Student Drowsns at Avila; Search For Body Continues

The body of Henry F. Meyer, 25, Cal Poly student who drowned at Avila late Sunday afternoon, has not been recovered as of 4 p.m. when the sheriff's office announced that the search for the body was suspended. Meyer was one of a group of seven men who capsized in a small boat about 150 yards offshore from the Avila breakwater as they were returning to a record power boat after hunting for clams near the Coast Guard station.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. when the overloaded skiff swamped and turned over with about 80 members of the power boat owned by Fred Pack of Avila. Included in the party were Dick Carrick, Ed Johnson, Pack, and William Dietz, another former Poly student, and one of the dependants, will remain unchanged, except that the rates of pay will be reduced by 10 per cent.

The search will be resumed on Monday, and the powers of the unified search and rescue unit from all areas will be coordinated with the Coast Guard, the Sheriff's Department, and the California Highway Patrol.

MUSICAL AMBASSADORS COMPLETE SACRAMENTO VALLEY TOUR

By Ed Boettcher

California Polytechnic Is becoming better known throughout the Sacramento Valley as a result of the annual Cal Poly Music Department tour conducted in that area during spring vacation by 55 student musicians. Many letters of congratulation and appreciation have been pouring in from principals of numerous high schools and civic organizations where the 16 programs and four dances were held.

The group, under the leadership of M. P. Davidson, Cal Poly director of music, left San Luis Obispo, Monday, March 7, for a six-city tour which ended in San Francisco Wednesday with the usual deoil mike the school has enjoyed in the past.

The first program held at Marysville high school Monday evening was attended by about 250 persons including students, faculty, and the entire community. The program was presented at City College of Redding and the following Wednesday, March 14, at the Chico High, and also at the Chico Elks club in the evening. Mel Roach, Willows and Colusa were covered Wednesday with a dance held in the evening in Colusa. Dance programs were presented at Gridley and Willows with an evening performance at the Coronado. The programs were handled by the Glee Club and Willows and Colusa were covered Friday.

At Red Bluff, William Cox, the bass drummer in the Glee Club, was one of the performers. Cox is a junior in the Agriculture department, and is the agricultural teacher in the Willows school. The second program held at Red Bluff, William Cox, the bass drummer in the Glee Club, will later in the evening to play for the Cal Poly dance party. The concert was attended by the entire community. Irregular Course Schedules To Be Cancelled

As the Modern and Humanities Division is asked to take care of an increasing number of upper division courses, it is necessary to offer more courses only in the quarter they are scheduled in the catalog. Dr. Robert R. Semans, Dean of the division of Science and Humanities, said: "May we therefore," he continued, "ask that students follow closely the curriculum for their departments by quarters?"

"To take a course during a quarter or a year other than that recommended for any particular curriculum, aggravates a finding an adequate load in the quarters to come, and also adds to the chance of not being able to get into a required course because it is not offered or because, when taken out of order, it conflicts with a major subject," Semans said.

Elective Courses

Dr. Semans has listed the following courses which may be used as electives in many curriculums. All of these are being offered in the Spring quarter:

- Agricultural Economics I, prerequisite English 101, 3 units.
- Agricultural Economics II, prerequisite English 101, 3 units.
- Principles of Business Economics, prerequisite English 101, 3 units.
- Agricultural Economics Courses "All Industry Journal, Dr. Senans continued, "should sign up for Agricultural Economics II which is being offered this spring quarter and will not be repeated until the next fall quarter."

"The recommendation is directed to senior students who could not enroll for Industrial Manufacturing—Kcon 411, the course will be repeated this fall quarter and will not be offered again until Winter quarter," Semans reported.

"For students who did not take Literature—Kcon 411, in the fall quarter, it is being repeated this time only, in the Spring quarter.

High School Students To Inspect Poly Lands

The Veterans Training class of the Paso Robles high school will tour the Poly campus March 30 to view the results of Dr. Logan C. Carter's range management and fertilization projects. The projects were started last fall when plots of perennial, range-plant, irrigated pastures, rich hayfield, were sown and fertilized. The lack of rain during the winter has blighted the project somewhat.

The opting range management and fertilizer classes are also watching with interest the resenting of the areas on the Cagal farm where brush was burned in the fall. The other phases of the projects is the establishment of range seedling plots of selected grasses and legumes. Seed for these plots is furnished by the University of California and the local farm advisor's office.

"Semans continued, "and will not be repeated until the quarter they are scheduled in the catalog."

Students Promote Campus Ice Cream Project Store

In keeping with the "Learn by doing" motto of Cal Poly, the Dairy Manufacturing department has instituted its first student project. This project is the long awaited Cal Poly ice cream project.

The students responsible are Stanley K. Hall and Robert E. Dooley, Dairy Manufacturing students. These two students have long been planning this enterprise and when the school purchased four surplus freezers, their plans were quickly put into action.

The actual sales of this product began during the between-quarters vacation. The only flavor they are selling now is vanilla, due to a lack of flavoring material. However, in the near future, Hall and Dooley are planning to have a steady supply of vanilla, strawberry, and chocolate ice cream as well as a weekly special. All requests for other flavors will be considered and if the number is great enough, every effort will be made to supply the demand.

With the talons of a new business out of the way, Hall and Dooley are devoting more time toward expanding this project in order to better serve the wants and needs of Cal Poly.

Kenneth D. Brayla, Dairy Manufacturing instructor and advisor, has also been instrumental in getting his project started, cooperating with the students in every way.

SPARTANS, MUSTANGS MEET IN FIRST CONFERENCE BASEBALL TEST

By Bob Coghlan

San Luis Obispo, Cal. — Cal Poly's batting Mottmen opened their conference baseball season this Friday against the potent Spartans from San Jose State. Both teams will clash in a double header starting at 12:30 on the Cal Poly diamond.

The Mottmen have landed with talent. Last week they beat the strong University of California, Los Angeles, on the second place UCLA team by 9-5. It was announced that Ray Adkisson was playing shortstop; and either Don Crawford or Don German pitcher. Catcher; and either Don Crawford or "Pinky" Bebenes Westmont College. All-Conference Bob Pifferini, pitcher; and backed up by such veterans as Ralph Romero, pitcher; George Whittington, first base; Ralph Kling, second base; Frank Vlas, third base; Jack Marcon ; outfield; and Jack Burton, catcher. All of these men played on last year's team and with a season behind them look like one of the favorites to cop the league title.

On the other side of the field were the Spartans, led by their fielding one of its strongest teams in years. Led by all conference first baseman, "Dangerous Years" Brown, the Spartans have impressive batting and pitching. Last week they defeated the Mustangs, 8-1, and San Dimas College, 4-1. California, incidentally, was coming here loaded with talent. Last week they beat the Mustangs and the Camp Cook aggregation. The playing date has been moved up to Saturday, April 19, and the Mustangs will take place on the Poly diamond. This is the last need of work because of an overabundance of Colleage veterans. The Mustangs have been able to field three intra-squad games this week to prepare for Saturday. The Mustangs will have a balanced lineup with the Mottmen fielding one of the finest teams in years. Last year's team was one of the finest in years. Last year's team was one of the finest in years. Last year's team was one of the finest in years.

It must be spring, boolean. snows have melted and the gold and green colors again. They would have a good reason.

This isn't the first case of the work. It's been rumored that the three men were on the first day after some snow was expected in the area. But as it was, only a light fog.

The work was completed in the area. The installation of fluorescent light around this fall.

The construction class is installing the lighting in all dormitories. Training for this work should include some knowledge of soil science, geology, and general crop work.

Although interested should contact Dr. Carter in the Agriculture building.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

A section of the Engineering Council chairmen say:

"To promote and put into effect a definite code of ethical behavior for both teachers and students, and insist that these future professional men with their moral, religious, social and scholastic obligations.

The President of the Engineering Council believes that the time has come to mention a few events and problems which disturb the interest of the student body and regarding which there is little or no fellow engineering.

One of the primary functions and duties of any institution of higher learning is to train men of high caliber and character, and produce men of high caliber and character, and equip men as a means of coming to grips with the expected social, political and economic problems of the day. This is a broad and good ethical principle to enable us to be the leaders of our times and to do our best to keep it.

The matter of wholehearted collaboration by all students (both engineering and agriculture) in working out the solution to a final examination, or any other examination, is, from my point of view, a question of the functions of the students and faculty members and the effect of any one of the few members of the faculty, and a great many others, who I feel are either not keeping the standards of the American people in mind, or are making a great mistake in not keeping in mind the high standards of the American people.

To quote Mr. Jordan, "We'll both smell like hell at the end of the unending succession."
New Short Stories

Art Gandy, editor of the Mustang Roundup, has announced that publication of this month’s issue has been delayed, due to the week’s vacation at the end of the quarter. Gandy stated that he is confident that the magazine will be on sale by the end of the month.

He added that the Roundup will feature a number of short stories in addition to the regular collection of jokes and cartoons. Some of the stories are “Henpecked,” by Harry Chamburubal, and “Out of the Blue.” The latter story features Reg Jespersen, one of the nation’s top writers, and Harold Winstein, noted for his provocative and often excellent writing.

Gandy said that the magazine also will feature a center-page cartoon spread on Cal Poly’s motto, “Learn by doing.”

Gandy stated that the Mustang Roundup will be on sale in El Corral, and will also be available from student salesmen in the near future.

Salinas Alumni Hear McPhee

A regional meeting of the Salinas alumni members in the Salinas area was held at the Salinas Inn on the evening of March 16. About 17 alumni members and their wives were present to hear President Julian A. McPhee talk on recent progress of the college.

These regional meetings are being planned in hopes of reactivating the alumni association. The alumni association has a number of current and potential members who are interested in aiding the college, and a copy of last year’s magazine has been sent to each of these members to give them an idea of the scope of operations

The Chesterfield tie-in deal with Cal Poly's favorite radio program, "Dancetime," heard nightly 10-12 on KP1K has been renewed after the recent brief vacation.

Several new form representatives have been appointed to give out cigarettes to those who qualify. Among them are: Chase Hall, John Patterson in room 5, and in Drexel Dorm there is Dean Allen in room 4L. These men are stocked with Chesterfields and are ready to distribute them. All the "Dancetime" listeners have to do is call KP1K, (E.D.O. 3171) or drop a postcard through the mail to Hugh Baling, head jockey and request a Perry Como or Jo Stafford record. When the record is played on the show, he should immediately drop his homework or other interruptions and head for the dorm agent. This problem will give them a pack of Chesterfields.

New angles are being planned for this publicity program, which frankly is intended to introduce Chesterfields to more of the student smokers. So listen to "Dancetime" and get those requests in, but they must be played before the deal is complete.

If your dorm is not equipped with hot and cold running agents, come to El Mustang and they'll put you in touch with the overall campus representative who will give you any lost you have coming and might even appoint you dorm agent with all the extras this commercial morsel brings.
