21 are now welcome at the Friday evening dances to a story on our Kellogg Campus becoming a second Cal Poly with three millions of the tax...

Somewhere in between we run across two items about campus occurrences in the near future. Friday is the Kellogg Campus installation coming off Tuesday night, second is the PE-workshops that are scheduled for August. The Kellogg Campus is a part of both. The Grange is a national organization which for eighty years has aliled and allied the cause of the farmer. It has helped to pass laws that would help the farmer.

The Grange enjoys a social life too, the Grange is a symbol of steadfastness in many agricultural communities all over the nation. When the Grange in existence is at Iowa State, and we understand it is pretty defunct. With the vigor and spirit that are apparent at Cal Poly, we feel the Cal Poly State College Grange will become one of the outstanding organizations of our school. The students are proud to see them come.

The coming PE-workshops also make us feel proud, because those people who have no connection with our school keep coming back each summer.

This is an outstanding chance for us to exercise what is called "good public relations." These men and women from all over the state will be emissaries from our campus. Whether they carry away good impressions or bad is largely up to us. Knowing you as we do, we're sure all of them will go to a dance. I have been giving the high school nine days. No one on the ship seems to have a lowliness for official duties. They're for the President of the Philippines, they're for the President of Ecuador. They're for the Presiding Officer of the Senate of the Philippines. They're for the President of the Philippine Parliament, the Speaker of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce, the Governor General of the Philippines, the President of the Philippine Bar Association. They're for the Governor's Secretary, the Governor's Secretary's Secretary, the Governor's Secretary's Secretary's Secretary, the Governor's Secretary's Secretary's Secretary's Secretary's Secretary's Student Fire-Eaters Protect Campus

by Dale Cooper

On the shoulders of twelve men lie the responsibilities for fighting fire for twelve hours a day. Three men are ready to protect the campus from damage by fire. Many an underwater disaster has been prevented by the quickness and ability of Cal Poly’s firefighters—under-chief Ernst Steiner.

The fire department boasts excellent equipment including two fire trucks that are ready 24 hours a day. They are staffed by four men, but their equipment is not complete, according to the first chief.

"The only pay for being on duty is free room rent," says Steiner, "only while actually at the scene if a fire are the men paid the regular hourly wage of 75 cents. Other opportunities for earning money include duties for the department such as practice fires, washing fire hoses, cleaning parking fire and security trucks and painting fire trucks and such chores.

"Right of us it is necessary to work in the school referenda to become 100 per cent self-sufficient," says crew leader Don Cleavenger. "But we are proud of our job and wouldn’t change."

"It’s not easy to find a group of men as we have on the fire department," says Steiner. "Many men relied at the idea of having to remain on campus during required duty periods. They don’t work when they like, but they must work when needed," he explained.

Injuries Healed; Gassel Returns To Poly Friends

The many friends of Jack Gassel eagerly anticipated the return to the Poly Campus this week after an absence of nearly ten months. Jack was seriously injured last September in a motorcycle accident on the Edna Bridge near Paso Robles. Gassel suffered a compound fracture of the right hand and a smashed right arm, injuries in both cases caused by the impact of the machine. Jack remained in critical condition for an emergency hospital in San Luis Obispo.

Post president and a member of the Cal Poly Penguins, Jack is also a behind-the-scenes person in many campus activities. He helped student activity at the farm machinery shop and organized the Penguin mounted patrol during Poly Royal and other campus functions.

The Ag Engineering crew also responded to his quiet request with Los Wildlife, Poly registrar. Jack sent word of his condition at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fresno where he quickly became a favorite patient with doctors and nurses alike. Jack, it was thought, was oversad by the platers as disk jockey on the hospital network.

Though the goal was not quite attained, a very capable motorcycle biker will still have to be found. Chief Steiner of Cal Poly’s Firemen, believe in financial responsibility, assured his crew that a new motorcycle officer Shirley Hatley won the title of the year during the Penguin Parade last January in which Shirley won the most popular award.

Sporting crashes and a rebuilt thumb, the season for Poly firemen is still six weeks away.

Tony Pastor and Ork To Play Santa Maria
Santa Maria’s College of the Pacific Theatre, in keeping with the school’s most auspicious opening, will present two of the best musical groups in California as the opening of the season. The Tony Pastor Orchestra will open the season on September 21.

SUNNY SCHOOL Summer School Expense Deductible For Teachers

Teachers attending Cal Poly summer sessions can claim any summer attendance as a deduction from their income tax returns according to the National Education Association.

Specifically, "any summer attendance required to meet certification standards or, in certain cases, to meet the stipulations of state, federal or informal, requirements, is a deductible expense."

The Association further advises that teachers attending summer sessions will get a written statement from the principal, superintendent, or school board indicating that attendance is a matter of requirement, and they keep the summary of summer expenses to be used in substantiating the deduction.

Bongio Goes Fishing

Bongio responded and spent the afternoon fishing. A thirty-two pound salmon is said to have been hooked by Charles Eason, two year letterman in football at Los Osos High School.

The school has a 40 acre campus.

Eason’s Return Expected In Fall

Charles Eason, two year letterman and a member of the Mustang football team, returns this fall to the center of the line for coach Larry Hughes.

Chuck’s a modest and shy sort of fellow who, to his own admission, isn’t a big talker on the field. He doesn’t argue, to his opponents, on the field. The Cal Poly College Athletic Association had to mention two years ago.

The American Motorcycle Association recognizes three classes of riders, the novice, the amateur and the expert. A rider must accumulate a specified number of points to be advanced from novice to amateur and from amateur to expert.

Bongio, a local resident of Santa Maria, is expected to make his appearance in the 1961 season.

Sungo Bois Fishing Ends Up Welding

Enrico Bongio, welding instructor at Cal Poly, took up fishing as a hobby. He got a 32 pound salmon for his fishing rod during the tournament held last weekend at the West Coast. The tournament was held at the St. Cloud’s building.

Gallon said that Bongio got a young man to show him how to fish. He said they went out together and caught a few trout. The young man told him how to catch more fish.

Mustang tackles in 1960 compiled a record of 11-11 as against five losses. Puges演奏ed until our nation takes over.

SMOKERS KILL BLAZE ON CAMPUS

Cal Poly firemen extinguished a fire on campus near the Gurna barn Saturday. The blaze was started by a group of students who were playing with a lighter. The fire was contained to a small area and did not spread.

"It was a minor incident," said Fire Chief Ernest Miller, school's fire chief. "The students were careless and need to learn to respect the campus' safety measures."

The men who made short life of the blaze were Bruce Mackley, Jack King, Dick Montague, Dick Mott, and Dale Waters, all of whom were involved in the incident.

The campus is on high alert due to the recent increase in fires. The administration is working with the fire department to prevent any future incidents.

BALL GAZOO FOR AFABULOUS FALL

"Pretty dull around the campus during summer school, you say," Well, we've got just the thing for you. All you need to do is go to the Gurna barn on the campus and pick up a guee. We promise you won't be disappointed.

"As soon as the season ends," said Fire Chief Miller, "we'll be offering a special for guees. So, hurry down and get yours today."
