Camp SLO Soldier Owes Life To Eight Pints Of Blood

By Virginia Erickson

Camp SLO was the scene of a direct hit which hurled Corporal Brown into the hospital. He was attempting to locate the source of certain enemy mortar and artillery fire which had been harassing Allied forces in the area. Suddenly the M-60 appeared under a direct hit which hurled Brown from his position, killing the tanks commander, and seriously injured the driver.

Attesting to the efficiency and resourcefulness of the medical corps, it was a matter of moments before Corporal Brown was removed from the scene. The battle for his life was an attempt to save him from the hospital two and one-half months after the date of his injury.

Corporal Brown has served more than 20 years in the Armed Forces, having enlisted in the Army at the age of 17. His service to his country has been untiring, and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation has been awarded to him.

Students' Wives Plan Tea

To Start Scholarship Drive

A new kind of scholarship fund, one which will benefit the university in years to come and in the form of an endowment, is being planned. Mrs. Katella Donley, club chairman, reports that the drive is being planned by the students' wives of Cal Poly and Armed Services students.

Approximately 750 light bulbs are on campus each available for blood donation.

Sign-ups Laggimg

Student workstations have been advertised throughout the campus offering students a chance to give blood on campus.

Little important things, such as the cost of the blood, have not been overlooked. The students are encouraged to give blood as soon as possible, before the next big drive.

SAC Office Now

Collecting Campus Traffic Fines

Students will get a chance to contribute to the efficiency of the campus and to the financial needs of the SAC by giving blood on campus. The SAC office is now collecting campus traffic fines.

Look To The Mountain

"On the occasions following the days of blood donation, the campus will have a chance to recover from the financial strain of the campus," according to Arnold Crowe, special events chairman.
Feed Mill Sacks 3-400 Bags Of Grain Weekly For Ag Men

"Of course our courses are complete, especially in the agricultural fields. We grist mills not only make feed, but they mill their own feed," says mill supervisor, Bud Collett.

From 300-400 sacks of feed are produced each week for the different ag departments, according to Bud. The mill supplies all of the feed used on the campus except for hay special quality milks. All in all, over 50,000 sacks of feed have been produced since the mill opened in 1940.

Besides the grinding process, the feed is ground into a mash, held in a small tank until it is piped to the mill. As it is ground, various concentrates are added. The percentage of these concentrates varies with the climate and season. The miller's work is never done. The miller's work is never done.

From 800-400 sacks of feed are used on the campus each week for beef, horses, hogs and chickens, produced each week for the different ag departments, according to Bud. The mill supplies all or the feed used on the campus except for hay special quality milks. All in all, over 50,000 sacks of feed have been produced since the mill opened in 1940.

Scene About The Mustang Campus

Covering Cal Poly's campus in one day is no little feat, but at the conclusion of the tour Gerry proved to be in better shape than Jim Tanji and Cas Sulkalait, the tired photographers who accompanied her.

When Tomorrow Comes

When tomorrow comes, it may not take long for you to realize that you will be too far away, too deep into the war to be able to know how fast you'll be too far away, too deep into the war to be able to know how fast you'll be in time to do anything about it.

When tomorrow comes, tomorrow you will be at the front, and tomorrow you will be wounded. That should not be shocking news, it doesn't take long, you know. It takes but an instant for a ragged piece of metal to rip through a part of your body; then, that's it. Your part of the war is over.

You remember, then, how you hesitated and nearly refused to give Cal Poly's blood drive on time. Little did you realize that the fence does not enhance your appearance immeasurably behind the wall—that the leash grows weaker.

You were praying now; seconds are hours, an hour is an eternity. You ask for a miracle; you pray that when he comes to you he will still have enough plasma for you.

Fused to give when Cal Poly's blood drive was on. Little did you know. But, like a mad instant for a ragged piece of metal to rip through a part of your body; then, that's it. Your part of the war is over.

Perhaps you think that the fence does not enhance your appearance immeasurably behind the wall—that the leash grows weaker.

Bill Bush Given

Bill Bush’s interest in barns has paid off again.

The prize-winning photographer was named the 1951 first-place winner in the Barn Category of the California Camera Club’s annual Barns of California contest.

Bush was the only member of the club to enter a photograph in the contest, which accepts photographs of any type of barns throughout the state. His entry, "Old Barn," was selected by a student committee.

"Bush’s interest in barns has been his major interest for several years," said Dan Lawson, chairman of the Barn Committee and editor of the El Mustang.

Ike Fisher, the club’s editor, said, "Bush has been working on this project for some time and has been very successful in capturing the essence of the barns he photographed.

Bush’s photograph was selected from a total of 45 entries, and the award was presented at the club’s annual meeting.

The El Mustang also features an article by Bush titled "Flowers for All Occasions," which discusses his love for photographing flowers and their unique characteristics.

Library Display of El Rodeo Cover Set

The 1958 yearbook cover will be on display in the library for the month of August. The cover was designed by Robert Fisher, the editor of the El Rodeo.

The cover features a red, white, and blue design with a "Pioneer" theme. The cover has been chosen for its patriotic theme and for honoring the history of the United States.

In case you’re wondering, the "Pioneer" theme was inspired by the 1958 movie "Lawny Days," which focused on the lives of early pioneers.

The library display of the El Rodeo cover set includes a variety of books and materials related to the history of the United States and the pioneer era. The display is available for viewing during regular library hours.

Big Names Get Into Act At Assembly

Bob Hope and Don Brown, Woody Herman, and Jerry Lester will be among the stars scheduled to appear at the annual American Legion Assembly in Pomona next week.

"These big names may not be as well-known as the other stars," said Dan Lawson, activities officer for the assembly.

"But they will be a great addition to the already exciting lineup," Lawson said.

The assembly will feature a variety of entertainment, including music, dance, and comedy. The event is open to the public and is free to attend.

The El Mustang also features an article by Bush titled "Flowers for All Occasions," which discusses his love for photographing flowers and their unique characteristics.

Descended from a long line of distinguished researchers, this studious scholar has burned too many gallons of midnight oil to gloss over a subject lightly. Especially such an important item as cigarette mildness. He bowed into the matter with his usual resolution and concluded that a "quick puff" or a "fast sniff" doesn’t offer much evidence. Millions of smokers agree there’s but one true test of cigarette mildness.

It’s the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoker on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgment! Once you’ve tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you’ll see why...

California Bears In Mitt Bouts With Local Club

By Frank Towers

Coach George Prouse's Mustangs, training on the campus after last night's pre-season tour of Stanford, (who won a Clipper sports board in Ad building basement), have a new problem to report to day—meet the Golden Bear of California.

Little is known about the University of California, apart from the fact that Light-heavyweight George Baskin of the Buckeyes was a finalist in the 1951 Pacific Coast Conference finals, and competed in last year's NCAAs at Michigan State College. In their last appearance against California, the Mustangs lost 4-6-1.

San Diego Navy Hosts Wrestlers Tomorrow

Coach Ed Nemir's wrestling team travels to San Diego tomorrow to meet the San Diego Navy Training season. It will be the Mustang's seventh meet this season. Poly has won two matches and lost five.

Tennis Season Opens

Coach Geo. Smith has announced that practice will begin Feb. 14. Both men and women teams will report to practice on the south court this Thursday, Wednesday at 3:00 and 8:00.

Hobby Entertainments...

Two Camp Roberts cops appear to be at their handiest in an attempt to get the ball from the hands of Mustang Forward Ed Nichols, who doesn't seem to like the interfacing on the ball. Pervious ev Ed's shoulder at soldiers Jim Whan and Ed Hole is Poly's Yarn Wilson.

Jerry Gin should have been on Cal Poly's goal line last football season. Why? Did any of you ever try to block that around halfback. Roy, were seen and they started.

It's a good thing the blood drive is to hit Feb. 11th. With all of that blood pressure built up, there might have been a catastrophe.

To receive the notice (as if there were any doubt) of the blood drive, we should get Jerry to hold down his head. The technicians would get a quiet before they could fill the needle out.
